6—In Memoriam

ARMSTRONG—In loving memory of our dear mother, Elizabeth Armstrong, who passed away May 21, 1950.
Deep in our heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest;
In memory's frame we shall keep it
Because she was one of the best.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Marjorie and son Robert and families.

BEGGS—In loving memory of my dear wife, Bertie, who passed away May 23rd, 1953.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be;
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our powers to see.
A day of remembrance sadly recalled
Without farewell she left us all.
To be with us in the same old way
Would be my dearest wish today—
Not just today, but every day.
—Ever remembered by husband, Charlie.

JORDAN—In loving memory of John Jordan, who passed away four years ago, May 21, 1950.
Gone, dear brother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place;
A happy home we once enjoyed—
How sweet the memory still—
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
—Remembered by sister Elizabeth Moher and family.

Missing Plane Lands Safely

TRENTON (CP) — The RCAF said today that a civilian aircraft, reported missing on a flight from Clova, Que., had landed safely on Lake Toro, about 80 miles north of Montreal.

The single-engine amphibious plane with four persons aboard was on a 160-mile flight from Clova, to Grand'Mere, Que.

The RCAF here said pilot R. T. Perry of Grand'Mere went west of his course to check a power development and the aircraft developed engine trouble. He landed safely on Lake Toro.

The RCAF called in seven planes it had assigned to the search.

Clova is 190 miles north of Ottawa. Grand'Mere is 90 miles northeast of Montreal.

Many Obstacles

near the intersection of Monaghan Rd. and Concession Rd. on the city's southern boundary, running the existing track south-west of the city.

GETS SUPPORT

Ald. Rehill's suggestion got strong support from Ald. Pat Anglesey, who brought the matter of a union station to a head in council a couple of weeks ago and acted as chairman of Thursday's meeting.

Neither existing station, in Ald. Anglesey's opinion, was large enough to serve a city of the size to which Peterborough has grown since they were built. Moreover, the location of the CPR station resulted in serious traffic jams, particularly on holiday weekends. He proposed an overpass at George St. to eliminate the crossing.

One of the obstacles to an overpass was the fact that the tracks could not be lowered because of the river. Alternatively, raising the level of George St. would affect a number of bordering properties. Rerouting the main track of the CPR south of the city would mean the present bridge over the river could be eliminated.

FEWER GEORGE ST. TRACKS

This would also reduce the number of tracks crossing George St., leaving only the line along the west bank of the river, which crosses to the east side beside the Hazlitt St. foot bridge.

But it was pointed out that the track which it was proposed to reroute was the main CPR Toronto-Ottawa line. There were marshalling yards east of the city which would have to be moved as well. This would substantially add to the cost. Moreover, property would have to be bought to provide a right of way.

Turning to the problem of relocating CNR trackage, Ald. Anglesey said the biggest problem was to remove the tracks from Bethune St. He suggested this could be done by extending the Lakefield line, east of the river, south from its present terminus at Sophia St. to the Belleville line. Connection with the Lindsay line could be made west of the city.

ELIMINATE FREIGHT

But representatives of both railways pointed out that this would eliminate freight service to industries located along the tracks it was now proposed to abandon. There was only one stretch which might be abandoned without affecting any customers. This was the CNR track from the junction at Brock St. to the point where it eventually crosses the river near Anson St.

Furthermore, to operate trains of both railways along the track of one company on the route leading north to Lakefield would involve switching fees being charged to the factory served or the shipper.

Ald. Art Burrows suggested the problems involved seemed to defeat the whole purpose of city planning. In this connection, some comfort was derived from the words of D. F. Taylor of the department of planning and redevelopment.

"Nothing is impossible," he said, "although it might be impractical at the present time. You can start planning now. If you wait 50 years until the pattern of industry changes, you won't do anything for 50 years."

Representing the CPR at the meeting were J. W. Stewart, superintendent of the Trenton division; G. W. Griffin, Trenton division engineer, and J. H. Pearse, Peterborough freight agent.

Representing the CNR were A. R. Wilson, superintendent of the Belleville division and C. E. Goodenough, assistant superintendent of the Belleville division.

Representing the board of transport commissioners were G. B. Mercer, A. Lesage and M. R. Angus.

S. Korea Agrees To All-Korea Election Proposal

GENEVA (CP)—South Korea agreed today to all-Korean elections provided, among other things Chinese Communist troops get out one month before the balloting.

South Korea's 14-point plan for unification of North and South Korea was outlined before the 19-nation peace conference by Foreign Minister Pyun-tai.

At least two of the conditions are bitterly opposed by the Communists.

One of these is that any elections must be carried out under United Nations supervision and that the UN must certify the election results.

CHINESE WANT NEUTRALS

Red China's Chou En-lai, in a speech today, proposed creation of a neutral nations supervisory commission to assist North and South Korea in the elections but said the UN must have no part in any arrangement for supervising the vote.

Another South Korean condition opposed by the Reds is that all Chinese troops must be withdrawn from North Korea at least one month before the voting although some UN forces would remain until "effective control over the whole of Korea is achieved by the unified government of Korea. . . ."

Chou's speech conflicted with this. He repeated Communist demands that all foreign troops, including those of the UN, be withdrawn from Korea before elections.

South Korea proposed that free elections be held "in accordance with the constitutional processes of the Republic of Korea" within six months of the plan's adoption.

ASSURE CONTROL

Another provision of the South Korean plan would assure control of the unified country by the South Koreans. The plan proposed that "representation in the all-Korean legislature shall be in direct proportion to the population of the entire Korea." The population of South Korea at present is about 20,000,000 and that of North Korea 4,000,000.

Pyun rejected the earlier proposal of North Korean Foreign Minister Nam Il calling for Communist-style elections to be carried out by an all-Korean commission on which North and South Korea would have equal representation.

"A careful perusal of the Communist proposals reveals that while the Communists set a time limit to the withdrawal of foreign forces from Korea, they have carefully avoided to name a time for the elections.

"This means that the Communists seek to perpetuate the division rather than to achieve the unification of the country, if unifi-

350 Barrels Of Whisky On Lake Bottom

LANSING, Mich. (CP)—An 84-year-old man walked into the liquor control commission Friday and asked what he should do with 350 barrels of whisky he had just found on the bottom of Lake Michigan.

Chairman Burke of the liquor commission listened patiently, then told Julius Roth he could either sell it to a bottling plant outside the state, or drink it.

Roth said they obviously couldn't drink it since each barrel contained about 52 gallons. He said there was enough whisky to supply the winter requirements of several lumber camps.

Roth said his divers are counting the barrels but none have been raised yet. They are in the wreck of the package freighter West Moreland which sank in 1854. Bullion to the value of $100,000 may also be in the ship, Roth said.

"If the whisky is still good, it will be extra good," he said.

Won't Enter Defence Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has made it plain to its allies that it does not intend to participate in a Southeast Asia pact or become involved, for the present at least, in the Indo-China war.

Officials said Friday the government believes it has extended itself as far as possible in making overseas commitments. The armed forces now are heavily committed in Europe and increased attention is being paid to continental defence.

It is understood here that when the 25th Canadian Brigade is eventually moved out of Korea, it won't be moved anywhere but home.

Though the government doesn't want to enter the current dispute between the United Kingdom and the United States, officials say privately that the U.S. would be silly to go ahead with a South-East Asia pact without Britain.

USSR To Buy Canada's Pork Surplus

Russia Steps Up Trade Efforts, Sends Out Counsellor

OTTAWA (CP) — The Soviet has stepped up its trade activities in Canada with the purchase of about 8,000,000 pounds of surplus canned pork from private industry, it was learned Friday. The price was not disclosed but it is believed to be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

At the same time the Kremlin has boosted its diplomatic forces here with the appointment of a tradec ounsellor, Alexander Lobatchev, who arrived quietly from Moscow a few weeks ago.

Mr. Lobatchev, about 40, will spend his time "building up trade with Canada," an embassy spokesman said.

The canned pork purchase, atop a previous one for $1,678,000 worth of rayon woodpulp, is making some Canadian business men take a second look at trade possibilities with the Reds.

And apparently to encourage them, Soviet and Czechoslovakian officials have been moving quietly about, talking to Canadian exporters about "all kinds of goods" they want from Canada.

HARD BARGAINERS

"We know the Communists need consumer goods and are hard bargainers," one prominent business man said. "But you've got to remember that we're dealing with a single central body that can turn trade on and off. We're trying to see how serious the Russians are in legitimate trade."

S. A. MacKay-Smith, president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said:

"We are interested in trading with the Russians within the terms of our government control regulations."

The Western world maintains a ban on the shipment of strategic

Takes Lifeboat Across Ocean

KINGSTON-ON-THAMES, Eng. (AP)—A former British naval captain sailed out of this ancient riverside town today for a "there-and-back" jaunt to Kingston, N. Y. He is driving a converted lifeboat powered by two tiny diesel engines.

Cecil Harcourt Smith, owner of the 61-foot converted lifeboat Aries, hopes to be the first man to make the double Atlantic crossing in a small-engined boat.

A crowd of nearly 2,000 jammed the riverside walk here as Harcourt Smith and his four-man crew were given a ceremonial send-off by Kingston corporation officials.

Harcourt Smith took with him a letter of greetings from Mayor George Lines to Mayor Frederick Stang of Kingston, N. Y., on the Hudson river.

The Aries is due in New York in about 20 days. She is scheduled back home on July 17 after a week's refuelling stop.

THIS CAR TOOK OFF from the east shoulder of Highway 28 at Slater's Corners on Friday afternoon. After turning over and hitting a telephone pole it came to rest right side up without blowing any tires. Driver Douglas Kent, 17, of 211 Bethune St., received lacerations to his scalp; his condition today is satisfactory in hospital. Stockdale's three companions were uninjured. No other vehicles were involved in the accident.

Car Crashes, Only Driver Hurt

A 17-year-old driver was injured about 1:30 p.m., Friday, when the 1940 model car he was driving, overturned and hit a telephone pole, at Slater's Corners, about one mile south of Lakefield on Highway 28.

Three passengers in the car escaped without injuries.

Injured was Douglas Kent, 17, 211 Bethune St., who was admitted to Civic hospital suffering lacerations to the scalp. His condition today was reported as satisfactory.

Passengers in the car were, Dan Southerland, 17, of 249 Wolfe St.; Vern Ketcheson 17, 185 Bethune St.; and Donald Mace, 15, of R.R. 4, Bowmanville.

Kent who had bought the car last week, apparently failed to negotiate a curve and his vehicle swerved violently over the road rolling into the ditch.

382-FEET SKID

OPP L. Bruce Tillson, who investigated the accident, reported that skidmarks measured 382 feet.

Roy McColl, R. R. 4, who lives just back from the highway said he heard the screeching of tires and looked outside.

"I saw a car with smoking wheels, going down the road broadside. Then it turned over at the curve three or four times before hitting the pole," he said.

Kent's car was found wrecked, the roof caved in and the windows smashed. It was backed into the post and at right angles to the highway. A wheel was torn off, the trunk was almost off and bits of rubber matting were scattered on the grass at the back.

Although splintered, the right windshield, in one piece, was knocked out to left side of the car.

Slater's Corners has been the scene of many accidents. Mrs. Frank Edwards of R. R. 4, east of Slater's Corners said," I've seen so many accidents here, I don't even bother to go out and look anymore."

Dr. H. Gastle of Lakefield treater Kent before he was taken to hospital in Hendren's ambulance.

Envoys Create Parking Problem

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is attempting to solve a delicate parking problem arising out of the diplomatic immunity enjoyed by representatives of foreign countries in Ottawa.

The headache has been created by members of the diplomatic corps parking their cars on Parliament Hill in space reserved for tourists and persons employed in the Parliament Buildings. The RCMP, which controls parking on the hill, isn't able to issue parking tickets to the diplomats in view of their immunity from prosecution in Canadian courts.

Maurice Bourget, parliamentary assistant to Public Works Minister Winters, said Friday in the Commons that he is at a loss to know how the government can stop the diplomats from violating parking regulations on the hill.

The only way the practice could be curtailed was through the cooperation of the diplomats in recognizing the need to accommodate tourists, members of Parliament and employees of Parliament.

Fireworks Celebration Ahead Of Schedule

TORONTO (CP) — Fireworks intended for Victoria Day celebrations went off ahead of time today at Eddy's cigar store.

Firemen said mischievous children tossed a firecracker into a counterful of fireworks. Sky rockets, roman candles, squibs, thunderflashes and other devices exploded and set fire to the store on west-end Bloor street. Bangs and flashes continued after firefighters attacked the blaze.

3 Die, 26 Hurt In Air Crash

AUKLAND N.Z. (AP) — Three children were killed and 26 other persons received minor injuries today in the flaming crash of a New Zealand National Airways airliner.

The DC-3, arriving from Christchurch, limped in a few feet over the sea in obvious trouble. It sideswiped a house, then swerved into a clump of trees and burst into flames. An elderly couple in the house escaped injury when one wing of the plane knifed into their bedroom.

Bystanders rushed to pull out the passengers, many of whom were suffering from minor burns

Alex Corrigan, a survivor, said "We were coming in over the sea quite comfortably when the plane suddenly lurched. The pilot brought her down beautifully and nobody seemed hurt in the crash. Then the engine caught fire. The smoke and flames were suffocating. The doors jammed.

"I put my heel through a window, wriggled through and called back to the women to throw out the children, but they didn't."

3 Subway Trains Collide, 88 Injured

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Eighty-eight persons were injured today when three jammed subway trains collided in a Hamburg station at the height of the morning rush hour.

Subway officials said one train was just pulling into the station when it was struck from behind by the second. A third piled into its rear.

All trains were travelling at low speed, and officials credited this with having averted a major disaster. There were an estimated 2,500 passengers on the three trains.

A defective signal was blamed.

Relief Columns Crash Through To 2 Fortresses

HANOI Indo-China (CP)—French fighters and bombers today heavily pounded Vietminh bases in the vital Red river delta after the fall of one defence post. Other squadrons hammered at rebels shifting eastward from the crushed fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Planes from land and carrier bases ripped at the Communist-led Vietminh's main highway communication leading to the Red river delta and Hanoi while fighters blasted at big Molotov truck convoys.

A French high command spokesman said he would not estimate how heavy were the Vietminh movements from Dien Bien Phu.

"The Vietminh are not marching on Hanoi," he said.

OUTPOSTS RELIEVED

French mobile relief columns crashed through to the aid of two encircled "little Dien Bien Phus" holding out in the southeastern part of the delta.

company of Viet Nam troops fell Friday to a battalion of Communist Vietminh attackers supported by 90-millimetre bazookas and heavy mortars. The lost outpost of Anxa had held out for nearly three weeks, but fell in a night attack as the rebels swarmed through the barbed-wire barricades and overwhelmed the outnumbered defenders.

The surrounded outposts of Yen Phy and Coquan are on the fringes of the strategic rice bowl delta where Communist activity has been stepped up since the fall of the fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The French command said the mobile columns fighting through to the outposts beat off all attacks and inflicted "extremely heavy losses" on the Vietminh. French casualties were "appreciable."

The French are parachuting food and munitions to the beleaguered outposts. They expressed confidence that the defenders can, with air support, hold out against the rebel attacks.

Remove Comics

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Citizens' Committee on Comics won its "first major victory" when two city wholesale news vendors agreed to remove from their stands about 40 crime, horror, fear and "obnoxious" love comics.

Saboteurs Try Blow Up Train In Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala said Friday night that saboteurs have blasted a rail line in an attempt to blow up a munitions train. The announcement came as the government of this Central American republic heatedly charged the United States with spreading alarmist reports about arms arriving here from Iron Curtain countries.

Interior Minister August Charnaud MacDonald said the explosion occurred Wednesday, killing a civilian and a soldier and injuring three other soldiers.

The saboteurs fought a gun battle with federal troops, he said, and then fled into the hills near the Honduran border. The arms shipment, moving to Guatemala city from Puerto Barrios on the east coast, was unharmed.

(The United States state department, voicing concern over increasing Red influence in Guatemala's government, notified other Latin American countries Monday that the Swedish ship Alphelm was unloading a shipment of arms from Poland at Puerto Barrios. The state department said they were loaded at Stettin, a former German port now in Poland.)

EXPLOSION NEAR BORDER

MacDonald said he believed Guatemalan political refugees in neighboring Honduras took part in the plot. The explosion was about two miles from the border.

The gang placed about 32 one-pound charges but only two went off. The powder charge was not the kind the Guatemalan or most other Central American armies use, according to the minister.

Most Unwise To Write Off Geneva Parley Complexities, But Not Hopeless–Pearson

LONDON (CP)— L. B. Pearson, Canada's minister of external affairs, said today it would be "most unwise" at this stage to write off the Geneva conference as a failure.

In a parting statement on the conference, the Canadian minister said:

"None of us who went to Geneva four weeks ago were under any illusion about the complexities of the problems confronting us or the obstacles which would have to be overcome before success could be achieved.

"Nothing that has happened at Geneva so far has warranted any change of view, but the talks are still going on, and it would be most unwise to write the conference off."

The Canadian minister arrived in London Friday night after some 3½ weeks at Geneva as leader of the Canadian delegation. He is scheduled to return to Ottawa to night by air, and is expected to make a full report on the Geneva talks Monday to the House of Commons.

Armadillos, Platypuses Steal Nation's Headlines

By RAY KOHN

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's the latest on animals in the news: Soft-hearted zoo men go for hard-shelled armadillos; sore - armed dancer picks python over puma; duck-billed Cecil re-woos Penelope the platypus.

At Riverhead, N. Y., Sidney Schwartz complained Thursday that he was up to his ears in armadillos. Two lady armadillos, which he bought in order to write a thesis on their birth habits for a New York University doctorate, produced seven armor-plated babies.

Armadillos habitually sleep during the daylight hours and whomp it up at night. And they eat like hogs. Schwartz said local zoos and dealers wouldn't take the mothers and sighed hopefully:

"There must be some people who like armadillos."

FIND A HOME

Well, there are. Friday in Toronto, the Riverdale Zoo said it would adopt an armadillo. And Arthur Watson, director of Baltimore's zoo, said he'll be glad to even pay the express charges. The mayor of Granby, Que., Horace Boivin, said he'd take a pair for his eastern township city's new 70-acre zoo.

Schwartz feels much better now, although he says, "There's nothing final about it yet."

Prancing about in Putnam Valley, N.Y., Friday was a puma, a dancer, some reporters — and a press agent.

The dancer, Lonnie Young, 26, apparently keeps the puma, a pint-sized panther, in her hotel room. Miss Young said she was thinking of switching her night club act with a python to the puma — only she didn't know. Just the other day, she said, the puma took a bite out of her arm.

Anyway, with reporters present, the dancer let the puma out of his cage. The puma roared and the news hounds retreated. Miss Young cracked a whip. The puma merely looked annoyed and seemed to toy with the idea of taking another bite out of his mistress' arm.

Thinking it over, Miss Young said, she guessed she'd stick to plain old pythons.

CUPID ACTIVE

Now back to New York City and up to the Bronx Zoo. The "who's woo" of the zoo, for several years, has featured Cecil and Penelope, the duck-billed platypuses.

The zoo has been trying to get the egg-laying Australian - born animals together so they could raise a family.

Last summer Penelope retired to her tunnel early, a sign of motherhood. Keepers plied her with goodies and felt "this was it."

But Penelope was only fooling. It turned out she just liked goodies.

But this is another spring, and Cecil is chummy with Penelope—who doesn't seem to mind at all.

Shrewd Haggling With Arabs Gets McGill Ancient Manuscripts

MONTREAL (CP)—McGill University revealed Friday how shrewd haggling with Bedouin tribesmen gave it possession of a valuable collection of ancient Hebrew manuscripts.

Dr. F. Cyril James, McGill's principal and vice-chancellor, announced that, working through the Jordan government's department of antiquities, the university has obtained fragments of the Old Testament and other non-Biblical writings transcribed in the days of Christ by a little-known Hebrew cult.

The fragments were found in a remote cave at Khirbet Qumran 10 miles from Jericho, near where in 1947 the famed Dead sea scrolls were discovered by a wandering Arab.

The new fragments were found in a cave where they had been deposited by the Essenes before they were dispersed by advancing Roman armies in 70 A.D.

One-quarter of the fragments were bought for $15,000 by the university before examination—a condition of the sale.

Dr. R. B. Y. Scott of McGill divinity school, described the collection as of "utmost importance for the study of judaism in the time of Christ and for the study of the Old Testament text." He said the material would keep scholars occupied for the next 30 years.

"They provide in many places an alternative wording to the traditional Hebrew text on which the King James version is based, but will not make any significant difference in matters of doctrine and belief."

The fragments now are being cleaned and sorted in Jerusalem. They were being placed between pieces of glass 12 inches by 18 inches. McGill's part of the collection filled 24 plates with smaller fragments still to be sorted.

"The most interesting piece so far noted is a fairly large fragment of a Biblical book which was of a version quite unlike anything previously known," said Dr. Wilfred C. Smith, head of McGill's institute of Islamic Studies.

Ontario Towns See Eclipse On June 30

TORONTO (CP) — A dark shadow, travelling at 3,000 miles an hour will sweep across northern Ontario and Quebec at dawn June 30.

A black disc set in a pearly glow will hang in the sky, blotting out the sun. The brighter stars will appear.

The town of White River, Hornepayne, Oba, Kapuskasing, Hearst and Coral Rapids will be plunged into semi-darkness.

And on a grassy knoll overlooking the Mississabi river 40 miles north of Kapuskasing, a team of astronomers will record a rare solar spectacle, the eclipse of the sun.

Not since 1945 has such a heavenly performance been seen in Canada. It won't take place again until 1963. In 90 seconds it will be over. But since last October a team of scientists working in the David Dunlap observatory at nearby Richmond Hill have been planning for those few moments.

ADVANCE PARTY LEAVES

On June 10, an advance party will leave for Mattice, a small village near Kapuskasing, to set up camp being prepared for it by the local parish priest.

They will be joined by advance parties from two other teams, from the Dominion observatory and National Research Council in Ottawa and the Dominion astrophysical observatory at Victoria.

Heading the Toronto party will be Dr. John Heard, dean of the department of astronomy in the University of Toronto and president of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Through the use of spectographs and polarigraphs, the team will record on film the composition of the chromosphere, that ruddy, flowing layer of hydrogen, helium and other gasses that surrounds the sun, the corona and its mysterious 3,000,000 - mile long "streamers" of an unknown substance.

The photographs will give further clues to the contents of interplanetary space. Generally, the sun's intense light makes it impossible to study the space between the earth and sun but scientists suspect there are dust and gases there in as much abundance as elsewhere in our galaxy.

Dr. J. B. Oke, a member of the observatory staff, said the eclipse will consist of four "contacts."

The first contact will begin over the Kapuskasing area at 6:17 a.m. EDT when the moon begins its passage between the sun and the earth. The second will be at 7:10 a.m. when the sun is completely covered by the moon. The third is at 7:12 a.m. when the sun begins to appear once more and the fourth at 8:10 a.m. when the moon moves completely away from in front of the sun.

Key to the project is a structure of steel, wood, telescopes and cameras, designed and built by Gerald F. Longworth, the observatory's instrument maker and an astronomer himself.

Mr. Longworth will be in the advance party to Mattice to pour the concrete in which the steel polar axis will be imbedded. The polar axis will be rotated by small electric motors, geared to the movement of the moon.

The mounting is set on an axis parallel with the earth's. Its rotation is timed to revolve once in 24 hours. It enables all to observation equipment to keep pace with the sun at the moment the moon intervenes.

Lying horizontally on the axis are the spectograph and the polarigraph. The spectograph will split the light into its component colors. The polarigraph consists of four small telescopes fitted with special polaroid lenses placed in different directions to give four separate photographs of the same image.

Mr. Longworth now is constructing an 11-foot telescope mounted horizontally which will give a large-scale photograph of the sun's corona. Light from the sun will be fed into the telescope by a coelostate, or mirror.

The instrument maker has designed a camera which will take about 20 exposures during the eclipse.

The moon's 90-mile wide shadow will start its race near Minneapolis and travel northeasterly across northern Ontario, Quebec, Greenland, then swinging south over Sweden, Afghanistan and India, a distance of about 8,000 miles.

Danish Farmer Wins Contest From Electronic Brain

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A Danish farm worker Friday night beat an electronic brain in a contest on even terms. The machine was knocked out in the fourth round.

The farm worker, 39-year-old Gerhard Mortensen, who is performing as a "human adding machine" in show business, had challenged the machine at a business machine exhibition. The resulting contest went like this:

Round 1: Multiplication of 97 by 52 by 35 by 44. Mortensen had the correct result in 20 seconds flat. The machine used 21½ seconds.

Round 2: Multiplication of 27 by 44 by 98 by 78. This time Mortensen and the machine tied in 13½ seconds.

Round 3: Multiplication of 23 by 39 by 46 by 61. The machine won in 12¾ seconds. Mortensen used 13¼.

Round 4: Raising 89 to the eighth cube. Mortensen reached the correct result in 45 seconds. The machine was unable to register the high figure.

Then Mortensen finished off by humiliating his opponent. He offered to tell the day of the week of any date in the past or in the future.

Public Works Approved By City Council

A number of bylaws authorizing the construction of works under the Local Improvement Act have been given a first and second reading by city council and will be forwarded to the Ontario municipal board before receiving third reading.

The works include crushed gravel roadways on Walkerfield Ave., Dobbin Ave., Victory drive and Victory crescent ;a storm sewer on Cameron St.; asphalt pavements on Wolfe, Rink, Aylmer and Water streets and Monaghan road; widening McDonnel St.; concrete sidewalks on Juliet road and Wilson, Wolsley, Park, McKellar, Cameron and Chester streets and O'Connell road; a crushed gravel roadway on Albertus St.

Two bylaws which had previously received first and second readings and subsequently received municipal board approval were given third reading.

They authorized construction of concrete sidewalks on King George St., from Park St. to Monaghan Rd. and a sanitary sewer on Victory drive, from Dobbin Ave. to Victory crescent.

Report Relations Badly Strained

PARIS (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Bidault flew here today from the Geneva Far East conference for celebrations marking the 50th anniversary of a friendship agreement between Britain and France.

But even as the two men attended a luncheon in honor of the "Entente Cordiale," pessimistic diplomatic observers said Anglo-French relations have not been as strained since France surrendered to Germany in 1940. The observers blame this state of affairs on Eden and Bidault.

To many war-weary Frenchmen it appears Eden is seeking peace in Indo-China during negotiations at Geneva while Bidault is mainly concerned with enlisting United States help for continuing the seven-year-old jungle war.

Both Bidault and Eden will confer with their governments on Indo-China before returning to Geneva Monday.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Early losses were reduced or erased by the close Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as offerings dried up and fair buying appeared.

All prices except flax fell off at the opening on selling prompted by the Washington announcement that the United States would offer surplus feed grains at subsidy prices. However, after the first nervous flurry, buying came in, with shippers and exporters picking up barley; shippers buying oats; and locals purchasing rye. Flax was firm throughout. Lakehead prices for the top grades of Class 2, IWA and domestic wheat dropped one-eighth cent, except for Class 2 Durums which were unchanged.

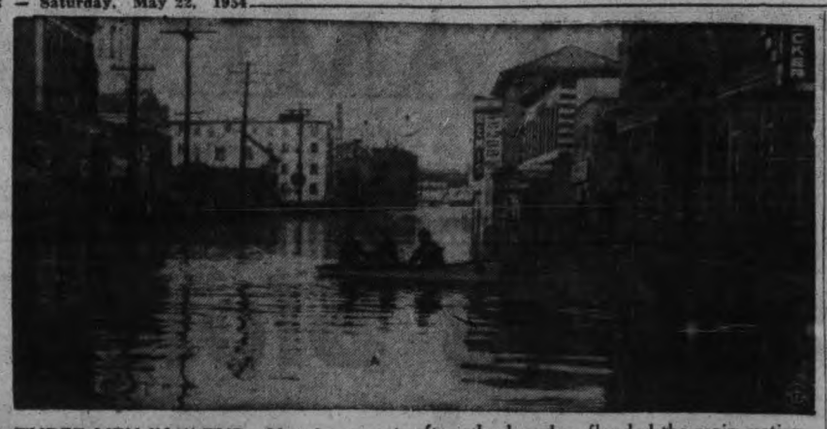
Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Sunny weather is expected today and Sunday throughout Ontario except for Kingston and eastward. There there is rain from a general rain area centred over New England states. This should move out of the province tonight. Temperatures in the south will be about 70 this afternoon and Sunday but from Georgian bay north they will be from 68 to 53 on Sunday. Our next rain will have to come from the low pressure area in the central States, but this is moving unusually slowly so that continued fine weather is likely for Monday.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday.

Niagara, Lake Ontario, Georgian bay and Haliburton regions: Hamilton and Toronto: Sunny today and Sunday with little change in temperature; winds north 15; low tonight and high Sunday at Hamilton, St. Catharines, Toronto and Trenton 45 and 70; Muskoka 45 and 65, Killaloe 40 and 65. Summary for Sunday: Sunny.



THREE MEN IN A TUB—No, the men in the boat aren't sailors. They're Peabody, Mass., police doing patrol duty in a rowboat after a broken dam flooded the main section of the city. Damage to factories, stores and homes is expected to run into millions of dollars.

Charges Canadians Misled No Radar Air-Defence

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative has accused Defence Minister Claxton of misleading Canadians about a rader air-defence screen which, he said, does not exist.

Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness, (Calgary, North,) said in the Commons Friday that Canada needs an early-warning system far to the north.

Canada's present radar screen was shallow, based on certain points, and backed up by no more than three CF-100 jet squadrons.

"We are not entirely helpless, but we are very close to it," said Col. Harkness, an artillery officer overseas in the Second World War.

In other business Friday, the government tabled supplementary estimates totalling $42,314,728, bringing its known spending program for the 1954-55 fiscal year to $4,534,065,000. The figure would be a peacetime high for expenditure.

Speaking in the second day of House study of defence estimates, Col. Harkness took issue with Mr. Claxton's statement Thursday that practice RCAF operations had stopped nine out of 10 attacking bombers, and that the plan for a radar and interceptor screen was 90-per-cent completed.

FALSE SECURITY

"I think the minister of national defence does no service to the Canadian people by giving them a false sense of security with regard to the radar screen which exists, or rather with regard to the one which does not exist. . . ."

Mr. Claxton replied later with an amplification of his reference to halting nine out of 10 planes in practice.

He said the figures illustrate an operational study and did not suggest that "if the enemy came over tonight our planes could get into the air and knock down nine out of 10."

If it was a night attack, through freezing rain which grounded defence planes, the attack would be successful. Radar-guided missiles from the ground, which could stop such an attack, had not been developed by any country yet.

The preliminary discussion on defence estimates, still not complete, centred mainly on requirements for the defence of Canada.

The topic involved the reserve army, and produced a spirited exchange between Mr. Claxton and Opposition Leader Drew over a secret report on the condition of the reserves.

Mr. Drew demanded that the report be produced for the Commons before it is asked to consider detailed estimates on the reserve army.

Mr. Claxton rejected the demand, and said he will tell members later what the report recommends and what action the government is taking.

The report, made by three top officers under Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy, was completed several months ago after more than a year of investigations at the request of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff.

Mr. Drew said that reserve army recruiting, dealt with in the report, is far short of requirements. Numbers on parade were fantastically short of paper figures given by Mr. Claxton and the paper strength of the units.

Mr. Claxton said the present reserve strength of 57,000 is the highest ever reached in a peacetime year. Reserve units, however, were never intended to be at full strength.

"The reason they aren't in the reserve forces is that they are in the active forces, serving Canada full time."

Three Boys Burned By Fireworks Bomb

TORONTO (CP) — Three boys were burned, two severely, at Maple Leaf Baseball Stadium Friday night when a powerful fireworks bomb they were playing with exploded.

Harvey Robinson, 13, was admitted to hospital, with severe burns to his face, right hand and left ear. His younger brother, Brian, 10, was burned on the hands and face. David Gordon, 12, suffered severe burns to the face and hands.

The bomb is believed to be the type used at the stadium to send off a shower of sparklers every time Toronto scores during a ball game.

Warn Leaders Move Slowly

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP) — Negro leaders were counseled to move slowly, although firmly, as they met today to map a program of action in line with Supreme Court invalidation of public school segregation.

The advice came from Austin T. Walden, Atlanta Negro political leader and a member of the legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In an interview before a two-day closed strategy session by NAACP national and regional leaders, he said he thought members of his race should not seek to bring a sudden end to segregation but should wait until the Supreme Court proceeds this fall to decide how separation of the races should be ended.

He advised that state NAACP leaders seek in the meantime to discourage immediate suits to force admission of Negro students to all public schools, colleges and universities. Such action, he felt, should be held in abeyance until fall.

14 Soldiers Arrive For Rome Visit

ROME (AP) — Fourteen members of Canada's National Defence College arrived here by plane today from Athens.

They were met at Ciampino airport by Canadian officials, among them Pierre Dupuy, Canada's ambassador to Italy.

The group joins another group of 18 members from the college, who arrived here by train from northern Italy, for a three-day stay in Rome.

Murdered Man's Widow Dies

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Ida Victoria Beatty, 63, widow of murder-victim Bruce Beatty of Nearby Renton, died in hospital here Friday night.

She was the only known witness to the beating which took the life of her husband, a 68-year-old service station operator, last Feb. 2.

Mrs. Beatty, also badly beaten, was unable to talk to police after the attack.

Two Americans, Jerry Simmons, 47, of Syracuse and Joe Glen Lotharp, 23, of Detroit will be tried at Supreme Court sittings here starting Nov. 1 in the slaying of Mr. Beattie. They were committed for trial on a charge of murder at a preliminary hearing this week.

The body of Mrs. Beatty will be taken to Hamilton today where an autopsy will be performed by Dr. W. J. Deadman.

Mrs. Beatty was educated in Haldimand county and Hamilton Normal School, and taught at several centres in the Niagara peninsula and Vittoria, near Simcoe.

Life Imprisonment For Wife's Death

WINNIPEG (CP) — Anthony Woytyshyn, 65 - year - old unemployed graveyard worker, was sentenced today to life imprisonment for what Mr. Justice George E. Tritschler described as "an unnecessary and brutal butchery" of his wife.

Woytyshyn was found guilty of manslaughter Friday in the March 24 knife-slaying of his wife Martha, 56. The original charge of murder had been reduced by an all-male jury after 90 minutes' deliberation.

Woytyshyn still will be tried at the fall assizes with the fatal stabbing of his stepson, Orest Ostapowich, which also occurred March 24.

Hope Wanes For Man Missing In Bush

COCHRANE, Ont. (CP) — Hope waned today for the life of 19-year-old Florent Roy of Rimouski, Que., missing since Monday night in the bush in Marven township 30 miles north of here.

Searchers went out again today but said it was doubtful if Roy is still alive. The youth missed a trail while returning to camp and has been the object of a 120-man search directed by Ontario provincial police since Tuesday.

Low temperatures at night may have brought death to the youth, officials said.

S. Korea Makes Little Progress Toward Self-Sufficient Economy

SEOUL (Reuters)—South Korea is making little or nor progress towards a self-sufficient economy.

About $400,000,000 in the form of goods and cash has flowed into South Korea since the first relief organizations were formed in the early days of the war. But there is little to show for it.

On the credit side, trains are running again and there is some form of transport, communications and lighting in the main cities.

The dikes and ditches of bomb-blasted rice paddies have been rebuilt and enough farm tools and fertilizer imported to bring most of the pre-war agricultural areas back into production.

These steps paid off last autumn, when South Korea had her biggest rice crop in 12 years.

By IAN STEWART

Two textile mills are back in operation with 54,000 spindles imported by the United Nations Korea reconstruction agency, and three briquette factories are in production, also with imported equipment.

As far as major rehabilitation projects are concerned, however, there is planning but no progress.

The planners agree that South Korea urgently requires power. South Korean power plants now produce 80,000 kilowatts an hour. This is not enough to light the country's homes, far less to provide power for its factories.

Britain Enjoying Flush Of Prosperity

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP)—Britain's war-impoverished economy is enjoying a spring flush of prosperity and the pound sterling shows more strength and bounce than at any time since the war.

This island workshop sells more abroad than ever before. Industrial production is at record peaks. Big corporations pay fat dividends. The stock exchange reflects confidence and optimism.

The pound sterling is in world-wide demand again. There are rumor—officially denied—that the government ceiling on the value of the pound may be raised above the current $2.82.

With the scrapping of many controls over trade and finance, "The City" has reclaimed its pre-war position as a world markets centre.

Officials are delighted and somewhat surprised over the way the economy has hit the comeback trail in recent months. But they warn that the boom is only a tender flower.

RESERVES SLOWLY RISE

A sudden loss of export markets and foreign income could plunge the country into another desperate financial crisis. The war-depleted gold and dollar reserves, lifeblood of this trading nation, are increasing slowly but still are below a comfortable level.

A serious American recession could play havoc with the British economy. But experts have been surprised by the way Britain has withstood the effects of the current American business downturn.

Jobs are plentiful in Britain. The cost of living remains fairly stable —although the opposition Labor party says food prices are too high.

Individual incomes, however, are stripped down by what probably are the stiffest taxes in any Western country. The 50,000,000 people of this island bear a heavy burden of worldwide commitments and huge wartime debts.

The "bubble of prosperity" could burst if two things go wrong:

1. If the terms of world trade change. Right now these weigh heavily in Britain's favor. Prices of Britain's exported manufactured goods have stayed at a relatively higher level than the prices of the raw materials which Britons must buy abroad.

2. A second crippling blow would be severe cuts in American dollar defence aid and military procurement. These two sources yielded $340,000,000 last year.

The government was not able to grant any significant tax relief in its new "carry-on" budget. But life is better than a year ago and immeasurably more comfortable than during the pinched years after the war.

And on July 3, ration books will be thrown away at last and a whole generation will learn for the first time what it is like to be able to buy everything without coupons.

Hangers On Tossed Out By Hoover

By DON WHITEHEAD

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty years ago—on May 10, 1924—U.S. Attorney - General Harlan Fiske Stone summoned a dark-haired young lawyer into his office, peered at him over his glasses and said gruffly:

"Young man, I want you to be acting director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

Thus began the remarkable partnership between J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI, a partnership that has endured through and into the administrations of five presidents and 11 attorneys-general.

The greying FBI chief looked back over those 30 years the other day and recalled the 1924 Stone interview.

"I told him I would take the job only on two conditions.

"I said the bureau had to be divorced from politics, with appointments made solely on merit. Second, promotions would be made on proved ability, the FBI would not be a catch-call for political hacks, and would be responsible only to the attorney-general."

NO GESTAPO

In the course of the talk, I put to Hoover a question that has cropped up intermittently.

"Is there a danger of the FBI becoming a gestapo? What is to prevent the FBI from using police-state methods?"

Hoover's reply: "No, there is no danger of the FBI becoming a gestapo—not if we have men of character in the organization and an alert public opinion.

"If we get the right type of men they will refuse to stoop to gestapo-type methods."

I asked about reports and insinuations that FBI files are open to some congressional investigators —and that the FBI "tips off" members of Congress to subversive cases where its own agents can't get evidence for a court case.

Hoover snapped: "I can say unqualifiedly that is an absolute lie.

"I'm pretty sensitive to the matter of our files. I've consistently resisted every attempt to make the raw files available. Data from FBI files have leaked out through other agencies. People like to throw the name of the FBI around."

TESTIMONY CREATED STIR

On the political side, Hoover created a flurry when he appeared as a witness last November to testify in the case of the late Harry Dexter White after Attorney-General Herbert Brownell charged former president Harry Truman promoted White despite FBI reports of espionage activities.

Why did Hoover testify in the White case?

"I always have resisted appearances before any congressional committee except those dealing with appropriations," Hoover said.

"After the attorney - general made his speech on the White case, stories and rumors were widely circulated that I had been a party to an agreement to promote White and retain him in government.

"That story was absolutely untrue. The Jenner committee (the Senate internal security sub-committee headed by Senator Jenner of Indiana) called me twice and asked me to testify on the White case and twice I refused.

"I agreed to testify on the third request rather than face a subpoena. I agreed because I wished to avoid a subpoena and because the story which was going around reflected on me and on the FBI."

WITHOUT PARTY TIES

Then Hoover added: "During Republican administrations I have been accused of being a Democrat —and during Democratic administrations I've been accused of being a Republican. As a matter of fact, I've never voted and I have no politics.

Before Hoover took over, the FBI was an inept, politics-ridden agency tainted by past government scandals. There was no requirement—as there is today—that FBI agents must be lawyers or accountants with a background of good moral character. They got their jobs by political pull. There was no fingerprint file, no crime detection laboratory, no training program—and no prestige.

Hoover tossed out the political hangers-on, the incompetents, and some with criminal backgrounds.

Hoover and his FBI zoomed to prominence in the gun-blazing gangster era of the early '30s, and with the solution of the Lindbergh kidnap case. He made the FBI a centre for scientific crime investigation and brought a prestige to law enforcement never before attained in the United States.

cation cannot be achieved in Communist fashion."

OTHER PROVISIONS

Other provisions of the South Korean plan:

Full freedom of movement would be provided for UN personnel supervising the elections.

Candidates, their campaigners and their families would enjoy full freedom of movement and speech.

The elections would be conducted on the basis of secret ballot and universal adult suffrage.

A census would be taken under UN supervision to determine how the representation of members for Korea should be apportioned.

The all-Korea legislature would be convened in Seoul immediately after the elections.

The legislature would decide whether the president of unified Korea should be newly elected or not. It would also consider constitutional amendments and the disbandment of military units.

The existing constitution of South Korea would remain effective unless amended by the all-Korea legislature.

One Western delegate said: "If the Communists really want to negotiate on Korea they can take up this plan as a basis for talking."

South Korea has hitherto insisted on UN - supervised elections in North Korea only. The Communists have demanded all - Korea elections free of "foreign interference."

Western delegates say there is still a big gap between South Korea's new 14-point plan and their plans for Korea-wide elections, but at least they see it as a step in the right direction.

RETURN TO CONSULT

Two of the major Western delegates did not wait for today's 11th session on Korea. Britain's foreign secretary Eden and France's foreign minister Bidault headed back to their capitals for week-end discussions on the critical Indo-China negotiations, which today were still the centre of behind-the-scenes negotiations here.

In separate Indo-China talks Friday the West and the Communists were reported to have agreed to points to be discussed for ending the seven-year-old war.

But nothing leaked out of the four-hour closed-door meeting to indicate that either side had budged from its basic position or made a move that would break the prolonged deadlock.

One informed Western source reported "definite progress, but no cause for cheering yet."

The next session on Indo-China takes place Monday. Informants said the nine participating delegations, the Big Four, China, the three associated states of Indo-China and delegates of the Communist-led Vietminh, have agreed to use some sections of both the French and Communist armistice plans as a basis for discussion at their next meeting.

Victory Costs Teeps $11,000

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—It cost St. Catharines TeePees $11,000 to win the Memorial Cup this year.

George Stauffer, club treasurer, told a civic dinner given Teeps Friday night that if Toronto Marlboros, instead of Teeps, had won the seventh and deciding game of the OHA final series, St. Catharines would have been $11,000 richer.

He explained that the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association pays only part of the expenses of clubs in the eastern Canada and cup finals and ignores salaries.

Because Teeps won and went on to beat Quebec Frontenacs in the semi-finals and Edmonton Oil Kings in the final it cost them another $11,000 in expenses.

But, said Stauffer, the club would gladly lose that much again next year if it meant another Memorial Cup for St. Catharines.

Report On Exports To Soviet Russia

LONDON (AP)—The board of trade announced today that British exports to Soviet Russia in the six months ended May 15 totalled £3,763,288, and that an additional £236,508 worth of goods went to Communist China.

The board said a total of 61 applications for export of machine goods to the Soviet Union were allowed. Of this number, 52 applications were in categories for which no licence is required.

Of 72 applications for licences to export electrical equipment to Communist China, 38 were allowed.

The British government says it strictly enforces the Western Allies' embargoes on the shipment of strategic goods to the communist world.

Alberta Wages Yearly War On Fleas, Ticks

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's chief entomologist and a crew of University of Alberta students have started their annual war on ticks and fleas in the province.

Preventive measures check the spread of Rocky Mountain spotted fever and bubonic plague which can be carried by the tiny insects.

Heading the crew is J. H. (Jack) Brown, entomologist for the Alberta health department. The campaign is centred in a triangular area which has its peak at the western fringe of the Cypress hills, about 20 miles southeast of Medicine Hat.

FREE VACCINATION

Clinics have been organized in the district and vaccinations are provided free to 2,200 persons annually.

But, says Mr. Brown, "vaccination gives only 80-per-cent protection." Rocky Mountain spotted fever has attacked 16 Albertans within the last eight years, and 12 of these died.

The real carriers of the disease are animals ranging in size from gophers to antelopes. The ticks become infected with the disease when they attach themselves to the animals and suck their blood.

The ticks, or their offspring which also may be infected, can transmit the disease to humans by fastening themselves to the human body.

Spotted fever is just what the name implies. The first signs are mottled splotches of the body extremities, caused by breakdown of capillaries and consequent release of blood into surrounding tissues. Slowly these splotches spread until they cover the entire body.

If the disease is recognized early and the patient is placed under treatment, there is chance for survival. But, says Mr. Brown, "death can come within five days after onset of the disease."

SEARCHING JOB

His student crew has the task of locating infected ticks and sending them to clinics for examination thus keeping the provincial health department briefed on the extent of the disease.

"We can't control the spread of ticks in nature," Mr. Brown notes. "All we can do is to protect humans from them."

For bubonic plague, there is neither cure nor effective vaccination. The disease is known to exist in an area from the Red Deer river, which flows south from the central part of the province, as far east as the Alberta-Saskatchewan border.

The disease has been kept in check in Alberta, but Mr. Brown says it would only need a small start to become a serious problem.

The university crew work in this case with the same method as for spotted fever. However, this time they look for fleas, 11 species of which are capable of causing the disease in Alberta.

"The problem of these diseases is just as real as when we started" Mr. Brown says. "The survey crews are essential to locate the infected areas, so protection can be given the people living in those districts."

Old Spanish Chest Traced To Royalty

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — An ornately carved chest, an antique Spanish treasure, poses a mystery for its owner-collector, W. E. G. Summers. How did it get to Canada?

Mr. Summers, who values the chest at $1,000 apart from its historical significance, believes it was once owned by King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain, who backed Columbus on his voyage to the New World.

Mr. Summers bought the chest of hand-hewn chestnut at a sale in Toronto. But its history remains shrouded in mystery and cannot be traced.

Carving of a coat of arms first led Mr. Summers to conclude the chest was 16th century English. But the Royal College of Arms in London reported that the coat of arms was that of Ferdinand and Isabella. The arms also indicated that the chest would be owned by a head of state rather than a minor official.

Silver Jubilee

MONTREAL (CP)—Celebrations of the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger will include a gathering of 50,000 school children on the grounds of St. Joseph Oratory on May 29. About 40,000 adults will assemble May 30 for celebration of mass.

Persistence Pays

EDMONTON (CP) — After 13 years of trying, the Alberta Commercial Travellers Association has finally won the trophy it donated to the Edmonton inter-service club bonspiel in 1942. An A.C.T. rink skipped by Bruce McKittrick won the 'spiel for the first time this year.

Coastal Link

VICTORIA (CP) — A helicopter service linking Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle is seen as a future prospect by Wallace Courtenay, Victoria manager of Trans-Canada Air Lines. Such a service would reduce time lost in ground travel to and from airports.

Paper Lauds McCarthy For Stand

NEW YORK (AP) — A Roman Catholic newspaper in Brooklyn praised Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.), Friday and took a passing slap at a Jesuit magazine that criticized him.

McCarthy is a Roman Catholic. The newspaper, The Tablet, a official weekly publication of the Brooklyn diocese, said the wide circulation of criticism by the Jesuit magazine, America, is "truly pathetic."

America is published by members of the Society of Jesus, the Jesuit order of the Roman Catholic church.

PATHETIC SIDE

Said The Tablet, in its lengthy editorial on the McCarthy-army hearings in Washington:

"This week's news was not without its truly pathetic side. The daily anti-McCarthy press, almost in unison, quoted extensively from an editorial from a 'Jesuit Catholic weekly' asserting Senator McCarthy was seeking to destroy the presidency. A number of prominent Jesuits have informed us that the publication represents the thinking of a small minority of members of the Society of Jesus. . .

"We do not know for how many the publication speaks, but we do know that the senator is seeking, not to destroy the presidency, but to save it from its enemies within the government itself. These enemies have made the elected representative of the people of Wisconsin the target of destruction."

The Tablet has a circulation of 130,000. America's circulation is about 32,000.

First Aiders Rewarded

TORONTO (CP) — First aid teams from Toronto, Hamilton, Barrie, Peterborough, Niagara Falls, London, Kitchener, Chatham, Windsor, and North Bay received awards from the Bell Telephone Co., here Friday night.

Prizes were awarded on the basis of competition among teams of Bell personnel.

EMPIRE DAY was marked in city Public and Separate schools when the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire presented framed portraits of the Queen to each school on Friday. Typical of the short presentation ceremony is that shown above at the Central school. Left to right are, IODE educational secretary Mrs. J. A. Spurway, principal Donald Crawford, the Rev. F. G. Ongley, St. John's Anglican church, and Allen Hum who received the gift on behalf of the school body. School children were dismissed for the long holiday weekend at the end of the ceremony.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Double Spending To Speed Seaway

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is doubling its immediate spending on the St. Lawrence seaway, in the evident hope construction will start soon.

In the Commons Friday, it called for $846,000 for surveys and other activities besides $820,000 it asked earlier for the 1954-55 fiscal year. The additional money was sought in supplementary estimates.

Officials said the new money will be spent for such things as hiring engineers to work on Canada's part of the $300,000,000 navigation works.

For the capital cost of construction, the government does not need a money vote. It already is authorized to advance up to $300,000,000 to Parliament's "St. Lawrence seaway authority."

Adjudicator Lauds Singing At Northumberland Festival

COBOURG (ENS)—The Northumberland County Music Festival wound up a five-day competition Friday afternoon in Colborne United church. More than 64 classes and 725 contestants were heard.

Adjudicator John Weatherseed, of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, declared at the end of the festival that the quality of the singing was very good. He paid tribute to the Cobourg Secondary school choir for winning 90 marks, the highest total in the festival.

He also lauded the work of the Campbellford Band and trombone soloist Donald Young in particular. The friendly spirit of the festival was very marked, he said, with good sportsmanship being shown by all.

Britain May Order Canned Peaches

LONDON (CP)—A food ministry spokesman said today that negotiations now under way with Canadian fruit canners will probably lead to purchase by Britain of Canadian canned peaches and pears.

He emphasized, however, that the talks do not imply a return to normal trade, nor do they commit Britain to further purchases.

Prior to the Second World War Britain imported more than 12,000 tons of Canadian canned fruit annually. In post-war years imports have been cut to a mere seven tons.

Father Of Three Drowns In Rideau

OTTAWA (CP)—Calvin Calaghan, 35-year-old father of three, was drowned early today in the Rideau river about 15 miles south of here.

His fishing companion, Lucien Latreille, 35, also of Ottawa, clung to the side of their half-submerged rowboat until rescued by Bert Hill, whose riverside home is a few hundred feet from where the two men had anchored about midnight.

Try Moving Jobless To Employment Areas

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment has prompted the federal government to try a small-scale experiment in moving jobless into areas where there is work.

The government's supplementary estimates for 1954-55, tabled in the Commons Friday, included $125,000 for this project.

The money would be used, informants said, to help unemployed move out of the most depressed areas. The step was regarded as a tryout.

Army Headquarters Announces Postings

OTTAWA (CP) — Changes in postings of senior officers, effective early this summer, were announced Friday by army headquarters.

Maj. G. N. Chambers, 39, of Kingston and Winnipeg, now interchange officer at the British war office, will be appointed general staff officer Class 1 at Canadian Army liaison establishment and promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Wilson In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson of the United States arrived here today on a Far East tour and said the U. S. should not fight for Asian peoples unless they ask for help. Wilson came here from Formosa and said Nationalist China has "considerable military strength for its size." He characterized recent sea and air clashes between Nationalist and Communist forces as border skirmishes.

Court Awards $385.80 Crash Damages

In a county court action Sydney J. Black of 406 Water St. has been awarded $385.80 in damages as a result of a two-car crash at Aylmer and Edinburgh Sts., on the morning of Dec. 1, 1952.

Judge John de N. Kennedy, who made the award, found the defendant, 18-year-old Carl Simmons of 704 Orpington Rd., negligent in failing to give Black the right of way, failing to keep his car under control and failing to keep a proper lookout.

Black is a Charlotte St. office supplies merchant and a former alderman. He testified that he was going north on Aylmer St., shortly before 9 a.m., to keep a business appointment. At Edinburgh St. he could not see west because of a house, a parked car and a steep bank on the southwest corner.

He glanced to the east and saw nothing coming; then, too late, he saw Simmons' eastbound car come into the intersection. Though he gave his 1952-model car a spurt of gas and pulled to the right he was unable to avoid a collision. Simmons' car hit his vehicle back of the left door, spinning it around 180 degrees.

In a brief conversation with Simmons after the acident Black quoted the defendant as saying: "There goes my licence."

Simmons was driving a 1935-model car with only part of a grill, no front bumper and no trunk lid.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'd be afraid to drive it," said Black.

The amount of damages to Black's car ($385.80) was admitted by Simmons, who was defended by Alexander Fleming. Judge Kennedy found in favor of Black for the amount claimed. There was no counterclaim.

Because Simmons was a minor his father, Edward L. Simmons, was named as co-defendant.

W. Donald Bark was counsel for Black.

Corfu Residents Stone Consul's Car

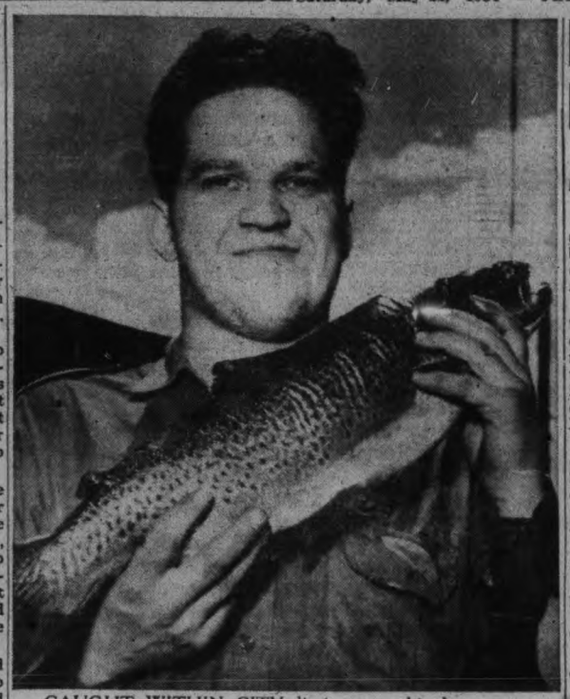
ATHENS (AP) — Thousands of anti-British demonstrators broke through police cordons and hurled stones through the windows of the British consul's car on the Greek island of Corfu Friday, press reports said today.

The influential morning paper Kathimerini said the demonstrators were joined by church leaders, including the Bishop of Corfu.

Feeling against Britain is running high because of her refusal to consider Greek claims that the Middle East colony of Cyprus be united with Greece.

Accused Of Arson

OSHAWA (CP) — Clayton Reid, 29, was charged Friday with attempted arson and will appear in court next Friday. The charge followed an investigation into five small fires in the Duplate of Canada Limited plant where Reid worked.



CAUGHT WITHIN CITY limits was this brown trout which Ron Palmer, 287 Westcott St., took on spinning tackle and minnow at the foot of Fradette St., on the Otonabee river, Thursday evening. It weighed 5½ pounds, it broke the landing net and, in the dark, Ron did not know what type of fish he was battling with. This is probably the first official record of a brown being taken in that section of the river, within the city.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Lakefield WA Plans Cake, Rummage Sales

LAKEFIELD —(ENS)—Mrs. C. Payne had charge of the program for the meeting of the W.A. held Tuesday afternoon in the S.S. Room of the United church. The theme was based on Christian family week. Mrs. S. Burger read the scripture and Mrs. I. Madill gave the lesson thoughts, stressing that the home is still the most important unit for Christianity in the world to-day. Mrs. Sherman Northey gave an excellent report of the recent presbytery convention.

Mrs. P. Darling, president, presided for the business session. Mrs. S. Northey and Mrs. I. Madill, of the ways and means committee reported on a rummage sale to be held June 6 and asked for donations of good used clothing. Tentative plans for a cake sale to be held the end of June were made. Mrs. H. Wannamaker was asked to take Mrs. Charlton's place as flower convenor for the present until she is able to carry on again.

Mrs. Darling invited all the ladies to her cottage on Clear Lake for the June meeting. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Fairburn, Mrs. R. Charlton and Mrs. S. Northey.

Fall Fatal

DUNDALK (CP)—Robert Ferris, 68, injured here Wednesday when he fell from a ladder while sawing a limb off a tree, died Friday in hospital at nearby Markdale.

Bomber Planes Ready Strike At Any Place

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the long-range United States bombing force says his planes and crews are set to strike at targets anywhere in the world.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the U.S. Air Force's strategic air command, said Friday that "the readiness of our strategic bombers to strike back on a global scale is a considerable factor . . . in discouraging the spread of a limited war."

LeMay told the armed forces chemical association that his bombers can take off in any kind of weather, "fly direct to within a few hundred feet above any designated point on the globe," and "hit their target when they get there."

The administration's military policy is based on the concept of "massive retaliatory power" as a deterrent to Soviet aggression.

To Begin CNIB Project

TORONTO (CP) — Ground will be broken for the new Canadian National Institute for the Blind centre here May 31, although the building fund still is $300,000 short of its $3,150,000 objective.

Everybody Satisfied?

In response to protests against the zoning of the Otonabee river area north of Park Hill Road for heavy industry, the Planning Board has classified 30 feet on both sides of the river as "agricultural" strips. Therefore these strips could become available for park purposes and could not be used by industry. A member of the Board said: "This ought to satisfy everybody". We venture to suggest that it will satisfy nobody.

* * *

A strip of land 30 feet wide is less than half the width of George Street. The only use—good one though it might be—for such a strip would be as a public foot-path, if the land were acquired by the city. And how desirable would that be if it were flanked by factories? The change made Thursday evening suggests that a majority of the Planning Board have misunderstood the nature of the objections which have been raised by the Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee and other citizens. Alderman Alene Holt quite rightly told the meeting that the issue is not whether there there should be more parks along the Otonabee but whether there should be more beautification and less surrender of the area to industry. The Conservation Committee is not "anti-industry" as has been suggested, it is for the preservation of our natural waterways and their beauty. In asking that the river district north of Park Hill be not zoned for heavy industry, it is not asking for more park and recreational area. It is asking that the view and reaches of the river be preserved from industry and busy commerce which, as Peterborough's experience of the river banks south of Hunter Street shows, blight the great natural beauty of the river and rob the public of a physical advantage few other cities in Canada possess.

* * *

As we have pointed out before, the river is really of no use to a factory, unless it wants to dump industrial waste into the waters. Peterborough has several good and large industrial areas; why should another be created on a site which is as beautiful and distinctive as the Otonabee banks are or can be? Should the Otonabee's shores be further closed to public view and use, their charms spoiled by factory buildings?

* * *

It is probable that the Planning Board has been guided in its decision to zone for heavy industry the north reaches of the Otonabee within the city limits because a railway line already exists near the banks. We wish to point out that this is the least-used spur in the city. Perhaps the Board has the Faludi Plan in mind. By it the CNR would abandon its Bethune street route, build a new one northwest of the city, and bring all its traffic into a new Union Station by way of the old spur. We are not convinced that this solution to some of Peterborough's rail problems is the best one. We are very sure that it is a solution not likely to be adopted in the immediate future. Thus, is the Planning Board sacrificing the Otonabee's banks in that area for a faint prospect that heavy rail traffic may some day pass through it? If so, it is not planning at all, but rash conjecture. If that day of heavy rail traffic along the Otonabee north of Parkhill ever comes, the zoning by-law can be modified then. Why create a heavy industrial zone there now? That the line will be abandoned is as likely as that it will be made into a main track.

* * *

It may be argued that there are a couple of light industries already in the area. True. But why encourage heavy industry in that place? The zoning bylaw specifically allows existing buildings to remain and to be used for their present purposes, no matter what the zone. So they would not be disturbed if the district were zoned as residential, class 2 or 3. Zoning only 30 feet on each side of the river as "agricultural" is we think, commendable and harmless, but has this been done only as a sop to protests still unheeded?

No 24th For Five Years

There will not be another 24th of May holiday until 1960. School-children, gardeners and cottage-openers need not worry about the loss of holiday, however. The Parliament of Canada has so tinkered with the calendar and imperial history that the Queen's Birthday (Victoria's) is henceforth to be observed on the first Monday before the 25th of May. Mind you, it is not denied that Victoria was born on the 24th of May; Parliament has merely decided that she should have been born on a Monday in that week, no matter what date, so that Canadians can have a long weekend. The decision was made more than a year ago, so beginning last year, Victoria Day falls on the 24th of May only if the 24th happens to be a Monday. Otherwise, it falls on the Monday before the 24th. That is why there will not be an actual 24th holiday again until 1960, the first time (after next Monday) that the 24th is a Monday.

Queen Victoria is the only monarch present or past whose birthday is observed in Canada as a general public holiday. Imperial symbol though the old Queen was, Canada is the only country in the Commonwealth still to celebrate her birthday. The foregoing suggests that Canadians have need of Queen Victoria's birthday, as a May holiday, and if there had been no Victoria or she had not been born in May, Canada would have invented a Victoria and her May birthday. This, in fact, Canada has now done. The 24th is no longer observed to honour the memory of Queen Victoria. She is, to school children, a myth, May's Santa Claus; a day off school and an evening of fireworks.

Victoria Day is perpetuated because Canadians want a holiday at this time, our first sure holiday of full Spring, garden-planting time, cottage-cleaning time. It is the first reliable picnic time, Easter being such a fickle feast in fickle weather. By the 24th of May most Canadians are pretty sure that they will not be snowed under if they venture abroad and out from behind their storm windows.

The proof of the holiday purpose rather than a national honouring of Victoria was in Parliament's decree that the Queen's birthday need not fall on the 24th; by law it comes on Monday of or before the 24th, to ensure a long weekend. Canadians have done with the hodge-podge of a moveable 24th; so they have done with the waywardness of remembering the birthday of a Queen dead since 1901. One must suppose that the change to Mondays is a realistic official recognition of the implication of the school-children's time-honoured shout:

> The 24th of May
> Is the Queen's birthday;
> If you don't give a holiday
> We'll all run away.

We have the holiday, as adults as well as children, now neatly on Mondays, and only by the accident of the calendar once in a while on the 24th itself.

Quiddities Of Legislation

Parliament now has before it a bill to amend the Radio Act. That large document, by which the C.B.C. has its being and from which all else in the airwaves wafts, is already outdated, in basic principles as in small details.

One theory behind it was that since radio is so important a national and cultural medium, Parliament should ensure that it does not fall into foreign hands. So the Radio Act specified that no one may operate a radio station in Canada unless he is a British subject. The stipulation does not seem unreasonable as applied to broadcasting as generally conceived although it seems an unduly severe limitation on amateurs. However, 'ham stations' have properly been operated blithely from garrets with no thought for anything as grandiloquent as the Radio Act.

The development of radio broadcasting and receiver sets has made a little foolish the requirement that radio stations must be operated by British subjects only. Taxis are now equipped with two-way radio; each is therefore a broadcasting station. There are many cab-owners in Canada who immigrated so recently to this country that they have not yet had time to become Canadian citizens and British subjects. Are they to be put out of business if they merely try to improve it by having the cab equipped with radio? Enforcement of the Act would mean that newcomers would lose their jobs. So the wise men on Parliament Hill are amending the Act.

The change recalls the saying that man was not made for laws, but the laws for man. There is nothing irrevocable, immutable and final about legislation. Time and technical developments alter circumstances and the laws must be changed to meet them. Fifty years ago it was against the law to race a horse down the street at more than twelve miles an hour—too dangerous. Now, in nearly every Ontario town, a horse may run at 30 m.p.h., if he can; that is the maximum vehicular speed limit.

Our conclusion to the whole matter is this: one must entertain respect for laws but have a healthy disrespect for calcification of them. Even the Lord's Day Alliance recognizes that change is irresistible. In its latest annual report the Alliance spends hundreds of words explaining why it is not wise for the Alliance to test, at this time, the constitutionality of the Lord's Day (Ontario) Act, 1950. In essence, the Lords' Day Alliance lawyers have advised that the people of Ontario would not put up with a return to a black-stocking Sunday. Times have changed, even on the Sabbath.

'Finnegan's Wake' Strange Land

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

SEARCHING my book-shelves my eye is periodically caught by a fat red volume which instantly fills me with guilt and distress. Once, under extreme duress, I read about an eighth of it, and since then I have often taken it down, flicked its many hundred pages, weighed it sadly in my hand and put it back again. The book is James Joyce's Finnegans Wake of which its author once said that he demanded no less than a lifetime of study in order that his work should be understood.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE have been a few brave adventurers within those stout covers, and two industrious Americans have even written a skeleton key to a large section of it. ("A Skeleton Key To Finnegans Wake" by Joseph Campbell and Henry M. Robinson.) Nearly all these explorers have reported a marvellous new territory, high peaks of art, glorious jungles of humour, wide horizons of truth. But how many people, apart from those who have written about Finnegans Wake have read it? A hundred? Two hundred? Surely no more.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND of those happy few how many read it only from a sense of duty, conscientiously slogging on, illuminated only at rare intervals by flashes of comprehension? And are we to believe the testimony of the successful explorers—for what a temptation it must be for them to persuade themselves that their time and energy has not been wasted! By studying the book they have, so to speak, invested in it.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is a unique case in the history of literature, a work which may be the greatest masterpiece at least of its century, remaining virtually unread, mentioned seldom or with a shrug of irritated despair. Whose is the fault, the Master's or our own?

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MAIN PRINCIPLE of the new language which Joyce used in Finnegans Wake is a fairly simple one. It is the principle of the portmanteau word. He tried to compose words which would be the equivalent of musical chords, a harmony of disparate meanings contained within a single sound. Thus we are provided at one point with the word "venissoon." Messrs. Campbell and Robinson interpret it in the following terms. "The word 'venissoon' not only signifies the goat venison of the biblical story, but points forward to the Swift-Vanessa theme struck in the statement following." Also—and in the context, obviously—this coined singleword implies the two words "very soon."

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW, I am prepared, conscious of my audacity, to say that this process of word-forming is based on two fundamental errors. In the first place the word is totally unlike a musical chord in that it does not consist of a limited number of notes into which it can be broken up. The number is infinite. I, for example, might choose to read "venissoon" as a combination of "Venice" and "swoon"—and what is to prevent my doing so? I have precisely the same rights over Joyce's invention as have the patient commentators. But the object of language, even of poetic language, is to convey a specific meaning, leaving only the overtones to the reader's choice. Here the basic meaning is itself ambiguous.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is a more serious objection than this. Suppose that we accept the interpretation "Vanessa-Venison-Very-Soon," the result is not at all like a chord in music simply because there is no natural association of these three ideas in our own minds. When a composer invents a daring new chord he reveals a hitherto unsuspected meaning in the combination of given notes. But the association of venison and Vanessa can be relevant only to Joyce himself; to the rest of us it is, inevitably, a dissonance, a jangle of topics and associations which have nothing whatever in common except the accident of sound. This criticism is far from disposing of Finnegans Wake, far from excusing our neglect of it. Possibly I argue like this only because I have failed to read it and am determined to justify my failure. It is certainly true that there is more in the awkward book than this single stylistic device. But the point I would make is that the demands which Joyce has made on us are not just too difficult; they are impossible. We cannot share his own private associations of one word with another.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS impossible that anyone will read the book with full understanding, simply because no reader shares the private mind of James Joyce. Finnegans Wake will remain a mine to be quarried in, an act of heroism and a source of guilt.

Barbara Ann On Thin Ice

(VANCOUVER PROVINCE)

Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's talented and glamorous gift to the ice show business, came out yesterday with some surprising advice to her fellow "career girls."

When marriage comes to her, she says, her skating career will go out the window. "All this stuff about women being equal is a lot of nonsense," she says. She subscribes to "European theory" that the man is head of the household.

Shades of Emily Pankhurst! What a blow to the great twentieth century emancipation of women! What a denial of the North American "way-of-life," so well demonstrated in our comic strips, movies, radio and TV shows, in which "father" is a sort of amiable, lovable goof who plugs down to "the job" every day to make sure to earn enough money to provide a fully-equipped suburban home, complete with children. According to this concept, mother definitely runs the show with father merely playing the role of a larger and more awkward child.

Just recently two efficient American researchers, making a survey of the situation, found that 60 percent of wives under 40 years of age never cook their husband's breakfasts. The poor guy gets up and gets his own breakfasts, then rushes off to the daily wage-mill, so that he can keep his spouse supplied with the last word in home labour-saving gadgets. (To be short a couple of gadgets immediately earmarks him as "poor provider").

The pay-off, of course, is that the poor guy drops dead at the age of about 55, while his widow goes along for another 20 years or so to play her part in the great North American matriarchy.

Now Barbara Ann would throw a monkey-wrench into this enlightened way of life by advocating a return to the old "European" setup, where the husband is the head of the house. Tut! Tut!

Barbara Ann had better get her defence ready before the vast hordes of emancipated members of her sex turn upon her. She's going to find out that when she tries to reverse the triumphant march of North American womanhood she's skating along on about the thinnest ice she's been on in her championship carrer.

Natural Gas For Pakistan

By NORMAN CLIFF

AN invisible gift of nature promises to produce an industrial revolution in Pakistan within the next few years. Discovery of a natural gas at Sui, in the heart of the Baluchistan Desert, trodden in the past only by the camel caravans of nomadic Bugti tribesmen, is expected to make Pakistan self-sufficient in power supplies; to eliminate the costly importation of coal; to transform industrial and domestic methods of fuel and heating; to effect great savings in foreign exchange, and to stimulate new industries for the manufacture of fertilisers, plastics and limitless number of by-products.

To bring these benefits to towns, factories and homes, a three-hundred and fifty mile pipeline is to be laid from Sui to Karachi, the capital of Pakistan, at an estimated initial capital cost of £9 million. Tenders have been received from the United States, Britain, Holland and France, and contracts are likely to be concluded during a tour of Europe and the United States on which Mr. Ghulam Faruque, chairman of the Pakistan Industrial Development Corporation, has just embarked.

Pakistan's annual fuel requirements are estimated at about two million tons of coal, of which only six hundred thousand tons are produced locally. Sui's reserves of natural gas are estimated at 2,280,000 million cubic feet, sufficient to supply 100 million cubic feet a day for sixty years. The pipeline will supply three power stations at Hyderabad (Sind), Kotri and Karachi, and three cement plants at Rohri, Hyderabad and Karachi. It will also enable the Government to fulfil a plan for a nitrogenous fertiliser plant, and so agricultural and industrial development will go ahead side by side.

ALTHOUGH Pakistan will be the main beneficiary, the project is an international one in all its aspects. The drilling team prospecting for oil and striking gas consists of a Pakistani, an Italian, an Anglo-Burman, a Scot and a Canadian. In the Sui Gas Transmission Company, a subsidiary of the Burmah Oil Commonwealth Development Finance Company, Ltd., is making its first overseas investment. Confidence in this British-Pakistani enterprise is shown by the fact that shares offered to Pakistan nationals were five times over-subscribed in Karachi alone.

The people most surprised by the whole operation are the Bugti tribesmen, who are being employed in road-making, construction work and as watchmen, and discovering the use of money in the canteens and shops set up on the site. They are puzzled by this mysterious power emanating from the bowels of the earth, to which the invaders who have shattered the silence of the desert erect such strange and noisy monuments. Here is a god who can be neither seen nor smelt and they can be convinced of its presence only when it suddenly bursts into flame.

In order that the presence of the god be definitely detected by the more sophisticated townspeople, and any attempt at escape discovered, drops of perfume will odourise the gas as it flows through the pipelines to homes and factories.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost, which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. (1 Cor. 6:19 20.)

God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth dwelleth not in temples made with hands; neither is worshipped with men's hands as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things . . . For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said. For we are also his offspring. (Acts 17:24, 25, 28.)

Letter To The Editor

KEEP THE CARVINGS

Sir: After reading the Toronto papers' reports on the Indian rock carvings recently located in your district, I would advise you to get busy and set up a local committee to acquire the land on which these carvings are situated. Otherwise these wise guys from the City are likely to move in on you and before you know it the whole thing will be hauled away to the Royal Ontario Museum.

These carvings should remain in the Peterborough district as a very real tourist attraction.

Yours sincerely,

Lakefield's First Church Built Century Ago By Strickland And Others

BY THE REV. L. J. DELANEY, B.A., B.D.

(Third article in a series on early Lakefield and its St. John's Church which is this year celebrating its centenary).

"CHRIST CHURCH: NORTH DOURO" 1853-4

In November 1834 Mrs. Traill wrote home hopefully, "One great want which has been sensibly felt in this district settlement, I mean the want of public worship on the Sabbath-day, promises to be speedily remedied. A subscription is about to be opened among the settlers of this and part of the adjacent township for the erection of a small building, which may answer the purpose of church and schoolhouse; also for the means of paying a minister for stated seasons of attendance. —(Samuel Strickland) has allowed his parlour to be used as a temporary church, and service has been several times performed by a highly respectable young Scotch clergyman; and I can assure you we have a considerable congregation, considering how scattered the inhabitants are, and that the emigrants consist of Catholics and Dissenters, as well as Episcopalians.

"These distinctions, however, are not carried to such lengths in this country as at home; especially where the want of religious observances has been sensibly felt. The word of God appears to be listened to with gladness. May a blessing attend those that in spirit and truth would restore again to us the public duties of the Sabbath, which, left to our own guidance, we are but too much inclined to neglect. Farewell."

Mr. Traill had subscribed in 1833 to St. John's Peterborough, which was under construction for several years following. While the need for a church may have been early felt, Lakefield's fortunes were not to include one for a long while.

They welcomed the "travelling missionary" or whatever clergyman might come through the district. For instance, on Feb. 5th 1837, the Rev. C. T. Wade, a travelling missionary for the Newcastle District and soon after rector of St. John's Peterborough, held service in Samuel Strickland's house where he records they had a good congregation. In emergencies the settlers did the best they could. For instance when Copping, the Suffolk blacksmith died, he was buried "in a secluded spot under the shade of the sugar maple on his own woodland." The neighbors gathered and Strickland says he "read our beautiful church service over the remains of my humble friend." A rude fence of logs was placed around the grave, marked only by a luxuriant growth of wild flowers.

OLD CLERGYMAN

About 1838-9 an elderly clergyman from Ireland, the Rev. Henry Hulbert Wolseley moved into the neighborhood and bought land from Mr. Traill. His house stood across the lawn south of the Atwood residence, and was later Casement's first Post Office.

Mrs. Moodie writes, "I received much kind attention from my new neighbour, the Rev. W—, a truly excellent and pious clergyman of the English Church. The good white-haired old man expressed the kindest sympathy in all my trials, and strengthened me greatly with his benevolent counsels and gentle charity. Mr. W—was a true follower of Christ. His Christianity was not confined to his own denomination; and every Sabbath his log cottage was filled with attentive auditors, of all persuasions, who met together to listen to the word of life delivered to them by a Christian minister in the wilderness. He had been a very fine preacher, and though considerably turned of seventy (she thought), his voice was excellent, and his manner solemn and impressive." He is said to have been the uncle of Colonel Garnet (later Lord) Wolseley of the Red River expedition.

On the tombstone in the old churchyard is inscribed, "Henry Hulbert Wolseley, Vicar of the Parish of Saintfield in the diocese of Down and Connor, Ireland. Born at Woodfort, Ireland, July, 1st, 1776, died at Douro, Canada, April 23, 1841.

And Alice his wife, born at Kilmacthomas, Co. Wexford, Ireland. Died at Douro, Aug. 17, 1864, aged 60 years."

ADVERTISED FOR FUNDS

During the 1840's the little village declined, but with the 1850's progress was again apparent. After the passing of his wife Mary, Strickland visited England in 1852. He was intent upon having a church in Lakefield, and while there he advertised for funds to build a church to serve Douro and Smith townships over to Chemong Lake. "The inhabitants will readily supply the necessary materials, provided they can raise a sufficient sum to pay for the workmanship, and furnish the building. Aid to accomplish this very desirable object is earnestly requested; a piece of land sufficient for the purpose has been promised and will be made over to Trustees of the Church of England."

Writing of Canada's needs he said, "We need pastoral direction and places of worship...We call upon the Church of England to help Canada and not to leave our children uninstructed. Since my return to England, kind and pious friends and unknown brother Christians (in Suffolk, Norfolk, Tunbridge Wells etc) have aided my wish to provide a church for the hitherto churchless township of Douro in Canada, and a fund is already raised which will enable me to commence the building on my return. Lakefield in the spot to be so highly favoured; and when once the foundations of the little temple in the wilderness are laid, we hope a pastor will soon follow the church."

In 1853 the Church was begun, and help was received from all sides. The architect is believed to have been Kivas Tully who designed Trinity College in 1851. He was married to Strickland's eldest daughter Maria.

An appeal was made to Bishop Strachan for further aid. He gave a grant and reported the need and progress to the Society for the Propagation of Christian Knowledge in England.

The rough notes of his letter read: "Memorial dated 6th August 1853, from Lakefield, Township of Douro in the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria states that the members of the Church in this village are busily engaged in erecting a place of worship, that they have raised £130 by subscription of which £60 have been expended, and they are proceeding with the work, which is of moderate dimensions and simple in its structure. They have obtained assistance from their friends in England to a small amount, a neat Communion service, Surplice and cloth for the altar. Granted £20. A clergyman has been sent."

This clergyman was the Rev. John Hilton, ordained deacon October 1st 1853 for Lakefield, although under the Rev. Mark Burnham he went to Norwood, Warsaw, (St. Mark's also being built 1853-4), Otonabee and Perrytown. Lakefield previously had depended on Peterborough clergy for occasional services. Now that they were erecting a church they wanted a resident incumbent. The first was the Rev. Percy S. Warren B.A. who came from England. His ministry was from 1854 to 1863.

OPENED CHRISTMAS 1854

The Church was opened on Christmas Day 1854. In 1855 it was consecrated by Bishop Strachan. The Lay Delegates to Synod in 1856 were Samuel Strickland, Kivas Tully and Edward Leigh. On the 25th of August 1858 the Church was properly deeded to the Lord Bishop of Toronto from Zaccheus Burnham, by the rector Rev. Percy Warren and wardens Samuel Strickland and William P. Band. Other laymen active in the first years include Frederic and George Barlee, Robert Casement, J. Sherin and Chas. Visard.

In 1861 due to the growing attendance Samuel Strickland proposed a committee of seven be chosen from the congregation to consider the best means of enlarging the Church and also to carry out immediate repairs. Some plans and specifications were received from Kivas Tully, the nature of which we cannot now ascertain. We do know however that by 1863 a new vestry had been added to the north side (toward Hendren's).

That year, 1863, an important change took place; the first incumbent left. The Warrens lived where Col. A. T. LeFevre now resides. In April Mrs. Warren died, aged 39. In October Mr. Warren and his children bade farewell to the parish and to Canada. The Church Chronicle records his late parishioners' esteem and adds, "For ourselves we can consistently affirm that

W. H. Moore Collected Peterborough Statutes 53 Yrs. Ago

By HARRY THEOBALD

William Henry Moore, lawyer and civic administrator, must have been unique in at least one phase of his personality.

For convenience, primarily to himself, he compiled and published a handy compendium of the municipality's bylaws. Presumably, the printer's bill was paid by the town council, but the research and synopsis were his work.

Mr. Moore was one of the first members of Peterborough's Utilities Commission, and for years was a Commissioner of the City Trust. He was a prominent barrister of a generation that is only sketchily remembered today.

The title of Mr. Moore's book of some fifty pages, and the outline of its contents was: "A digest of the statutes of the late province of Canada, and statutes and certain proclamations of the province of Ontario, relating to the town of Peterborough, 1847-1901.

The first page presents at list of the mayors of the town from incorporation in 1850 to 1902, beginning with Thomas Benson and ending fifty-three years later with T. H. G. Denne. The names of the Commissioners of the Town Trust are set out on the following page. An explanatory preface, table of contents, and at the end a complete index, provide a helpful frame of the body of the booklet.

The first item indicates the manner of Mr. Moore's review of the bylaws which he selected for summarization.

(1) 9 and 10 Victoria 109 (1847) Canada: An Act to incorporate the Peterborough and Port Hope Railways.

(2) 12 Victoria, Chapter 81, (1849)—"An Act, amongst other purposes for incorporating the town of Peterborough, and which came into effect on the 1st of January, 1850." (Note—This Act declares and sets forth the municipal powers of the various counties, cities, towns, villages, etc., in Upper Canada).

Sec. 61—..."That the inhabitants of each of the towns, etc., shall severally be a body corporate with corporate powers, and such powers shall be exercised through and in the name of the town council of each of the towns respectively...

Sec. 62—"And be it enacted that for every Ward there shall be chosen three councillors by the male resident freeholders and house-holders of such Ward... And the elections for the said Wards shall take place on the first Monday in January for each year."

Schedule B (11) defines the original boundaries of Peterborough:—Townsend St., Park St., Parkhill Road and on the east of the River Otonabee".

The wards were laid out as follows: East—all that part of the town east of George St. (from Townsend to Smith (Parkhill Rd.) St. North Ward:—north of Brock St., (between the River and Park St).

Centre Ward—West of George, south of Brock, north of Simcoe and east of Park St.

South Ward: West of George, south of Simcoe, (including the government reserve), and east of Park St. (The reserve was south of Townsend St., an area that was mentioned in the story of the City Trust, with particular reference to squatters south of Townsend.

The Sandford Fleming map of Peterborough in 1846 shows entire blocks of the town vacant even on both sides of Rubidge St., and in the wide area of the south ward lying between Townsend and Charlotte Streets.

Several items of legislation are dated 1853. One was an Act to incorporate the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway. Another vested in the Little Lake Cemetery Co. certain allowances for road in some of the park lots that were then within. North Monaghan township. This was a provision for approach to the new cemetery which had been transferred from its fenced location in what is now Confederation Square, opposite the City Hall.

SHORE RIGHTS

One of the conditions in this Act secured certain traditional rights of the lumbering industry. For instance: "Any person navigating the Little Lake or Otonabee River shall have free access to the land for mooring or securing any vessel, raft or boom thereto, or of erecting thereto a pier or other temporary or permanent work for improving the navigation of said waters or preserving property thereon."

That provided access to the water front of the cemetery at a time when lumbering was the main industry of the district.

Essence of this clause of the Act appears to be in this wording: "The company shall allow free access to the water's edge, at all hours, to all persons requiring it."

And Sec. 3: "The Company shall not be required to maintain a fence along such portion of the cemetery block as is bounded by the Little Lake and Otonabee River."

The reference to the statutes such as "16 Victoria" means the 16th year of the reign of Queen Victoria. Chapter 241 (1853) included an "Act to amend the Act incorporating the Peterborough and Port Hope Railway."

In 1855: An Act to change the name of the Peterborough and Port Hope Railway Company to the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton Railway Co., and to amend the said Act. This reflected Peterborough's reluctance to enter into railway costs, although the communication was desired. The company turned its chief attention to the line from Port Hope to Lindsay. Peterborough had another string to its bow, the railway from Cobourg by way of Harwood and Rice Lake.

In that same year, legislation provided for the construction of a branch of the Peterborough-Cobourg line to Marmora. Actually its course was from Blairton to Healey Falls, transport thence by boat through the lock at Hastings to Harwood, railway to Cobourg, transhipping again at the dock for delivery across Lake Ontario. No. 7 Highway cuts through this long abandoned highway, east of Havelock. Its mounded right of way is overgrown by trees, but is plainly discernible from the highway.

RR TO CHEMONG

An Act to incorporate the Peterborough and Chemong Lake Railway Co. was passed in 1855, connecting Ashburnham and Bridgenorth. The line from Cobourg crossed No. 7 Highway through the part of the present site of the H. B. McGinness Co., manufacturers of trailers. Its route paralleled Armour Road past the east end of Little Lake to the station south of Hunter St. and east of Rogers St. McCarthy and Johnston fuel yard

Your Garden:

Follow These Tips When Buying Roses

BY HENRY PREA (NEA)

Are you going to plant some rose bushes? Keep in mind that the number of roses they will bear is dependent upon the health and strength of the bushes.

A well-known trade magazine offers the following tips to home gardeners on what to look for when buying rose bushes:

Root Color. A live rose bush should be yellow on the inside, never brown. Yellow roots are healthy roots.

Length Of Roots. Properly developed rose bush roots should be from six to 12 inches long.

Grades. The American Assn. of Nurserymen has a set standard of grades which are generally accepted. No 1 grade for hybrid tea roses (most popular varieties fall in this category) must have three strong canes, 18 inches or longer.

Since most roses are pruned before shipping, you cannot tell this length but a rapid method of calculation is to make sure you get three or four canes at least one half inch in diameter. No. 1½ grade should have two strong canes plus one other cane.

No. 2 plant should have one strong cane plus one other cane. Pruned climbers should have canes at least 24 inches long.

The rhododendron, the most beautiful of the flowering evergreens, is an easy plant to grow, but is peculiar in many respects and therefore cannot be treated exactly as most other shrubs.

All rhododendrons are characterized by their dislike for hot scorching sunshine and their need for protection against heavy winds.

Ideal soil should contain much fibrous matter, such as peat moss. Heavy soil can be further improved by adding sandy gravel, and in every instance drainage must be good since rhododendrons will not tolerate "wet feet."

Best planting time for rhododendrons varies according to location. However, with care, freshly dug and well balled and burlapped plants may be moved at any time, but only to beds in which the soil has been well prepared.

The hole in which you plant should be at least a foot beyond the limits of the root system and the plant firmly set at the same elevation as in the nursery.

The best earth should be placed about the roots and well watered in planting. For protection against drought it is best to maintain a four or five-inch mulch of dried leaves, or a three-inch mulch of peat moss.

Rhododendrons do not require cultivation; merely loosen up the mulch at regular intervals to prevent packing.

Make sure you know what you are looking for before buying any roses.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

"If we don't get a holiday, we'll all run away."

Remember that oldie about Queen Victoria's birthday, May 24th?

We never did run away, of course, but we did make the determined family trek to open the summer cottage for the first time of the season. When we travelled by train and steamboat and unpredictable car the 24th Jaunt was an outstanding feat of migratory planning.

These days of fast cars, boats and seaplanes the journeys are swift and sure and generally without adventure. But the same sad scene meets the family eye upon arrival at Bide-A-Wee.

Winter may have left its mark on sagged and broken roofs. Its litter is everywhere about the property, to be raked and disposed of. There are water systems to connect, boats to soak, mice nests to clean out of cupboards and bureau drawers, caterpillar nests to burn. Painting, stonework, planting; the work is endless. But it is good for us.

Many of us are able to get to our cottage weeks before the traditional 24th weekend nowadays. We are able to creep up gradually on our summer way of life and we taper it off in the fall in the same way.

The traditional city exodus on the 24th is no longer the first. There is the northbound trout-fishing exodus. The closer and more general pickerel-fishing migration. Family cottage-opening now takes third place.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

THE OPENING of the pickerel season was well and truly reported last weekend. Fishing success was splendid and the most popular spots produced the all-time high of about 90 per cent bag limits. Fishermen were indeed a happy lot.

The oddities of the opening season are still trickling in:

► The Toronto woman who braved the terrifying experience of walking through St. Mary's Cemetery, Young's Point, alone, in the dark, to see how her husband was faring at the waterfront.

► Another boatload of Torontonians who lost their oars in the dark of the Lakefield Narrows, drifted back to the village and overtook their oars 'way downstream.

► The deputy game warden at Chemong Causeway who called the last remaining 30 seconds to the zero hour as watches moved to midnight. And the steady plop of plugs that followed, plus the five fish that were reeled in the first casts.

► The meat-hunter fishermen who insist on showing off their car trunkfuls of EXACTLY the limit number of fish. (You wonder what they have done with the rest that they didn't show and who do they think they are kidding?

► The big bank beaver that cavorts each night about the anchored boats of fishermen near Lakefield.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

We talked with an old man in Colborne this week who, not only has achieved 100 years of full life but still retains a sound memory. Edward Carter was an avid hunter and fisherman but seems piqued because he has been unable to enjoy either for the past six years, or so. His description of the hunting methods of the extinct passenger pigeons made exciting listening. We shall cherish the memory of talking to a man who knew those days well.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

LARGEST PICKEREL taken during last week's opening weekend went to a tourist from Watsburg, Penna.; it weighed 10 pounds, six ounces and was taken at Fenelon Falls. Sorry we did not get the name of the lucky chap so we are unable to send him a note of congratulation.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

The recent news story of the finding of Indian rock carvings in Burleigh township, Peterborough Crown Land Preserve, made heavy going for your reporter who went to the spot. It was worth it for the general interest the story caused. However, the small embers should be fanned ino a steady blaze, we hope, by expert archeologists and anthropologists who may be encouraged to go to the spot and give us their expert opinions.

George Douglas, Esq., of Lakefield has advanced an interesting theory:

He hazards that the carvings may have been made by the Indians who accompanied Champlain, who on their retreat from their disastrous raid into the Iroquois country (New York State) in 1615, returned to Huronia via the Cataraqui river, the Moira, Belmont, Oak and Kosh lakes. Mr. Douglas thinks they may have been delayed in the Burleigh country and made a record of their retreat in rock carvings. He is getting the opinion of a friend in Concord, Mass., on this theory.

► Professor T. F. McIlwraith of the Royal Ontario Museum thinks the carvings are linked with ancient medicine societies and may have some religious significance. These societies flourished among the Ojibwas of Minnesota and the Ontario lakehead country.

"The symbols and art style are very similar to work on Ojibwa birchbark rolls," the professor says.

► "Are the carvings genuine," asked many curious people.

► Other sturdy characters were all for going into the spot to see for themselves. The carvings site is not very accessible and mass-migrations of the curious will not be encouraged by the finders who, knowing the value of knowledge that may come out of their origin, are acting as custodians of the ground.

Since intelligent expert investigations of the Otonabee serpent mounds has died through lack of official interest, perhaps the rock carvings may have a full-dress study by those who should know in places of learning in Canada and the United States.

TWO OF PETES' STARS—Though dropping a 9-7 OLA decision to St. Catharines here last night, the Petes showed a large crowd that they would be contenders once again this season. Two of the local stars are shown above, Denny Peterson coming up with a three-goal effort (as well as assisting on another), and Goalie Moon Wootton (at right) turning in a great chore in the home net.

Athletics Get Win Over The Petes In Keen OLA Fray

St. Catharines Athletics spoiled the Peterborough Trailermen's home opening here last night before more than 1,800 OLA senior "A" fans by jerking out a 9-7 victory against the Thorpe team. It pulled the Athletics up into a first-place tie with the Trailermen in the early season race, each team having two victories and one defeat to date, their lone losses coming from each other. Petes play in Hamilton on Monday, and have Mimico here next Friday.

The chilled crowd saw a good opening tussle between the well-matched clubs, two of the A's goals being counted with one of the Petes in the sin bin. The local club drew six of the nine penalties, including a misconduct to Russ Slater late in the game for arguing too hotly over a slashing penalty. Shortly before that, Paul Soper got a five-minute sentence for cutting Curly Mason.

NO LOVE LOST

While play wasn't unduly rough, it was rugged in spots and showed no love lost between these two top teams in the group. Ross Powless took a pass once with his head down and was clipped hard by Bob Curtis, having to go off for repairs, though he returned shortly. A couple of mixups might well have resulted in fights but for prompt action by the referees, who took a riding from both sides and the fans. Coach Doug Cove was chased from the bench in the fourth for criticizing Joe Murphy in uncomplimentary terms.

St. Catharines jumped into a 2-1 lead in the first frame, but the Petes—after being down 4-1 in the second—rallied sharply to throw in three within a minute, and the second chukker ended in a 5-all count. St. Kitts had 2-1 margins on scoring in the third and fourth to earn the close verdict, but it was a real tussle right up to the final few minutes. The Athletics stalled plenty in the dying minutes of play to protect their lead.

THREE STARS

Outstanding for the local squad were Goalie Moon Wootton—who was positively sensational at times, especially when pressed in the first half—along with Denny Peterson and Lou Nickle. At times, Curly Mason, Jerry Fitzgerald and Russ Slater showed their oldtime form, too, and the younger players showed plenty of promise, though kept off the score sheet. Peterson led in sniping with three neat goals and an assist. Fitz, Mason and Nickle each had a goal and an assist, while Slater lit the lamp once. Bob Thorpe sat this one out in order to coach the younger players from the bench.

Norm Corcoran starred for the A's with a goal and four assists. Don Moore and Ross Powless each had a goal and two assists, with Roger Smith also hot to notch two and aid on another. Doug Smith, Derry Davies, Don Frick and Ted Howe got a goal apiece, with an assist each going to Davies and Bradshaw. In goal, Doug Favelle kicked aside some hot stabs.

Athletics: Goal, Favelle; defence, Martin and Moore centre, Corcoran; wings, Davies and Howe; alts.: Powless, Nelson, D. Smith, Soper, Bradshaw, D. Frick, Dewar and R. Smith.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and Curtis; centre, Mason; wings, Slater and Allen; alts.: Nickle, Peterson, Ashbee, Wipper, Powell, Killingbeck, Burns and Batley.

Greenberg Has Plan To Boost Ball Attendance

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, has a plan for regular season ball games that count in the standings to be played between all National and American League clubs.

He said the fans would love it and it would help sagging attendance.

Greenberg has asked Will Harridge, American League president, for permission to present the plan to the major leagues' meeting here prior to the all-star game in July.

The proposal would not change the present total of 154 games for each major league team. But each American League club would play each National League club four times—two at home and two away. The number of games within the league would be cut from 11 at home and 11 away with each opponent to nine at home and nine away.

This is the argument Greenberg advances for the plan:

"It would add spice to the schedule. In a year where one team makes a runaway of the race, more or less killing off fan interest, an interleague schedule would help keep baseball interest alive."

Wings Defeat Athletics 13-9

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tony Jacobs, a stylish relief pitcher, has picked up where he left off last year with Rochester Red Wings in the International League.

The righthander, who compiled a 12-3 record last year, recorded his fourth relief victory Friday night as the Wings defeated Ottawa Athletics 13-9 in the fist game of a doubleheader. The A's took the nightcap 4-3 for a split.

In the only other game, Buffalo Bisons trounced Havana Cuban Sugar Kings 8-1 behind the two-hit pitching of Ken Johnson.

Jacobs gave up one hit as Rochester rallied for five runs in the top of the seventh inning off Ed Monahan and Al Romberger, Allie Clark collected two home runs in the doubleheader.

Jack Robinson, pitching his first game since coming to the A's from Syracuse Chiefs, hurled a five-hitter in the second game.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

There are those who say that killing is too good for an umpire, but it must be admitted that they are a necessary evil in ball games. The OASA group insurance this year is avaialable to umpire associations at a cost of $1.50 an umpire, provided all members of the said associations are enrolled. If there is no association in a city, individual umps may apply direct to the OASA secretary. Insurance provides same coverage as afforded players. Medical and hospital expenses up to $250.00 after the first $5.00 expense, for injuries suffered in games or in travelling to or from games. Sometimes arbiters do get hurt by a bat, ball or spike—not to mention pop bottles.

* * * * * *

There's a rule in effect for the first time in history this year whereby baseball and softball players must take their gloves to the bench with them when they come in from the field for their batting. This applies from the major leagues down, and many a player already has forgotten and carelessly tossed his glove back of him as he trotted in—then having to jog out and retrieve it. He also often forgets after batting on the final out and is out in the field ere he remembers his mitt lies on the bench. Officials say 'tis dangerous to leave gloves lying on the field, but after all its was done everywhere for many years and we heard of no fatalities or serious injuries. However, it is now a rule.

It's "Play Ball" Again

If it comes up nice holiday weather Monday, the traditional senior ball opener will be held at 2:30 in Riverside Park. A parade forms an hour earlier on George St. down by the lake wharf;—opposite the market place—with a band, convertibles for players, float for the ornamental swimmers, etc. Ken Robinson has been lining it up to let folks know that senior baseball is back in Peter's borough. The Petes are in the VOBL this season (Viaduct Ontario loop) and have the Belleville Batas on deck for the home opening joust. Big Vern (Jumbo) Goyer is playing manager of the Belles, and Joe Lowrey has a similar role with the Petes. So, Monday at 2:30 it'll be "Play Ball" here again.

* * * * * *

An item in the St. Catharines' sport column the other day said: "You probably noticed in the writeup of the Mimico-Peterborough game that Don McPhail and Don Ashbee of the Petes had another brawl and were given match misconduct penalties. Seems as if the lacrosse season is never officially opened until those two have a fight. Their feud is reminiscent of the battles between Bill Nelson of the Athletics and Hamilton's Merv McKenzie." Yeah, and the Trailermen haven't forgotten that McPhail and a few more of his Orillia outfit last year, after being well-beaten in the last playoff of their series, tried to cut up and soften the Petes for the eastern final set bewixt St. Kitts and Peterborough. But it didn't pay off.

* * * * * *

Bit Mad at Murphy

Coach Doug Cove of the A's was plenty peeved in the fourth OLA frame here last e'en when he was chased from the bench by Ref Joe Murphy for too sharp criticism. But he was happy after the tilt as St. Kitts won 9-7 to gain revenge for the Petes spoiling their opener a week before. Two clubs are tied atop the heap now and we expect they'll be pretty well knotted up much of the senior schedule. They appear well matched. Cove wasn't the only one peeved at Murphy as Russ Slater drew a couple of cheap (yet costly) penalties and the fans didn't like it the least bit. Locals drew six of the nine sentences, and A's cashed in a couple of times. A fine opening crowd for a chilly night, and folks saw some good early-season lacrosse.

* * * * * *

The Indian duo of Powless and Smith clicked well for the Saints, with Corcoran their big triggerman. Denny Peterson led the local club in a nifty showing, while Moon Wootton and Lou Nickle turned in dandy efforts, as well. Some of the others were clicking in spots, while some more aren't in real shape as yet, and the younger players need a bit of time to fit into the campions' system. But they'll come and Trailermen will have a real contending club once more. Bob Thorpe is just coaching yet, but will be in the active lineup ere long. Prexy Bob Peirson, Ald. Stan McBride and sponsor Harry McGinness took part in the brief opening ceremony, and thus another senior lacrosse season is underway in Peterborough. Petes go to Hamilton on Monday and have Mimico here next Friday.

BEATS WORLD RECORD

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Parry O'Brien of Los Angeles again surpassed his own unofficial world record in the shotput Friday night in the Coliseum relays.

O'Brien uncorked a throw that measured 60 feet, 5¾ inches. It was an improvement of the mark of 60 feet, 5¼ inches which the world champion registered here May 1, and both far exceeded the record as it now stands on the books of 59 feet 2½ inches.

Seabrook Club And Police Civic Winners

Civic softball action Friday night saw two spirited duels at East City Bowl, featuring Jim Healy's crack police squad who defeated Herb Cardwell's fighting Army nine by a score of 20-12, in the opener, a slugging bee; and Ralph Parnell's East City Seabrook Electric TV crew earned a 12-8 verdict over Howard Woodly's Fairview gang in the nightcap.

Chilly air kept attendance at a low figure; but bumper crowds are expected on the Monday holiday when the Civic boys stage double bills in the afternoon and evening. The first set will pit Bill's Lunch against Bell Telephone at two p.m., while the second will see Ray Moore's Peterborough Canoe team oppose the Police. The evening will arrange Army and Fairviews to open, with the afterpiece a duel between Bell's and Seabrook Electric.

Last night's games proved a good opportunity for the sluggers of all teams, the pitchers slightly below mid-season form; but a barrel of fun was enjoyed by all. Wainman and Howie Dalton were the winning hurlers for their respective clubs.

Langlois Upsets Joey Giardello

NEW YORK (AP)—Pierre Langlois, third upset winner in a week from Jean Bretonnel's fighting French stable, scrambled middleweight title plans by manhandling Joey Giardello in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Giardello was in line for an October shot at Bobo Olson's crown—if the champ got past Rocky Castellani in August. Now Langlois is screaming for the champ.

Harry Markson, watchdog of the International Boxing Club, said he'd like to stage a Langlois-Giardello rematch. "One loss doesn't put him (Joey) out of the league," he said.

The lone knockdown of the fight came in the ninth when Langlois landed a solid counter-right to the jaw, a punch Bretonnel said they had practised all week. Giardello got up at about two, but took the automatic eight and one more for good measure standing in a corner. Langlois, 159¼ ,treated Giardello, 160½, roughly in the corners and along the ropes.

Canadian Golfers Adjust To Greens In Scotland

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (CP)—The greens are fast and the fairways narrow but Canadian golfers are "adjusting well and quickly" to the bunker-studded course beside the Firth of Forth where the 59th British Amateur tournament opens Monday.

This was the report Friday from Gordon Taylor of Montreal, captain of a seven-man Canadian team.

"We have had three practice rounds in our three days in Scotland," he said. "The boys are doing very well—we're all shooting between 70 and 75."

Phil Farley of Toronto has the hottest round so far. He shot a 69 Thursday. Don Doe of Granby, Que., had a 75 on the par-72 course today while Bob Fleming of Victoria, B.C., shot a 76 and Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., 77.

FEATURES DIFFER

Taylor, who with Farley is on his second trip to Scotland, said there are some features of the 6,800-yard seaside links which differ from Canadian courses.

"Bunker play is terribly important. That puts a premium on direction off the tee because there are lots of bunkers. The grass on the fairways is tight and the ball sits up well. Of course, the fairways are narrower than at home. The greens are good, though fast.

"We have been playing with the small ball they use over here and we've found that the hard greens and the small ball make the roll a lot longer. You've got to play for the pin."

The Canadians will get one more crack at the course today before regular play begins Monday. By custom in Scotland, the course will be closed Sunday.

The amateur has attracted a field of 303 including 38 Americans. Joe Carr of Dublin, who shot a 69 Friday, is the defending champion.

All Canadians and Americans drew first-round byes.

Cleveland Edges Baltimore 2-1, 8th Straight Win

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

The Tribe is on the warpath, and it looks as if the Indians from Cleveland really mean business this time—a full-scale drive right through the American League.

The Indians have stretched their lead to two games over New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox since moving into first place last Sunday.

Their 2-1 squeaker over Baltimore Orioles Friday night was their eighth straight victory, longest winning streak in either league this season.

Early Wynn gave Baltimore five hits and the Indians needed their luck. They managed just three hits, and the only solid one was a fine single in the third by George Strickland. The first Oriole to get past first base was Dick Kryhoski who homered with the bases empty to start the ninth.

YANKS BEATEN

The Yankees, who had burned up the West, returned home to get beaten 6-3 by Boston Red Sox. The White Sox moved into third place with an 8-0 victory over Detroit and Philadelphia A's lost their seventh in a row, 7-3 to Washington.

In the National League, St. Louis Cardinals overcame Cincinnati 8-7 in 10 innings. Brooklyn edged Pittsburgh 3-2. Philadelphia Phils defeated New York Giants 8-1 and Milwaukee beat Chicago Cubs 6-4.

Whitey Ford baffled Boston until the sixth inning. Then the weak-hitting Red Sox opened up with six hits, including a triple by Milt Bolling, a three-run homer by Harry Agganis and two singles by Jacki Jensen.

Bob Keegan gave up only three hits to the Tigers in pitching his second shutout for Chicago. Cass Michaels drove in three for the Sox with a pair of singles.

CARDS WIN IN TENTH

A two-base error by Johnny Temple and consecutive singles by Ray Jablonski, Tom Alston and Rip Repulski gave the Cardinals the two runs they needed in the 10th to beat Cincinnati. Stan Musial hit his 14th home run—this one with the bases loaded—in the seventh.

The slump-ridden Dodgers had a hard time disposing of last place Pittsburgh. The Pirates grabbed a 2-0 lead in the sixth. Brooklyn caught up in the seventh on Pee Wee Reese's homer, and error and a double by George Shuba. Then in the eighth Billy Cox walked, was sacrificed to second and romped home on Junior Gilliam's pinch single.

Home runs were the big facor in Milwaukee's first Chicago triumph of the season. The winning margin came on a two-run homer by Hank Aaron in the eighth.

Giants Lose Suit To Keep Weinmeister

SEATTLE (AP) — New York Giants of the National Football League lost their suit Friday to prevent Arnie Weinmeister from leaving the club.

Superior Judge Lloyd Shorett, in an oral opinion, denied the Giants' request for an injunction to stop the 235-pound tackle from playing next season with British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The Giants contended Weinmeister's 1953 contract contained an option clause which gave the New York team first call on his services in 1954 if they cared to exercise it.

Judge Shorett said he based his ruling mainly on a letter to Weinmeister in 1953 from Wellington T. Mara, secretary and co-owner of the Giants, in which Mara wrote that a replacement would have to be found for the star tackle in the coming season. Weinmeister said he had told Mara he would not be back in 1954.

NOT EXPECTED BACK

"I see no other way to interpret this than that Weinmeister was not expected to return to the Giants," the judge said. He added that he felt the letter "stops the Giants from exercising the option in a court of equity."

Weinmeister, who was named from 1949 through 1953 on the Associated Press all-National League team, testified at the trial that New York is not "conducive to good family living" and he preferred to have his wife and children in Seattle, their permanent home.

He signed with the Vancouver team, a new entry in Canadian pro football ranks, for $15,000 as player-coach. He said Mara had offered him $13,000 to play for the Giants next season and help coach the line.

Harry Campion Son Of Settler Reaches 80

MARMORA (ENS) — Henry German Campion became one of Marmora's octogenarians this week.

Better known to his many friends and acquaintances as Harry Campion, he was born in in the old log dwelling on his father's farm in the 4th Concession of Marmora township on May 19th, 1847.

This home had been erected of timbers hewn from the woodlots on the property and later when his father chose to replace it with a stone building there was the stone in abundance without having to be quarried. Harry played his part as a youth in the erection of what was to be his new home.

Harry received his education in the original Beaver Creek school which was then at Lennon's Bridge near the present home of Reeve Irwin McVoy of Marmora and Lake township. His last teacher was Mrs. T. L. Nickle who resides today periodically in Marmora.

Leaving school, Harry remained home to assist his father and later came into occupancy of the homestead. In course of time, he added to the acreage of his possessions by purchasing the three adjoining farms, the one formerly accupied by his older brother Daniel, the Louck's farm and also the Samuel McMillen farm. Harry retired from farming ten years ago.

Harry Campion was married at Madoc to Alice Melissa Kerr, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander Kerr of Madoc, on June 7, 1899. Mrs. Campion died in 1951.

Harry is the last surviving member of the Campion family of his generation. Seven children all living, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Campion in the following order: Clare, Marmora; Mrs. Wallace Lawrence (Luta) Marmora; Mrs. Goldie McInroy (Estelle), West Huntington; Albert (on old homestead), Marmora township; Mrs. Douglas Jones (Myrtle), Marmora township; Arthur, Deloro; Charles, Marmora. There are also nine grandchildren.

All children and grandchildren were present for dinner at Harry's home on Wednesday. Included in congratulatory messages from relatives and friends at a distance were a telegram from his niece, Mrs. Cora Wetterstrand, Cabri, Sask., and congratulations from his nephew, Clarence Campion, Peterborough. He also received a number of gifts.

Bancroft Lions Hold Father And Son Night

BANNCROFT (ENS) — The annual father and son night held by Bancroft Lions was attended by 31 members accompanied by 23 sons. They were entertained with a series of films depicting conservation and preservation of Canadian natural resources and wild life, presented by Alan Bronson of the department of lands and forests education branch.

Mike Burns reported on the recent rally at Cobourg, where Whitney L. Martin of the Bancroft club was elected deputy district governor for 1954 when his opponent, Herb. Goddard of Bowmanville withdrew his nomination.

Hofman Earning Giants' Salary

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Hofman, 28-year-old infielder with the New York Giants, is earning his major league salary making manager Leo Durocher's strategy stand up.

Hofman, in his fourth season with the Giants, has slammed two of the 11 pinch-hit home runs in the majors this year and both have been vital blows.

On May 2 he connected as a substitute batter with two runners aboard in an eight-run fourth inning and the Giants went on to whip St. Louis Cardinals 9-7.

Ten days later, Hofman came through even more spectacularly. With Cincinnati's Harry Perkowski moving towards a two-hit shutout in the ninth, Durocher sent Hofman in to bat for pitcher John Antonelli and Bobby delivered with one man on base for a 2-1 New York victory.

These blows, incidentally, are the infielder's only hits of the season.

Hitting pinch-hit homers is nothing new to Hofman. In 1953, he turned the trick three times. Two of them were game-winners.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

All we need now is fine weather for the official opening on Monday. And members are reminded that 1:30 p.m. is the hour. No bowling at night.

The men's schedule begins Tuesday, May 25th.

The ladies are holding a draw from the board tournament on Wednesday, May 26, at two p.m. There will be no fee and the prizes well be drawn for. Tea will be served during the afternoon.

The ladies' schedule begins on Monday, May 31.

The ladies' club is this year celebrating its 30th birthday. It was organized in 1924.

Schedule books are ready and will be distributed to members on Monday. To Harold Freeman and his games' committee, who spent many hours compiling this book, we offer congratulations. It is a good job well done.

Believe this or not: There are 50 tournaments scheduled for this season in our Lawn Bowling District No. 14.

Rally Round

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Citizens rallied to the aid of Margarete Mueller, a young German immigrant who lost her right arm in a laundry accident. They donated $1,013 toward her rehabilitation.

Fencers Begin Three-Day Trials

MONTREAL (CP)—Fencing enthusiasts begin their three-day trials today to decide who will represent Canada at the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

The three-day struggle has drawn team candidates from four provinces. Quebec is well in the foreground with hopefuls.

In the ladies' foil division there are 10 entries, nine from Montreal. The lone "outsider" is Mary Allen of Toronto.

The men's foil event has 14 entries, five from outside Montreal, while the sword and sabre have 13 each with Quebec province claiming eight of each group.

Travelling from Vancouver are sword experts Sydney Evans and Alan McCulloch, whose names are down for the sword and sabre events.

Thirsty Summer Brewing

TOKYO (AP)—Workers at Japan's three largest breweries are currently striking for higher wages—and company officials say the resultant beer shortage will be felt in late July and early August. Daily average production of the three breweries is about 3,000,000 bottles.

Disagreement Weakens NATO

OTTAWA (CP) — The Opposition's foreign affairs spokesman said Friday the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is being endangered by disagreement among member countries.

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member for Prince Albert, told the Commons that criticism of other countries within NATO "is one of the most detrimental courses that we can follow." It weakened the organization at a time when the Communists were attempting to create dissension, disorganization, disagreement, delay and deferment of decisions among NATO countries.

The unity which had built the NATO alliance for defence and survival "is in danger of being broken by the disagreements that are taking place at Geneva and elsewhere."

Mr. Diefenbaker said persons who criticized the United States should realize that $60,000,000,000 being spent by NATO to maintain and preserve freedom almost 80 per cent was furnished by the U.S.

Norwood Cadets Pass Inspection

NORWOOD (ENS) — The annual inspection of the Norwood District High School Cadets was held on Friday, May 21st, at 2 p.m. at the exhibition grounds.

Capt. J. D. Johnston, M.C., from the headquarters, Easter Ontario Area, took the salute and acted as the inspecting officer. Lieut. H. E. Done of Kingston was the marking officer. The corps was in command of Cadet Lieut. Col. Douglas Montgomery.

As soon as Capt. Johnston arrived he inspected the regiment. Seven boys and three girls were overcome by the hot son during the inspection.

Several displays were put on by the cadets. The first, a foot and arms drill, consisting of fifteen boys from the 1st platoon, commanded by Cadet Lieut. Marvyn Scott. This was the precision squad of the regiment. The second display was that of the Pipe Band whose members are all students of Norwood District High School.

The signals display was put on by Cadet Lieut Russell Paxton, Cadet R.S.M. Mervin Millett and Cadet Sgt. Roger McManus.

A demonstration displaying the use of the Bren gun was put on by Cadet Sgt. David Nolan and Cadet Leslie Gordon. A mock battle was staged with Cadet Major Frank Lynch in command. Ten boys made up this section with three more as the entrenched enemy on the hill. The last display, the practical use of wireless sets was demonstrated by Cadets Leslie Gordon and Glenn Simpson.

Capt. Johnston awarded trophies to several of the cadets for their outstanding performance on parade.

40 Race Horses Destroyed In Track Fire

DETROIT (AP) — A disastrous fire late Friday night destroyed 40 to 45 horses stabled in a wooden barn at the Detroit Race Course track in suburban Livonia, Mich.

The fire, of unknown origin, was discovered at midnight. Within minutes it raced through the 250-foot-long 60-stall barn.

Five stablehands and grooms suffered minor burns in the fire when they attempted to lead the horses to safety. Only two horses were seen to leave the barn before it fell to the flames.

The dead horses included Just Made It and Footspecialist owned by Dr. Harry Lindy of Detroit, president of the Michigan Thoroughbred Owners Association.

Robert Leavitt, general manager of the track, which concluded its 1954 opening-day program scant hours before the fire, estimated total damage at $200,000.

He said today's nine-race program would go on as scheduled. Some 1,200 horses are stabled at the track. The main building and grandstand were never endangered, as a lack of wind helped to keep the fire from spreading.

Attendants turned loose hundreds of the horses in other barns, fearing the flames would spread. The horses ran wild among the firefighters until they were returned to their stalls.

WMS Plans To Attend Rally

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Making plans to attend the WMS sectional rally in Gores' Landing on June 8th, when Miss Frances E. Stevenson, missionary on furlough from India, will be the guest speaker was the important item of business at the May meeting of the WMS.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Delbert Brisbin. The president Mrs. J. N. Lovelace presided over the worship service and business period.

"The Christian in his Vocation," was the theme of the worship service. Scripture readings were read by Mrs. J. R. Wheeler and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe. Mrs. A. J. Campbell was in charge of the meditation The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture beginning with the letter "N"

The "Community Friendship" report, with Mrs. Howard Macklin as secretary, showed 20 cards, 6 letters sent; 6 home calls, 3 hospital calls made; three parcels and five boxes given during the month.

Mrs. George Mouncey presented the concluding chapter of the study book "Wher'er the Sun."

Mrs. T. S. Coyle gave a talk on "Christian Stewardship."

After the meeting closed with prayer, the hostess assisted by Mr. Nicholas Towns served afternoon tea.

Collaborators Shot

PARIS (Reuters)—Three Frenchmen, former members of the wartime gestapo in Paris, were executed by a firing squad in the Fort of Vincennes here at dawn today. Theodore Leclerq, Georges Favriot, and Ferdinand Poupet were found guilty of particpating in hundreds of arrests and deportations and at least 50 executions.

Convict Boy In Slaying

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 15-year-old boy was convicted of first degree murder Friday in the slaying of a 'teen-age girl. A circuit court jury set his penalty at life imprisonment. The boy, Jesse Ray, was charged with slaying 12-year-old Mynette Foster here last Feb. 8. The girl's body was found near her home here with 10 stab wounds and a broken neck.

Jobless Figures Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh labor department figures point to an improvement in the unemployment situation in the United States. The department's bureau of employment security said Friday, that unemployment among workers covered by state jobless insurance declined by 56,800 during the week ended May 8 to 2,124,000—the lowest in three months, but still well above the 899,100 total a year ago.

Expect 35,000 See Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—The search for a three-year-old racing champion of 1954 continued today with 11 sophomores set for the $100,000-added Preakness, second jewel in the triple crown and Maryland's most famous thoroughbred classic.

A crowd of some 35,000 was expected to see the 78th running of the mile - and-three-sixteenths affair which has the richest gross purse since the Maryland Jockey Club's initial Preakness in 1873.

The California-bred Correlation, owned by Robert S. Lytle of Los Angeles, was established as 7-to-5 morning-line favorite due to his close victory over Hasty Road in Monday's Preakness Prep.

Odds on Hasty Road, who finished second behind Determine in the Kentucky Derby, were set at 5 to 2.

NO SPYING

GUNTHORPE, England (CP)—Members of National angling club decided binoculars should be banned in this year's fishing competitions. Previously some anglers used field glasses to detect bites.

SET TITLE FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Boxing promoter Benny Ford said Friday champion Archie Moore of St. Louis and Harold Johnson of Philadelphia will fight here June 16 or June 30 for the world light-heavyweight championship.

Ford said the match was arranged by the International Boxing Club after the Demarco-Carter lightweight championship match, scheduled for San Francisco June 2, was postponed to September because of champion Demarco's illness. In New York Demarco was taken to hospital for treatment of a virus infection.

DERBY ODDS

LONDON (CP)—Blue Sail, Alberta-owned entry in the Derby, closed at 100 to 6 Friday in the weekly call-over on the blue-ribbon event of the English flat-racing season, to be run at Epsom Downs June 2. Johnny Longden, veteran U.S. jockey who grew up at Taber, Alta., will ride the colt, owned by Max Bell and Frank McMahon of Calgary.

Rowston Manor continued the favorite although his price lengthened slightly from 5 to 1 to 11 to 2.

HURRY TO SIGN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Professional football players are signing contracts these days as if the game were going out of style.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said Friday that never in the history of the league have so many players signed so early.

He estimated about 650 players already have signed contracts for the 1954 season. Since each team is allowed 60 players at training camp, that leaves 70 still to be signed. And training doesn't start until late July.

Bell said he believes the league's vast television, program and the cautious economic situation have been the chief incentives.

Mercurys To Lose Defenceman Morris

OWEN SOUND (CP)—The Owen Sound Mercurys of the OHA senior A series will lose one of their top ranking defencemen, Elwin (Moe) Morris, next season. Morris is scheduled to become playing coach of the Stratford Indians, succeeding Howie Meeker.

Morris came to Owen Sound last summer after a lengthy professional career that saw him play with Toronto and New York of the NHL and Pittsburgh and Providence of the AHL.

Sweden De-Rations Drink

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Adult Swedes will be able to buy as much liquor as they want, starting Oct. 1, 1955, when Sweden's 40-year-old liquor rationing system is abolished. Rationing was lifted under a bill passed Friday night by both houses of Parliament. The move followed nine years' consideration by the government and temperance bodies.

Canadian Hockey Players Too Fast For Ace Announcer

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—George Allison's career has included roles as Britain's first ace sports commentator, Arsenal football manager and European boss of the William Randolph Hearst newspaper holdings.

Allison once nearly purchased a 120,000 castle for silent film star Marion Davies, good friend of the late United States publisher.

But he fanned when it came to describing Canadian hockey on the wireless.

"My sweet Fanny Adams," said Allison, now 71, recollecting the time he tried to keep up with the Canadian team playing an English squad. It was "about 1928" and Allison as the British Broadcasting Corporation's star sports commentator had blithely let it be understood that hockey announcing was just his cup of tea.

HE WAS LOST

"It wasn't of course. I'd seen two or three games of low-grade stuff here in London. When the Canadians came out, I was lost. They were ruddy streaks of lightning."

Allison, who had been plucked from a mass of aspirants in 1926 to inaugurate the BBC sports announcing program for soccer and the like, gave up after a few minutes and stumbled on with generalities.

"The score? I can't remember. It was something frightful for Canada—12 or 14 goals to nothing. I haven't seen a hockey game since."

In 1934, he threw up his broadcasting and the Hearst job to manage Arsenal, the most famous football club in Britain, for 14 years.

"I was football daft," Allison said in a leisurely reminiscence of a career that started on Fleet street in 1906. "I thought I would get some rest from the Hearst circus. I couldn't have been more wrong."

STILL CHIPPER

A stocky man, a chipper figure despite his years, Allison still broadcasts occasionally, writes for a Hearst weekly publication and continues as vice-president of the London Press Club, where he was chairman in 1928.

The heyday of the Hearst empire supplies most of his anecdotes. He saw it all, as major-domo of the annual visits by Hearst and his actress companion and during periodic visits to the United States in the prohibition era.

Allison had a 120,000 castle lined up—complete with portcullis, moat and large pike therein—but Miss Davies changed her mind about buying. At a personal appearance in Leicester square, Allison grabbed the first chauffeur-driven car he could find to get Hearst and Miss Davies out of the jam. It turned out to belong to Louis Mountbatten, now an admiral, who readily accepted Allison's apology.

Allison, dubbed "By Jove" Allison after his inaugural soccer commentary, saw the London Press Club grow from 300 members to the present 1,700. One of his many friends was Edgar Wallace, a former chairman whose memory is honored by a Fleet street plaque.

TV NEWS

By Ken McCannan

We've talked a lot about television in these columns—naturally enough—but do you know who really started it all? When you devote yourself to selling TV you want to find out as much as you can about it and we've been digging into the history of TV to learn how it all began.

The first practical TV set was built by an English film worker, John Baird, in 1925 and he lived to see TV become the great entertainment and educational medium it is today. He died in 1946 and, as you probably know, the British Broadcasting Corporation was sending out regular broadcasts in 1936. By 1939 the BBC was broadcasting TV 18 hours a week, but the studios in Alexandra Palace were closed as soon as war broke out.

In 1941, Baird, the man who made TV practical, transmitted a three-dimensional picture of a handful of flowers in full color!

He was just experimenting and although we haven't quite caught up to him yet in that field, the screens are clearer, brighter and larger today than anything he ever dreamed of. An example is the beautiful Admiral sets for 1954 that bring sharp, sharp pictures on to a screen that sits in a handsome cabinet. That's why the Admiral is a doubly good buy, the best picture in the best looking cabinet . . . it's a fine piece of furniture besides the source of fine entertainment.

Leacock Medal For Humor Awarded To Joan Walker

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Joan Walker of Kirkland Lake, Ont., is the winner of the Leacock Medal for humor for 1953, and Grace MacInnis of Vancouver has been awarded the University of British Columbia Medal for popular biography.

The awards were announced Friday night by Dr. Frank Stiling, chairman of the Governor - General's awards board, which administers the Leacock Medal for the Stephen Leacock Memorial Committee of Orillia, Ont., and the UBC Medal for the university.

Mrs. Walker received the Leacock Medal for her book "Pardon My Parka," recounting her experiences in the northwestern Quebec gold mining town of Val d'Or. She is an English-born writer who had two novels published in England before coming to Canada after the Second World War.

Mrs. MacInnis won the UBC award for the biography of her father, the late J. S. Woodsworth, CCF party founder who died in 1942.

EXPRIENCED WRITER

Joan Walker began her career with the Amalgamated Press in London, free-lancing in her spare time, and her stories under the pseudonym "Leonie Mason" have appeared in many English and Canadian magazines. At 22 she became editor of a children's magazine and later assistant editor of Woman's Friend, one of the larger women's magazines in England.

During the Second World War she worked for the ministry of information and then became a feature writer for the Sunday Dispatch. Her English novels were "East of Temple Bar" and "Murder by Accident."

She married James Walker in 1946 and came to Val d'Or, Que., where she gathered the experiences which contribute to the hilarity of "Pardon My Parka." Since finishing that book she has been busy with another novel, a weekly radio program of book reviews for the Kirkland Lake radio station, and regular reviews for the Globe and Mail of Toronto.

WINS LEACOCK MEDAL — A former English newspaper woman, Joan Walker, has been awarded the 1953 Leacock medal for humor for her book "Pardon My Parka." The book is a hilarious account of her experiences in the Quebec gold-mining town of Val d'Or where she went to live in 1946 after her marriage to James Walker. She now lives at Kirkland Lake, Ont.—(CP Photo).

BOOK WINS AWARD—Grace MacInnis has won the University of British Columbia medal for popular biography with her biography of her father, "J. S. Woodworth, A Man to Remember." Her father, who founded and led the CCF, died in 1942. She is the wife of Angus MacInnis, CCF member of Parliament for Vancouver Kingsway. (CP Photo).

POLITICAL BACKGROUND

Grace MacInnis is the eldest of six children of the late J. S. Woodsworth, for whose biography she won the UBC Medal. She graduated from University of Manitoba in 1938 and was working in her father's office at Ottawa when she married Angus MacInnis in 1932, the year the CCF party was formed. In the following years she worked and campaigned across the country and for five years was secretary of the CCF caucus at Ottawa.

Mrs. MacInnis was CCF member of the British Columbia legislature for Vancouver-Burrard from 1941 to 1945, and in 1946 was one of six Canadian delegates to the international assembly of women convened in New York state by a committee headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She and her husband, who is CCF member of Parliament for Vancouver - Kingsway, spend much of their time at Ottawa but make their home in Vancouver.

If Nurse Will Talk Can Make Fortune

HANOI (AP) — A fortune awaits nurse Genevieve de Galard whenever she gets out of Dien Bien Phu. All she'll have to do is write and talk.

Offers running into tens of thousands of dollars have poured into this French headquarters city for relay to the lone French Air Force nurse who administered to the French Union wounded troops as the Red-led Vietminh rebels crushed their fortress.

It will be up to the French national defence ministry to say whether the heroic nurse will be allowed to write or talk for pay. The offers have come from newspapers, magazines, news agencies, book publishers, and radio and television organizations all over the world, but mainly from the United States.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru Friday said India does not oppose transit of French wounded from Indo-China over Indian soil—provided the planes are unarmed and flying alone.

Hospital To Pay $4,104 Annually For Elevators

Recommendations for additional facilities and services to cost a total of $6,659 were approved by the Peterborough Civic Hospital board at the May meeting, Thursday. Superintendent, John Hornal was further instructed to investigate the insurance covering the board's liability concerning any damage incurred on the hospital road and surrounding property.

The largest expenditures item was the board's decision to accept the Otis-Fensom Elevator Company's proposed contract for full maintenance of the hospital elevators at an annual cost of $4,-104. The gross expenditure initially established as a two-year contract, was in the board's opinion, a practical one. The present cost for inspection alone, is $1,239 per annum, plus maintenance wages totalling $846 per annum.

Also included in the Otis-Fensom contract was the replacement of all broken or worn out parts, and although the average liability for repairs to date has only been $381 a year, the potential cost can be expected to increase as the elevators age. Probably the outstanding feature in the board's decision was the statement in the contract: "An important point to consider is the fact that there is absolutely no increase in your contract rate because of added age to your elevator equipment."

The board is assured that a qualified man will be on 24-hour call to correct any trouble encountered with the elevators.

Suggestions by director of radiology, Dr. W. M. McCutcheon, concerning changes in the X-ray department, were approved by the board. The room, which was planned for deep X-ray therapy has not been equipped for such therapy because an adequate staff was not available. Mr. Hornal pointed out, in reply to a query by T. T. Rodger concerning the extended development of cancer fighting equipment, that such a move would be impractical, and relatively ineffective.

MANY ADVANCES

The advances in cancer treatment, said Mr. Hornal, are progressing too rapidly and variedly for this hospital to administer effectively. All forms of treatment, such as deep X-ray therapy, radium, and cobalt bombs, should be available if the proper service is to be given. But, it is impossible for a unit of this size to try and keep up with these developments.

Proposals to (1) eliminate the present table from the radiology room, (2) installing the chest changer, located elsewhere, in the room, (3) installing a reconditioned generator capable of greater electric output, will result in preserving the department for superficial treatment, make possible X-rays of extremities in accident cases without removing the patient from the stretcher, and, increase the efficiency of chest X-ray procedure.

The cost of the reconditioned generator will be $1,650 and a wall mounted cassette holder an additional $50, but the advantages will be quicker service to accident cases, ability to take chest plates while other procedures are scheduled, and to double the number of plates taken on chest clinic days.

Other expenditures approved include the purchase of a swing-out head centrifuge, at $112, a microtome, at $380, and a Hobart mixer at $363. All these items were included in the 1954 budget.

Action on the construction of a sidewalk leading from the hospital entrance to the expected municipal extension of Charlotte St. sidewalk was delayed until such municipal action is complete. T. J. Carley in the ensuing discussion, raised the point as to whether the hospital board was protected against any liability arising from an accident on the hospital grounds. Mr. Hornal produced the insurance policy which included all hospital property, but the limits were no clearly defined, particularly that section of road passing by the hospital from Charlotte St. to Wallis Drive.

Mr. Sarley further pointed out that if this section of road were privately owned, then the Highway Act would not apply and that the onus would revert from the vehicle operator, to the hospital board to prove reasonable care and precaution. Mr. Hornal was instructed to investigate the board's responsibility toward this area, and whether or not it was insured against any liability.

Amendment To Act Will Cost $237,000

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow said Friday an amendment to the Charitable Institutions Act will cost the Ontario government $237,000 in grants to charitable institutions.

The act will be proclaimed June 1. Among other increases will be a raise to 20 cents daily for each child in children's homes, twice that of last year. This increase is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Mr. Goodfellow said 44 institutions will share in the increased allowances.

Reject Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Senate Friday rejected a constitutional amendment which would have lowered the voting age from 21 to 18.

Arrange Lighting Fixtures When Plans Are Drawn

How would you like to go back to the days of coal-oil lamps for lighting in your new home? The idea is preposterous, of course, but are you sure you are taking advantage of the many new ideas illuminating engineers have developed for residential lightings?

Lighting should be planned and a suitable amount of money for fixtures set down in your building estimates. The cost will vary but a reasonable figure might be 3 to 3½ per cent of the total, for the wiring, and around about one percent for the lighting fixtures. One may spend more or less but once a careful estimate has been made it should be held inviolable. Go over the plans room by room, and remember, that while adequate light is essential to a liveable home, the right fixtures will help to glamorize it. Let's look at the kitchen.

DESERVES THE BEST

The kitchen is the homemaker's workshop: it deserves the best in seeing conditions. The first essential is general illumination. This does not require to be a strong light, but should be of medium level or amount: in engineering terms, 10 foot-candles. The light source may be a central recessed down-light, or it may be what is called a semi-ceiling unit.

These luminaires should be of a design in keeping with the design of other equipment in the kitchen — smooth, sparkling, streamlined.

The metal frame of the fixture, to be quality, should be formed in a single piece without joints or mitred seams at the corners. The recessed fixture should also be so designed that light cannot possible escape under the frame to streak the ceiling. It is also a good thing if the frame or cover is hinged so that it is the work of but a moment to replace a lamp bulb, or to wipe the glass clean occasionally on the inside. (Dirty fixtures mean lost light.)

NOT A CENTRAL UNIT

The second essential for the well-lighted kitchen is local lighting. A central unit alone is not adequate because a person working at sink, range, or counter will be standing in her own light. Such areas should be lighted locally.

Local lighting for cooking is now in many cases a feature of the range itself.

Recessed lighting is also favored for the recreation room. Normally this room has a low ceiling, and recessed luminaires are ideal in such a case. Some light on the ceiling is desirable. If the floor covering is light-toned, sufficient illumination will be reflected back to the ceiling to brighten its appearance. If the floor is dark, the lighting fixture should have a bulging or "dropped" glass that will allow a little light to be thrown sideways to brighten the ceiling in the vicinity of the fixture and so minimize the otherwise harsh contrasts.

Mrs. R. Davidson Buried At Coldsprings

The funeral service for Mrs. Robert D. P. Davidson was held Wednesday at 3 p.m. in St. Paul's United Church, Coldsprings.

The Rev. V. M. Gilbert, pastor conducted the service.

Mrs. Davidson, died in her sleep early Sunday morning. She had seemed in the best of health. Mrs. Davidson was the former Wilhelmine Munroe Ford, and was born at Wilton Grove, near London, Ont., on June 19, 1886, one of twin daughters. Her parents the Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Ford, were residents of many towns in Western Ontario, when her father was a Methodist minister. She was edcuated at Lambeth, Westminster, and Lucan public schools, and at Park Hill, Forrest and Essex High Schools and the College of Education at Toronto.

After teaching public school at Hope, near Maple, and high school at Durham, she attended Queen's University, where her husband was a classmate, graduating from there in 1914.

After teaching at Lucan High School for two years, she was married at Goderich in 1916, and the happy couple moved to Cobourg, In 1932 they moved to Belleville where they lived for 17 years, retiring to the Davidson homestead, two miles south west of Coldsprings in 1949.

While living in Belleville she was a member of Bridge Street United church, being president of the WMS for four years, organizer and leader of the Mission Circle for eight years.

Mrs. Davidson was a secretary of mission circles, also Christian stewardship for Bellevile Presbytery for several years. Later her interests in missions was spread to the wider field of secretary of mission circles, Bay of Quinte WMS, and an instructor at Whitby summer school for leaders for three years. She was honored by being appointed to the Dominion board, WMS, in 1950.

Since retiring to the Davidson homestead, she became president of Coldsprings WMS and was a member of the adult Bible class and assistant teacher in the Sunday school.

She is survived by her husband, a former principal of Cobourg Collegiate Institute, and five children: Mrs. G. T. Bateman (Mary) of Cornwall, Mrs. F. H. Perkins (Elizabeth) of Windsor, James of MacDonald College, P.Q., Eleanor of the research clinic, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and Robert, department of highways at Kingston; also six grandchildren, two living sisters: Mrs. W. J. Scott (Helen) of Stony Lake and Bradenton, Florida, and Mrs. J. H. Robertson (Jessie) of Goderich. Her twin sister, Mrs. J. A. Bean (Kate), predeceased her in 1917. A brother also survives, A. R. Ford, editor of the Free Press, London, Ont., and chancellor of the University of Western Ontario.

Pallbearers were Frank Ritchie, Norman Lang, Melville Sandercock, John Cornelious, Melville Linton and Milton Lacey.

Flowerbearers were Arthur Jamieson, Orra Cole, Harold West, Allan Jamieson, Oscar Cornelious, Everett Jamieson, Edwin Morrison and William Kennedy.

Burial was in the Congregational cemetery at Coldsprings.

Canada's Natural Resources Place Her In Top Position

Canda's natural resources of oil, gas, iron, uranium and copper will have the whole world bargaining for them, Ross L. Dobbin told the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting, Thursday at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Dobbin former manager of the P.U.C. and retired president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, recently completed a 40,-000 mile-tour of Canada's frontiers. His trip took him to Kitimat, Whitehorse, Labrador, and even inside the Arctic circle.

He gave a brief survey of what he saw.

North Ontario is chiefly expanding in bases metals, pulp and paper and up there everyone is looking for uranium, said Mr. Dobbin. Iron ore developments at Marmouth and Speak Rock, may, he predicts, make Canada a world supplier of the metal.

MAN NEVER WASHES

In the Yukon he met Canada's dirtiest man, a coal miner, covered with coal dust from head to toe. He never washed, the miner said. He spoke with a well-clipped Oxford accent. The miner lived in a four-room shack.

Mr. Dobbin said there are tremendous possibilities in northern Quebec where the wood and paper pulp mills flourish. At one mill, he inspected an 18-mile flume which the company is extending to 25 miles to provide cheap transportation.

Mr. Dobbin found Newfoundland backward in its development. There was lack of roads and practically no agriculture. But he noted there was plenty room for expansion. All it lacks is the money to do it.

He visited the iron mine at Bell Island which extends one-quarter of a mile under the sea. He pointed out that this mine is mechanized with the latest equipment.

SEARCH FOR COPPER

For many years, Mr. Dobbin said, New Brunswick has relied on lumbering, but that industry is now falling. However copper mines are beginning to thrive, while a search for uranium goes on.

In the West, Manitoba and Saskatchewan are striking oil, but Alberta is the province that is going wild about oil and gas, he said. The Alberta oil-pipeline is exporting 10 million gallons of oil each day.

British Columbia is rich in resources and all kinds of metals up the coast at Kemano, where a huge power plant is being built, two rivers have been changed and two artificial lakes formed.

The water will be brought through a man-made mountain tunnel—which is the three times the size of George St. United church—and will be channelled to turbines. Power from the turbines will be relayed to Kitimat for use in the aluminum plants and a city now under construction, Mr. Dobbin explained.

"Everywhere you go," Mr. Dobbin concluded, "you find tremendous resources being developed a few years Canada will be the wealthiest country in the world."

Father Potier And Hurons First Residents Of Windsor

By ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A little more than 200 years ago a band of Huron Indians watched silently while white men built a palisade fort and christened it Ponchartrain.

It was not the first sign of civilization in their particular corner of the wilderness. Explorers and missionaries were already tramping the trails of the land where a river linked two lakes, later to be known as St. Clair and Erie.

The Indians around the new fort were a friendly lot. They traded freely with the coureurs du bois and listened quietly to the missionaries. When a group of the Hurons moved to a new hunting ground across the broad river, Father Pierre Potier moved with them.

FOUNDERS OF WINDSOR

Father Potier has been identified as the first man to raise a rooftree and dig a garden in Upper Canada, later Ontario. His final home and mission were on the same ground now occupied by Assumption College. Father Potier and his Hurons were the first residents of Windsor.

It was not until more than 100 years later, in 1854, that Windsor became an incorporated village. This year, Windsor, a thumping city of more than 157,000, is celebrating the centennial of its incorporation. Fort Ponchartrain just across the river now is known as Detroit.

Father Potier was not long alone with his Indians. By 1753, younger couples from Detroit had occupied a string of farms along the river and Lake St. Clair. A living from the land was not hard to come by. Soil was rich, hunting good and fish plentiful.

HISTORIC CENTRE

In 1796, Sandwich became the centre of the community around Assumption church, a Protestant church, jail, court house and registry office. Into the picture came the Baby family (pronounced babee).

The Baby family were prominent in the district from the time of the revolution as government leaders. When American forces occupied Windsor during the war of 1812, headquarters was the house of Col. Francis Baby.

The historic Baby house is still a centre of conflict. Located on the Detroit river front, it is on the site of the proposed Windsor civic auditorium. Certain factions want the house left intact but others argue its ancient red bricks will not fit the modern facade of the auditorium.

The rumble of American cannon has changed to the mutter of irate city councillors.

During the 1830's, the community took the name Richmond for a few years but Sandwich was the county town and centre of government. The name Windsor was adopted in 1837 and the Municipal Act of 1848 allowed it to become a village by 1854.

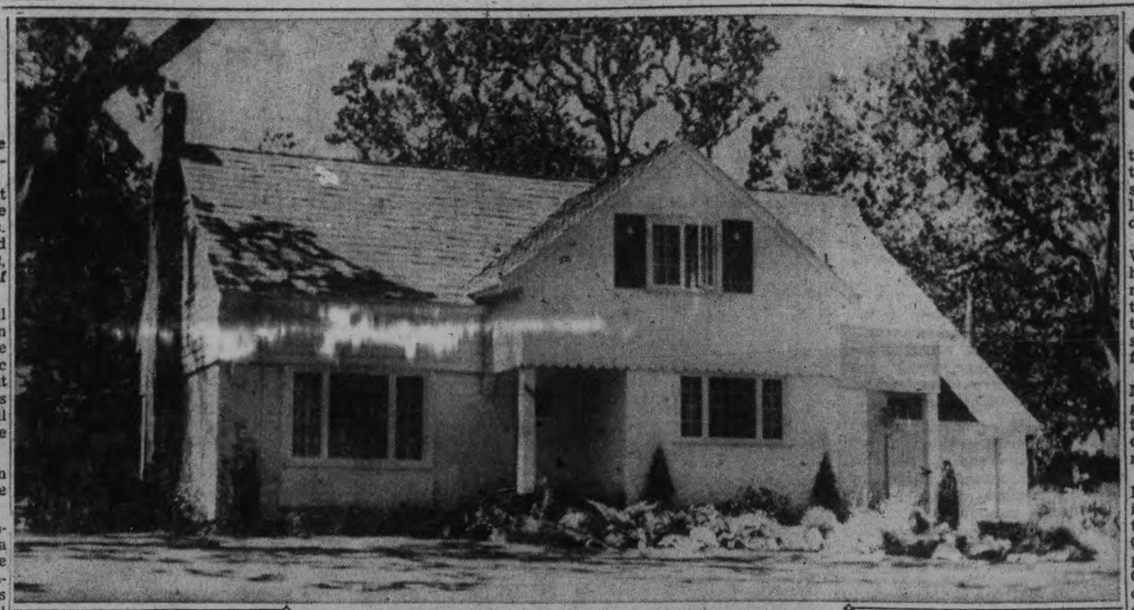
RAILWAY SPURRED GOWTH

The Great Western railroad was a steaming fact by the summer of 1854 and Windsor soon began to eclipse Sandwich. Population was up 15-fold by 1866. Windsor became a town in 1858 and built a distillery the same year.

Despite a fire in 1871 which destroyed many downtown buildings, Windsor had 7,000 persons by 1880 compared to 1,100 in Sandwich and 600 in Walkerville. The Canadian Pacific Railway entered Windsor in 1890. It became a city in 1892.

Salt and pharmaceuticals became major industries during the 1890s and as the 20th century opened, population figures clicked over the 12,000 mark.

The Ford Motor Company began manufacturing from the Walkerville Wagon Works in 1904 and General Motors and Chrysler Corporation moved in later. The population reached 105,000 by 1928 and the communities of Sandwich, East Windsor, Walkerville and Windsor amalgamated in 1935. All are joined in Windsor's centennial celebrations.



Jail Policemen For Perjury

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two St. Louis policemen who captured the Bobby Greenlease kidnappers were sentenced to prison Friday for lying to a federal grand jury about what happened to the $600,000 ransom.

Former lieutenant Louis Shoulders, a veteran of 27 years on the police force was sentenced to three years. Rookie patrolman Elmer Dolan was given two years.

District Judge Albert A. Ridge, who sentenced the pair on charges of perjury, said he made the distinction because Shoulders was the dominating man; who had the direction and supervision over Dolan in the case.

Less than half of the ransom money paid by the father of Bobby Greenlease to the boys kidnapslayers was recovered.

Omemee WA Takes Family Theme

OMEMEE (ENS)—The Women's Association held their May meeting at Trinity United church. Mrs. H. Deyell presided. The joining of two ladies brought membership to 51. The association appointed Mrs. Mel Lathangue as delegate to the WA convention in Cannington, June 2. Mrs. L. Hill and Mrs. M. Jones were appointed as menu committee, and Mrs. T. J. Pogue, Mrs. R. Rehill and Mrs. W. D. Weir as table committee for a catering project.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Victor Gray and her group. Mrs. Geo. Overholt read the scripture. A poem was read by Mrs. Burton Pogue, and Mrs. Jack Smith led in prayer. The topic was presented by Mrs. Roland Clifford which stressed the importance of parental guidance in spiritual matters and where lack of home life is too apt to mean neglect of children's spiritual guidance.

A trio was sung by Mrs. T. J. Pogue, Mrs. W. D. Weir and Mrs. L. Casey, and hymns were chosen to suit the theme. Lunch was served.

Driver Sentenced To 7 Days In Jail

BANCROFT (ENS) — Convicted of drunk driving, Donald Welsh, of Maple Leaf, was sentenced to seven days gaol by Magistrate R. C. Jackson at Wednesday's court. Welsh's vehicle was impounded and his license suspended for three months. On a further charge of having liquor at a place other than his residence a fine of $10 and costs was imposed.

Two Coe Hill men, Mike and Walter Stefanick, charged with cruelty to animals, were each fined $10 and costs or alternatively one month in gaol.

Convicted of driving an unregistered vehicle and driving without a license Gerald Monoghan of Coe Hill, was fined a total of $20 and costs.

U.S. To Help Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) The United States agreed to give military assistance to Honduras as part of the program for defence of the western hemisphere. A similar agreement was signed recently by the U.S. and Nicaragua. Both Honduras and Nicaragua are between Red-tinged Guatemala and the Panama canal.

Saskatoon Girl Joined Navy Because She Wanted Travel

By GERALD FREEMAN

HALIFAX (CP)—Blonde Lillian Balcaen had a good job with a home town radio station in Saskatoon when she decided to join a service for "a change and a bit of travel."

Her father and brothers had been in the army and air force, so that left the navy. Lillian and her sister became Wrens on Feb. 25, 1952.

Her sister married a sailor and left the service, but Lillian now is a sub-lieutenant, bosses 10 men from petty officers down and has no desire to go back to civilian life as an advertising continuity writer.

AT SHEARWATER BASE

Officially, she is listed as divisional officer for station safety equipment personnel at Shearwater naval air station at nearby Dartmouth.

It's her responsibility to make sure every flier who takes off has a parachute that will open and a dinghy that will inflate if he crashes at sea.

But Lillian's big claim to fame in the navy is a pair of firsts she picked up during training. She's the first Canadian service woman to complete a specialist safety equipment course and the first Canadian woman to qualify for American parachutist wings.

Anyone taking the parachute rigger's course in Lakehurst, N.J., was supposed to jump, but Lillian was given an option.

"I was the only woman, the only officer, and the only Canadian there," she relates. "I jumped."

She stepped into space from 2,500 feet. As she drifted in to a safe landing she decided she liked it.

QUALIFIED FOR WINGS

With permission from Washington and Ottawa she made five more leaps, enough to qualify for American parachutist wings. Now she wears Canadian army jumpers' wings.

Lillian Balcaen was born in 1930, the second youngest in a family of 13. Her father was a First World War soldier, and six of her seven brothers were in the army and air force in the Second World War.

She attended schools in Saskatoon and was a stenographer four years before going to work at radio station CFQC.

She was named the "best all round Wren" of her class when training at Cornwallis naval base in Nova Scotia's Annapolis valley.

After about a year studying communications, she was commissioned an acting sub-lieutenant in March, 1953. Then, picked to become safety equipment officer at Shearwater, she took two additional courses at Lakehurst. She took over her job at Shearwater last September, and her commission was made permanent this March.

"PRETTY HEP"

Lillian sometimes has to supervise the repairing and packing of parachutes, but most of her time is taken up behind a big desk in an office lined with charts, where she often has to be more of a diplomat than an equipment expert.

One officer commented: "Sub. Lieut. Balcaen took over from a pretty hep lieutenant, and some of the men were sort of resentful about having a woman over them at first. Now they figure she's pretty hep too."

Lillian nods an emphatic "uh-huh" to questions about liking the navy. "How could I complain? They've given me everything on a silver platter since I joined."

A trim figure in uniform, Lillian takes an active part in base social life, especially the dramatic club. She likes sports as a spectator, and music "from pops to classics." One regret: "I used to play the piano, but don't get much chance to here."

Her two-year commission expires next March. "I don't know what the policy regarding Wrens will be by then," she says. "I don't know if they'll keep me on or not."

But she wants to stay.

TWO FIRSTS — As safety equipment officer at the navy's Shearwater air base near Halifax, Sub-Lieut. Lillian Balcaen's job is to make sure every flier who takes off has a parachute that will open and a dingy that will inflate if he crashes at sea. She's the first Canadian service woman to complete a specialist safety - equipment course and the first Canadian woman to qualify for America parachutist wings. She quit her job with her hometown radio station CFQC at Saskatoon to join the service as an ordinary Wren on Feb. 25, 1952.

216 X-Rayed At Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — An X-ray clinic to aid in the fight against tuberculosis, sponsored by the Northumberland and Durham health unit, was held in Coldsprings Wednesday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Two hundred and sixteen turned out for their free chest X-ray at the mobile clinic provided by the provincial department of health.

Mrs. Keith Harper was survey chairman for the area. Mrs. Leslie McIntosh was secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Wilbert McMann, supply convener, Mrs. Morris Alderson, organization convener, and Mrs. Newton McIntosh, clinic and publicity convener.

The canvassers made personal calls at every home in the surrounding territory to interest citizens in the project.

Improve Landscaping Of Hospital Grounds

BANCROFT (ENS) — A project to make the Red Cross Hospital grounds a suitable setting for the modern building is being effectively dealt with by the Board. The May meeting was, almost entirely, taken up with problems of landscaping. In the absence of president Clarence Marston, vice-president Mrs. W. L. Martin was in the chair.

E. G. Thomas reported that the turfing of the large circle in front of the hospital was proceeding well and the board agreed to a proposal that flowering shrubs be purchased at a cost of $50. The president's recommendation that a new power mower be obtained was also adopted.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Jack Brown undertook to arrange the purchase and planting of suitable garden flowers. Sixty trees, collected by the Boy Scouts, have been planted at the side of the building adjacent to the river.

Case of Spilled Coffee Said Defence Dollar Waste

OTTAWA (CP)—A verbal picture of Defence Minister Claxton's trousers, slightly stained with spilled coffee, was drawn for a laughing House of Commons Friday.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) was the artist. The reason, he said, that he mentioned "the minister's inviolate pants" was that it resulted in an order illustrating what he called a wasteful state of mind among senior defence officials.

Mr. Herridge said that last fall Mr. Claxton was showing a visiting general around defence headquarters. He and his guest entered an elevator also being used by a runner carrying a tray of coffee cups.

Somehow, the coffee spilled on Mr. Claxton's pants, he said. Within a few days an order issued over the signature of Col. F. LeP T. Califford of the directorate of army personnel, said Defence Minister Claxton had ruled that large trays of coffee must not be carried in defence department elevators. If it were necessary to transport coffee from place to place it should be done a cup or two at a time.

NOW 10 TRIPS

The result, said Mr. Herridge, was that 10 trips now were made instead of one.

If such an order indicated a general attitude towards use of manpower, he said, there were grounds for suspecting that proper value is not being given for the defence dollar.

Another example, he said, was the purchase of 36 pairs of skates at $34 apiece for cadets at the College Royale Militaire de St. Jean at St. Johns, Que.

Why should these cadets, fairly well paid, be bought skates at all, and why should they be bought luxury skates Mr. Herridge asked.

Defence Minister Claxton said later that the skates were the same type as those bought by other schools and colleges for hockey teams, but cheaper than in most cases. An Ottawa school had paid from $40 to $45 a pair to outfit its team.

Obtains Degree

STIRLING (ENS) — Hedley Barlow, of Bonarlaw, was among those graduating as Doctor of Veterinary Medicine at the Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, this week.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barlow, attended convocation.

Hedley is a graduate of Stirling High school and has accepted a position in Edmonton, Alta.

Finds Defence Ads Misleading MP Says

OTTAWA (CP) — John Pallet (PC—Peel) Friday urged the government to permit the reserve army to become the backbone of civil defence in Canada. It could be used for policing and other duties after air raids.

Mr. Pallet also criticized advertisements for recruits published by the defence department. He noted the case of an air force officer with five years of war service who died in the officers' mess at North Bay, Ont., and said his widow received a total of $100.

"I suggest to the minister (Defence Minister Claxton) that he might well consider his pension plan in his advertisements and dispose of the pension suggestion in his advertisements because they are not all one might gather from reading the advertisements."

Program Of 1900 Recalls Services On Empire Day

A public school program celebrating Empire Day, 54 years ago, when Britain's Queen Victoria ruled, is owned by Heber Rogers' of 813 Water St.

Dated Wednesday, May 23, 1900, the program was issued for Ashburnham public school, where Mr. Heber attended.

The principal's name, M. W. Matchett, and the teachers' Miss Erskine, Miss Coveny, Miss Beaty, Miss Williamson and Miss Comstock are listed in the upper-left-hand corner.

The printed program began and ended with God Save the Queen. Patriotic addresses were made by the Rev. Herbert Symonds, Rev. J. E. Moore, J. Coyle Brown, the public school inspector.

Raising the flag followed. When Johnny Canuck Come Home, The Land of the Maple, Soldiers of the Queen, The Maple Leaf, Our Emblem Dear, Rule Britannia, were the songs that were sung.

W. H. Moore Collected

occupies most of the old station property.

The new extension crossed Hunter St. and continued along the present line of the CNR, and on piers built in the Goose Pond to the town side of the river: Its route traversed Water and George streets, and was projected through a deep cut east of the Normal School into Smith township. The old roadbed lies across the farm of Henry Sharpe, to mention one of the farms that used to resound to the whistles of the old wood-burning engines. And so on to the lumbering community at Bridgenorth. That, however, is another story . . .

(Another part of the same old line lies on the farm of Henry Sharpe, as has been mentioned above. Mr. Sharpe has long been eyeing the gully, wondering what he might do with it. He is now planning to convert it into an open-cut silo. The cut is already there, and this new-old method of storing and curing ensilage appeals to his progressive nature.)

Interest in Mr. Moore's production imagines his need an enquiry for information about bylaws and statutes with varying reaction of frustration, and finally as the result of more or less frequent questionings and search his decision to prepare the book of condensations which was probably issued in 1902. His patience perhaps had run out, and he decided that the better way was once and for all to do a job of investigating and compiling himself.

Lakefield's 1st Church

In accepting a farewell presentation, Mr. Warren said, "My dear friends and neighbours: It is with the sincerest feelings of gratitude and delight that I receive this day, the handsome and elegant ink stand, as a testimonial of your esteem for me during the nine years that I have sojourned amongst you, to perceive this mark of kindness by seeing the names amongst the list of subscribers who consistently differed from me on many points. In taking with me to the land of my birth this exceedingly handsome and unexpected gift, I trust that it may be the means of constantly calling to remembrance my kind friends in this distance colony . . ."

What these differences were we can only surmise. Some clergy did not adjust happily to frontier conditions in the new world. On the other hand, village life, with its hearsay opinions can be quite unfair to those whose ways are not well understood. Troubles within congregations and rivalry with other religious bodies were frequent occasions of discord. Internal tensions sometimes arose over ceremonial, differences in the English or Irish Anglican traditions and practices. As the Lakefield church's Prayer Book (1838) testifies, it was "The United Church of England and Ireland". Outside the congregation, the competition of various other denominations often had a disquieting effect. In Lakefield three "chapels" were built in 1862-3, including the Wesleyan Methodist. The Methodist and Presbyterian had strong Sunday Schools and had "absorbed the children of the neighborhood".

A Double-Barrelled Holiday

Canadians Honor 2 Queens

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A double-barrelled holiday marking the birthday of two queens, May 24 will be celebrated across Canada with sports events, fireworks and family gatherings in town and country.

This is the second year in a row that Canada celebrates Queen Elizabeth's birthday on the same date as Queen Victoria's. Victoria Day for many years was observed on May 24, but under a 1952 statute Victoria Day is celebrated on the Monday immediately preceding May 24, to make a week-end holiday.

It happens that this year the Monday falls on the traditional May 24 date. Last year, Victoria Day and Queen Elizabeth's birthday were both celebrated on May 18, because May 24 fell on a Sunday.

RECALLS HISTORY

It's 135 years since Queen Victoria was born—on May 24, 1819—but it's only 53 years since she died after the longest reign of any British monarch, 63 years. She succeeded to the throne in 1837 and died in 1901.

Since Victoria's death the world has seen two global conflicts followed by the Cold War and the battle in Korea and Indo-China. Victoria's uncle, William IV, once said: "It will touch every sailor's heart to have a girl queen to fight for."

It is appropriate that the first warm weather holiday of the year in Canada should also mark the birthday of the present queen, who has just completed her great Commonwealth tour.

Queen Elizabeth actually was born April 21, 1926, but the date of her birthday celebration in Canada is fixed each year by cabinet decision at Ottawa.

TREK TO COUNTRY

Apart from the city celebrations there will be a great exodus to lakes and streams as cottage-owners use the holiday to put their places in shape for the summer.

The traditional fireworks display will be held in many places. In recent years there has been a growing fashion of holding organized community fireworks under expert supervision to avoid mishaps.

In other parts of the Commonwealth May 24 is celebrated as Empire Day, but that observance is distinctly separate in Canada. Canadians mark Empire Day in schools on the last school day before May 24.

Judge Refuses Will For Probate

TORONTO (CP)—The 1929 will of Mary Ann (Minnie) Beattie who died last October in Homewood Sanitarium, Guelph, was refused for probate Friday by Surrogate Court Judge J. D. MacRae.

He said he refused the will because she was not in possession of the "intellectual and moral faculties common to our nature." She had spent most of her time in mental institutions from 1919 to 1953.

Judge MacRae ordered that her first will, executed in 1925, shortly after her release from Homewood, be entered for probate. The second will was executed while she was a patient at the Ontario Hospital at Whitby, Ont.

Miss Beattie left an estate valued at about $44,000. In the first will, her money was to be divided equally among five nieces and nephews, and two sisters. In the second will, she provided that her estate should be used to build a home for homeless persons at St. Andres, Que., to be called the Beattie Memorial.

Timely Gain

LONDON (CP)—Nearly 4,750,000 clocks and 2,500,000 watches were manufactured in the United Kingdom last year, about one-third of the total going for export. Before the Second World War Britain imported all watches and most of its clocks.

Campbellford Choir First In Festival

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) —The St. John's United church choir, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. George Nicholls have won first place at the Northumberland music festival, making it the third time in as many years that the choir won the competition.

Also competing with the Campbellford choir, was one from Trinity United church of Cobourg. The local group received 88 marks, to Trinity's 86. The competition was held Wednesday evening at Colborne.

The male chorus of St. John's choir also won over Warkworth high school male choir, with their rendition of "John Peel". This was won by only half a point, St. John's scoring 83½ to Warkworth's 83.

Win Special Mention At Music Festival

STIRLING (ENS)—River Valley public school entry was given special mention for voice blending by the adjudicator at the festival sponsored by South Hastings Educational Association in the Belleville Collegiate.

A choir of 14 boys from Foxlow school drew special mention for an outstanding performance.

Miss Grace Pitman, ATCL, of Stirling, is music supervisor for both schools.

Add Insulation For Home's Comfort

BY MR. FIX

If facing the prospect of sweltering through another summer in a poorly insulated house, you should need little encouragement toward doing something about it. There is something you can do, you know, and it isn't a costly project.

You can reinsulate with a loose-fill insulation such as widely used vermiculite, and rest assured that the coming summer will be a more pleasant one for you indoors.

There are three reasons why your original insulation job may not be giving you the good performance it did when it was first installed. They are settling of insulation, moisture damage to insulation and heat leaks. In many cases the addition of loosefill corrects or at least improves the situation.

If you noted last winter that fuel bills were uncommonly high, or that room comfort had fallen off, then it is time to visit your atttic for a look at the insulation. Here's what to do:

1. Poke a ruler into the insulating material between attic floor joists. If less than its original thickness, it is not doing a top-notch job of heat conrol.

2. Check the ceiling beneath the insulation for wet spots. Remove damp or water-logged insulation in the area of wet spots. As you know from using a wet pot holder on a hot pan, moisture conducts heat. Damp insulation won't retard the passage of heat, either.

3. Look into corners and around wiring to see if insulation fills all spaces. Any exposed surfaces will leak heat.

Vermiculite is particularly well-suited to reinsulate jobs in unused attics. It is a mineral material that looks and flows like popcorn. Being a mineral it will not rot, is fireproof and resists settling. You can pour vermiculite right on top of other insulating materials. Here's how to reinsulate:

First, make sure you have removed any deteriorated insulation. Take care of any necessary attic repairs before insulating. Be sure to block off holes, especially around conduits, pipes and fixtures.

Pour vermiculite over the existing material. Pour right out of the bag, which is easy to handle (four cubic-foot bag weighs only 23 pounds.) Level the material carefully with a cardboard rake obtainable from your dealer.

Fill all spaces between joists and old insulation. No tamping is necessary, and is, in fact, undesirable.

Sidewall insulation may need a checkup, as well. Where sidewall spaces are accessible at the top, pour loose fill into them to bring the insulation level with the wall's top.

Because sidewall construction varies from house to house, it is better to get a professional's advice before undertaking the job. The most important area to reinsulate is in the attic floor. A high percentage of the heat loss in winter occurs there if the attic is not insulated.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—What can be done to keep new paint coatings from peeling off of our wooden porch floor.—E. T.

A—If you can get at the underside of the flooring, paint it with fibrated roof coating. Wait for a long dry spell to be sure the wood is dry throughout before painting.

IF YOU HOPE to be comfortable indoors this summer, now's the time to head for the attic to check your insulation.

Birth Rate Going Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The bureau of statistics reported Friday that there were 33,800 births registered last month in Canada compared with 31,900 in April, 1953, bringing the January-April total to 138,800 against 125,400.

Marriages in April totalled 6,600 compared with 7,700 last year and the four-month total was 26,500 against 25,000.

There were 10,200 deaths last month compared with 10,700 last year. The total for the first four months of the year was 43,400 against 43,700.

AIRBORNE TROUT

NAPIER, N.Z. (CP)—Ten thousand young trout were dropped from a plane flying low over a remote lake in the Hawke's bay district. Tests later showed most fish survived the drop and now are thriving.

Ladies' Auxiliary Attend Millbrook Rally

MILLBROOK (ENS)— About one hundred and seventy attended the Zone rally banquet of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Wednesday evening, in the Legion hall. Chartered buses brought visiting auxiliaries from Apsley, Havelock, Hastings, Lakefield, Peterborough and Warsaw.

President A. Blair of the local auxiliary branch 402, introduced the guests at the head table, each of whom spoke briefly. The Hon. Major John Foote emphasized the fellowship and comradeship of legion and auxiliary members. He comended the women in the work they were doing. Many times he said, he had seen women in the armed forces marching. He urged those present to go on marching to a bigger and better country

Zone Commander Hamlin also brought greetings from the Ontario provincial comand, G. F. Harrington, reeve of Millbrook also spoke of the work done by the women and welcomed them to Millbrook.

Zone Commander Parrington, Peterborough, of zone 31 ladies' auxiliary introduced the speaker Comrade Dorothy Hoyle, 3rd vice president of the Ontario provincial command. Comrade Hoyle asked the auxiliaries to carry on with their work with returned men in hospitals. She asked for larger donations to the scholarship fund for brilliant students among veterans' children.

Zone Commander Parrington was in charge of the business agenda. Minutes of the Zone rally held in Lakefield in 1953 were read by the secretary H. Reid. The secretary of each auxiliary then gave its annual report. Comrade Hoyle announced that zone commander Parrington had been returned to office by acclamation.

The next zone rally is to be held in Havelock in May, 1955.

A Cleric Speaks

Feeling Of Frustration Cause Of New Churches

(By THE REV. A. C. FORREST)
Ocho Rios, Jamaica, B.W.I.

Last week I wrote of an experience attending worship in a Presbyterian Church here. It is such a wonderful country I would like to write more about it. In the evening we decided to go to church again and sought the taxi-driver's advice.

He drove us to the little village, and while we argued for the Methodists or Baptists he felt that pale-skinned northerners would be more at home in the Anglican Church. "I guess I'm really an Anglican myself," he said, but he hadn't been too regular, I suspect, for when he got us there on the highway which leads toward Fern Gully, (the most beautiful road I've ever seen), the lovely little stone church was locked, and the iron gates were closed.

In the mornings we had noticed the children and even the teachers trotting along to the schools 10 or 15 minutes late, and it didn't seem to worry them. Church services are a little late starting, too, we discovered. We went to the Methodist church, and stood about outside for a while in the lovely evening, and talked with the taxi-driver and a friend of his who invited us to go to the Church of God. He was a handsome young waiter from one of the hotels, with dark dress trousers, a beautifully tailored white dinner jacket, a red bow tie, and a straw hat. He quoted the Bible better than I can, and mentioned with a little pride that the Church of God had its headquarters in America. They can't tell Canadians from Americans down here, and he seemed to imply that we might like this better than the churches with their base in Great Britain.

In our drive about we saw a Jehovah's Witness Kingdom Hall. They seem to be everywhere in these islands. There was a Seventh-Day Adventist church, which is growing rapidly in Jamaica and doing a great deal of educational work. There was a Pentecostal Tabernacle, another evangelical group which is spreading rapidly here and down through South America. All the older denominations seemed to be represented, and there were several new ones whose names were not familiar to me.

Sometimes I have felt dismayed by the competitive and overlapping denominationalism of Southern Ontario villages, but here it was more flagrant still. I wondered how many of the churches were enabled to continued their rivalry with the aid of mission funds.

In the Methodist Church I expected to hear some singing of the "When the Roll is called up Yonder" type, and maybe some hearty amens and halleujahs. But it was eighteenth century English Methodism planted here. The opening prayer were familiar collects, confessions and thanksgivings from the Prayer Book. They sang the Te Deum and the Benedictus, and conducted a quiet, very dignified service, which reminded us that Wesley wore his cassock and gown for his field preaching, and that much of what became Methodism in Canada and America was a long way from the methods of the founder.

After the service we stopped by the crowded little church of God, which was a make-shift building made out of poles or split cane, with wide cracks through which we could hear and see almost as well as if we had been inside. Here there was fiery evangelistic preaching, and an emotionally responsive congregation. As we drove along the old stone-walled road which wound its way through the grove of stately palms, we found ourselves suddenly in a street-meeting which stopped our car. The meeting was lit with blazing torches stuck in bottles. I'm not irreverent when I say it was something like a Gospel jive session. A woman with a high dissonant voice would sing or chant, and the crowd would give the beat with the chorus, then suddenly another voice would improvise. It was a terrific out-of-the-world combination of jazz and sacred, with a touch of the jungle about it. I'd have liked to have remained but I felt like an interloper on the highly-pitched service.

Our driver was a little bit cynical of all the new religious groups. The "trouble with these fellows is," he said, "they want

VOL. CVII. No. 121 — SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1954

Main Street Topics

CIVIC ARENA COMMITTEE

Members of the Civic Arena committee who were re-appointed for 12 months beginning May 1 are: R. Geddes Harper, J. L. Evans, Mayor Norm Graham, Aldermen Stan McBride, Pat Anglesey and Gordon Farquharson and Robert McCabe and C. L. Upper.

CANCER DRIVE REACHES $9,750

The Cancer Fund drive for the city and district of Peterborough has reached $9,750. Only 10 canvassers are yet to be heard from and these are expected to report during the weekend. The original objective of the drive was $8,000.

NEW JUSTICE TO PRESIDE

When Mr. Justice Judson resumes the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court on Tuesday afternon he will be presiding for the first time in Peterborough county. The sittings are now going into their third week. Mr. Justice King presided during the first two weeks.

MAYOR IN HOSPITAL

Mayor Norman Graham will enter St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday morning to undergo a series of medical examinations. His Worship, whose illness has kept him from some of his official tasks the past couple of weeks, underwent a dental operation recently. He is expected to be absent from his civic duties until mid-June. City council has named Ald. John Dewart acting mayor in the interim.

FOUR FIRE ALARMS

City firemen responded to four alarms late Friday and early today. At 7.38 p.m. Friday they used a handpump to put out a grassfire on a vacant lot at Lisburn and Vinette Sts. A pile of rubbish burning by the side of the highway on Lansdowne St. E. was extinguished after a call at 7.35 a.m. today; a booster tank was used to douse the flames. A flooded oil heater was reported at Fred Walker's home, 426 Wolsley St., less than an hour later. And at 11.03 a.m. there was another grassfire on a vacant lot at 732 Brown St. A handpump put it out.

Court Gives $10,125 To Family

Husband Killed As Car Crashes Into Truck

A widow and her three infant daughters on Friday afternoon were awarded a total of $10,125 to compensate them for the loss of the father of the family, killed in a motor accident on Highway 35, December 14, 1951.

The suit, brought under the Fatal Accidents Act by the widow, Mrs. Marion Strong, formerly of Wilberforce, was heard in a three-day trial at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court in Peterborough.

The father, 33-year-old Lloyd Strong of RR 2, Bethany, was instantly killed when the car in which he was a front-seat passenger crashed into the rear of a truck parked on the highway, 10 miles south of Lindsay. An angle iron on the platform of the truck pierced the windshield and killed Strong.

Three other occupants of the car, driven by Wilson Staples of Janetville, were injured. The accident occurred at 6:15 p.m. during a snow storm when visibility was limited to about 60 feet.

Staples was southbound, coming from Lindsay when he saw the headlights of what appeared to be a northbound car. Actually it was a car driven by Thomas Staples of Bethany (no relation) that was parked on the east side of the highway. Thomas Staples was talking to Arthur Ellis of Nestleton, a truckdriver, who had pulled his vehicle to a stop on the west side of the highway to ask Staples directions.

HEADLIGHTS

Dazzled by the headlights of the parked car, Wilson Staples didn't notice the truck in his western lane of traffic until he identified "a dark object" when only about 50 feet away. He tried to wheel the car to the east but struck the left rear corner of the truck; the angle iron went through the windshield, fatally injuring Strong.

Mr. Justice King, presiding at the non-jury sittings, found that Wilson Staples was 50 per cent to blame for the accident; and Thomas Staples and Ellis, drivers of the two parked vehicles, were each 25 per cent to blame.

Because of the 50 per cent negligence of Wilson Staples, Mrs. Strong and her three daughters were eligible for only half of their total damages which were assessed at $20,250. Mrs. Strong, 28, will get $5,625; and her three daughters — Lorna, age four, Sharon, age three, and Carole, age two — will each get $1,500.

The money for the three girls will be paid into court to await their coming of age. The youngest of them, Carole, was born a week after her father was killed.

(Basis of the award was the amount of money that the mother and children might reasonably

Examiner Staff Photos)

Payday On The Reserve

CURVE LAKE—At exactly 2 p.m. on Thursday afternoon superintendent of Indian Affairs E. A. Adams sat down in the council hall with ledgers, daybooks and $2,250 in treaty money cheques before him. He had announced the time of payment—from 2 to 3 p.m.—well beforehand and the Indians of the reservation were not long in calling for their shares.

The payment of Indian Treaty money is of long unbroken tradition in the Kawarthas, ever since the days when the white men brought large tracts of their lands in the early 1820's. It was called the Gunshot Treaty. Indians were to be paid yearly interest on capital funds for the original sale of their lands "as long as the waters run and the grass grows."

The interest figure fluctuated and many of the older Curve Lake people can well remember when they received $1.10 per head each three months; the ten cents was for road work.

ENDED IN 1923

They also remember the termination of the Gunshot Treaty about 1923 when all hunting and fishing rights were taken away from them and compensating interest payments soared to $25 a share. It lasted two years and was reduced again. At this time the Federal Government were instituting many benefit plans for their Indian wards.

Though the price per share of this year is set at $5, old age, family allowances and other benefits more than make up for the higher rate of interest they used to receive. Indeed some, bands such as the Six Nations in Brantford, receive no Treaty payments at all.

Superintendent Adams did a roaring business when the Indians finally poured into the hall. Some heads of families took more than one share cheque for delivery. Most of the money found its way across the road to Cliff Whetung's general store; he had cashed at least 50 cheques by the time the payment session closed.

There were few complaints. Unregistered progeny who were not listed as recipients of payment took some straightening out. There were zealous friends who supplied endless details about forwarding cheques to scattered band members at various addresses in Ontario and the United States. There was also a young soldier on leave after a year of service in Korea who took the ancient ritual calmly in a manner that suggested he had seen more exciting things.

And there was the aftertalk when the payment time closed. Elderly men regaled the superintendent with tales of the good old days, tales he had doubtless heard many times before.

"Shunia Mindin"—money day—was chiefly a day of social get-together, ready money to spend as quickly as possible by people with continuing hopes that the ritual would last as long as the waters run and the grass grows.

Believe Rock Carved 1,500 B.C.

Archaeologist Says Find Most Significant

TORONTO (CP) — Prof. J. N. Emerson of the University of Toronto, noted Canadian archaeologist, said today he believes picture-rock carvings discovered recently near Peterborough were made by Indians who lived in Canada 1,500 years before the birth of Christ.

Prof. Emerson said the discovery of 54 pictures "ground" rather than carved into the face of a 50 by 35-foot crystalline limestone ledge in an isolated backwoods area should prove to be "one of the most significant contributions to our understanding of early native art in North America."

The discovery was made by vice-president Ernest Craig, geologist Charles Phipps and Miner Everitt Davis of the American Nepheline Mines Company.

The story of the discovery was first reported a week ago today in The Examiner.

Prof. Emerson and a colleague, archaeologist Robert Popham, travelled through three miles of forest-covered rock country along the southern edge of the Cambrian shield to reach the site Friday.

Of the 54 identifiable carvings there are three sets of animal tracks, 11 human figures, six salamanders, three snakes, one frog, two birds, one turtle, two deer, two sun symbols and six spearheads.

BEFORE BOW, ARROW

It is the spearhead carvings and tools found in the area known to have been used by the Laurentian Indians on which Prof. Emerson largely bases his opinion as to the age of the carvings.

The Laurentians lived before the age of the bow and arrow and the spearhead carvings—one of which is four feet long—are of the exact shape of spearheads known to have been used by the Indians.

There are only three other reported finds of Indian rock carvings and paintings in Ontario. They are in southern Algonquin park, Lake Nipigon country and the Ontario-Manitoba border area.

The inaccessibility of the latest find in Burleigh township, 30 miles from Peterborough, may account for the lateness of the discovery.

Mr. Popham said there are few authorities on petroglyphs—carvings in rock—and further study of the symbols in the recent find and their relation to Laurentian culture would have to be carried out before they could be dated authoritatively.

In dating the carvings "much will depend on the symbols themselves or whether they turn up elsewhere in the beadwork of the North American Indians," he said.

He added the condition of the rock may give some clue to the age of the carvings. "If they are 3,500 years old you would have expected more erosion than is indicated."

Prof. Emerson is convinced they are genuine.

5 Youths Found With Bottle Each

A night out, that probably would have yielded some sore heads this morning, was rudely interrupted for five Peterborough youths at 11:30 p.m. Friday night. City police took a look inside the cab of a truck parked on George St. and beheld four 16-year-olds and one 17-year-old, each clutching a small bottle of rum.

The policemen took the boys and the rum along to the station. Later, the boys were allowed to go home. The rum stayed at the station.

It is understood that the boys gave police the name of the person who supplied them with a bottle of rum which they paid for at a cost of 80 cents each. They divided the liquor into five parts and each lad had his share in a smal lmedicine bottle. Not that it was intended for medicinal purposes.

The boys will appear in court Tuesday and it is understood that a Peterborough man is to be charged with supplying liquor to minors.

Train In Germany

KARACHI (CP)—The Pakistan industrial development corporation has sent 15 engineers to Hamburg in West Germany for one year's training in the shipbuilding industry.

Douglas Lawrie Recommended Clerk Of Court

Douglas J. Lawrie of 480 Charlotte St., a chartered accountant and returning officer for Peterborough county in the last three provincial elections, has been recommended for clerk of the county division court, the Hon. Harold R. Scott said today.

The recommendation has gone to the atterney-general's department, and confirmation is expected soon.

Mr. Lawrie will succeed Garfield Torrance who died May 14.

"The office of division court clerk requires a certain amount of accounting ability, and Mr. Lawrie is a certified chartered accountant," Mr. Scott said.

J. W. (BUD) FORTNER was elected president of the Peterborough Sales and Ad club for 1954-55, succeeding John Madden. Mr. Fortner is manager of the local Firestone Dealer store. Other members of the new executive are: vice-president Don Murray, secretary-treasurer, Paige Rowell, and directors, Myer Cherney, Jack Dobbin, Howard Doolittle, Mort Knox, Don Lawrie and Dr. Fred Pitz.

DOUGLAS J. LAWRIE

Mr. Lawrie came to Peterborough 40 years ago from Forest, Ont., serving as a student with W. R. Morris, an FCA, and he has remained in that profession since—with the exception of the war years.

In the First World War he enlisted as a gunner in 1915 with the 26th Battery. He served overseas in France and Belgium and was commissioned while on active service. He returned to Canada a lieutenant.

In the Second World War he served as lieutenant-colonel on the administration and training staff of the 43rd Field Regiment (RCA), in the Peterborough-Lindsay-Cobourg district.

During the last three provincial elections he has been returning officer for the county.

The division court, to which he will be appointed, is essentially a small claims court and deals inexpensively with these claims.

Building Lots Sold On Doddiebrae

Where did Ed DeNure get the name "Doddiebrae" for his farm in North Monaghan?

Probably it traced to his preference for the black cattle of Scotland, th Aberdeen-Angus, and a Scotsman reminded him that the common name for one of them on its native heath was Doddie.

And, as Mr. DeNure lives on a hill west of Kawartha Golf Club, and the word brae suggests something more than a knoll in convolutions of topography, so the name took shape: Doddiebrae.

During summer, it is screened by a hardwood bush, but latterly Mr. DeNure has been breaking up the south end east fronts into building lots. For the advantage of the long view across the rolling greens of Kawartha, he is closing the old road of approach to his house from the extension of Sherbrooke St.

Three houses are already built in there, several others are planned, and five or six lots are left. A new road has been laid out 134 feet west of the Kawartha fence. The rear of the building lots face that road looking into a hardware bush where spring is still in flower.

It is a somewhat undiscovered place where Mr. DeNure lives with a long view to the south and east. The land drops sharply from in front of the big brick house, and stretches off toward Highway 28 in that stretch easterly from the foot of the watertrough hill. Several of the new houses on lots of at least 100 feet frontage have their verandahs at the top of that slope with long views of the country south and east. That is one of the attractions of the site.

Ranch type houses have been built by John G. Lewis and Jos. P. Sharp, and another is being erected by W. A. VanAtter. Several others are to be built.

Features of the DeNure property are the long prospect from the height of land, a private hardwood bush at the rear, and easy approach by way of Sherbrooke St. west.

"I wasn't thinking particularly about selling any of the property," Mr. DeNure remarked, "but people found the place for themselves and wanted to buy, and I suppose there will be more building on the other lots that have been sold."

So, that's the Doddiebrae residential detail out beyond Kawartha Golf Club, giving it the name of the DeNure place.

CHURNING THE WATERS of the Trent Canal into white foam, this tiny tug boat finally succeeded in pulling the barge off a shelf of rock in the Trent at Campbellford on Thursday afternoon. At first it was thought that the water level of the canal might have to be raised to free the big barge. But the determination of the tug finally won out, and the cumbersome barge was dragged and shunted into deep water, to continue its journey down the canal.

Attempt Fails For Approval Of Branch Line

OTTAWA (CP)—An attempt to have Parliament order early construction of a CNR branch line between St. Felicien and Chibougamau in Quebec fell through Friday in the Commons railway committee.

Committee chairman Henry McCulloch ruled out of order a motion by P. E. Gagnon (Ind—Chicoutimi) that the St. Felicien-Chibougamau line be built at the same time as one to be constructed between Chibougamau and Beattyville, Que.

On a later vote, the committee defeated motion by Andre Gauthier (L—Lake St. John) which would have lumped the two projects together. The Gauthier motion was opposed by Transport Minister Chevrier.

CUTS AMOUNT

A government bill would give the cabinet power to feed out authorization and money for the building of one section or another. It sets a 10-year time limit for the job.

The committee eventually approved the bill—which now goes back to the Commons—but it cut down to $38,750,000 the amount which the cabinet could advance to the CNR, instead of the $44,562,000 proposed in the bill.

The $38,750,000 covers, as well as the two Quebec jobs, a 27-mile branch from Hillsport to Manitouwadge lake in Ontario, a section on which there was on controversy concerning construction.

Barge Runs Aground Pulled Free By Doughty Tug

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Crowds gathered along both banks of the Trent Canal about a half mile above the town bridge here on Thursday afternoon to watch a pitched battle between a tiny tug boat and a stubborn oversize barge which was hard aground in the canal.

The battle started shortly after 2 pm as the barge was being towed down the canal by the tug. The barge scraped its bottom on a shelf of rock at the edge of the channel and stayed there stopping the tug in its tracks.

After more than an hour, during which the tug pushed and pulled, first one way, then the other, all the while thrashing the water into white foam, the barge gave up and drifted free.

Both vessels are owned by the McNamara Construction of Toronto. They purchased the barge at Bobcaygeon last fall from the Department of transport, and were towing it to Bowmanville, where it is needed on a construction job. The barge had been berthed at Healey Falls, about six miles north of here for the past month, undergoing repairs. It passes through the locks on the Trent with only a few inches to spare.

Timber Replacing Glaciers As Canada Warms Up

By GEORGE LINTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Owning a strip of frozen tundra on the shores of Hudson Bay might be a good investment. It could be worth thousands to one's grandchildren.

Such land could be the site of a future town if present weather trends continue, says Keith McLeod, superintendent of public weather services for the Canadian government.

"Canada is warming up," he says. "Timber is replacing glaciers in the north. Crops are being harvested where 70 years ago there was nothing but frozen muskeg.

YEAR-ROUND ROUTE

"If the present warming trend continues, future towns on Hudson Bay could have temperatures like the Lakehead 700 miles south. The ice might melt in the northern straits and permit cities on the bay to carry on year-round ocean trade across the Atlantic to Europe."

Mr. McLeod says it would take just a little further warm-up in Canada's average temperatures to bring about vast changes in the economy of the country 100 years from now.

Average temperatures across Canada have gone up about three degrees in the last 70 years. This has pushed back the northern icefields as much as 1½ miles in some areas, which meteorologists consider important.

"It would take only about another five-degree increase to melt the northern glaciers," Mr. McLeod says. "If that happened, polar winds would no longer be bitter cold and temperatures in southern parts of Canada would become sub-tropical."

LARGELY GUESSWORK

How long the present trend will continue, he says, is anybody's guess. British Columbia has had a winter temperature rise of 1.5 degrees in the last 35 years. Toronto's has gone up four degrees since 1870. Montreal's has gone up more than two degrees in the same period.

"Some theorists believe the warm-up is part of a cycle that flows from cold to warm and back to cold again," he says. "Some say the cycle takes 200 years, others say 1,000 years, to complete itself."

Evidence for the 1,000-year cycle is based on the fact that 1,000 years ago southern Greenland, settled by Norsemen about 900 AD, had thriving settlements and some farming was done. A colony was founded that prospered for decades.

But as the centuries moved on the ice advanced. The growing season shortened as winters became longer. Finally the ice moved over the island and covered many of the settlements by about 1500 AD.

Now the warm-up has started again. The ice is receding and sheep graze again in the south. The ocean round the island has warmed and cod have moved north. Inhabitants have become fishermen, and the seal which provided them with food and clothing 50 years ago now are found only in the far north.

Legion President Refuses Criticize Press

WOLFVILLE, N.S. (CP) — Dr. C. B. Lumsden, president of the Canadian Legion, said Friday night he would not criticize the press for its interpretation of a legion brief submitted Wednesday to the Commons veterans affairs committee in Ottawa.

The Canadian Press had reported "the legion charged the Canadian pension commission with lax administration" after legion officials cited seven cases where the commission allegedly committed errors and omissions.

"Our brief was not an attack on the Canadian pension commission but was meant to establish the fact that there were delays in handling pension cases," Dr. Lumsden said. "Circumstances demanded an amendment to existing legislation so that the applicant would not be penalized by developments beyond his control."

IN BAD LIGHT

"In order to illustrate these delays we had to quote a number of cases which were of such a nature that the press interpreted the commission actions as being unjustifiable and held the pension commission responsible," he said.

"The report in the Ottawa papers did not distinguish between the press interpretation and the legion's statements, but I do not criticize the press for jumping to conclusions as these cases showed the pension commission in a bad light.

"Our purpose was to secure change in legislation to prevent applicants from being penalized by delays."

Museum Robbed

LONDON (Reuters)—A collection of objets d'art Friday was alleged to have been stolen over the last 21 years from the Victoria and Albert Museum, here. Museum assistant John Andrew Nevin, 58, was remanded on £50 bail until June 4 on 24 charges of stealing property from the museum.

Six Fatalities Across Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six persons have died violently in Canada so far during the weekend. All deaths occurred in Ontario.

Highway accidents took four lives. Two persons died in a fire.

Mrs. William Dawson, about 67, of Georgetown, was killed when her car left the highway, near Georgetown, plunged through a guard rail and smashed into a tree.

Thomas Yule, 45, and William R. Bell, 50, both of Belgrave, were killed when the truck in which they were riding crashed into a tree near Walkerton. Bell's wife, Grace, was seriously injured and taken to hospital at Walkerton.

Two spinster sisters each more than 80 years old, Margaret and Alice Sullivan, died when fire believed caused by faulty wiring in a bed lamp destroyed their bedroom in their Gatineau hills farm house north of Ottawa.

At St. Catharines, Roland May, 80, was killed when struck by a car on the Queen Elizabeth Way.

Asks Watch Reds

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was asked Friday to send a navy vessel to watch two Russian trawlers on the Grand banks off Newfoundland. Leonard T. Stick (L—Trinity - Conception) said the trawlers are there for no good purpose.

Works Estimates Tabled In House

OTTAWA (CP) — Public works estimates contained in supplementary estimates tabled Friday in the Commons:

Public Buildings

Ontario: Ottawa — towards acquisition of seminary building $1,000,000; Ottawa—payment for expropriated property on Wellington street $1,000,000; Hamilton—office building—further amount required $400,000; Toronto—building for department of national health and welfare $290,000.

Harbors and Rivers

Ontario: Hamilton — harbor repairs and improvements—further amount required $270,000; Moosonee (Moose Factory)—wharf $75,000; Oshawa—redredging $52,000; Port Stanley—harbor repairs and improvements—further amount required $63,000; Sombra—wharf repairs and improvements $63,000.

ESCORT SHIPS

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said Friday in the Commons that the first of Canada's new anti-submarine escort vessels will be commissioned next year.

"IT EVEN FEELS LIKE A MOP"—This small girl finds it hard to believe that the object she's patting is really a dog. It is a white-haired Hungarian shepherd dog and quite naturally was the eye-catcher at a recent Frankfurt, Germany, dog show.

RCAF Jet Accidents Few Claxton Says

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton Friday night said the number of fatal accidents among the RCAF's jet aircraft is lower than for conventional planes but the rate per 1,000 hours flown is higher.

Mr. Claxton told the Commons that he wished to correct an earlier statement that the rate was lower for jets. On checking he found the rate higher but the number of fatal accidents lower.

The RCAF's total rate for fatal accidents was lower than in the RAF or the United States Air Force, and in 1953 was lower than the previous year.

Mr. Claxton gave the information in reply to questions during Commons study of defence department estimates. He did not give the accident rate.

THREE MISSING

OTTAWA (CP)—Three of the 11 sailors who jumped ship when the cruiser Ontario left Australia in February are still missing, the navy said Friday.

Foulkes Sees Need Of Army Revision

OTTAWA (CP) — Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the chiefs of staff, said Friday the armed forces may have to revise their organization to make them less vulnerable to attack by nuclear weapons.

In a recorded interview on the CBC program "Men Behind the News," Gen. Foulkes said:

"Large bases and dumps similar to those used in the last war may be a thing of the past.

"Large concentrations of troops will have to be avoided or they may provide suitable targets for the use of atomic weapons.

"It is possible that we may have to revise our organization to enable us to be less vulnerable than we are at present.

"There is no doubt we will have to try to be more mobile and get along in the field with much less impedimenta. . . ."

Literary Authority Hector Garneau Dies

MONTREAL (CP)—Hector Garneau, 82, prominent French-Canadian literary authority and former Montreal chief librarian, died Friday at his home.

Born in Ottawa, he was the son of poet Alfred Garneau and grandson of Canadian historian Francois-Xavier Garneau.

He received a law degree from the University of Montreal in 1895 and worked for a time as assistant editor on the Montreal daily La Patrie. He helped found the now defunct daily newspaper Le Canada.

To Stand Trial

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Michael Kuzmack, 48, of Windsor, Ont., was committed Friday for trial on a charge of murder in the stabbing of Mrs. Minnie Engel, 48-year-old widow.

Liberals Meet

OTTAWA (CP)—The fifth national convention of the Young Liberal Federation will be held here May 27-29, it was announced Friday night. About 335 delegates are expected.

Recording Co-Inventor Retires In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Horace O. Merrima, co-inventor of electrical recording, has retired at the age of 66.

Mr. Merriman and Hon. Lionel Guest invented electrical recording and used the device in 1920 to recover the first ceremonies honoring Britain's Unknown Soldier. The recording, made in Westminster Abbey, is in the British Museum.

Mr. Merriman retired as engineer in charge of the section on inductive interference, part of the transport department's telecommunications division.

German Firm Opens Branch In Kitchener

TORONTO (CP) — Ardelt Industries of Canada, Ltd., a branch of Ardeltwerke G. m. b. H., of Wilhelmshaven, West Germany, will establish a plant in Kitchener, Hon. W. K. Warrender, Ontario minister of planning and development, announced today.

The parent company manufactures cranes, hoists, shovels, medium and heavy material-handling equipment, loading bridges, foundry machinery and diesel shunting locomotives, and the Canadian firm plans to make the same lines.

Two buildings of 21,750 square feet will be built on a 30-acre site for November production. A small technical staff and key workers will come from the parent plant.

The announcement says employment may reach 1,000 or more if future expansion warrants use of the entire acreage.

Edward Volckmar, a resident of Montreal for 44 years, is vice-president and managing director.

ATTRACTIVE BACKGROUND

Mr. Volckmar, speaking on behalf of Rudolf Ardelt, president of the parent firm, said:

"We chose Kitchener because it has an attractive background and great possibilities. With the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway, we believe Kitchener area, with its close proximity to the key lake ports of Toronto and Hamilton, will become one of the most important industrial districts in North America."

Mr. Warrender said Mayor Weber, civic officials and Vic McKenty, Kitchener's industrial commissioner, had done much to bring the new industry to Kitchener.

Ordered To Appear

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul Rivet, 35, of nearby Westmount Friday was ordered to appear for voluntary statement May 26 on a charge of attempted murder in the wounding of two persons during a shooting here May 15.

Judge Rene Theberge at preliminary hearing refused bail after counsel for the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp, said his clients are "mortally afraid of the accused."

Police said Mrs. Beauchamp was shot through both legs by a .22-calibre rifle bullet and Mrs. Marguerite Poirier, 44, was wounded in the foot. The shooting occurred during a visit to the Rivet home.

Bad For Fowl

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spring weather in Canada so far has been unfavorable for waterfowl as compared with other recent years the fish and wildlife service said Friday. Director John L. Farley expressed concern over the effects on the supply of ducks, geese and other waterfowl this coming winter.

Pleads Guilty To Arson, Man Jailed 30 Days

Thirty days in jail was the sentence imposed Friday afternoon on 51-year-old Gratton Harris of 239 Princess St. who pleaded guilty of setting fire to the Coronation Inn, Lakefield, last November 29.

Though pleading guilty to the arson charge, Harris said he couldn't remember setting fire to the building or making a statement afterwards to the fire marshal. He said he regained his memory about a week later in the Ontario Hospital, Kingston, where he remained for mental treatment a total of 54 days.

Harris, a metal-polisher at the CGE where he has been employed for 20 years, bought the business 16 months ago as a surety for when he retired 10 years from now. It was a family undertaking — operated by his wife, two sons, and himself when he was free at nights and on weekends.

After hearing the evidence, including that of Dr. Thomas E. Currier (a specialist in internal medicine who has made a study of psychiatry), Judge John de N. Kennedy found that Harris was in an "unbalanced state of mind" when he set fire to the building.

Harris had worked long hours at the CGE; he made the trip to and from the Coronation Inn in Lakefield after hours, and took no holidays. The death of a sister and the serious illness of a brother added to his mental depression.

This physical and mental strain caused Harris' mental unbalance, Judge Kennedy said.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

The judge indicated that there was a difference of opinion between him and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, on what the penalty should be. The judge was all for a suspended sentence; Mr. Bradshaw wanted an "exemplary" jail term.

(After Mr. Bradshaw refused to permit a suspended sentence, which he has a right to do in his office as crown attorney, a sentence of 30 days was imposed. Maximum penalty for arson under the section is 15 years imprisonment.

(Another difference of opinion was revealed in the morning when, after Dr. Currier's evidence was heard, it appeared that Harris would be remanded on bail for a week to await sentence. Mr. Bradshaw, who had previously objected to Harris going free on bail after his plea of guilty had been entered, threatened to withdraw from the case if bail was granted this time.

(Mr. Bradshaw conceded that there were legal precedents for permitting a man, awaiting sentence, to get bail after he had pleaded guilty and all the evidence was in. But he intimated that he disagreed with this legal practice.

(After hearing Mr. Bradshaw's strong objection, Judge Kennedy dropped the idea of remanding Harris on bail. He adjourned the county court till 4:30 p.m. and then sentenced Harris — the latter meanwhile remaining in custody.)

Addressing Harris, Judge Kennedy said: "I have not the power to impose a suspended sentence without the concurrence of the crown attorney, and Mr. Bradshaw . . . has decided that it is his duty not to concur in a suspended sentence . . . I would have preferred to have imposed a suspended sentence . . ."

Chief Constable Price Morris of Lakefield produced the incriminating evidence at the hearing on May 12. Photos taken in the basement of the Coronation Inn showed that matches had been placed on the smokestack of the automatic furnace to ignite a row of matches and paper leading to the wall.

A can, believed to have contained gasoline, was found tipped on its side with the cap loose. Some scrap lumber was found in the well of the cellar window.

HEAT OF SMOKESTACK

Chief Morris said that when the furnace started the heat of the smoke stack would ignite the matches, thus touching off the fire.

The blaze was discovered shortly after it started (on a Sunday night) and only $40 worth of damage was caused.

Two families lived in sub-let apartments upstairs.

Robert H. Carley, who asked for a suspended sentence for his client, produced a number of character witnesses. All of them (including Chief Morris and detective-sergeant John Stevenson) testified as to Harris' good reputation and high prestige in the community.

"There was a lot of comment that he was working too hard and there would be a breakdown of some type," detective-sergeant Stevenson said.

Dr. Carrier examined him the day after the arson attempt, and this was his opinion: "My impression was that (Mr. Harris was) a conscientious, hard working person who had perhaps done more than he was accustomed to do for the past six months or a year . . . He was a depressed person with a degree of depression that was dangerous . . . (He needed to be) in a mental institution to protect him from himself."

When asked by Judge Kennedy if, in his opinion, Harris knew what he was doing at the time he started the fire, Dr. Currier said:

"I don't think Mr. Harris' illness was of such a nature that he didn't know it was a wrong thing he was doing."

Denmark Man Wins Prize For Home Design

MONTREAL (CP) — Architect Knud Peter Harboe of Denmark was announced Friday night winner of the $5,000 award in the McGill University international competition for the Canadian home of tomorrow.

Award for the best Canadian entry went to Geoffrey E. Hacker of Winnipeg, 24-year-old native of Dagenham, Essex, England, who has been in Canada only six months.

The European award went to Gardner Ertman of Edinburgh.

The Canadian and European awards are worth $2,500 each.

Canadians receiving honorable mention, each award worth $200, are Victor Brus, Brockville, and George S. Abram and James B. Craig, Willowdale, Ont., who made a joint entry.

There were more than 1,600 contestants, and the three-man jury finally considered more than 650 designs.

Vote To Unite With Two Branches

DETROIT (AP) — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America voted unanimously Friday to unite with two other branches of that Protestant denomination. One branch broke off in a Civil War slavery dispute; the other on the issue of a state church in the 18th century. The plan must be approved by 256 presbyteries.

The Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. has 2,581,580 members concentrated in the northern states.

Those with which its general assembly voted merger are the Presbyterian Church in the United States, with 740,000 members in the South, and the United Presbyterian Church, with 220,000 members in its Pennsylvania stronghold and elsewhere.

See Continued Conflict Between McCarthy Gov't

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration appears headed for continued conflict with Senator McCarthy, despite cautions from some Republican quarters against broadening the Wisconsin Republican senator's dispute with the army.

Harold E. Stassen, foreign aid administrator, loosed a fresh attack on McCarthy Friday with an assertion that "we need less headline hunters and more Eisenhower backs for the good of America."

With what some circles here believe was White House assent, Stassen asserted that McCarthy had made a "legion of false statements" in a Senate speech Wednesday in which the senator said it was "criminal folly" to continue to give financial aid to allies who ship goods to Red China. Stassen wouldn't say if the issue was discussed in his meeting with President Eisenhower Friday.

Stassen used strong terms at a press conference despite what an influential Republican senator said was his earlier advice to the White House: Let McCarthy's row with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens run its course without unnecessarily fanning further the flame of party disunity.

MAY NEED VOTES

The Republican senator, regarded as one of Eisenhower's staunchest supporters, declined use of his name but told an interviewer of his counsel to White House officials.

"I just reminded them," he said, "that McCarthy is going to be a senator for 3½ years more, and there will be a lot of occasions around here when we may need Republican votes."

McCarthy and Eisenhower are at odds over a presidential order cutting off testimony about a high-level administration conference at which the army's dealings with McCarthy and his aides were discussed. Eisenhower issued his ban on the ground that the constitution requires separation of the executive and legislative branches of the United States government, and he said the order was aimed at keeping the televised Senate investigation of the dispute "on its rails," not at hindering it.

WON'T CRITICIZE

At Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Friday night, McCarthy said he will not criticize the president for what the senator termed "pulling down the iron curtain" over the administration discussions affecting his row with the army.

He added that if the Senate hearings into his dispute with the army continue he would like to have five newspaper men subpoenaed. He identified these as Homer Bigart, New York Herald-Tribune, columnist Joseph Alsop, Phil Potter of the Baltimore Sun and Murrey Marder and Al Friendly of the Washington Post.

McCarthy said testimony has disclosed that army counsel John Adams had discussed with these men army announcements released in connection with the current controversy.

Chiang Hoping To Have U.S. Protect Islands

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist China hopes to put under the protection of the United States 7th Fleet a chain of small islands it holds off the Communist-held mainland, sources here indicated today.

The fleet's present assignment is to guard Formosa and its satellite islands, notably the strategic Pescadores, and there is no indication it will be changed.

A report published here today said extension of the 7th Fleet's duties to guard the off-shore islands was proposed to Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson of the U.S. and to Gen. James A. Van Fleet, now on a Far East military fact - finding tour for President Eisenhower.

MANY RECENT CLASHES

There has been a series of air and sea clashes during the last week off the coast of Chekiang province, between Formosa and Shanghai. Nationalist authorities have acknowledged that the Reds have been massing land, sea and naval forces for a possible invasion, and attacks by Nationalist planes have been aimed at disrupting Communist plans.

Air force headquarters said two Nationalist F-47 propeller - type fighters clashed briefly with six Red MiG jets off Chekiang today. It had no details of the fight except that both Nationalist planes returned safely.

Non-Chinese opinion here inclines to the view that it is extremely unlikely that the U.S. will openly commit itself to defence of the off-shore bases.

Mr. Justice King found that Wilson Staples was driving at too great a speed considering the time of night, condition of the road and visibility. He estimated his speed at 35 to 45 miles an hour and "probably closer to 45 than 35."

"Had he been driving at a proper rate of speed and keeping a proper lookout he would have seen the truck sooner than he did," said the justice.

In finding Thomas Staples and Ellis each 25 per cent to blame, he said:

"Both of the defendants were negligent in stopping their motor vehicles where they did and carrying on a conversation without watching for approaching traffic."

Neither of the defendants saw Wilson Staples' headlights until just before the crash. This was a further indication of poor visibility at the time, Mr. Justice King said.

T. J. Carley, QC, was counsel for Mrs. Strong and her daughters, and Alex Elliott, QC, was counsel for Thomas Staples and Ellis.

PETER WILFORD

Peter Wilford Highest Standing

Peter Wilford, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Wilford, of Lakefield, graduated with first class honors and the highest standing in mathematics, from Queen's University, today.

In the honor bracket throughout his course at the university, he was chosen, with two other students, to compete in the Putman mathematical contest open to all Canadian and American universities; he was awarded a medal for mathematical achievements, and came second in the Putman contest.

Peter Wilford received his primary education in Lindsay, spent seven years at Grove school, and three more at the Lakefield High School. Due to his high standard at Queen's, he has been offered the federal government's MA course in meteorology and wil begin these studies June 1.

Rhee Renews Offer To Send Troops

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's President Synghman Rhee today renewed his offer to send troops to Indo-China and declared that "we must take to deeds, not words" to halt Communist aggression in southeast Asia.

"This year is undoubtedly the year of decisive war," he added.

Rhee also blasted the Geneva conference now under way as an "Asian Munich."

Rhee spoke in the wake of the elections for the South Korean National Assembly, in which his Liberal party won control but failed to gain enough strength to put through an amendment giving him a third term.

The voters elected 109 of Rhee's Liberals, far short of the two-thirds majority in the 203-member legislature needed for the amendment. However, it is enough for a working majority on domestic bills.

First Aid Team Presented With Cups

The Peterborough Bell Telephone first-aid team was presented with two championship cups, representing the Central and Western Ontario division competitions, at the Bell-St. John Ambulance banquet in Toronto, Friday.

Competitions, entered for the second time by the Peterborough team, were held in the early part of this year with the local team winning two of the three divisional championships. They lost by a matter of six points to the Montreal Bell construction team in the eastern division.

Members of the team: Capt., Joe Pollack, Fred Garside, Jerry Ackford, Les Sage, Bill Hutchins, John McDonald, and coach, Ray Cox, received miniature cups and cash awards in addition to the two large championship cups.

Six Miners Killed

BERLIN (AP)—Six miners were killed and 18 seriously injured when a pit in a Saxon uranium mine caved in, a West Berlin information service reported today. The accident took place near the Czechoslovak frontier May 10.

48 Russians Held Up 5 Hours On Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP) A party of 48 men, women and children from the Russian embassy in Canberra came ashore here today after being held up five hours in the British liner New Australia.

The delay was caused by the Russians, who objected to interrogation aboard the liner.

The Russian ambassador, Nikolai Generalov, claimed that his party had already been through interrogation procedure at Canberra.

But a British official explained that the delay was due to "certain misunderstandings regarding immigration."

ON WAY HOME

The Russians are on their way home to Moscow. They were recalled when diplomatic relations between Australia and Russia were broken off recently after Vladimir Petrov, former Russian embassy official in Canberra, was granted political asylum in Australia.

Strict security precautions were put into force for the Russians' arrival.

Detectives checked the credentials of everyone in the dock area.

The Russian group will probably continue the journey home in the Soviet liner Beloostrov within a few days.

Police Search 1,000 Juveniles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police searched at least 1,000 juveniles, arrested about 75 and detained a score in a special crime-prevention drive at Friday night's Coliseum track meet.

A force of 135 officers carried out the project. They checked the youths as they entered a special section for young people, during the meet and as they left.

The 75 taken to police stations were carrying weapons such as BB pistols, knives, clubs and, in some cases, narcotics, officers said. They were booked on an assortment of charges, including lack of parental supervision.

Pope Pius Names Church Chancellor

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Pius today named Celso Cardinal Constantini as chancellor of the Holy Roman Church, a high Vatican post which has been vacant for more than 12 years.

The nomination came as a surprise, as in his 15-year reign Pope Pius has allowed many chief posts in the Vatican to fall vacant. It was thought his object was to pave the way for reforming the central government of the church in order to simplify administration.

The chancellor's post, believed to have been instituted in 370, was once of great importance, but in recent years it declined to supervising the issuing of papal bulls for the establishment of new dioceses and chapters.

May Subdivide Part Of Lakefield Park

The possible subdivision of the north western section of Lakefield park was discussed by the village council, at its meeting. Subdividing included the laying out of roads and the possible sale of lots. The area occupied by Kingdon's mill might also be included in the subdivision. Another trend of thought was the the entire park be turned into a recreation area.

Council approved the authorization of a public vote, for all those qualified to vote on money by-laws, concerning the construction of a pumping and filtration station. Total cost was estimated at $35,000. Debentures, bearing interest rates of 4½ per cent per annum, would be issued, and repayed in 20 annual installments of $2,690.67. The water main would be built under the local improvement act.

MARMORA CHAPTER

MARMORA (ENS)— Marmora chapter IODE met in the Masonic Hall. The regent Mrs. J. Aitchison presided.

After the prayer of the order had been recited, the flag was brought forward by the standard bearer, Mrs. F. R. Wells.

Mrs. M. Borland reported four quilts had been completed. She asked for pyjamas and woollen blocks for quilts to be made for boxes for Korea.

Knitting convener Mrs. W. Tupper reported wool on hand for knitting garments. The flower gift report was given by Mrs. C. R. Whittemore. Mrs. G. Jarvis, convener for the the Empire tea and bake sale, reported arrangements had been completed.

Mrs. J. R. Reynolds, hostess convener, said cups, saucers and towels were needed for the IODE kitchen. Mrs. J. M. Brownlie, membership convener, presented a new member for enrolment.

Mrs. Charles Brady read the educational report from the annual meeting in Hamilton and spoke on proposed plans for future educational work resulting from consultation of the Chaptre's educational committee with the Marmora Hight School staff.

Mrs. J. R. Reynolds was appointed convener for the piano recital by pupils of Mrs. G. H. Rennie early in June.

The IODE will hold a dance in June.

Empire study was taken by Miss Hilda Henderson.

The flag was brought forward and the national anthem was sung.

"BROTHER JEEP"—The new aluminum "Aero Jeep" stands next to the famous standard jeep at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland. It weighs 1,500 pounds, about 1,200 pounds lighter than its "older brother," and can easily be airlifted by helicopter or air transport. The featherweight vehicle is 100 inches long, 60 inches wide and 65 inches high, and has 85 per cent interchangability of parts, according to the manufacturer.

Says Frost Government Just Going Through Inquiry Motions

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said today that in its highway probe the government of Premier Frost "is going through the motions of routing out an abuse of public funds when in reality its very existence depends on that abuse."

In an address to the opening session of the Ontario CCF convention, he challenged Premier Frost to deny this, adding, "Let Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver deny it too, for the last Liberal regime in Ontario produced its crop of millionaire contractors just as the Conservatives have."

Both of the older parties had received election funds from these contractors, he charged.

Mr. MacDonald said he would like to believe that the people of Ontario are really incensed by the highway scandals.

But the public attitude is that this is just another case of "dirty politics," he said.

"Our great need is to recapture that sense of righteous indignation which made the life and work of J. S. Woodsworth (founder of the CCF) a searing, cleansing force in the life of this nation."

SAYS LIBERALS WEARY

The CCF is the only alternative to the Frost government; the Liberals are weary in leadership and bankrupt in policy, he said.

In his 15-minute speech the CCF leader also charged that because the goverment is unwilling to channel sufficient of Ontario's wealth to meet the basic needs of the people the hospitals are staggering under a $24,000,000 deficit.

The housing program for the lower and middle income brackets was virtually non-existent, he said.

The white paper on forestry recently tabled in the legislature "should be edged in black, for it told a tragic story." Without the immediate establishment of a sustained yield policy the lumber industry would be reduced to insignificant proportions within a few years.

Average Cost Down This Year

Although the cost of welfare in Peterborough was higher last month than in April a year ago, it did not increase in proportion to the number of people on the relief roll.

Total cost of welfare last month was $4,868.86, compared with $4,390.09 in April, 1953. But assistance was given to 270 people last month, compared with only 221 in the same month last year, so that the per capita assistance cost only $18.03 last month, compared with $19.86 in April, 1953.

The 270 who received assistance last month consisted of 59 heads of families, 149 dependants, seven single men and 55 single women.

The $4,868.86 was made up of $2,784.95 for food, $904.49 for fuel, $108.50 for clothing, $12 for medicine, $67 for household sundries, $760.92 for shelter, and $231 for doctors.

Expenses for hospital, nursing home, and sanitorium aftercare and funerals totalled $7,532.93. Administration expenses were $897.70, making last month's total expenditures $13,299.49.

The report of the city's welfare administrator A. G. Metheral indicated that the department was staying within its budget so far his year. With a total appropriation of $46,000 for the year, the department spent a total of $15,385.30 during the first four months of the year.

Of this amount, the cost of relief was $22,426.34, while administration cost $2,966.58, making a total cost of $25,239.92, of which the province paid $10,007.62, making the city's share $15,385.30.

During April, 10 applications for relief were granted and assistance was discontinued in 17 cases. Forty investigations were made into welfare cases.

Twenty persons were admitted to hospital as Peterborough residents; 34 hospital investigations were made, and nine applications for hospitalization were refused.

MP Doesn't Agree With Claxton Report

OTTAWA (CP) — Maj. Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) said Friday night in the Commons he disagrees with Defence Minister Claxton that Canada makes public more information on defence than other countries.

"Does the minister of national defence expect us to swallow that" he asked in the Commons.

"Yes," replied Defence Minister Claxton.

Maj. Fulton said he does not agree that Parliament is given more information on defence than the United States Congress. Members did not have the opportunity to question the same type of witnesses and compel them to reply to questions.

Britain Releases Another Nazi Criminal

BONN, Germany (AP)—Britain today released another German war criminal, reducing to 66 the number held in the prison at Werl.

Heinrich Peters, who was serving a 15-year term, was freed on recommendation of the joint British-German board which is reviewing the sentences of Werl prisoners.

Peters was convicted in 1947 for maltreatment and killing of Allied nationals interned at the Ravensbruck concentration camp.

CHECK WITH OUTBOARD CO.

Union officials of Local 5009, USWA (CIO-CCL) will confer early next week with the company to see what policy is to be adopted regarding layoffs and hours of work. On Thursday the production workers voted in favor of a five-day week alternating with a three-day week rather than have any more layoffs. But a further cutback in production has upset this plan, and a new arangement must be worked out between the union and the company.

Graham Says Britons Hungry For Religion

LONDON (Reuters) — American evangelist Billy Graham speaking at one of the last of his packed "back to church" meetings here Friday night, said there is a hunger in the hearts of people all over Britain for something more than a show.

Graham, who has addressed audiences totalling 1,336,500 in his three months of mass meetings here, said people had come to the crusade because the man in the street must turn somewhere when intellectual leaders say the world's problems are beyond them.

"Some will turn to pleasure, or drunkenness or immorality," he said, "but thousands will turn to God."

He stood with head bowed as the audience joined the choir in singing "And Can It Be?" The hymn was sung by supporters who greeted him when he reached Waterloo station here last February.

Since then he has seen 28,209 step forward to make their "Decision for Christ" at the end of his emotion-filled meetings.

Hundreds more went forward Friday night with their decision. They had lined up since early afternoon for the last meeting at Harringay Sports Arena, home of the crusade since it began in March. Today nearly 200,000 Britons are expected to hear the blonde preacher at the last two mass meetings of his crusade.

Will Present Plight At Once

HEARST, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell has told the Hearst and district chamber of commerce that he will present the economic plight of this community before the cabinet at Queen's Park immediately. He said that a decision may be expected early next week.

In a letter to Pat Philbin, President of the chamber, Mr. Gemmell acknowledged a brief prepared by the chamber containing the breakdown of the cost of producing a cord of rough pulpwood in this area. The minister termed the breakdown fair and realistic.

The chamber said prices offered in view of present production costs are ridiculous.

Motorist Charged Impaired Driving

Driving a car while his license was under suspension, Leonard La Fonte, 548 Harvey St., was involved in a two-car collision at Stewart St. and Parkhill Rd. on Friday afternoon. Driver of the other vehicle was Allan Heideman of Bridgenorth.

La Fonte appeared before James Fleming, J.P., in the police court today and was charged with driving while impaired. He was remanded on $1,000 bail, with two $500 sureties, to appear on Tuesday.

Constables Arthur Beardsmore and Robert Menzies investigated the collision.

Richards To Ride Queen's Horse Landau

SALISBURY, England (AP) — Sir Gordon Richards will ride the Queen's horse, Landau, in the Derby June 2.

Sir Gordon left the Salisbury Infirmary today. He was taken there after a fall Wednesday and there was much doubt whether he would recover from a concussion in time for the race. Queen Elizabeth had sent her wishes he would recover so as to be able to ride.

Today, Landau's trainer, Noel Murless, said Richards would ride.

4 Airmen Rescued After Sea Crash

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — Four United States Navy airmen rescued from the ocean after their seaplane crashed 400 miles northeast of Oahu said Friday night that there is little chance that the four others in the crew survived.

A tank - landing ship picked the survivors from life rafts. The navy said five life rafts were recovered. Three had survivors.

MISS JUNE DICKSON

Flies To Marry Soldier-Fiance In Germany

KEENE — (ENS)— Miss June Leona Dickson will fly from Malton airport next Saturday to meet her fiance, Pte. Arthur George Steed, at Dusseldorf, Germany, where their wedding will take place the following day.

Miss Dickson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickson, Keene ,and Pte. Steed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Steed, R.R. 1, Keene, Pte. Steed was posted for duty with the Canadian Army in Germany almost a year ago and expects to be stationed there another year and a half.

Miss Dickson will fly by TCA from Malton airport to Montreal, leaving at 12.35 p.m. Tuesday. Her plane from Montreal will leave at 6:15 p.m. and will arrive at Dusseldorf at 2.10 p.m. Wednesday when the wedding is scheduled to take place.

The romance has not been without mishaps. Three months ago, Pte. Steed mailed their diamond engagement ring from Germany, but it has never arrived. Efforts are being made to trace the ring through postal authorities.

Miss Dickson has been employed by the Western Clock Co. for the past year.

In honor of her approaching marriage, a farewell shower was held in Keene township hall April 23. Her associaties at the Western Clock Co. presented her with an overnight bag and entertained at a dinner at the McGillis hotel on May 12. Miss Marie Foley held a shower at her home in Keene May 14, to which twenty friends were invited.

Birthday Greetings Go From Destroyer

OTTAWA (CP) — A birthday greeting to the Queen from Governor-General Vincent Massey will be sent from the destroyer Sioux.

The governor-general is visiting British Columbia and now is en route from Kitimat to Vancouver aboard the Sioux. The warship is scheduled to arrive at Vancouver Sunday morning.

Text of the message reads:

"I beg to send you, madame, with my humble duty, loyal and devoted good wishes from the people of Canada for the day on which we celebrate your majesty's birthday—Vincent Massey."

Prime Minister St. Laurent will also send a cable of congratulations and good wishes to the Queen.

Adult Education Conference To Open

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The central regional conference on adult education opens Tuesday at the University of Western Ontario here. The regional conference is the forerunner of a national conference beginning two days later with education leaders from many parts of Canada expected to attend.

Dr. S. F. Maine, director of the university's summer school and extension department, will be chairman of the session. On opening day, Dr. E. A. Corbett, of the Canadian Association for Adult Education will outline conference plans.

Second Person On Motorcycle Awarded $1,288

AC1 William Foster, 20, an aero-engine mechanic stationed at Claresholm, Alberta, but formerly a Peterborough resident, on Friday received a Supreme Court settlement of $1,288 in a damage action over a motorcycle smashup on May 16, 1952.

AC Foster was knocked unconscious, suffered concussion and sustained injuries to his pelvis and one leg after being thrown from his motorcycle onto the driveway of the Hitching Post on Highway 28.

His companion, 19 - year - old Nancy Parnell of 318 Euclid Ave., who was riding on the pilion seat of the motorcycle, was also thrown off and seriously injured. In a trial earlier this week she received a Supreme Court award of $3,706.

The accident in which the couple were injured was about 11:30 p.m. when a westbound car driven by the defendant, Donald D. Sproule of 1308 Monaghan Rd., started to make a left turn into the Hitching Post. Apparently he didn't see Foster's motorcycle or a second motorcycle driven by Terry Heard, 39 Stewart Place, also eastbound.

To avoid a head-on collision Foster was forced to steer into the ditch and he and Miss Parnell were tossed from their motorcycle onto the gravel driveway. Both were knocked unconscious and had to be taken to hospital.

(As AC Foster is under 21 years the suit had to be started by his "next friend," his father, Darcy Foster of Burleigh Falls.)

The minutes of settlement were endorsed by Mr. Justice King at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court.

Explosion Sets Building Ablaze

HAMILTON (CP)—An explosion, believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion early this morning, set ablaze the building of the International Filler Company.

The property is on the premises of the Consumer's Lumber Company and manufactures wood flour for linoleum from wood shavings and sawdust.

An official said that while the fire was confined to just part of the steel building, damage would probably run as high as $25,000.

Request Permission To Increase Fares

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Passenger Association this week asked the board of transport commissioners for permission for an immediate and subsequent increase in commuter train fares.

He did not say how much of an increase was asked but indicated it was "considerable" and varied with the type of service offered. The association filed its petition with the board a week ago.

Montreal, Toronto, Halifax and all other cities having commuter train service would be affected. The association said rising costs made the application necessary.

Protest Boarding Of Fishing Vessel

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—Italy today protested to Yugoslavia against the "illegal" boarding by Yugoslav marines of an Italian fishing vessel in the Adriatic outside Yugoslav territorial waters Thursday.

The vessel, the Guilio Cesare, was about 15 miles off the Yugoslav coast and "well outside Yugoslav waters," he added.

It was expected that four armed Yugoslav marines who as a result of the incident fell into Italian hands would be repatriated to Yugoslavia.

U.K. Confidence Men Experts

LONDON (Reuters) — British confidence men are experts at persuading people to part with their money, but not particularly original, the police say.

They believe in sticking to the old and tried tricks, which still find plenty of victims.

In this country, where the way you speak English tells a great deal about your social background and education, the practised confidence man takes good care to acquire an upper middle class accent—if he was not born with one.

With the addition of good clothes, a bogus or genuine record as an army officer, he is well on the way to so impressing middle-aged widows or spinsters that they are overjoyed when he eventually "agrees" to invest their savings for them in stock exchange shares which he "knows" are due to go up.

One trick being played with success is concerned with horse racing. The swindlers set up what appears to be a genuine bookmaker's office complete with clerks and lists of odds. One of the gang pretends to be the bookmaker while another goes out in search of a victim.

VICTIM SUPPLIES CASH

Having found him, he talks about the good racing tips he has and shows some small winnings, suggesting that the victim join a small betting syndicate. One day, he announces that he has put up a really big bet of several hundred pounds and the partners have won a great deal of money. He suggests that the victim should accompany him to the bookmaker while he collects the winnings.

Before the supposed bookmaker pays out the winnings, he wants to be sure that the stake money really exists and could have been paid to him if the horse had lost. British bookmakers work on the credit system.

The swindler frantically produces a pile of counterfeit pound notes. But it is not enough.

The victim is then persuaded to hurry off to his bank and draw out several hundred pounds as his share in the bet.

He hands them over to his "friend"—only to find next day that "friend," bookmaker, clerks, equipment, and his money have all vanished.

DIRT UNDER CARPET

A simple trick which has duped many housewives is for a salesman to call at the door offering to sell "a genuine Persian carpet" at an extremely low price. He suggests that the woman should keep it for a night so that she can see how it looks, or ask her husband if he approves, and he will call to collect it next day.

When he has gone his partner, on some pretext or other, calls on the housewife. He sees the carpet, admires it greatly, and offers to buy it at double the price the salesman has asked. He tells her that he is in the carpet business and will buy more of the same if she can obtain them.

Next day, the original salesman returns. The housewife buys the carpet and several others as well, thinking that she is about to make a big profit. Too late, she realizes she is stuck with a lot of low quality carpets.

Urges County System Eliminatted Soon

DUNDAS (CP)—The county system in Ontario should be eliminated as soon as possible, since the trend towards municipal operation is stripping counties of industrial assessment, W. C. Woods, a former reeve of Preston, said Friday.

Mr. Woods, addressing the first annual conference of the town and village section of the Ontario Municipal Association criticized the provincial government for denying counties relief.

The setting up of a metropolitan area in York county has delivered a heavy financial blow to the remaining York municipalities, Mr. Woods said.

"If the metropolitan system is the answer, as government officials indicate, then I suggest that the countires of Essex, Middlesex, Welland, Wentworth, Waterloo, Ontario, Brant, Carleton and others will find themselves virtually stripped of all industrial assessment."

The convention adopted a resolution asking all municipalities within a county to share in the cost of suburban and county roads on an equalized assessment basis. The same mill rate should be assessed against all municipalities for these road costs.

Flu Outbreak

OTTAWA (CP)—A disease believed to be influenza has spread among Eskimos and Indians near an isolated army outpost in northwestern Manitoba. However, army men on the spot think the outbreak has been brought under control. An army spokesman said Friday night penicillin injections have been given to about 22 natives.

Food Store Operators Vote 5 To 1 To Sell Beer and Wine In Stores

TORONTO (CP) — The Retail Merchants' Association reported Friday that 3,000 of Ontario's independent food store operators have voted five to one in favor of selling beer and wines by the bottle in their stores.

The 3,000 are the first of Ontario's 9,000 independent operators to be polled by the association.

R. T. Barnes, secretary-treasurer of the association, said the results of the survey will be presented at the annual meeting in Toronto Oct. 17-19. He said such a system of selling beer and wines is practised in Quebec and most of the United States.

A postscript on the ballot sent to the grocers pointed out the advantage of voting in favor of the sales. It reads:

"Even if you do not intend to sell beer or wine, your store is worth thousands more when, and if, you want to sell your business."

CHURCH OPPOSED

Dr. James Mutchmor, secretary, board of evangelism and social service of the United Church of Canada, commenting on the move, said: "We don't want the combination of the decent bread business and the bad beer business."

Mr. Barnes said the move will help the small independent grocers more than the large supermarkets, particularly if the Quebec system is adopted and beer licenses are issued only one to a company.

"Talk of selling beer in grocery stores has been brewing for some time," he said.

Some Toronto grocers said the time "may not be ripe" for such a drastic change.

"There are still too many people opposed to beer. We might offend more people than we would please," said one city grocer.

Moulton College To Be Closed

TORONTO (CP)—Moulton College, Toronto's second oldest private school for girls and a city landmark in central Toronto for 66 years, will suspend operations at the end of this school year, it was announced Friday.

In a statement, McMaster University president G. P. Gilmour said the decision was reached reluctantly but unanimously by the university's board of governors. Moulton College has been operated as a department of McMaster since 1888.

Principal reason for the school's closing was lack of funds, the president said. The school, first known as Moulton Ladies' College, was founded in 1888 in the Victorian mansion it still occupies. The home was donated to McMaster University by Mrs. William McMaster, the widow of the university's founder, to be turned into a school for girls of all denominations.

Bishop Strachan School is Toronto's oldest private school for girls.

Rev. F. J. Rishea

The funeral for the Rev. Father Francis Leo Rishea, who died suddenly at his residence in Wooler, Tuesday, was held at Sacred Heart church Friday morning.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated at 10 a.m. by the Very Rev. J. J. Garvey. The deacon of the mass was the Rev. W. C. McCarney and the subdeacon was the Rev. J. V. Masterson.

The honorary pallbearers were the Rev. C. Carroll, the Rev. K. Malane, the Rev. G. Wolff, the Rev. G. Walsh, the Rev. J. Collins, and the Rev. J. Maloney.

The active pallbearers were the Rev. J. O'Sullivan, the Rev. J. Hickey, the Rev. J. Greenan, the Rev. J. Maskey, the Rev. C. O'Donogue and the Rev. J. O'Dette.

The Very Rev. V. J. Corkery said the graveside prayers.

Burial was in the priests' plot, St. Peter's cemetery.

Theaten Islands

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Reds with Russian materiel help are massing ships, troops and planes opposite the Nationalists' Tachen islands, Chiang Kai-shek's chief of staff said Friday. Gen. Chou Chin-jou expressed confidence, however, that these islands some 220 miles north of Formosa can withstand any attack.

Committed In Death

OTTAWA (CP)—Harold Scharf, 38, of Ottawa, Friday was committed to stand trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death April 14 of his neighbor, Roland Dean, 37. Scharf was charged following Dean's death after a scuffle.

Writer Recalls Favorite TV Memories

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Day by day the television tube pours forth its unending stream of humdrum entertainment. But there are moments — all too rare, I'm afraid—when the screen comes alive with unforgettable scenes. Recently I was meandering through my favorite TV memories, and these came to mind:

The fire on the floor of the 1952 Democratic national convention, a startling climax to an already dramatic scene. The "loyalty oath" issue was being debated hotly when the incident occurred. A quick-witted delegate grabbed a mike and prevented panic.

The first guest appearance of Martin and Lewis with Milton Berle. "Mr. Television" found his match in the brand-new young comics. It was tops for sheer hilarity.

Lucille Ball's battle with the assembly line in a candy factory. It was one of the first in the "I Love Lucy" series, and hasn't been equalled.

THOMSON'S PENNANT HOMER

Bobby Thomson's homer in the ninth inning, winning the 1951 pennant for the Giants over the Dodgers. A real Frank Merriwell finish.

The exchange between Dean Acheson and the Russian delegate at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco. There was added drama in the realization that history was being watched from coast to coast for the time time. It was the first transcontinental telecast.

The funeral train sequence in the Abraham Lincoln series on "Omnibus." It captured the era and the republic's sorrow for the martyred president.

The Ethel Merman-Mary Martin duet on the Ford 50th anniversary show. Such spontaneous and joyful signing would make anybody's "best" list.

KATHY FISCUS TRAGEDY

The attempted rescue of Kathy Fiscus, the little girl who fell down a pipe. In the early days of local telecasting, it electrified viewers, who sat before their sets for hours until the tragic ending.

The Ethel Merman-Frank Sinatra duet in "Anything goes." The show topped any previous effort in TV musical comedy.

Rocky Marciano's defeat of Joe Louis, 1951. It ended the Brown Bomber's ring career and marked the finish of a great era in boxing.

Bing Crosby's ingratiating manner on the Olympic Games telethon with Bob Hope.

Charge Parents Ask $2,000 For Child

TORONTO (CP)—The unmarried Toronto parents of a 1½-year-old boy they once placed for adoption were accused in court Friday of demanding $2,000 or the return of the child.

In a sworn statement before the Supreme Court of Ontario, Mrs. Pauline Goldenburg, the mother's landlady and intermediary in the adoption case between the parents and a Detroit couple, said the parents advised her they wanted the baby back unless they received $2,000.

A Detroit woman started adoption proceedings in November. She has possession of the baby and is living in Toronto until the case is decided. The Detroit couple was not identified.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow, hearing the parents' application for return of the baby, adjourned the hearing to June 8.

Rail Union Committee Finishes Deliberations

MONTREAL (CP)—The negotiating committee representing 17 non-operating unions in their dispute with the railways completed deliberations Friday and there were some indications the representatives would return to their homes to consult the membership.

Frank Hall, committee chairman, said no statement would be made until possibly next Wednesday or Thursday.

420 Students Will Graduate

KINGSTON (CP)—Four hundred and twenty students will graduate from Queen's University today, with 170 applied science graduates receiving their degree at the morning convocation and 250 arts graduates in the afternoon.

Honorary degrees of doctors of laws will be awarded in the morning to Alex A. MacRae of Ottawa and Dr. John F. Thompson of New York, chairman of the board of International Nickel Company.

Honorary degrees of doctors of divinity at the arts convocation will be awarded to Rt. Rev. K. C. Evans, Anglican Bishop of Kingston, and Rev. John MacKay of Quebec City. Degrees of doctors of laws will be conferred on L. S. Beattie, superintendent of secondary education for Ontario; C. H. Bland of Ottawa, chairman of the civil service commission; Mr. Justice I.C. Rand, of the Supreme Court of Canada, and Graham F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada.

Trade Unionists Urge Relief For Jobless

TORONTO (CP)—A conference of Ontario trade unionists Friday urged immediate provincial government action to provide "adequate" relief for the unemployed and planning by federal authorities to end unemployment.

The conference, under the sponsorship of the Ontario CCF trade union committee, endorsed a resolution charging that unemployed workers and their families are either becoming charges of the municipalities or have to depend on charity.

The resolution urged planning to eliminate seasonal unemployment, a program of public investment and public works, low-cost and low-rental housing, increased tax exemptions and amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Would Threaten Trade

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Australia told the United States Friday that plans to sell the American dairy surpluses abroad would threaten to disrupt world trade.

Begin Remedial Program To Preserve Niagara Beauty

TORONTO (CP) — A four-year, $17,500,000 remedial works program to preserve and enhance the beauty of Niagara Falls will start officially June 2 with two "ground-breaking" ceremonies, Ontario Hydro officials said Friday.

The first of the international ceremonies will take place at 10:20 a.m. on the north flank of Goat island on the American side of the Niagara river.

Roger B. McWhorter, acting chairman of the United States section of the International Joint Commission, will detonate a charge of dynamite to start excavation work in the area.

General A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the IJC, will drive a marker 10 minutes later to signal the beginning of construction on the Canadian side.

JOINT CEREMONY

Later Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders will preside at a joint ceremony where Canadian Resources Minister Jean Lesage and Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis Jr., chief of engineers, U.S. Army, will address 200 civic leaders from both nations.

The remedial works program, to be carried out in accordance with the Niagara Diversion Treaty of 1950 between Canada and the United States will be handled by the Ontario Hydro and the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army.

A control dam will be built on the Canadian side of the Niagara river, with excavations and fills at prescribed points, to distribute the waters to form an unbroken crestline on the falls. The project will also provide more water for power generation at peak periods.

Provinces Offered U.S. Polio Vaccine

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial health departments have been offered the use of a poliomyelitis vaccine from the United States polio foundation, Health Minister Martin said Friday.

He told the Commons in reply to a question that the vaccine, tested extensively in the U.S., has been offered to Canada in limited quanity for experiment.

However, he said, only one provincial government is giving consideration to accepting the U.S. foundation's offer. He said no conclusions should be drawn from this fact.

It was learned that the Alberta government is considering the offer.

Wealthy Boards Grabbing Best Teachers

DUNDAS, Ont. (CP) — School boards in industrially-rich areas are taking teachers away from other boards by offering them salary increases as high as $1,500 a year, the annual meeting of the town and village section of the Ontario Municipal Association was told here Friday.

William Forbes, chairman of the Whitby public school board, addressed 60 delegates in this town near Hamilton.

He said the teachers cannot be blamed for accepting such offers but "the whole situation is causing discontent among all other teachers who remain."

POSITION CHANGES

The provincial government's original plan to bear 50 per cent of the over-all cost of education has deteriorated to the point where only 34 per cent of the cost was paid by the province in 1953, he said.

This proportion would become increasingly less as teachers' salaries increased, since, for grant purposes, the department of education did not recognize salaries of more than $2,500. Few teachers were getting this low figure today.

The meeting endorsed a resolution asking the provincial government to raise the maximum figure on which grants are paid to $4,500 from $2,500.

8 Elderly Ladies Weekend Guests Of Kate Aitken

There'll be a real Victoria Day celebration over May 24th weekend, when Mrs. Kate Aitken will be hostess at her Spa to eight old-age pensioners, all women over 80 who well remember the days of good Queen Victoria.

Over the 24th, these eight elderly ladies will be Queens for the weekend. Instead of their one lonely room in Toronto where they subsist as best they can on $40 a month old-age pension, they'll be given the 54-hour beauty treatment that regular paying guests at the Spa receive from such experts as Peter, the coiffeur; Aro and Helmi, the masseuses; and Louise, the ballet instructress. In fact, they'll receive the full beauty treatment right from a complete medical examination to breakfast in bed and a backrub before they go to sleep. They'll stroll by the burbling stream to pick late violets or gossip 'round the terrace in the soft May sunshine. Then to climax their gala weekend, they'll put on a Victorian fashion show for the entertainment of themselves and a few friends.

The idea for this special Victoria Day weekend arose from the many letters Mrs. Aitken receives from lonely pensioners who can't afford a few days in the country.

Mrs. Harry Kinsella Wins May Queen Title At Ball

Mrs. Harry Kinsella was the lucky lady in the draw for the May Queen at the May Day Ball Friday evening.

Besides the honor of having a golden crown resting on her head and a train length robe of rich red velvet edged with ermine about her shoulders, Mrs. Kinsella received a $50. clothing certificate and a $10. footwear certificate and was presented with a sheaf of beautiful red roses.

Her husband too was lucky. He received a $10. clothing voucher.

The May Day Ball and crowning of a May Queen has in previous years been sponsored by Club 72 of the CGE. However, recent changes at the plant scattered the clubs' members to various departments, so the project was taken up by Club 60 of the Machine Shop.

Machine Shop is a big department and many of the employees were in attendance at the dance, with other CGE-ers and some outsiders making up the balance of the crowd of nearly 400 at Club Aragon. Dress was optional but all but a very few of the ladies were in evening dress and wearing lovely corsages, with numerous escorts featuring carnation bouttonieres, all prepared for the event of being the draw winners.

Honored guests included shop manager Mr. Arthur L. Malby and Mrs. Malby, Alderman and Mrs. Stan McBride, Colonel J. E. Dewart, acting mayor and Mrs. Dewart and the Honorable H. R. Scott and Mrs. Scott. Mr. Dewart and Mr. Scott assisted with the presentations to the Queen.

Club president Jerry Bradley, program chairman Evans Hatherley, Joe Stewart and Roger Wilson took part in the draw and the crowning ceremoney. Several lucky couples at the dance were winners of spot prizes during the evening.

Those signing the guests register were:

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wood, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hinks, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roger, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilkie, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. BUSY LINES

Planes of Canadian air lines flew a record 65,000,000 revenue miles in 1953, nearly twice as far as in 1947.

Dorothy Franks Weds Roderick Reed

St. John's Anglican church was the scene on Friday evening of the marriage of Dorothy Lenore Franks, only daughter of Mr. Wilbert Ernest Franks and the late Mrs. Franks, to Roderick Nicholson Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick Reed, all of Peterborough. The Rev. F. G. Ongley, rector, officiated.

The altar was decorated with snapdragons and stocks. Mr. F. G. Mann presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of princess lace and nylon tulle in a dusty rose shade. Her chapel veil was of matching tulle and she carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Gwyneth Reed of Toronto was the bride's only attendant and looked lovely in a gown of powder blue with matching hat. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Jack Sackville attended the groom and ushers were Mr. John Franks and Mr. Jack Hardill.

A reception was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club and Mrs. Philip Callahan of Toronto, aunt of the bride, received. She was wearing a dress of navy crepe with white accessories. Mrs. J. F. Reed assisted, wearing a dress of soft blue crepe with matching hat. Their corsages were of sweetheart roses.

When leaving for a trip to the New England States, the bride was wearing a cashmere lime green suit and matching hat with black patent accessories and an orchid corsage.

THE ENGAGEMENT is announced of Miss June Rachael Norcross, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. Norcross of Sarnia, to Mr. Ronald Edward Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stevens of Peterborough. The wedding will take place June 19th in Bethel Pentecostal church, Sarnia.

Gift Shop Best Way To Have Fun, And Meet People

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) Note to bored women: want to see the world, meet interesting people and have a whale of a good time?

Then open an antique or gift shop, advises Roa duBord of Harbor Springs, Mich., who does business in a hen house.

Mrs. duBord is the picture of a happy woman. Summers she sells English silver, French porcelains, modern crystal and knicknacks from all over the world in her hen house (that's the name of it) 12 miles out in the country from the resort town of Harbor Springs. Winters she and her husband, Andre, do the same thing in Bel Air, Fla. In between times she roams the world, in search of the rare and the beautiful.

FUN MADE PROFITABLE

All this is not only fun, it's financially profitable, says Mrs. duBord. She says:

"There's no excuse for people to have drab, ugly things in their homes, because beautiful things are available at any price. The simple modern porcelains have real beauty because they're functional. The same is true of some contemporary furniture and crystal.

Mrs. duBord started a shop of her own in Toledo during the depression, found that people appreciated beauty when they found it, and prospered. There followed a branch shop at Harbor Springs, and another at Bel Air.

Then last year the duBords closed up the Toledo shop and the swank resort shop and moved 12 miles out to a farmhouse on a country road. The farm had a hen house, and since they did not plan to raise chickens, Roa decided this would make a wonderful shop.

Douro Native Wed In Alta.

At Camrose, Alberta, on May 15th, the wedding took place of Charles Sheehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheehan of Douro, to Madelene Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIlroy of Camrose, with the brother of the groom, the Rev. Richard Sheehan of Saskatoon officiating in St. Francis Xavier church.

A special papal blessing on the marriage was received by the couple and was read at a reception for 85 guests following the ceremony. The groom's aunt, Mrs. Daniel Sheehan of Edmonton, formerly of Douro, received with the bride's mother, as the groom's parents were not present.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a strapless gown of nylon net topped by a full length redingote of lace, a halo of satin trimmed with net and seed pearls and a chapel veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, gowned in coral, was Miss Mary Ellen McManamen and the groom was attended by the bride's brother Gerald McIlroy. Ushers were James Sheehan, cousin of the groom, and Edmond O'Connor. Mr. Jean Letourneau, who played the wedding music, was also soloist.

For her going-away costume the bride chose a navy and pink dress with matching jacket, pink topcoat, navy and natural accessories and a corsage of pink roses. After the wedding trip to the western United States, Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan will live in Edmonton at 8755 80th Avenue.

Kawartha Ladies Open Schedule

Opening field day in the ladies' section at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club was held on Thursday. It commenced with a noon luncheon and chairman Mrs. Fraser Dunfield welcomed 44 members and guests. She then held a short business meeting, announcing activities for the coming season.

Golfers played nine holes in two-ball foursomes. Winners of the low gross were Mrs. R. Miller and Mrs. A. Menzies. Low net was tied by Mrs. Ed. Riley and Mrs. R. Stuart and Mrs. Dunfield and Mrs. E. Rainsbottom. On the draw the latter couple won.

Winners on the hidden holes were Mrs. R. Williamson and Mrs. H. Hamley. Most honest golfers were Mrs. R. Gibbons and Mrs. C. Butcher.

A delightful afternoon tea convened by Mrs. Donald Clarke followed the games, and special guests from Toronto, Mrs. Ian McRae and Mrs. Roy Bogle were tea pourers.

Other guests present for tea were Mrs. Joe Sharpe, Mrs. Clarke Muir, Mrs. F. M. Sommerville and Mrs. W. G. Ovens.

Assisting Mrs. Clarke with the serving were Mrs. J. F. Haldimand, Mrs. Gord White, Mrs. Everett and Mrs. Wm. Beggs.

The prizes for the day were presented by Mrs. Dunfield.

Helped Condemned Priest To Escape Nun Flees Reds, Finds Haven In Canada

By STAN WESTALL

TORONTO (CP)—A smiling nun stood in the doorway of a neat little home in suburban Etobicoke.

Three years ago Sister Cecilia would have hidden, desperately hoping the caller was a friend.

The two years since Sister Cecilia escaped from her native Czechoslovakia, hounded by Communist police, have not erased the memories of that panic flight. She fled from a sentence of death or life imprisonment that would have been passed on her for aiding the escape of a condemned priest.

Now, on vacation with her sister here, she remembers the terror.

Sister Cecilia was born 42 years ago to a peasant farmer living near Bratislava.

"Against his wishes, I decided to go into a convent when I was 17 years old," she said. "I joined the order of the Daughters of the Most Holy Saviour, whose mother convent was in Bratislava.

BAN ON TEACHING

"For 17 years I taught the children in kindergarten. The Germans came in 1938 but did not bother us. Then the Communists came into power in 1948 and after two years of rule ordered all nuns to stop teaching. So I went to the Hospital for Sick Children in Bratislava. In April, 1951, I became an 'underground' worker.

"Father Matthew, a priest from my own village, was imprisoned by the Communists. He escaped and I gave him food and shelter until he could be smuggled across the border.

"Soon, I told myself, the police will come for you.

"They came, two days after I had assisted another priest to escape.

FLED IN DISGUUISE

"I was asleep at the hospital when a Sister shook me in terror. There were policemen outside who had come to arrest me. Disguised in a dark blue dress with white poka dots and a blue kerchief wound round my head I walked past the waiting patrol cars. I walked into four months of hiding."

For Sister Cecilia, accustomed to the quiet of convent life, the next few weeks were a nightmare as she trovelled the escape routes in a circle of fear.

At one shelter her eldest sister visited her. "For that, I now learn, she was sentenced to three and a half years imprisonment. My youngest sister was given three years—and she had done nothing." Later, they were taken from their cells and put to work on the prison farm.

In the cold November of 1951 she moved to another isolated farm and for five weeks worked at every kind of back-breaking farm labor. Then a Catholic priest, disguised as a policeman, came to see her. He was Father John, a man whose name has become a byword among refugees from communism.

CHANGE IN DESTINY

He told her she could not continue to live as a rabbit, bolting into a succession of holes.

"I had not even thought of leaving my country. I was willing to wait until good sense came to Czechoslovakia, where the people have known tyrannies throughout history. Even now I cry often when I think of the old country. I would go back tomorrow if life could be as it were before 1948.

"But I realized the truth of his argument. Once more I could enter a convent and live my life as I had chosen. So the escape was arranged.

"First I went to say farewell to my parents. My mother was very ill—only this month I learned she has died and my father was very upset.

"The next day another priest in police uniform came to see me and the plans were laid. I caught a train the following day with two priests, dressed as working men." They left the train a few stations before their booked destination and went into the woods. There they joined a party of escapees and stayed the night in a small house on the edge of a town. There were 19 of them, including two small children.

The frontier between Austria and Czechoslovakia at this point is actually the river Morava. But this is a mile beyond a tall dike about 90 miles long, patrolled by frontier guards and dogs.

MERCIFUL FOG

All one night they walked through flooded fields and icy marsh land. The night was too bright for safety and Sister Cecilia prayed for aid.

"A heavy fog came up as we approached the dike. I say today as I said then—it was a miracle.

"We crawled over the dike and down to the river bank. A rubber boat, carried by some men in the party, was inflated and we were carried across the Morava.

"It was January, 1952. At last I knew freedom."

For two years Sister Cecilia stayed in a convent of her order at Obernzell, Bavaria, recovering from the ordeal.

Irregular, scattered letters and her own experience have pieced together what has happened in Czechoslovakia since she left.

HARSH OPPRESSION

"My father, youngest sister and one of my brothers are running the farm. If they produce enough, they receive coupons for sugar and coffee. If they do not, the farm is taken into a collective system and they have to work on it for a wage that barely enables them to live."

The Sisters of her order who remained, are working in concentration camps, hospitals and collective farms. Their convents have been broken, the Croses thrown away and their books and paintings destroyed.

Now she faces a new life on this continent where two of her sisters are living as new Canadians. Sister Cecilia will go to Holy Redeemer College in California where she will help look after the students.

A REGIMENTAL DINNER DANCE with all ranks of the 50th HAA Regiment entertaining their wives and lady friends was a very pleasant event of Friday evening. Toasts to the Regiment, proposed by Major Don Metheral and responded to by Colonel Howard R. Hammell, and to the ladies, proposed by Captain Gordon Langhorne and replied to by Mrs. Harvie Ball, were given during dinner with Major Lloyd Grove, president of the regimental committee as toastmaster. The dance program afterward included several spot and novelty dances. What Every Bride Should Know

These Things Are Important In Buying Furniture:

1. QUALITY . . . creates a first and lasting impression of your good taste. It's the most economical, too, because furniture should be selected for lifetime use and satisfaction.
2. BASIC GOOD PIECES . . . enable you to plan a room around one or a few good pieces, and add more as you go along.
3. OPEN STOCK PATTERNS . . . You can buy many open stock patterns in quality furniture—like you buy sterling silver—the pieces you need now . . . and add the pieces you'll want as your living accommodations—your family—or your budget increases.
4. FRIENDLY HELP AND ADVICE . . . We try to do more than just sell you furniture—we try to sell you a home—your home that you'll love and others will admire. The entire facilities of our store are at your disposal to help you in your home decorating problems.
5. DIGNIFIED BUDGET PLANS . . . we will arrange a payment plan to meet your needs on a friendly personal basis.

FOR PARENTS ONLY

Take Time To Be Friendly Way To Banish Prejudices

By NANCY CLEAVER

In what better way can we mark May 24, Citizenship Day, in Canada than to resolve to banish race prejudice? If we fathers and mothers would really work on this important job, we could accomplish wonders. We know that no child is ever born with antagonistic feelings towards anyone else who differs from him in race. Scientists affirm that there is no such thing as instinctive prejudice. Observers at nursery schools find no antipathy, no fear or withdrawal, on the part of a little boy or girl toward another small youngster who differs from him in color.

The word prejudice is linked with the verb pre-judge or pass judgement on an individual before inquiry has been made. The old British tradition is that a man is considered innocent unless he is proven to be guilty. Any fair-minded person can see the folly of lumping a group of persons and labelling them all according to their race. It is only the ignorant and the bigoted who hold pre-conceived opinions of a person without sufficient grounds.

Last Christmas in countless Canadian schoolrooms, instead of searching for information about Christmas customs in a book, many children asked a Dutch or German or Italian child at ut Christmas in his homeland. This intermingling of children of different cultures has greatly enriched our national educational life. It has destroyed silly prejudice toward "foreigners" where parents and teachers have combined to welcome the newcomers and emphasize their commendable attributes.

WAS RESULT OF PREJUDICE

Collegiate boys and girls, when they study World War II often question their parents about the events which led up to this catastrophe. The horrible results of prejudice run wild on a national scale cannot be remembered by youngsters, but this is fresh in the memory of most parents alive today.

They can recall what happened in Germany under Hitler. The Jews were a despised minority and they became the objects of insults and persecution. They were prevented from mixing with the so-called "superior" members of the Aryan race. With fiendish cleverness, Hitler made the Jews the "Scrape-Goat," blaming all the ills of Germany in the depression years on them. The frightful climax of this evil campaign shocked the conscience of the world. The Nazi leaders even gloried in their acts of torture and cruelty towards the Jewish people. Thousands of Jews were exterminated, thousands fled to other lands. The State of Israel, which is recognized by the majority of nations, continues to be fiercely resented by the Arabs.

Perhaps recently, in your discussion of world affairs in your home, a son or daughter pointed out the Arab leaders's term "cancer" referring to the Jews' homeland. What was your re-action? Do you recall whether your comment on the Jews was a fair or a kindly one?

TAKE TIME TO BE FRIENDLY

Mark Twain once protested when he was asked to meet a stranger: "I don't want to meet him, if I meet him I'll get to know him, and if I know him I'll like him." The best way to overcome prejudice is often just to take time to be friendly toward a person of another racial group. Acquaintance so often leads to understanding and sympathy, and then to real respect and affection.

An outstanding example of the enriching influence of a Gentile-Jewish friendship was that of the famous writer, Willa Cather and the family of Yehudi Menuhin, the great violinist. Is there not some individual, or some family in your community, of another race, whom you can show some little practical act of neighbourliness? There is no better way to practice the friendliness which destroys prejudice.

Travel helps to increase understanding between individuals. If you were travelling in Europe, how much you would appreciate being entertained in the home of natives there. There is no finer method of showing a newcomer something of our Canadian way of life, than by being hospitable. Why not invite a New Canadian couple, and their children, to share a meal under your roof? Hospitality, neighbourliness to strangers in a strange land help to create a strong and unified Canada. They are the strongest known forces to conquer the disease of prejudice.

DOROTHY DIX

Youth Hopes To Prove Girl Victim Of Former Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: At 18 I feel I lack the judgment to do anything about a problem that is troubling me. I hope you can help. I've been going with Ella, who is 17, for a year. She acquired an unsavory reputation, due solely to the kind of company she kept before I met her. From the past year's experience I know her to be honest, sincere, completely trustworthy, yet people I meet are always telling me she's no good. Unless I can learn how to treat these rumors, I'm afraid I'll have to give her up, as I'm finding the situation difficult to cope with.

E. D.

NEEDS SYMPATHETIC FRIENDS

ANSWER: A bad reputation is best overcome by acquiring a good one. Living down an indiscreet past is a difficult task and one that is greatly aided by a few sympathetic friends. The trouble is that most people are extremely loath to associate, even in a minor way, with one whose character is not above reproach. Faith and loyalty are two of the finest qualities a human being can have—unfortunately they are too rare. You are quite young to act in the capacity you have chosen as champion, but if you persevere in it, you certainly can help your young lady live down the past. Her conduct now, of course, must be absolutely beyond question; her associates must be impeccable. You can help her to get into the activities she should pursue and, through the very evidence of your faith in her, communicate the same spirit to others. The responsibility of helping someone redeem herself is not to be taken lightly, but it is a rewarding task. Do try to stick to it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I offended a girl I have been datnotiecd nswer bL-tW6 -tonf ing, one whom I like very much. I'm sending her gifts almost every day. How can I restore her faith in me?

REJECTED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One sincere apology is worth all the presents you could give. Has this occurred to you? You know you're in the wrong, admit it and promise that you will not repeat the offense. Perhaps your contrition will earn a pardon; if not, at least discontinue the gift sending, which is a useless procedure.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A few years ago my husband went out with a friend one evening, telling me they were going to a meeting. For some reason or other I became suspicious, called the place where they were to go, and learned no meeting was scheduled. When I questioned my husband, he said he just wanted to get away from my nagging for an evening and he and the friend had spent a few hours bowling. I haven't been able to believe him since. I am actually distrustful if he tells me he is going to a meeting, even though he produces the printed invitation as proof. If he would only tell me the truth about the night he was out, I'd feel better.

EVA L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: What you want is for your husband to trump up a story of intrigue so you'll be able to keep up a running commentary on his baseness forever after. Keep up your present tactics of nagging, jealousy, suspicion, and one of these days he'll really give you something to worry about, or you may not have him too long.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 19 and have been divorced twice. Just before my last divorce I met a young man and fell in love with him. He said he loved me and wanted to marry me when I was free. Now that my divorce has been granted, he has cooled considerably, and I have been told that he has made several uncomplimentary remarks about me. I don't want to lose him since I do love him.

M. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can't expect love and trust from a man after you've given him every reason to consider you faithless. Your young man had very good evidence of the ease with which you, as a married woman, could be disloyal to your husband. He scarcely wants to put himself in the role of his predecessor. You must earn the respect of others before it will be given to you. Tighten up your standards if you want to win his regard or that of any other worth-while man.

Wife In Dail Husband Has Bathe Children

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Mrs. Maureen O'Carroll, 41-year-old mother of eight, today prepared to take her seat in the Dail and her husband prepared to take on the job of bathing the youngest kids.

"I told him I wouldn't mind a bit if he voted against me," the brunette legislatore said. "I told him I wouldn't blame him, because he knew that if I got elected he would have to bathe the children."

Mrs. O'Carroll was the first housewife to be elected to the Dail. She was a Labor party candidate and ran under the slogan, "A Housewife for Housewives."

DOESN'T NEGLECT FAMILY

During her vigorous campaign against a member of Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail government party, Mrs. O'Carroll was careful not to neglect her family.

"I had to get the breakfast and do the household washing," she said Thursday. "And believe me there's plenty of work with small children around."

She said her husband, John, a Dublin cabinet-maker, has been "bathing the youngsters and putting them to bed."

She has been getting up every morning at 6 a.m. to get her work and campaigning done during the last three weeks. She chatted with housewives in her constituency, and usually had "a meeting or two" to address in the evenings.

LETTER: I saw "attention M.S."...the box of cookies still stands. How will I get them to you? I gather all cookie recipe but two Oldies I can't replace:

✧ ✧ ✧

SHORTBREAD (to put through cookie press) (courtesy M. S.)

One-half lb. butter or margarine, 1-3 cup fruit sugar, 2 cups flour (salt). I measure flour two level cups, then sift and find it is just right. (Work in other ingredients with hands.) Put on floured board and shape to fit cookie press. Use the different shapes. I use colored sugars, (especially red), candies, cherries etc. to doll them up. They are the delicious melt-in-your - mouth kind.

ALMOND COOKIE

(Courtesy M. S.)

One cup shortening, 1 cup of sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup chopped almonds, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar (salt), 2½ cups flour. Mould with hands into small balls. Leave room for spreading. Put piece of cherry on top. If I want a variety I separate this dough into 2 or 3 parts. One part put in nuts with cherry. Could take some dough, roll in balls, drop in unbeaten egg whites and drop in finely ground nuts, etc.

Both kinds of these cookies kept in cookie box will be just as nice in a month's time.

M. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: You are a peach to be so generous. I'm drooling for the cookies and have written saying how to send them. I have letters from two readers—one in asking for copies of your recipes when you send them, so I will send them a copy of this release to make sure they see them.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: ... interested in lady who is fancy cookie hobbiest. . . is it possible to get some of her recipes? . . in your Perfect White Fruit Cake the quantity of milk is omitted, and is cream of tartar the only leavening agent? Some time ago I had a piece of delicious cake. . . it is what I call date-walnut bar. It has a dark layer of rich cake dough for a bsae, covered with layer of dates, then topped with an egg, sugar, nut mixture, but it all is dark and yet it had molasses in both cake and topping. It could be spices but I thought it had a molasses flavor, Didn't look like spices.

ANSWER: See recipes above sent in by M.S. The amount of milk in the Perfect White Fruit Cake that appeared here Nov. 30, 1953 is ¾ cup. Yes cream of tartar is the only leavening besides the leavening the eggs give. I think the recipe you want is:

WALNUT DREAM BARS

One-quarter cup butter or margarine, 1¼ cups sifted cake flour, 1¼ cups finely packed dark brown sugar, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups moist pitted dates (or shredded cocoanut), 1 cup chopped walnuts. With a pastry blender cut the butter into 1 cup of the flour and ¼ cup of the dark brown sugar, until mixture is of consistency of fine meal. Pat this mixture firmly into ungreased pan 8x8x2 inches, and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes. Meanwhile beat the eggs until light, adding remaining brown sugar gradually, until mixture is light and fluffy. Fold in remaining flour, sifted with baking powder. Add vanilla, dates and walnuts and mix well. Spread this over top of still-warm baked base and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. While still warm cut into 16 2-inch squares.

6—In Memoriam

BRACKENRIDGE—In loving memory of a dear husband and brother, Clayton who passed away April 22, 1953.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance will last forever.
—Ever remembered by wife Irene, Max, Elleda and family, Mary, Russ and family.

HANSON—In loving memory of a dear mother, Sarah Hanson, who passed away, May 23, 1926.
Into Thy hands, O Lord,
Till the day breaks and the shadows flee,
Yes there, up there, we'll understand.
—Remembered always, Lottie and Herb.

JOHNSON—In memory of Gerald E. Johnson who passed away, May 23, 1948.
They say time heals all sorrows
And helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss him yet.
—Ever remembered by family.

STEVENSON—In memory of a loving daughter, Mrs. John Stevenson, died May 24th, 1951.
Just when her life was brightest
Just when her years were best
She was called from this world of sorrow,
To a home of Eternal rest.
—Ever remembered by mother, dad and brother Wallace.

Millbrook Cadets Praised For Display

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Lieut. H. E. Bone, of Kingston, the officer inspecting the Millbrook High School Cadet Corps Friday morning, congratulated them on their "smart, efficient" display.

He said he had been agreeably surprised by the showing made. They were a "well-turned out, sharp corps."

The demonstrations were well planned and well carried out, and the demonstrators had been able to answer all his questions. The rifle drill demonstration had been particularly good. He commented also on the excellent spirit of the corps. The determination of each cadet to do his best showed that there was a wonderful school and community spirit.

The objective in having cadet training was not to turn the students into little soldiers but rather to produce a better type of citizen.

He had special praise for the band which he said was one of the smartest trumpet bands in the area. Bass drummer Lenore Ouelette won special comment. He said it might have seemed ungallant to harness a young lady with the big drum, but that she had done a good job.

Cadet Captain Bob Palmer was in charge with cadet lieutenant Frances Dawson of the girls' platoon second in command. Platoon commander of No. 1 platoon was Lieut. Victor Rowe, and of No. 2 platoon Lieut. Mary Eagleson. Company sergeant-major was Eldon Hunter, and platoon sergeants were Cadets Larry Argue and Jean Hubbeard. In charge of the band was Lieut. Don Kent. Others in the band were Natalie Belch, Laureen Guthrie, Ada Olan, Lenne Ouellette, George Patton, Glen Forsyth, Garnet Fallis, John Rowe and Gene Funderberg.

Lt. Done commented specially on the drum majorette, Joan Gilbert, who, he said, added color and life to the display.

The award to the best trained boy cadet went to Peter Crowley, the one for the best girl cadet to Dorothy Ball. Gary Snelgrove won the award for the best-dressed cadet on parade.

Reid Budge, chairman of the Durham area high school board, spoke in congratulation and told the cadets they were a credit to the school. G. F. Harrington, reeve of Millbrook, recalled that Millbrook cadet corps had presented the armed forces with officers in the past, and that today's cadets were of the same calibre.

Percy Hamilton, public school principal, second in command for the cadet corps, stated that most of the credit for the fine showing made belonged to Harry Williams, cadet instructor. He also announced a school holiday for the rest of the day to public as well as high school.

The map reading display was in charge of Cadet Lionel Hickey; the lesson in grenade No. 36 in charge of Cadet Company Sgt-Maj. Eldon Hunter; the rifle, C. Cpl. Peter Crowley; Bren gun, C. Lt. Victor Rowe; girls' precision squad, 2nd in command Frances Dawson; bugle band display, C. Lt. Don Kent.

At the end, after the parade downtown, the corps was treated to soft drinks, ice cream and doughnuts, served by Mrs. B. B. Dawson, president, and Mrs. M. E. Hobbs and Mrs. H. Ouellette, vice-presidents of the Home and School Association.

12 Canadians Interest In Becoming Hangmen

OTTAWA (CP) — Twelve Canadians have informed the justice department that they are interested in becoming apprentice hangmen.

Letters expressing an interest in this occupation have come to the department in the wake of testimony last May 5 before a joint parliamentary committee by Col. J. D. Conover, sheriff of York county, Toronto.

Col. Conover told an inquiry on capital and corporal punishment that there is only one man in Canada with experience as a hangman "and he is not a young man. I have been told that efforts have been made to train an assistant but so far without success."

A justice department official said Friday night that since then 12 letters have come from persons in Ontario and Alberta expressing an interest in the job.

The department replied that the proper place to apply was to the provincial attorneys-general.

Ottawa To Give $350,000 CNIB Grant

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government plans to contribute $350,000 towards the construction of a $2,000,000 building in Toronto for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The government made provision for the contribution Friday in its supplementary estimates. The grant is to be matched by the Ontario government, with the CNIB making up the rest of the money needed.

Oshawa Bus Drivers Threaten Strike Friday

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa's 50 bus drivers have threatened to strike next Friday unless the Oshawa Railway Co., a Canadian National Railways subsidiary, agrees to arbitration to settle a wages-hours dispute between the union and the company.

The decision was made Friday night at a mass meeting of members of the Oshawa Street Railway Employees Union (AFL-TLC), Local 1225.

Both company and union officials rejected a recent federal conciliation board report. The board recommended r

Delegates Reject Plan To Amalgamate

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates to the Ontario Credit Union League convention here Friday voted against a recommendation from their board of directors to amalgamate the league's central credit department with the Ontario Co-operative Credit Society.

The amalgamation proposal would have taken from the 750 delegates their control of the league's $1,000,000 central loan fund.

The convention will vote again on the amalgamation issue today when the Canadian National Railways' Employees' (Lakehead terminal) Credit Union will submit a resolution opposing amalgamation.

A credit union official said delegates will probably support the Lakehead group's recommendation and may vote to deny the executive the right to negotiate further.

The league's central credit department is a reserve fund established by league members to serve as a central loan agency for any members needing extra funds.

The $1,000,000 now on deposit with the department was gathered by placing 20 per cent of all league member profits into the fund as insurance on bad loans.

Euchre Winners

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The prize winners at the weekly euchre party sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Havelock branch of the Canadian Legion were: first, Mrs. W. T. Scott, of Campbellford; second, Mrs. Earl Greenley, Havelock; third, Mrs. W. Davies, Toronto; consolation prizes, Mrs. Lois Cassan and Thomas Cummins.

Conveners for the party were Mrs. George Brooks and Mrs. Ralph Alley.

With banderillas sticking from his back, the bull proved a test for Salcedo, making his debut as a novice fighter.

GI's In Britain Feel They're Victimized

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—During the American revolution a considerable number of Frenchmen, following Lafayette's example, came over here as volunteer fighters.

Many of these Gallic idealists, however, were sadly disillusioned by the treatment they received in frontier America. They wrote long letters of complaint back home to France, the gist of which was roughly as follows:

"What a crude and ungrateful people these Americans are! Here we have crossed an ocean to help them fight for and win their independence.

"And how do they show their appreciation? These farmer 'patriots' refuse to give us hay for our horses unless we pay in advance. The American storekeepers are all robbers—every one. As soon as they find out we are French, they immediately double the price on everything. They seem to think every Frenchman is a millionaire."

MODEERN DAY VERSION

Thousands of Americans who, more than a century and a half later, served in France during the Second World War were equally disillusioned — and on the same point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes.

This same sentiment now also seems to prevail among some American service men stationed in Great Britain. A poll of 5,000 U.S. soldiers and airmen there by a British newspaper showed that more than eight out of 10 believe shopkeepers, landlords and cab drivers are gouging them merely because they are Americans.

Taken at its face value, this poll might be viewed as indicating a serious rift between the service men and their hosts.

It is unlikely, however, that the poll really proves any such thing. Soldiers—ever since the Romans—have always been firmly convinced that, wherever stationed, the civilians take them for suckers.

Looking at the other side of the picture, it must be realized that it is difficult for a people to have foreign troops quartered among them, even though they are allies and speak roughly the same language. Britain, it has always seemed to me, meets this problem with more grace and hospitality than any other nation. One measure of this hospitality is the fact that between 1946 and 1950 American service men returned home with 35,469 British brides.

Stock Prices Move Upward In Heaviest Trading In Months

By GEORGE LINTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock prices moved upward with some of the heaviest trading in months on North America's three biggest exchanges this week.

The climbing trend that has prevailed since January on the New York, Toronto and Montreal exchanges got some small setbacks but most groups closed Friday with gains from the previous Friday.

There were plenty of theories on what caused the heavy trading.

At New York, brokers noted a growing belief among investors that the Indo-China crisis may mean increased defence spending. They said it was responsible for Friday's industrial average hitting a record high of $170.50. At the same time yesterday's market volume mounted to 2,620,000 shares, the highest daily total in more than a year.

At Toronto industrials, which have gained steadily in recent weeks, felt profit-taking Friday in the heaviest general trading in more than two months.

In general, strong industrials and lower western oils were the basis of the week's trading.

Toronto's most notable increases were made by financial institutions, many of which climbed $1 or more on the week. Foods were also strong, reflecting favorable annual reports.

METALS GAIN SLIGHTLY

Base metals were fairly actively traded, particularly in senior issues, and their index closed for the week on a half-point gain.

Golds lost ground, their index dropping a fraction of a point each session and ending more than 1¼ points lower.

In western oils, Consolidated Mic Mac countered the losing trend with a $1.30 gain. The company announced an oil discovery in Alberta early in the week...

On the week 300 stocks advanced and 277 declined. The Friday-to-Friday indexes: Industrials up .88 to 347.46, golds down 1.38 to 72.07, base metals up .56 to 149.09, and western oils down .92 to 96.06.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at $125.40, up $1.40 on the week and just 10 cents away from the record high of 1930.

Many key issues gained on the Montreal market. Friday-to-Friday averages showed banks up .3 to 39.56, utilities down .2 to 106.3, industrials up 1.9 to 205.9, combined up 1.2 to 172.7, papers up .92 to 920.09, and golds up .5 to 57.78.

Belmont WI To Care For Town Hall Grounds

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Plans were made, Thursday afternoon, at a meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute, to hold a strawberry social and Seth Parker program, June 25, at the township hall. Mrs. Alex Keene, Mrs. Donald Elmhirst, Mrs. Clarence King were appointed as an advertising committee.

The district annual meeting was announced for June 9 at Warsaw, and arrangements were made for a number of the members to attend.

Arrangements were made to have the grass cut and the trees trimmed at the township hall.

During the program, for which Mrs. R. Vansickle was convener, the president, Mrs. William Harris, gave a report of the recent convention held at Guelph. Mrs. G. Hartin, who attended an executive meeting in Peterborough, informed the Institute that floral tributes for deceased members can now be purchased in the form of the Institute crest.

Lynn Anderson, 4, entertained with two vocal solos with piano accompaniment played by her grandmother, Mrs. William Anderson.

Tea hour hostesses were Mrs. G. Hartin, Mrs. Alfred Althouse, Mrs. Donald Elmhirst, Mrs. Clarence King.

recognition." he went on to explain that in the regular churches which he approved of, they felt frustrated so they started their own churches.

One is conscious of the same thing all the time in their politics. The papers are full of their dreams for complete self-government. Their struggles and their ambitions remind one of our own Canadian history, and their craving for religious expression in revivalism is much like Canadian protestantism in Upper Canada in the early nineteenth century.

The culture, the dignity, the social and political conscience, seems to be found in the older churches. The enthusiasm and the fire seem to belong to the new. One wonders to which the future belongs.

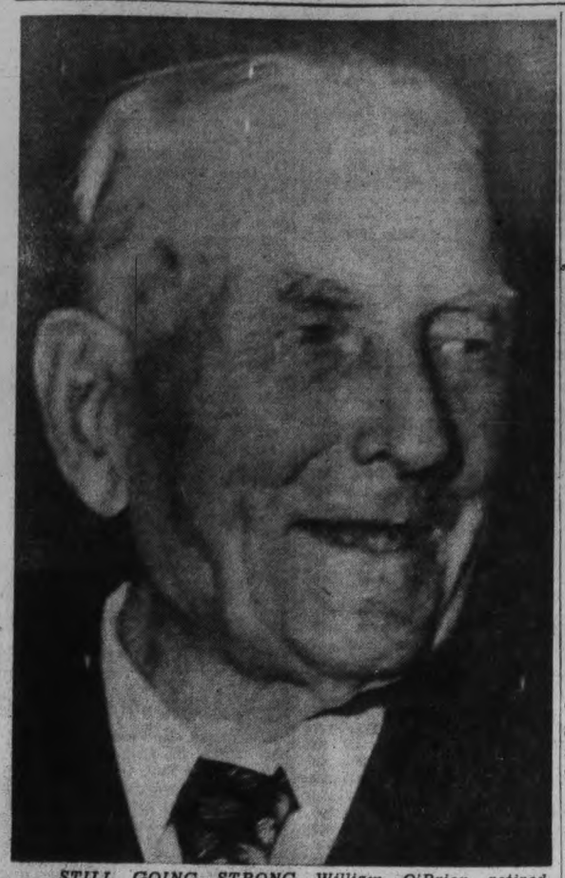
Throw Hundreds Into Fight To Stop Advance Of Fires



STILL GOING STRONG—William O'Brien retired Downeyville farmer, is still going strong, even though he's 101. Over the weekend Mr. O'Brien quietly celebrated his 101st birthday at home, visiting with friends and relatives. He's still very active about the house and visiting with neighbors. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Downeyville Man Marks His 101st Birthday, Still Remains Quite Active

William O'Brien's "secret" for living to a great age is still good. Over the weekend he celebrated his 101st birthday. Believing that "Too many people worry; I've always lived so I wouldn't have to worry and that's helped me live this long.", the elderly farmer said and he is still very full of life.

Mr. O'Brien is on the go all the time, up and around the house, out visiting with neighbors and trips into Omemee. In fact before his birthday he went to Omemee for a shave and a haircut and on Sunday returned for a visit with his grandchildren.

His birthday this year was celebrated quietly at home, receiving many callers, and he thoroughly enjoyed the day. A year ago he was guest of honor at large party at Club Aragon, following solemn high mass—a high honor for a layman—at St. Martin's Church, Downeyville.

According to relatives Mr. O'Brien had a "wonderful winter", almost free of colds. But that's not unusual for Mr. O'Brien, he's had wonderful health all his life, not knowing what a cold was until nine years ago.

His good appetite which saw him match his younger relatives at his 100th birthday is still just as good.

"He still eats and sleeps well", said a granddaughter, Mrs. Bert Morrissey.

Mr. O'Brien loves a ride in a car, although he'd much rather be behind the wheel. On the sly he used to drive his car about the barn to say he'd be able to drive on his 100th birthday.

OLDEST ACTIVE DRIVER

In fact the alert old man did drive a car regularly until three years ago. At that time he was believed to be the oldest active licensed driver in Canada.

Since then his step has lost some of its spring, but his blue eyes are still alert, even though he admits they don't see as well as they did. That's one reason he doesn't drive.

A farmer until he retired more than 30 years ago. Mr. O'Brien lives on his homestead a few miles east of Downeyville, 18 miles northwest of Peterborough. In his younger days one of his principal crops was barley which he hauled to Peterborough and sold to the distilleries.

He lives with only surviving daughter, Mrs. Mary Garvey. His wife and three other children died some years ago.

Two Gunmen Get $1,000 Loot

HAMILTON (CP) — Two gunmen, wearing silk stockings over their faces, forced the manager of the Savoy theatre to open the safe and made off with the holiday receipts of close to $1,000 this morning.

They slugged the manager, William Woodbeck, 21, over the head twice with a gun butt when he tried to stall them. For two hours they held three theatre cleaners bound and gagged while they waited for the manager to arrive.

Elect Park CCF President

TORONTO (CP) Eamon Park, 37, of Toronto, was elected president of the Ontario CCF Monday as the party wound up a three-day session of its 20th annual convention.

Donald C. MacDonald of Toronto was re-elected leader of the Ontario CCF.

GE Offers Workers 4-Cent Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — General Electric Company Monday offered its employees a general wage increase of four to five cents an hour, plus holiday and vacation improvements.

The offer was made to negotiators of the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) and its rival, the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Ind.).

The company said the same offer applied to other unions and to employees not represented by unions.

Reaction to the company offer was not immediately available.

Eden Thinks Even Chance Settlement

Report West Ready To Fix Time Limit On Geneva Talks

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Telegraph says today Foreign Secretary Eden thinks there is an even change of an Indo-China settlement at Geneva.

The newspaper, which strongly supports Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative government, says Eden gave this appraisal of affairs in a report to the cabinet here Monday.

The Telegraph adds "He indicated there was some evidence the Communists were not so solidly united as might appear. Russia's Mr. Molotov gave the impression of greater readiness for negotiation than Chou En-lai, the Communist Chinese prime minister."

The diplomatic writer of the Daily Mail, Conservative, reports: "I understand that Mr. Eden was given discretionary powers to decide how much longer the cease-fire talks should continue at Geneva.

"Unless there is substantial progress they are unlikely to continue beyond next week."

INDIA BUSY

GENEVA (CP)—India stepped up her behind-the-scenes diplomatic activity a few hours before the nine-powers Indo-China conference debated terms of a cease-fire.

United States delegates also became more active in the morning round of diplomatic action. The private meetings came in what delegates are describing as the crucial week of the Far East conference which began April 26.

V. Krishna Menon, Prime Minister Nehru's envoy who represents India at the United Nations, conferred this morning with Chou En-lai, Communist China's premier and foreign minister. It was their second meeting since Menon arrived here Saturday.

Menon arranged a luncheon date with Britain's foreign secretary Eden, who also is serving as a go-between in the efforts to halt the war between the French and the Vietminh Communists in Indo-China.

Meantime, Walter Bedell, Smith, chief of the U.S. delegation, talked with Prince Buu Loc, prime minister of the French associated state of Viet Nam at U.S. headquarters. Donald Heath, U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam, was also present.

It was understood the prince discussed two main topics with Smith:

1. The possibility of Viet Nam's entry into the proposed Southeast

U.S. General Bargaining Point

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has suggested that a U. S. general take over training of all native forces fighting the Communists in Indo-China.

Diplomatic sources who reported this today said French officials who previously opposed any such move now are reported more favorable to the idea.

These informants, who asked not to be named, said the proposal was advanced as a condition before the U. S. would consider intervening, presumably with other friendly governments, to reinforce French forces in Indo-China.

A French general would still be supreme commander of battlefield strategy.

Explosion Blasts Column Of Troops Lined Up In Square For Resident-General

MARRAKESH, Morocco (Reuters)—An explosion blasted a column of troops lined up in the centre of Marrakesh today, injuring 26 soldiers and 10 Moroccan bystanders.

The injured soldiers included six Frenchmen and 20 Moroccans. Three were reported in a serious condition.

The troops had been lining the main avenue of the town outside the town hall where the French resident-general, Augustin Guillaume, had arrived on a farewell visit. He is being succeeded on June 10 by Francis Lacoste.

Police officials said the explosion was caused by a delayed-action bomb probably buried on the edge of a lawn across the road from the town hall.

Move Sovereign's Picture To Right-Hand Side Of New Canadian Bills

OTTAWA (CP)—The traditional portrait of the reigning monarch is moved from the centre to the right-hand side of the new Canadian banknote issue to be distributed early next September.

First change in design in 17 years, the new bills will show a three-quarter face view of the Queen, uncrowned, taken from a photograph by Yousuf Karsh of Ottawa.

Across the face of the bill, in bold roman letters will be the word "Canada," covering a faint white outline of the Canadian coat of arms. Eight distinctive Canadian rural scenes taken from photographs, have been chosen for the back of the bills, replacing the usual allegorical figures.

All excess ornament has been removed. The bills will be the same length as those now in existence but will be shorter in width by one-eighth of an inch.

TOWERS SHOWS THE M

The bills were unveiled before a press conference today by Governor Graham Towers of the Bank of Canada.

The bills are printed in two shades of color.

The $1 bill, printed in green and grey, shows a typical prairie grain field on the back. The $2, in peach and orange, bears a tiny village, nestling in central Canadian rolling countryside.

The $5, in blue and mauve, displays a rugged northern scene of pine and swift-flowing rapids.

The $20, in olive and grey, shows ple, belongs to the West—it carries a Rocky mountain peak.

The $20, in olive and grey, whos a simple Laurentian winter scene of rolling hills and snow-covered pine.

In orange and grey, the $50 bill features the Atlantic ocean rolling towards a rocky shore.

The $100 bill, in sepia and grey, carries a milder eastern scene, a placid lake, edged by gentle hills.

In rose and grey is the $1,000 bill, rarely in the pockets of the average man, showing an old covered bridge, leading to farmhouses, with a lake in the background.

NO PHOTOS FOR PRESS

The Bank of Canada ruled that no photos of the new bills can be released for publication, fearing that forgers may be given a head start in printing fake bills.

However, bank officials will take the new bills on a country-wide tour, so that local newspapers and other organs may have a first-hand glimpse of them before distribution takes place.

The bills will tour Montreal, Quebec City and Toronto within the next few days.

The new issue will not mean that all bills now in circulation will be withdrawn. Mr. Towers made clear the new bills only will be issued to replace worn banknotes turned in to the banks.

Balcombe Goes To Gallows

CORNWALL (CP)—Peter Balcombe, 24-year-old father of two children, was hanged today for the murder of Marie Anne Carrier, the attractive reserve army sergeant he lured into a romance.

The former army lieutenant walked unfalteringly to the gallows in the courtyard of the old jail here. He was pronounced dead at 1:27 a. m., 15 minutes after the trap door slammed open.

"He didn't utter a word," said sheriff D. A. McNaughton. "He refused stimulants."

As Balcombe was about to climb the 13 steps to face the executioner, he stopped momentarily to shake hands with the jail governor, an archdeacon of the Anglican church and the deputy sheriff.

Big spotlights silhouetted Balcombe against the 20-foot-high jail wall as he mounted the gallows A crowd of at least 500 gathered outside the jail. They started arriving at 10 p.m. Some set off firecrackers.

He died as a civilian. The army said Monday that Balcombe was "compulsorily released" from the army by cabinet order.

Ax Believed Murder Weapon

TORONTO (CP)—An ax which police say they believe to be the weapon used in Monday night's slaying of a young Toronto woman was discovered by searching detectives today.

Mike Bajerowski, 26-year-old Polish immigrant, has been charged with murder. He was arrested Monday night near his parents' home at Bradford, 32 miles north of Toronto.

The ax was found hidden below bushes in a side-lane near the killing.

FOUND GRIL'S BODY

Police said the operator of the west-central rooming house where Bajerowski lived found Maria Sidudut, 26, girl-friend of Bajerowski, lying in a pool of blood in the man's room.

There was a deep wound in the dark-haired girl's forehead. Doctors said her neck was broken.

Frank Parylak, deaf operator of the rooming house, told police he At about 8 p. m., said Parylak, decided to make a cup of tea, knocked on the door of Bajerowski's room, which was ajar, and discovered the body.

Detectives said there was little sign of a struggle.

Ontario Rainfall Declared Beneficial

TORONTO (CP)—Department of Agriculture officials termed Monday night's light rainfall "very beneficial" but said more showers and warm weather are needed to bring along the season's crops.

Crops haven't been seriously affected by dry weather of the last two weeks, the department said.

Major setback has been in the late spring which put planting about two weeks behind schedule.

The public weather office at suburban Malton reported rainfall of .04 inches Monday night. Heaviest was at Nakina, north of Lake Superior, where .32 inches fell.

Normal rainfall for the month of May is 2.87 inches. So far this month it has been less than half that amount.

Britain Won't Make Asia Commitments

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill today reaffirmed Britain's determination to make no commitments on a South-east Asia collective defence arrangement until results of the Geneva Far East Conference are known.

He also emphasized in the House of Commons that the forthcoming staff talks between the United States, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand in Washington are "quite distinct" from the proposed creation of a southeast Asia defence pact.

Buddhist Temple Planned In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A Buddhist temple, the first in Canada east of Manitoba, will be built here at a cost of about $50,000 to serve the 600 members in this area.

The temple, still in the planning stage, is expected to be completed before the end of the year. A shrine costing about $2,000 will be imported from Japan. The temple will include a Buddhist library.

Service, in both Japanese and English, now are held in a rented hall.

Red Bastion Being Built In Guatemala

U.S. Begins Ferrying Arms Shipments To Neighboring Lands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the Reds may have shipped arms to Guatemala in order to build up a Communist bastion near the Panama Canal.

Dulles told a press conference that was one possible objective of the arms shipment last week from Poland amounting to 2,000 tons. He said this has made Guatemala the dominant military power in Central America.

Dulles discussed the Guatemalan situation in response to questions from reporters, after he had issued a statement noting that Guatemala is the only American nation to have received "massive shipment" of arms from an Iron Curtain country.

FLY ARMS TO OTHERS

In a move to counter the Communist shipment of arms, the United States is flying rifles, machine guns and other light combat gear to friendly countries in Central America.

A state department announcement late Monday that arms are being airlifted as "rapidly as possible" to Nicaragua and Honduras, Guatemala's neighbors to the south, evoked a quick denunciation from Moscow radio, which called the action preparation for "an attack against Guatemala.".

But Guatemala's foreign minister, Guillermo Gotiello, apparently views the new development with no such alarm. He told reporters, "We do not believe the arms shipment has anything to do with us."

Toriello pointedly sidestepped any mention of Nicaragua, which has recalled its envoy from Guatemala. But he said Honduras is a good friend of the Guatemalan government and people.

The Chicago Tribune said Monday night that war seems imminent between Honduras and Guate-

Boy 8, Starts $100,000 Fire

OTTAWA (CP)—A fire cracker set off by an eight-year-old boy celebrating Victoria Day early is blamed for a two-hour fire here Sunday that wiped out two buildings and all but destroyed a third, causing damage that fire authorities said could safely be estimated at $100,000.

The blaze in the capital's lower town area destroyed a farm implement repair building and a roofing firm and badly damaged a warehouse filled with canned goods.

No one was injured.

Police said the boy lit a firecracker and tossed it onto a vacant lot next to the implement repair building.

They said the boy tried to put out the small blaze that started but it soon reached the walls of the building and the boy ran home, too frightened to tell his parents until someone else had turned in the alarm and firemen were arriving.

Assistant Inspector Phil Larkin said police would have to decide whether charges were warranted, but he felt the blaze was in the accidental class.

One Forest Fire Jumps River, No Towns Menaced

TORONTO (CP)—Two big forest fires are raging in Ontario. Lands and forest department fire fighters are throwing hundreds of men and latest equipment into an all-out battle to control the blazes at Nairn, 35 miles west of Sudbury, and in the Barr township area about 95 miles north of North Bay, which have destroyed an estimated 2,100 acres of valuable timber.

Snow and rain have fallen at Sault and White River on the western extremity of the trouble area of North Bay, Sudbury, Swastika and Cochrane but elsewhere in the province, warm dry weather continues, with fire-fostering winds reaching 30 and 40 miles an hour.

The Nairn outbreak, covering 600 acres, has jumped the Spanish river in two places since starting late Monday night when a railway locomotive scattered burning material along a five-mile stretch.

125 MEN IN ACTION

The lands and forests department has 125 men fighting the fire, including 50 from Burwash industrial farm. In addition, the department has eight pumps, two bulldozers, a helicopter and a tank pumper in active service.

No towns or settlements are in the path of the fire.

Apart from the two main blazes, the department is fighting 34 smaller breaks. A dozen of them were brought under control in the last 24 hours.

The holiday is regarded by the department as the worst long week-end of the year from the standpoint of fire hazard.

Over 1,500 acres of flatlands and hills of pine and hardwood are blazing in the Haileybury fire, started by careless anglers. It spread across a 2½-mile front, leaving behind a black stubble of pine, fir, spruce and balsam.

SPECIAL TRAIN SENT

A special train loaded with firefighters left Englehart early today to tackle a bush fire which raged out of control Monday night after wiping out a lumber camp 103 miles north of Cochrane.

Rain during the night was said to have slowed the fire to the point where fighters are holding it.

The other smaller fires are located as follows: North Bay area 6; Tweed, 4; Pembroke, 2; Sudbury, 5; Parry Sound, 1; Sault Ste.

Adopt Blueprint For Ending U.S. Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The District of Columbia board of education today adopted a five-point blueprint for ending segregation of white and negro children in Washington's public schools.

Plans are to make the start next fall and have it completely in effect one year thereafter.

President Eisenhower has voiced the hope that a successful plan for wiping out separate schools in Washington may serve as a guide to ease the way for abolishing school segregation in 17 southern and border states where it has been compulsory.

The plan is designed to put into effect as rapidly as possible the Supreme Court decision holding racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

On Monday, six appeals were dealt with by the U. S. Supreme Court. In three, the tribunal ordered lower courts to reconsider previous segregation decisions "in the light of" the higher court's ruling against segregation. These cases involved the admission of Negroes to three schools.

In the other three cases, by denying hearings the tribunal let stand lower court decisions which banned segregation at two places and ordered the city of Houston, Tex., to permit Negroes the use of municipal golf courses on a segregated basis.

Sell Toronto Hotel

TORONTO (CP)—The 750-room Ford Hotel has been sold to an independent holding company for a reported $3,500,000. The new owners of the downtown hotel are said to include financiers from the United States, headed by Herman Sarno.

Lodge Denounces Red China Unfit For Seat In UN

CHICAGO (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States representative to the United Nations, declared today he considers the Chinese Communist regime "wholly unfit" for representation in the UN.

He called it a "strange paradox" that the Chinese Communists demand to be let into the UN while at the same time persistently attacking it.

He drew up an indictment of the Chinese Communists which the United States mission in the UN described as "the most comprehensive bill of particulars yet presented by a United States official "against Chinese Communist representation in the UN.

In an address prepared for the 70th annual spring meeting of the Inland Daily Press Association, Lodge's count anged from charges of direct aggression to the use of narcotics for subversive purposes.

Lodge said that, considering their policy and practice "it seems to me a very strange kind of moral blindness which can advocate that the Chinese Communists be regarded as a 'peace-loving' state fit to sit in the United Nations.

WILL RESIST

"I can promise you here today that the United States will steadfastly resist all manoeuvres by the Chinese Communist régime and its advocates to bribe its way into the United Nations on merep romises of good behavior in the future."

Lodge accused the Chinese Communists of being "guilty of flagrant aggression"—direct aggression in Korea, concealed aggression in Indo-China and internal aggression against the Chinese people.

Lodge said there are estimates that the Communists have murdered "up to 15,000,000 people in China since 1949. Additional millions have been impressed into slave labor along the lines pioneered by the Soviet Union.

Son Saves Father's Life

Caught, Chewed, Clawed By 600-Lb. Bear

HEARST, Ont. (CP)—Nick Muldamaki, 55, claims he was chased, caught, chewed and clawed by a black bear during a wilderness battle 75 miles southwest of here.

Muldamaki, recovering in hospital in this community 150 miles northwest of Timmins, says he owed his life to his son, Ernie, 22, who grabbed an ax and clubbed the 600-pound bear to death while it pinned his father to the ground.

"Thank goodness my son was there," the father said. "I was helpless and the bear was eating me alive."

The son said the attack occurred so quickly last Friday afternoon that he still can hardly believe it happened.

"One minute we were walking over a hill and the next minute the bear was attacking. Dad fired four shots but they didn't do any good. It was the biggest bear I've ever seen. He just kept coming."

After killing the bear, young Maldamaki bandaged his father's hand, chest and legs with flour bags. He helped him reach a canoe 500 yards away and then covered six miles by portage and paddle to the men's main camp.

MADE LONG TREK

The son decided to seek help at Hornepayne, 30 miles away. He travelled four miles by canoe, then walked the rest of the way, crossing jackpine country with patches of dense underbrush. He saw another bear. It was burying food in the forest and he gave it a wide berth.

He tumbled into Bayfield lake. There was no time to dry his clothes so he kept walking.

Thirty-one hours after he set out for Hornepayne he reached his goal. He arranged for a plane to bring his father to hospital and flew in it during the rescue mission.

Muldamaki and his son started their trapping expedition from Hearst April 7. They went by train to Oba, then changed to skis. They trapped 62 beavers and 15 muskrats and were preparing to start home when they encountered the bear.

'I Only Did My Duty' French Nurse Says 40 Days In Fort Formidable Experience

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI (AP) — Genevieve de Galard Terrabue declared today that tending French wounded in 40 terror-filled nights and days in the fortress of Dien Bien Phu was the "most formidable experience of my life."

"It opened new horizons to me of courage and devotion to duty while French soldiers and officers were so brilliantly fighting and dying."

Facing a battery of 50 correspondents from nine countries, photographers and television representatives, the heroic nurse in her first mass interview calmly and simply said:

"I only did my duty."

DESCRIBES WORST NIGHT

The most "dangerous and dramatic moment" of the long, savage battle for the French Union fortress came on the night of March 30-31.

"It was then that the Vietminh hurled over thousands of mortars and heavy artillery projectiles and there were hundreds of French wounded and so many dying.

". . . So many of the wounded had to wait for so many hours in line in the underground bunkers in terrible pain before I could help them."

The French high command, meanwhile, said it hopes to wind up their airlift of wounded out of Dien Bien Phu within three days.

The slow mercy shuttle set a record Monday when 150 casualties, including the first batch of French officers and some Viet Namese, reached Luangprabang.

They brought to 572 the total airlifted from the captured fortress. There are 313 to come.

The Vietminh put gangs of coolies to work today on Dien Bien Phu's main airstrip so big transports can come in and speed the mercy lift.

TO GO HOME FOR REST

Miss de Galar, telling reporters of her experiences, said:

"To day I feel a mixture of joy and a little sadness. Why? Because I am in Hanoi. Sadness, because I was ordered to leave and I had to leave behind so many wounded and people who worked with me and who needed my help."

She says she planned to return to her home in Paris "within a few days to see my family and for a rest." But she intends to go on with her work as a nurse.

Holiday Toll Reaches 54 Fatalities

Traffic Deaths Take 22 Lives, Drownings Count 13

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than 50 persons lost their lives across Canada in highway accidents, drownings fires and by a variety of other methods during the Victoria Day weekend.

A compilation by The Canadian Press showed early today that in the period from 6 p.m. local time until midnight Monday the fatality toll had reached 54.

This was the same number who died in the same week-end last year. The 1953 figure was certain to be surpassed with the expected receipt of late reports.

It was the first, long spring week-end and the crowded highways caused a heavy toll in traffic deaths, especially in Ontario and Quebec where the weather generally was clear and warm throughout the three-day week-end.

Traffic fatalities accounted for 22 of the deaths, with 10 in Ontario and eight in Quebec. Drownings claimed 13 lives and fires eight.

22 IN ONTARIO

Fatalities from all causes in Ontario totalled 22, four more than the number reported from Quebec. There were five deaths in New Brunswick and British Columbia, three in Nova Scotia and one in Newfoundland. No fatalities were reported from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island.

The fatality toll included four slain victims, two in British Columbia and one in both Ontario and Quebec.

Mrs. Frederick Allan Huscroft, 40, and her five-year-old daughter Joanne were bludgeoned and strangled to death on their dairy farm near Lister, B.C. Mrs. Huscroft's 40-year-old husband was charged with murder.

Maria Siudut, 26, was found dead in a Toronto rooming house from ax wounds. Police said that Mike Bajerowski, 26-year-old Polish immigrant, was arrested near his parents' home in Bradford, Ont., 32 miles north of Toronto, and charged with the girl's murder.

MOTHER HELD

At Rimouski, Que., seven-year-old Guy Trepanier was beaten to death with a baseball bat. Police said the boy's mother, Mrs. Louis Trepanier, 30, is being held as "an important witness" in the case. A coroner's inquest will be held today.

The most unusual fatality was the death of 14-year-old Ward Faines of Vancouver. He died in hospital in Kelowna, B.C., from head injuries suffered when he was hit by a golf ball while playing golf with J. J. Mielke and his son. The boy was struck when Mielke played the ball out of the rough.

In another unusual accident Guy Lafaille, about 25, was killed Sunday night when crushed by three 2,000-pound rolls of paper. He was adjusting a block-and-tackle to a paper roll at the Hinde and Dauch Paper Company plant in Montreal when a chain broke and sent three rolls hurtling over him.

Canadian Aid For Abbey Fund

LONDON (CP) — The Evening Standard said Monday that two Canadians gave donations which "formed the foundation" to the £1,000,000 Save - The - Abbey fund just completed successfully by Westminster Abbey.

The newspaper owned by Canadian - born Lord Beaverbrook named the Canadians as Sir James Dunn, controlling shareholder in the Algoma Steel Corporation, and J. W. McConnell, former publisher of the Montreal Star. Each is reported to have given $100,000.

"It is heartening to know that the impetus of this movement to save London's abbey came from Canada," said the newspaper.

The abbey's bells rang out and 1,000 "thank you" balloons soared into the grey sky to celebrate the church's successful appeal.

Young choristers in white surplices tugged a guy rope and released the balloons each of which carried the message: "Greeting from Westminster Abbey—appeal target achieved May 24, 1954—thank you very much."

The money will be used to restore the abbey, badly in need of repair.

U.S. To Call Up 16,000 ROTC Men

Victoria Day Brings Rush Get Out Of City

It was a long, and glorious weekend. The weatherman cooperated with the balmiest weather of 1954 and the exodus from Peterborough resembled a pilgrimage to Mecca.

An all-time high record in volume of traffic was reached on highway 28 north.

"Considering the tremendous volume of traffic, we were very fortunate in having no serious accidents," said Inspector J. A. Stringer of the provincial police. He said that Monday, especially, was a busy day but that drivers were well-mannered, and there was little serious trouble.

MOTORCYCLE CONSTABLE

The summer traffic season has been officially launched with placement of an OPP motorcycle policeman on the highways. These patrol only 3½ month of each year from Peterborough, Bowmanville and Brighton.

Peterborough OPP motorcycle patrolman is Cons. Stanley Smith. Mr. Smith joined the local detachment only two months ago, having previously been stationed at North Bay. He is, however, a Peterborough native living with his family at Chemong lake.

Jim Fraser of the chamber of Commerce reports a huge crowd in the Burleigh Falls area, some attempting to fish, but many simply enjoying the scenery. Many families were out en masse, while fathers patiently untangled the fishing lines of all the junior anglers.

Most of this early traffic to Burleigh Falls and other holiday spots was Canadian. Although many tourist establishments are booked solid for later in the season, the American influx will not assume major proportions until the black bass and maskinonge season opens July 1.

For those without cars, travel was an adventurous proposition. Many trains and buses were packed to the baggage racks. Eric Gill of the Colonial Coach Lines reports an unusually heavy volume of traffic to Ottawa. Toronto and north to the Kawarthas. Friday's schedule to Ottawa, for example, required three buses instead of the usual one.

Life was hectic for CPR officials, both in number of passengers and volume of freight handled.

The early morning train from Ottawa was on time, but it was a dislevelled lot of passengers which disembarked. The day coaches were packed which would have been uncomfortable enough, but an uninvited guest managed to make his presence known. This was a skunk who apparently came out second best in a collision with the train somewhere near Sharbot lake. One by one day coach passengers awoke, sniffed and tried to inter themselves deeper in their pillows.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY

On the home front many citizens, particularly in the newer housing subdivisions revived the almost-lost practice of exploding fireworks. One of the most spectacular displays was in the Western Heights subdivision where more than 100 people gathered at the corner of Hilltop and Brunswick Sts.

Thirty-five families, led by James B. Clark of 783 Devon St. gathered at a spot where they could not only put on the most spectacular display, but had a clear view of all other displays through the city. Most entranced members of families on hand on the hill were probably the adults, not the children.

This morning citizens with shining morning faces crept like snails unwillingly to work. Faces were shining from sunburn, muscles ached from unaccustomed exertion, skin itched from a million mosquito bites, and the productivity of Peterborough citizens generally was probably not as high as usual. The first of the long summer weekends had come and gone.

2. The need for France and Viet Nam to sign two treaties, negotiated recently in Paris, which give Viet Nam full independence as an equal partner in the French Indo-China union. Viet Nam regards the signing of these treaties as an essential preliminary to joining any collective defence organization.

A new hitch developed at the conference Monday when Russia's foreign minister Molotov demanded that the conference devote its efforts to general political problems of permanent peace. The Soviet diplomatic chief, who had presented a five-point program Friday for getting down to brass tacks on an Indo-China cease-fire, said the military aspects of the question should be handed over to the "two sides," France and the Vietminh.

Western delegates were caught by surprise. They had believed the procedural problem settled, at least temporarily, since Molotov's Friday proposals dealt solely with military problems.

BIDAULT DETERMINED

Foreign Minister Bidault was reported ready to put up a stubborn fight for France against any discussions on a possible political settlement before a cease-fire is arranged. Smith and Eden were ready to back him.

The Indo-Chinese talks will be in recess Wednesday while the 19-nation conference on Korea goes back into session.

There still is no information here as to what instructions Eden brought back with him from London Monday after conferring with Prime Minister Churchill and other members of the cabinet. It is understood, however, that Britain is nearing the end of her "wait and see" policy.

Western delegates still are not ready to break off the Geneva talks, but are reported giving serious consideration to fixing a time limit.

OBITUARIES

MISS CATHERINE ISOBEL IRVIN

Miss Catherine Isobel Irvin, 34, died Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Irvin, RR 1, Lakehurst.

Miss Irvin was born in Harvey township and had lived there all her life.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Allen Northey (Alvina Mae), RR 1, Lakefield; Mrs. Clifford Whetung (Eleanor), Curve Lake; and one brother, Clare, Niagara Falls.

Private funeral services will be held ednesday at her home at 2:30 p.m. Mr. Ken Stewart of Wesley United church will officiate. Burial will be in Lakefield cemetery.

HARRY ELMHIRST

Widely-known in horse-racing circles, Harry (Babe) Elmhirst died in Civic Hospital Monday after a lengthy illness. He was in his 69th year.

Born in Otonabee, Mr. Elmhirst farmed for several years before becoming active in horse-racing. For the past four years he had lived in Peterborough.

Mr. Elmhirst was the son of the late James Elmhirst and his wife, Jane Hope. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Jennie McIntyre of Otonabee and five nephews. He was unmarried.

Funeral services will be held from the home of Mrs. McIntyre, lot 14, concession 8 Wednesday at p.m. The officiating clergyman will be the Rev. H. B. Herrington of Keene United church. Burial will be in Keene cemetery.

CCF Leaders Fear Return Of Depression

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario labor leaders attending the annual convention of the Ontario CCF said Monday that "unemployment is swirling our economy toward a depression such as the country went through in the 1930s."

Bert Gargrave of Toronto, representing the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), told the 34 delegates that in his union alone in the United States and Canada there are 1,000,000 men unemployed or working short time.

Canada's $2,000,000,000 defence budget is being spent on an obsolute program, the convention was told Saturday night by Colin Cameron, CCF member of Parliament for Nanaimo.

"It is obvious the vast bulk of defence appropriations are earmarked to carry out defence plans formulated long since, and equally obvious that since the H-bomb the larger part of that program must be obsolete."

SHOULD CUT BUDGET

The federal government should cut the defence budget drastically so that Canada can play a more effective role in world trade, he said.

Bible Society Canvassers Objective $1,500

Led by canvass chairman James C. McClenaghan, more than 60 canvassers are now soliciting funds to finance the work of the Peterborough branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society, an affiliate of the British and Foreign Bible Society which celebrates its 150th anniversary in 1954.

Locally, the society is asking for $1,500. Money raised will help finance the work of the society in translating the Bible into more than 1,000 languages and dialects and will underwrite costs of publishing and distributing Bibles and sections of Scripture.

Canvassers have been named from each of the Protestant churches as follows:

Murray St. Baptist: Rev. I. F. C. Morgan, Orley Axford, Mrs. E. R. Briggs, H. W. Tranter, Miss Leatha Kidd.

Park St. Baptist: Rev. A. S. Roblin, George Batley, Paul Wicks.

mala. Jules Dubois, Tribune staff writer, filed a dispatch from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, in which he said Honduran border guards Sunday captured five armed Guatemalan Communists inside Honduran teritory. He also told of reported troops and military air activity on both sides of the Gautemala-Honduras border.

HEARD NO REPORTS

U. S. ambassador John E. Peurifoy said he has heard of no border incidents like those reported in the Tribune story.

In Washington, Lincoln White, state department press officer, said the department has no information that a war is impending, but added that U. S. diplomatic officials know there is considerable tension between the two countries.

Dispatches from Guatemala quoted long-time American residents of that country as saying they could not recall a similar strained atmosphere. There were reports of workers shouting "Go home gringa (Yankee)" to North American women.

Highway Traffic Violations Bring Heavier Penalties

Penalties for highway traffic act violations, such as leaving the scene of an accident, driving while impaired, and driving without, or with a suspended licence, are becoming more severe. Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, and Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw have been stressing this fact in word and deed in police court recently.

Leonard LaFonte, 24, of 548 Harvey St., was fined a total of $140 in police court today upon conviction of impaired driving and driving with a suspended licence. His driver's licence was suspended for an additional year. LaFonte pleaded guilty to the charges arising out of an accident at Stewart St. and Park Hill Rd., May 21, in which his car was wrecked and another car damaged. PC Arthur Beardsmore testified that LaFonte smelled strongly of alcoholic beverage, was "unsteady" but "not staggering."

The sentence option was two months in county jail.

Rene Marion, 27, of Downsview, pleaded guilty to driving while impaired, and leaving the scene of an accident which occurred on Rubidge St., May 22, and was fined a total of $95. Marion had struck a parked car causing about $60 damage to it, and about $30 damage to his own. The owner of the parked car gave chase, and Marion was stopped about two blocks from the scene of the accident.

The third impaired driving charge heard today resulted in a conviction, $50 fine, and $12.50 costs for Danny Griffin, 19, of 684 Lundy's Lane. The accident occurred on Aylmer St., just below Charlotte St., on May 15, when Griffin's car, a small English model, struck the rear end of another car driven by Wilson McCreary, R.R. 1, Peterborough.

Police Sergeant Andy Dalton testified that traffic was heavy at the time of the accident due to a parade which had just passed. He said Griffin "smelled strongly of some alcoholic beverage" and that his speaking was "thick." He said he had difficulty waking Griffin on three occasions later at the station.

Defence counsel Donald Bark suggested that one pint of beer would affect the breath as much as any given amount after Griffin had testified to drinking three pints of beer during the afternoon and early evening. He had eaten a heavy meal before drinking the third pint. Mr. Bark further pointed out that as Griffin had been working in the fresh air that day, he could reasonably be expected to be sleepy.

"Why go to sleep in a cell at all?" asked Mr. Bradshaw.

Mr. Bark: "Can't think of a better thing to do."

Magistrate Philp said the matter of sleeping was the strongest evidence in the case as he imposed the fine.

The Ontario department of lands and forests, up against the most serious outbreaks of the year, ordered men, planes and trucks to both areas. Firefighters in the Haileybury area said of the blaze: "It's big and bad."

The fire near Espanola, one of more than 30 burning in the province, was racing over flatlands and hills of pine and hardwood. Dave Spence, chief ranger of Espanola, said "if we don't get this controlled soon, it's going to be disastrous."

Forest fires ruin millions of dollars worth of timber every year and officials of the lands and forests department said today:

"The woodlands are dry from the long warm spell. The situation is not yet serious but the two northern blazes are tough."

Four Perish In Fire Near Trenton

CARRYING PLACE, Ont. (CP) Three men and a woman were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their small frame house here, 6 miles south of Trenton early Sunday. A 14-year-old girl leaped to safety from her bedroom window on the second floor.

The dead:

Earl Elliott, 30, his wife, Pearl 47, their 27-year-old son, Cleon, and a friend, Allen Taft, 27.

Darlene Elliott smashed her bedroom window with a roller skate and dropped 15 feet to the ground.

STARTS AT 4 A.M.

The fire broke out around 4 a.m. By the time neighbors were called to form a firefighting brigade, the home had crashed in flaming ruins into the basement.

The girl was not hurt. She ran to a neighbor's house to call for help. Police were unable to search for the bodies until the fire had died out and the debris cooled off. Cause of the blaze was not known.

Darlene told police she was awakened by the smell of smoke.

Cleon Elliott, a soldier recently returned from Korea, was home on weekend leave from Calgary. His friend Alan Taft, whose home is about 300 feet away, decided to spend the night with him. His grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Thos. Taft, refused today to believe her son had been in the fire, and said she expected him home any time.

Mrs. Annie McFadden

Funral service was conducted Saturday at the Comstock funeral home by the Rev. G. S. Maxwell of Trinity United church for Mrs. Annie McFadden of Campbellford. She died while visiting a friend, Mrs. George Hunter, North Monaghan.

Palbearers were: Bob Crerar, Herbert Frost, George Hutchinson, Jack Roberts, Harold Rehill and Malcolm Latimer. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Abandoned Ice Boxes

Citizens are advised that if they will telephone the Sanitation Department of the City of Peterborough, dial 2-3603, ice boxes which they no longer need in their homes will be removed by the Sanitation Department.

This co-operation of the Sanitation Department is extended to the citizens in an effort to remove the hazard of abandoned ice boxes which have unfortunately resulted in the death of children in other centres in Canada recently.

From Dairying To Poultry Success At McIndoo Farm

Substituting Barred Rock hens for a herd of purebred Holsten cattle was a major change in the comparatively young life of Fred McIndoo of Cavan, but it wasn't the first nor the most radical.

When he and his brother were at the parting of the ways leading youth into manhood, Fred appeared to be destined for business. Planning had even got around to the proposal of a special business course, and his brother was to take over the home farm from his father.

"But," as recalled in the Canadian Poultry Review, "the older brother decided he didn't like farming, and so Fred became the farmer. And, he will tell you, it was a lucky break for him, for he thinks farming is the best profession in the world."

The broad outcome was that Mr. McIndoo actually remained in business with an essential asset of adaptability, and all his friends have seen the success he has already achieved in a field that is strewn with many failures.

Continuing the Review's interesting story: "It happens that Mr. McIndoo and Ron Peel of Port Perry are brothers-in-law; and so it wasn't long before Fred became a flock owner, supplying hatching eggs to Peel's Poultry Farm. Gradually, poultry took on greater importance on the McIndoo farm, and eventually Barred Rock hens shoved the Hosteins right out of the barn, becoming the major source of income.

"Today, the hatchery flock numbers about 9,000 birds, while another 7,000 are being brooded and fitted for the laying pens.

"As a flock owner, Fred has to be able to supply eggs on a year round basis. Thus, he starts three flocks of chicks during the year, —5,000 pullets in March, another 5,000 in July, and 4,500 in November, with 700 to 800 special breeding cockerels grown out for each flock. The November hatched flock are confined and never get out on range. The March flock are given about four months on the range, and, though the time is limited, Fred feels it is worth while to get the July-hatched birds on range, even four or five weeks."

The entire story of the McIndoo enterprise is too long to lift from the Review, whose outside cover shows a view of a section of that part of Cavan with Barred Rock pullets on range. It is mainly a producer's story.

In regard to his pasture, Mr. McIndoo has fourteen acres with plenty of Ladino and White Dutch clover and grasses, in fact a long term pasture. He selected the seed mixture from an OAC bulletin on pastures, and it has proved ideal for his soil and climate. The land is well worked before seeding, is heavily fertilized, and early each spring he gives the pastures a good top dressing of ammonium nitrate before the birds are put out to shelters.

This gives the pastures an immediate boost. He also keeps the forage clipped short, not allowing it to head out the flower, thereby improving the quality and feeding value, and at the sametime allowing him to see what is going on. Shelters are moved once a year to a fresh location.

The Reveiw affirms Mr. McIndoo's doubt that any company can put into the feed bag what the birds gets out of fresh, succulent pasture that has been prepared specially for chickens. A second advantage is that up to 15 per cent of the feed cost can be saved while birds are given good pasture on which to range There less labor involved in feeding birds on range — growing pellets are placed in feed troughs while the grain is scattered on the ground.

Associated with him is his son Don, who took a two-year course at O.A.C. Added to their partenrship is the work of three other men.

WORKMEN ARE BUSY REMOVING the second storey from this blackened and burned-out building on Campbellford's main intersection of Front and Bridge streets. Fire gutted the building on Sunday, April 4, in a spectacular blaze that brought firemen and equipment from many surrounding towns, as well as a pumper and men from Peterborough. Part of the south wall of the building was torn down because it was considered unsafe. Workmen are now busy building it back up.—(W. W. Reid Photo).

Rebuild Block Lost In Fire

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — The main intersection on the east side of the town here will take on a new appearance shortly, when workmen finish removing the second storey from the burned out Wiggins Block at the corner of Front and Bridge streets.

The building was gutted by fire on Sunday, April 5 and the north wall started to bulge. The Muir Construction Company of Belleville have the contract for rebuilding the structure, and are at present engaged in removing the entire upper section of the wall. Work was started on the weakest section first, as it was feared a portion of the wall might tumble into the street.

About 30 persons were made homeless by the spectacular fire that required the efforts of firemen from surrounding towns as well as Peterborough, to quell. Accommodation has since been found for all the families.

If present plans are carried out, the block, owned by Walter S. Wiggins, will be only one storey.

Shot Judge In Court Man Sentenced To Die

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — Norman Moon, 28, who shot a judge to death in a courtroom here while he faced a non-support charge, stood pale and wan in the same courtroom early today to hear a jury doom him to the electric chair.

The jury found Moon guilty of first-degree murder in the slaying of judge Allison D. Wade, 52, last Jan. 13, and recommended the supreme penalty.

Moon was led in front of judge Alexander C. Flick, a close friend of Judge Wade, for sentencing.

Welland Group Wins

KITCHENER (CP)—The annual convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of Ontario and Quebec drew 770 delegates to Kitchener over the week-end. Proficiency award for highest achievement was won by the BYPU of First Baptist church in Welland. Ernest West, Kitchener, was elected president. Among the officers elected were Donna Robinson, Oshawa, a fellowship director; Geraldine McKenzie, Port Stanley, service director; Paul Burns, Lanark, stewardship director and Gwenyth Shaw, New Liskeard, editor.

Driver Lost Control Car Rolls Over

CAMPBELFORD (ENS) — No one was injured, but a 1937 model car suffered extensive damage when it rolled into the ditch after the driver lost control on Highway 30 about a mile west of Campbellford on Saturday night.

Ronald C. Pirie, ~~19,~~ of 57 Ruskin Ave., Toronto, told police he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car on a curve at West's Corners, lost control of his car and rolled over into the north ditch. Neither he nor a passenger in the car, Ralph Boyd, of 74 Edwin Ave., Toronto, were injured. Damage to the car amounted to about $150. Provincial Constable Douglas Ross investigated.

Bees Become Dope Addicts

LONDON (AP)—A British scientist reported Monday a queen bee controls her subjects by turning them into dope addicts which have to come to her for their supply.

Dr. Colin Butler, head of a bee research project at Rothamstead, announced his finding in a newly published book, "The World of the Honeybee."

Dr. Butler identified the "dope," which he calls the "queen substance," as a kind of wax which covers the queen bee's body. The worker bees get the stuff by running their tongues over her, or by licking other bees which have been in bodily contact with the queen.

The author said the "queen substance" can be rubbed off with a cotton swab, which then becomes as attractive to bees as the queen herself. Dr. Butler said there is evidence that the same sort of addiction prevails among ants and termites.

Public Health Nurses Treat 1,455 Children

The Peterborough department of health, during April, innoculated 679 and vaccinated 776 pupils attending elementary schools, as a protection against smallpox, diptheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

These included initial as well as booster treatments. Initial smallpox vaccinations totalled 228 while revaccinations were 391.

Miss Mary MacIlveen, supervisor of the public health nurses, said school children must be immunized every year to keep a safe level of immunity in the community.

Passes Driver's Test Near 96th Birthday

HANOVER, Ont. (CP)—William Huenemoeder of Brant township probably is the oldest man in Canada to pass a driver's test. He will be 96 next July 15.

A car driver since 1914, Mr. Huenemoeder will tell you the only reason he didn't start sooner is because there were no cars in this district, 40 miles south of Owen Sound.

Besides the 1914 car, he has owned six others. His present car is a 1941 model which has a hand gas feed which he rigged himself.

Car Rams Bus Stopped Near Grafton

COBOURG (ENS) — Traffic was heavy over the holiday weekend but no serious accidents were reported.

A Colonial Coach Lines bus involved in a minor accident near Grafton when a car ran into the back. Passengers in the bus were uninjured. Police said that the bus driven by Howard Martin of Kingston had stopped to take up a passenger.

A car driven by Archie Wilson of Hamilton, coming from behind was unable to turn to pass because of an oncoming car and couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting the bus. Police said that the automobile skidded 100 feet before colliding with the rear of the bus. OPP Const. Stan Judson investigated.

Senator Gives Scouts Totem Pole From B.C.

LIVERPOOL (CP)—A five-foot British Columbia totem pole arrived by sea today for a Welsh group of boy scouts.

The donor is Senator W. Rupert Davies, Kingston, Ont., newspaper publisher and an honorary official of the Clive Boy Scouts at Welshpool, Montgomeryshire, where he was born.

The totem pole was carved by the noted Indian craftswoman, Ellen Neel of Vancouver.

Wiped Out By Fire

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Norman Mattice, 22, and his wife, Sarah, were left with only the clothes on their backs when fire Monday destroyed their new three-room frame house. Mattice and his wife were away when the fire broke out.

Boys Steal Gasoline For Stolen Car

COBOURG — Caught syphoning gas from a parked car on University Avenue three Toronto juveniles were arrested on Saturday night by Constables Homer Seale and Lloyd Huskelson. The police on patrol noticed a youth at the back of a car. They pulled up and found that he was syphoning gas. Two other boys were hiding in the back seat of a car nearby. Taken to the police station and questioned it was learned that they had stolen a car at Toronto on Friday and run out of gas at Cobourg. Toronto police took them back on Sunday morning.

Double Trouble For Family

COBOURG (ENS) — Troubles did not come singly to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Marshall this past weekend.

On Friday Mr. Marshall, with a police escort, rushed his six-year-old son to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children with an injured eye caused when a playmate hit him with a stone. It will not be known for several days whether he will lose the eye. To add to their troubles, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall's two - year - old daughter developed the 'flu which changed to pneumonia.

On Sunday the child became very ill and was rushed with police escort to the Hospital for Sick Children where her condition was diagnosed as purulent meningitis.

Mother Admits Slaying Child

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP) — Mrs. Louise Trepanier, 32, was arrested Monday after telephoning police and telling them she had bludgeoned her son Guy to death with a baseball bat.

"He was ill and suffering," she was quoted as telling police.

Police said the seven-year-old boy, his head smashed in, was found in his blood-soaked bed minutes after the telephone call.

Police said the mother was "in a fit of hysterics" when they arrived in the small east-side home of this lower St. Lawrence river town about 200 miles east of Quebec City.

Sgt. Valere Boulet of the provincial police said the woman is being held as a material witness for a coroner's court inquest scheduled for tonight.

In Quebec province no charge is usually laid in cases involving fatalities until a coroner's court jury has returned a verdict.

A Word About University Grants

Dr. Wilder Penfield, O.M., celebrated Montreal neurosurgeon, has resigned from two of his important administrative and academic posts to be able to devote more time to research. He has retired as neurosurgeon-in-chief of the Royal Victoria Hospital and from the chair of neurology and neurosurgery at McGill. He continues to be head of the Montreal Neurological Institute which his scientific skill and operative genius as a brain surgeon have made world-famous.

* * *

Addressing the Institute at its annual meeting, Dr. Penfield had this to say about the application of money to institutions of higher learning and scientific research. His comments are particularly pertinent in view of the Quebec Premier's refusal of Federal grants in aid of universities:

"Advancement of learning in our universities is just as much a legitimate concern to those who guide our national government as national defence is, for only those in the central government can evaluate the strategic needs of the country as a whole.

"Since they are truly interested in the future of higher learning, and not in the political rewards and the political power of repeated giving, let them consider endowment as a form of assistance in addition to short-term grants.

"Surely no province could object to university endowment. It adds strength and it leaves freedom for wholesome growth. Large scale capital endowments would not cost as much as other forms of military defence and, when once established, the importance of adequate university centres, even for the purpose of defence in time of a future war, would be difficult to overestimate."

* * *

Dr. Penfield thus suggests not only a method by which governments can contribute to the support of universities without impinging on academic liberty, but also, perhaps, a means of compromise between the Federal and the Quebec governments in the disputatious matter of educational support. He asks for endowment funds, made available to the universities without strings of any kind, in addition to annual grants. The latter are subject to yearly fluctuations and considerable political bickering. Dr. Penfield said, in another part of his address that the Federal Government should interest itself in university teaching and research (implying financial help by means of endowment funds) and that the Provincial Governments "must support education and teaching", indicating annual maintenance grants.

* * *

"Freedom is the atmosphere in which intellectual leadership thrives and . . . a reasonable proportion of endowed income is an irreplaceable requirement for the best type of productive work in institutions of higher learning". It is important that governments weigh this matter of endowment against the present practice of special donations and annual subsidies, because governments, through their income taxes and succession duties, are drying up the former sources of endowment—private, personal benefactions.

No U.S. Tariff

When the Republican Party regained power in the United States, the first reaction of exporters to that country was fear that they would be adversely affected by the return of the traditional high tariff party. These fears were allayed, temporarily, by announcement of the Eisenhower Administration's program of tariff reduction and lowering of other trade barriers. The program was moderate, but it was regarded as a hopeful sign and it would confer certain advantages.

It is now predicted that the exporters have nothing to hope for from this program this year. There are three main features of the program: reduction of tariffs and trade barriers, extension for a year of the existing Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, and the so-called "Second Customs Simplification Bill". There appears to be a chance that the reciprocal trade act will be approved, but it will mean little if it is. It is not likely there will be conferences of nations at which the powers in the extension could be used.

The bill to simplify the customs is caught in the legislative machinery. It passed the House of Representatives, but is now bogged down in the Senate Finance Committee. Domestic interests oppose the bill, calling it a disguised tariff cut. That is one obstacle. A greater one, perhaps, is that the committee need not turn to the bill until it deals with tax revision and social security legislation, and these measures may be given as much time as the committee wishes between now and the November election.

No official announcement has been made recently about the program to reduce tariff and trade barriers but at least two news services confidently assert that the Administration has informally assured Congressional leaders that no fight will be made for it this year. The reason for offering these informal assurances is said to be recognition of the inevitable—that it is impossible to enact the legislation because of lack of time.

That could be the reason. It seems to us, however, that a more compelling reason may be found in the fact that this is an election year, and that there is a strong group within the Republican Party opposed to the program. It would be wiser politically for the Administration to shelve its "Trade not Aid" program rather than risk a divided party when facing a tight race for control of the Senate.

"Dev" Out

It used to be said that Ireland has had three periods of history: the pagan era, the Christian era, and De Valera. The third period has ended; the elections resulted in the defeat of the long-time Prime Minister of the Republic of Ireland. Perhaps this time Mr. de Valera will be off the centre of the Irish stage for good; he is 71 and not in robust health. (He was defeated once before by the coalition party headed by John A. Costello, the new Prime Minister. That was in 1948 but he returned to power again in 1951.)

In his younger days Mr. de Valera did have a touch of the devil, in the eyes of loyal Anglo-Saxons. Responsibilities of office and the mellowness of age have trimmed his horns, and now he is the Old Man of the Revolution, the only surviving commander of the 1916 Easter Uprising. He is honoured by his fellow-Irishmen for his past service but rejected by them at the polls. Even the British Tories can now tolerate his name and view his person with some warmth. He has been dined at Number 10 Downing Street.

Perhaps Mr. de Valera has become too reasonable for the volatile Irish and they want to raise the old fighting flags, even after the battle has been won. Mr. Costello is leader of the United Ireland Party. That is always a good rousing banner south of Ulster, and Mr. Costello waves it so vigorously and sweepingly that voters may have been unable to see the economic problems on their own acres.

Licensing Cats

The Council of the City of Vancouver is discussing the matter of licensing cats; there are so many strays in the city that they are a nuisance. What the situation is in Peterborough we do not know, but we think that licensing cats is a good idea.

Because a cat is a self-sufficient animal, many people who harbour a cat (which is not quite the same thing as 'keeping' one) allow it to do much of its foraging for itself. And so cats raid garbage pails, kill birds and in other ways make nuisances of themselves. But a cat which lives this way is often in bad health; it has been suggested that they are carriers of tuberculosis, rabies and ringworm; they are certainly liable to feline distemper, and are very likely to infect a cherished pet cat with this disease, which is usually fatal. The existence of great numbers of strays is dangerous to well-kept cats.

The cat is a popular pet, because it is a clean, intelligent and picturesque animal; a well-kept cat, properly fed and groomed, is a handsome sight. But stray cats, like stray dogs, are nuisances. The only way in which a stray can be told from a household pet (for appearance is not invariably a sure guide) is by a collar and a tag. A cat license need not be expensive; the present dog license is $2 for males and $4 for females; for cats a $1 male and a $2 female license would be about right. The existence of a cat license would effectively separate the real cat-owners and cat-lovers from people who don't mind having a cat, so long as they do not have to feed or control it.

Which Way To The Lift Lock?

We are already advanced in a new tourist season, and several visitors have stopped us in the street to ask the way to the Lift Lock. Because this Peterborough feature is an old story to townspeople we forget that it is of interest to scores of visitors, and that it is not as easy to find as those of us who know Peterborough might suppose; indeed, you cannot see it until you are quite close to it.

Would it be practical and desirable to put signs at a few of our main intersections which said 'Turn Right for the Lift Lock'? We think that it would. If the signs hung in the middle of the intersections they would not create confusion among the traffic signals, and they would answer one of the questions most frequently asked by our summer guests.

The Australian Elections

By WILLIAM FITTER

THE LABOUR Party is offering Australians a Welfare State without world parallel in a determined bid to regain office at the general elections to be held on May 29. The Party's leaders, headed by Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, have made bigger and better social services their main draw-card because there is no other current controversial topic dividing Labour from its political opponents — the composite Liberal-Country Party Government.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON foreign policy, defence and the further development of Australia industrially and pastorally, the two opposing groups think very much alike. There may be differences of approach; but broadly a visitor would be hard-pressed to detect any major difference in objective. So Labour, without a single blush, is offering Utopia for votes. Without increasing taxation it promises a non-contributing old age pension of £A4 a week for all "as a right;" higher child endowment and maternity allowances; equal pay for women; cheap credit and home-building loans of £A3,500 for a down payment of £A175, the balance at three per cent interest over forty-five years.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Government, headed by Premier Robert Menzies, refuses to match such promises. Its maximum concessions are a promise of "some tax cuts," and an easing of the Means test on pensions. At present, old age pensioners receive £A3.10 shillings a week provided their income from other sources does not exceed £A2 a week. The Government will raise this permissible income to £A3.10s a week. The rival policies reflect accurately the relative political strengths — and indeed the temperaments — of the rival Party leaders, Messrs. Menzies and Evatt. Mr. Menzies could not have been called on to go to the country at a more fortunate time from the Government's point of view. Australia generally is prosperous and contented. There is a healthy demand for its farm exports at reasonable prices; secondary industries are expanding; development is progressing and uranium and oil discoveries promise still greater expansion. Unemployment is at an all-time low level: less than three per thousand. The whole country has only recently been excited and stimulated by the Queen's spectacular tour, for which the Government, as official host, must receive credit.

✧ ✧ ✧

FINALLY there is the Petrov affair. The defection of Vladimir Petrov, Third Secretary at the Russian Embassy in Canberra, from Communism, the decision of both Petrov and his wife to stay in Australia, and Russia's retort in severing diplomatic relations with Australia were obviously not of the Government's making. But Menzies and his Government have been implacable haters of Communists, whom they recently tried unsuccessfully to outlaw; and without making the Petrov affair an election issue they are drawing great credit, and many votes, from it.

✧ ✧ ✧

MENZIES could have turned the Petrov affair into another Zinoviev Letter — which once wrecked Labour's prospects at a British election — but electorate advisers believe the Government's standing is sufficiently high to withstand the test of the May 29 elections without seeking credit for uncovering the secrets of Russian espionage which Petrov will disclose before a Royal Commission. Menzies had a comfortable majority in the old Parliament — sixty-eight full-voting Members against Labour's fifty-three in the House of Representatives; thirty-one to Labour's twenty-nine in the Senate. Only the House of Representatives is affected by the poll on May 29. This means that to gain office Labour must win nine seats from the Government and hold all its present seats. A gain of eight seats would give Labour a majority of one; but after Labour had appointed a Speaker the House would be dead-locked and unworkable.

✧ ✧ ✧

THOSE, then, are the circumstances which have forced Labour to gamble — recklessly, most political observers believe — in drawing up its election platform. Its promises must win many votes, those of pensioners and near pensioners, and young people who are trying desperately to get homes of their own; but Evatt's failure to explain specifically how he proposes to finance his Welfare State without increasing taxation will react against the Party among large sections of the community whose chief dread is a return to the inflationary spiral which Menzie's cautious financial policy has tempered, if not arrested.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVATT has a fine scorn for orthodox finance. "Labour will not tolerate curtailment of this country's credit requirements," he said in his policy speech. "As in war, so it must be in peace. We will give only one directive to the Commonwealth Bank (a Government institution) and that is that it is to provide the credit necessary for an expanding economy." In other words, Evatt would finance Utopia by inflation. Mild inflation is no sin; most Governments use paper money to cover any gap between revenue and expenditure. But what has shocked the Government and startled thousands of voters is the degree of inflation implicit in Labour's proposals.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ANNUAL cost of abolishing the Means Test and paying old-age pensions to all, even at today's rate of £A3.10s a week, would be £A100 million. Evatt says this can be met by charging capital works to public loans instead of paying for them out of current revenue, as the Government has been doing. But he does not explain how he would then pay for capital works. Presumably he hopes for more loan money; but bankers and Treasury experts are unanimouse that the Australian public cannot subscribe more to Government loans than the £A120 million a year they are now raising. So £A100 million worth of capital works or pensions — it really amounts to the same thing — would have to be financed with Treasury bills.

BUT, says Menzies, that is not the whole story. Treasury experts have added up the cost of Evatt's many promises and arrived at a grand total of £A357 million a year. That is roughly the sum Australia raises in income tax at present rates. So the proposition before Australian electors comes down to this: "Do you want Labour's Welfare State, which admittedly has many desirable features, at a cost of doubling income tax or grossly inflating the currency?"

Apart from the Party clash, the election will be another bitter duel between Menzies and Evatt. It is the first time they have led their respective groupings at a general election because at the last election, in 1951, the late Ben Chifley was still Labour's leader. But before the subsequent referendum at which Menzies sought public approval to amend the nation's written constitution to give Parliament power to outlaw the Australian Communist Party, Evatt had succeeded Chifley, and — almost alone, because the Labour Party was divided on the issue — challenged Menzies and swayed voters against granting that power.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVATT did not oppose the referendum's request because he sympathises with Communists. He did so because he saw that power to outlaw one political Party could be used to ban other minority groups. He argued that such a power was contrary to democratic principles, and he won. That victory, a personal triumph at the time which consolidated the Labour Party behind him, may now prove an expensive one. The Petrov affair having revived public interest in Communism, many Government candidates are recalling that in 1949 Menzies pledged his Parties to outlaw Communists; and they are saying openly: "Remember, we passed the necessary legislation, but Evatt prevented us from making it law." Menzies, unlike his apporters, is studiously avoiding the Petrov affair. One senses that he feels it would be exploiting a mean advantage to drag it on to the political platform. But chiefly, being the son of cautious Scottish parents, he is confident that Australians will reject Labour's "gold brick."

An American Opinion:
"YOU, WHO STAND ON THE THRESHOLD"

Reading Habits

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

I imagine our reading habits differ as widely as do our other habits. Out of those who do read books — and is their number growing larger or smaller? — most, I would suppose, are more or less straightforward in their reactions and behaviour. Stimulated by a vague whiff of curiosity, produced by a scarcely-noticed advertisement or by a review, or by the eager enthusiasm of a friend, a new book is bought or borrowed; read in a desultory fashion between other tasks; half-remembered for a few months, and then passed down and away into the impenetrable abyss of the unconscious Thanks to such a queer process as this, modern writers are able to exist, and in large numbers, too.

But what about old books, books well-known-of but long neglected which suddenly assert themselves and achieve a new reader? Presumably the most potent factor in such individual resurrections is the sudden and arbitrary republication of an old book in a new and cheap form. And if "Gryll Grange" for example, appears as a penguin (as it has done) does this stimulate its casual, bookstall purchasers to read the other novels of Peacock?

We all know that the war was a misleading period in the reading habits of the British. Anything was bought and read during the years of fire-watching and holidays at home and idle days in barracks. Publishers fretted under paper restrictions, but they gloried in a gaping maw of a market which would swallow even the most difficult and apparently unappetising of books.

How quickly all that was altered as soon as leisure could be filled in other ways—by television or by jaunts in the car or by larger newspapers. I am not among those who wail against the wickedness and vulgarity of the times, but I find it hard to understand how the enforced wartime appetite for books could have evaporated so quickly. Why wasn't it more habit-forming? As an inveterate, voracious and gluttonous reader myself, I cannot understand how the habit, once acquired, could be casually overcome just as soon as external conditions changed.

As a nation we are supposed to be lovers of privacy, and it is just the defensive privacy of reading which makes it, to me, the happiest and most unwearisome of occupations. Even in a train or a public-house, one can lock oneself away between the covers of a book and be where one has chosen to be. For a book is a private, one-seater vehicle, not for escape but for choosing the world and the mind which one wishes, at a given moment, to inhabit.

Unfortunately there is a contrary danger, which is just this habit of reading too much and too indiscriminately. I myself have a reading-list ahead of me which gets longer and longer, simply because I cannot read books as fast as I can write down the titles of books which I ought to read. This is a disease like any other disease, which forces one to keep eyes glued to print, no matter what is being read — no matter what is being said. There is a kind of severe priggishness of the reading-list which is just as tormenting as the determination to watch the television or to go for a spin in the car.

There is — I would defend myself — one advantage in this particular attitude to reading. It is that one forces oneself to read books which would otherwise be intolerable, because too formidable, too far away from any experience which comes close to our own lives.

There is no good reason why reading should be easy. I like to think that the hard work involved in reading an apparently dull book may result in an easier appreciation of a later and easier book. For example, Dante is easier to understand if one has already read Virgil; the Epistles are easier to understand if one has already read the Gospels.

In all this, the most unfair peculiarity is the arbitrary difference in people's memories. I am capable of reading five books running on the same subject, yet forgetting all of it within two years. I have a friend who can take one sniff at a subject and it will be his property forever. There is, in fact, a cruel inconsequence about our varied reading abilities.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son also: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian.

And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the Lord shall rule over you . . . .

And Gideon the son of Joash died in a good old age, and was buried in the sepulchre of Joash his father, in Ophrah of the Abiezrites . . . . And the children of Israel remembered not the Lord their God, who had delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies on every side: neither shewed they kindness to the house of Jerubbaal, namely, Gideon, according to all the goodness which he had shewed unto Israel. (Judg. 8:22, 23, 32, 34, 35.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And Abimelech the son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem unto his mother's brethern, and communed with them, and with all the family of the house of his mother's father, saying, Speak, I pray you, in the ears of all the men of Shechem, Whether is better for you, either that all the sons of Jerubbaal, which are three-score and ten persons, reign over you, or one reign over you? remember also that I am your bone and your flesh.

And his mother's brethern spake of him in the ears of all the men of Shechim all these words: and their hearts inclined to follow Abimelech; for they said, He is our brother. And they gave him three score and ten pieces of silver out of the house of Baal-berith, wherewith Abimelech hired vain and light persons, which followed him.

And he went unto his father's house at Ophrah, and slew his brethern the sons of Jerubbaal, being threescore and ten persons, upon one stone: notwithstanding yet Jotham the youngest son of Jerubball was left; for he hid himself.

And all the men of Schechem gathered together, and all the house of Millo, and went, and made Abimelech king, by the plain of the pillar that was in Shechem. (Judg. 9: 1-6).

Such Langwidge

(Ottawa Journal)

In his legislature the other day Premier Smallwood gave the country a glimpse of political warfare in the uninhibited, candid Newfoundland manner.

The argument was about fish, and the details do not matter, but Mr. Smallwood was going about the ferocious business of exterminating the group he called "the Water street merchants"—apparently the equivalent in political discussions up this way of "Bay street" and "St. James street."

At any rate the Premier told the provincial parliament of which he is chief ornament that the aforesaid merchants are "ivory-headed, stone-headed, fossil-minded," and the Government's heart for them was "hard as the hobs of hell." Catching his breath Mr. Smallwood went on to denounce the Water street gentlemen as "chuckle-headed fossils" lacking "enough brains to get out of their own way or enough initiative to get in out of the rain," and ended up with the ringing declaration that "we're going to give them the bum's rush."

In Newfoundland this may seem no more than a mild reprimand—they take their politics seriously in the 10th province. But there is no doubt the chuckle-headed fossils of Water street will answer the Premier with a blast calculated to pull his hair out by the roots. Not even a premier can have the last word, or expect any consideration in debate—certainly not when the premier himself shows so furious an attitude towards his opponents, so nice a skill with invective and abuse.

Graham Going To Berlin Despite Several Threatening Letters

LONDON (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said Monday several letters warning him to stay away from Berlin will be ignored.

"We are paying no attention to such communications," Graham said. "The tour of seven continental cities for a series of meetings will take place as arranged, and we shall be in Berlin June 25 to 27."

He wound up a three-month religious crusade here Saturday with two vast open-air meetings attended by nearly 200,000 people despite rain.

Only three months ago when the tall, blonde North Carolina preacher arrived with a public relations team and ballyhoo worthy of a Hollywood star, many Britons raised their eyebrows and said they didn't take to religion that way, thank you.

But on Saturday the thousands poured into London from all over the country—by train, bus and bicycle. They filled and overflowed both the White City Stadium's 60,000 seats in the afternoon and the giant Empire Stadium at Wembley, seating 100,000, in the evening.

BETTER THAN U.S.

The massive turnout drew grateful thanks from Graham, who told the rain-soaked Wembley crowd: "This is way beyond anything that the United States can do—and that includes Texas."

"We have fallen in love with the British people," he affirmed. "We have learned a great deal from you and all that you have taught us we are going to bring back to the United States."

"The spirit of God is moving across Britain as at no time in the last century," Graham added confidently. "This is probably the greatest spiritual hunger in the heart of the average Britisher in history."

Evidence that British churches have accepted Graham's effectiveness came Saturday night when Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and leader of the Church of England, joined the young evangelist on the Wembley platform. Dr. Fisher ended the service with a benediction and a blessing.

MPs Observe Queen's Birthday

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons observed the Queen's birthday Monday by singing "God Save the Queen" at the opening.

It then went about its work as usual after Prime Minister St. Laurent said it would be manifesting devotion to the Queen by considering "Her Majesty's business."

During the Commons question period, Harold E. Winch (CCF—Vancouver South) asked the prime minister why the Commons must sit on the Queen's birthday when the Senate and its employees have a holiday and banks and normal business establishments are closed.

Mr. St. Laurent said the proceedings of the Commons are regulated by the members themselves. What the Senate did was the business of senators.

Since his entry in the Commons, in 1942, the House always sat on the Queen's birthday, if Parliament happened to be in session.

House Will Begin Morning Sittings

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons will start morning sittings next Monday in a drive to complete the business of Parliament by July 1.

Citizenship Minister Harris, government leader in the Commons, said Monday night a motion to begin morning sittings Monday will be submitted this week. Approval will mean that the Commons will sit from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; from 2:30 to 6 p.m.; and from 8 to 10 p.m. The Commons now sits from 2:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. with two hours for dinner.

Frog Leaps 16 Feet Breaks World Record

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP)—A three-year-old bullfrog owned by a cattle rancher who raises frogs in his spare time broke the official world's frog jumping record Sunday.

Under the gaze of an estimated 9,000 spectators, the frog Lucky Lager leaped a total of 16 feet, 10 inches in three jumps to capture the $1,000 first prize for its owner, Angels Camp rancher Roy Wiemer.

High Tension Tom, owned by Ben Graham of Owen Sound, Ont., jumped the farthest of three Canadian entries with a leap of eight feet, six inches.

Lucky Lager's jump broke the record of 16 feet, two inches, set in 1944 by the frog Maggie, owned by Merlin Fisher of Stockton, Calif.

Boy Starts Fire

TORONTO (CP)—A seven-year-old boy started a $10,000 fire in a tobacco shop Saturday by throwing a lighted book of matches into a fireworks display in the shop window, police and fire officials said. The flash fire gutted the shop front and forced three persons to vacate. No one was hurt.

LARGE BILLS
And How to pay them

Most people spend large sums of money only when they know where the money is coming from. But there are some bills that you just can't plan for. For instance, car smash-ups, unexpected medical expenses, fires, thefts and anything completely out of your control; bills . . . that hit you like a bolt out of the blue. These large bills are often a serious concern to a family. That's when a Niagara loan can really be of help. At any rate there are a lot of letters in our office which were written by people who certainly think our service was a mighty fine answer to this difficult kind of problem. You'll find if you inquire, that friendly loans at Niagara Finance often have lower rates. Another point about Niagara, loans to $1500 are life-insured at no extra cost to you. If you have a large unexpected bill which you can't handle why not drop in or phone; we'll be glad to see you.

P-W Club Gains Cricket Tilt Over Port Hope

Peterborough "A" cricketers won by 160 runs over Port Hope here on Saturday.

Both teams were not at full strength, Peterborough being short one man and Port Hope two men. The Port Hope skipper won the toss and put Peterborough into bat.

G. Smith and B. Roberts opened the batting against the bowling of E. Driver and N. File (capt.). Smith started by hitting the first ball of the match for four and settled down to score quickly. Roberts was more subdued, content to let Smith carry the scoring and when Smith was run out with the score at 35 Smith had scored 25 of those 35 runs. E. Bedford joined Roberts and the scoring pace increased mainly due to lack of keenness in the field by the visitors, both Bedford and Roberts giving catches early in their innings which were dropped and which proved expensive misses.

SCORED 43 RUNS

With the score at 99 however, Bedford was caught by Butts off Barr having scored 43 runs, which included 7 fours and a six, a fine effort. Roberts was joined by Booth who helped in another productive partnership before Roberts was bowled round his legs for 40 with the score now reading 141 for 3 wickets. Driver who had bowled Roberts soon had another success getting D. Whitaker leg-before-wicket for 9 runs.

In spite of varied bowling changes by the Port Hope skipper, Booth and Cotton scored quickly and with his score at 60 Booth retired. Cotton continued to hit out and at the tea interval had scored a forceful 52 not out which included 10 fours. W. Cridland was not out 10, T. Clarke the Peterborough skipper having retired earlier for 6. The Peterborough score now stood at 249 for 4 declared.

After tea, the tired Port Hope side had to face this big score and opened with F. Barr and V. Treasure against the bowling of Clarke and Booth. They lost a quick wicket, with the score at 7, Treasure being bowled by Clarke for 1. E. Driver now joined Barr and these two pushed the score on steadily to 42 before Driver was caught by Cotton off Smith for a well played 22. Skipper Clark changed the Peterborough bowlers around frequently and did not give the Port Hope batsmen chance to settle down. Wickets fell quickly Wright and Smith getting two each and having the batsmen constantly in trouble. With the score at 58 for five, N. File and P. Fishlock made a determined stand for Port Hope adding 29 runs before File was bowled by Bedford for 19. Fishlock continued to bat well but received no support the last two Port Hope batsmen being stumped by Cridland off Bedford. Fishlock was 13 not out at the close, Port Hope being all out for 89, Bedford had 3 wickets for 9 runs.

Petes Take Win Over Tigers In OLA Contest

Peterborough Trailermen made Victoria Day a victorious day. Devouring Hamilton Tigers 14-9 to move into a first-place tie in the senior OLA with St. Catharines Athletics.

Playing at the Hamilton Lacrosse Bowl before 406 paid, Trailermen skyrocketed to victory, leading 3-1, 7-5 and 12-6 at the quarters.

Tigers, who showed the fight of a bag of bobcats had a 5-4 lead at one time but then faded like a shadow in the sunlight before the Peterborough onslaught.

Denny Peterson and Bob Allen paced Trailermen with three goals apiece while Doug Powell, Lou ickleN and Bob Curtis each got two. Bob Batley and Jerry Fitzgerald got singles.

LED SCORERS

Top goal scorer for the night, however, was a Tiger — Jim McNulty — who scored four times. Stan Abbott had a pair of Hamilton goals while Bill Rankin, Doug Davidson and Glen Passmore got singles.

The game was delayed in the third period when Tiger Goalie Bud Smith drew a misconduct penalty for slashing Peterborough's Bob Curtis and had to hand over his equipment to Herb Jacobs, Tiger spare goalie, who finished the game.

After letting the first two shots at him score, Jacobs, a 23-year-old Indian, settled down to almost match the peerless performance of Moon Wootton, steady as a surgeon's mitt.

The teams:

Hamilton — Goal, Smith, Jacobs; defence, Passmore, Brown, Guthro, Grainer; forwards, Rankin, Dorney, Walton, Dobbie, Davidson, Abbott, D. Amico, McNulty, Hill.

Peterboreough — Goal, Wootton; defence, Powell, Fitzgerald, Ashbee, Wipper; forwards, Nickle, Curtis, Thorpe, Allen, Burns, Mason, Peterson, Batley, Killingbeck, Slater.

SWEEPS FENCING

MONTREAL (CP)—Montrealers swept the sabre, foil and epee events in the three-day trials here for positions on Canada's 1954 British Empire Games fencing team.

Leslie Krasa, with seven victories, Monday took first place in the sabre trials and Roland Asselin with six ended in second place. Carl Schwende had five wins for third place.

The national fencing committee said it will recommend a team of eight men and two women—all of Montreal—to represent Canada at Vancouver July 30—aug. 7.

Quinte School Captures Top Track Honors In COSSA Competitions

Flashing fine form in a majority of events at the annual track and field meet for three of the four COSSA districts here on Saturday (Niagara district runs its own show), Belleville Collegiate captured honors with a total of 32 points. PCVS and St. Peter's High of Peterborough tied for second place with 25 points apiece, and Oshawa Collegiate and Vocational Institute was next with 23. Twenty-one secondary schools competed.

Among excellent efforts shown in the meet was the intermediate pole vault of Quinlan of Midland, who cleared 10 feet nine inches with ease, but failed later in a try for the record; Maracle of Belleville reeled off the 440-yard run in intermediate in 52.6. LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Close to one hundred lawn bowlers — ladies and gents — were in attendance yesterday afternoon when President Len Bearne officially declared open, the 1954 lawn bowling season.

The ideal weather may have had a lot to do with the grand turnout but we are also inclined to believe that as this year we are celebrating our 25th anniversary on the present site, the boys and girls just wanted to be on hand for this special occasion.

President Beame in a neat address said how it was a privilege and a pleasure for him to declare the bowling season open, with so many in attendance. He paid tribute to the committees for the work they have already accomplished and told the gathering that they could expect a long and varied schedule.

He referred to the passing of one of our ardent and loyal members — Nelson Routly — and asked the bowlers to pay tribute to his memory by standing with heads bowed for two minutes silence.

It was one of the biggest "first-night" events we have had for many seasons.

The winning rinks were skipped by H. Taylor, M. Fletcher and R. F. Downey.

The spider contests were won by Mrs. F. Mowney and S. Jones.

The men begin their schedule this evening.

Petes Dump Batas In 10-6 Fray Before Big Crowd

The Petes downed Belleville Batas 10-6 here Monday to open the locals' home VOBL season before a good-sized holiday crowd. It was the first game of the schedule for Belleville, and the Petes' first win in two starts, as they lost more than a week ago in Toronto to Hoskings. The latter, who beat Oakville on Saturday, play here next Saturday evening.

The lengthy holiday duel say five flingers used. Sam Mulholland labored till out in the eighth inning for Bata and was charged with the loss, Bob Bunton finishing up. Tony Kotowski started well for Petes but hit a wild streak and was yanked in the fourth, Brian Wade taking over then till two were out in the ninth, when Jerry Frizzelle came in to stop a Quinte threat with a strike out. Wade got credit for the victory.

HURLERS WEAKEN

Walks, wild pitches and sacrifices, along with some timely thumping figured in the scoring, both teams finishing strong as the rival hurlers weakened. The best blow of the game was a two-run triple by Petes' Eddie Redmond. He and Edger had two hits each in three tries, while Larry Foley and Manager Joe Lowrey had one for two each. Mouse Bush got one in two Belleville attempts and Jerry Goyer two for five.

Some fine fielding was seen, with Foley and Lowrey especially good in the outfield for the winners, and Keith McDonald pulling off a nifty one-hand stab in deep short for the losers. Each side stole three sacks, the homesters being nicked on two other attempts, and Kotowski once picking McoDnald off first. Clare Ferguson and ill Edger had the only double-play of the tilt. Belleville left 11 men stranded, and the Petes left half a dozen.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

COSSA track and field meet (at least three-quarters of it) was staged here Saturday, and saw some good marks hung up by athletes of 21 high schools. Honors for total points went to the Belleville Collegiate, while St. Peter's High and PCVS of this city finished in a tie for second place, ahead of Oshawa. Ideal weather prevailed and the meet (usually staged in Oshawa) ran off without hitch, Bev Goulding doing the book work. He pointed out that no accurate record had been kept in the past for COSSA records up this way, but they were working on it now and would try to compile the list properly for future records. Niagara Falls district schools stage their own COSSA show.

A goodly gallery at Riverside yester aft to see the local VOBL opener, the Petes taking a 10-6 triumph o'er the Belleville Batas. Big Vern Goyer, skipper of the Batas, didn't like the loss at all and beefed throughout at the umps, but the Lowrey lads earned the duke without any help. Used three twirlers to do it, while Belleville called on two throwers. The pitchers haven't rounded into shape yet, tossing a lot of free tickets and some wild pitches, but they'll hit their form as the weather warms up. Some excellent fielding seen and some timely thumping at the plate, Ed Redmond getting off the long one of the day, a triple to the left field wall. Foley and Lowrey looked good in the home garden.

Wade Gets The Win

Brian Wade got credit for the Petes' win, even though the home side was leading 1-0 when Tony Kotowski left in the fourth. The rule says the starting pitcher must be ahead and have gone five frames before he can be given the win. Sam Mulholland was the loser. Another rule in effect this year—and seen several times in Monday's game—is the sacrifice fly. The batter gets credit for a sacrifice fly when, with less than two out, he hits a fair fly ball which is caught but which scores a runner. Same thing if the fly is dropped for an error, but the runner scores. A bit of everything (even a balk) was seen in this opener. Hugh Campbell, Ald. Jack Dewart and Max Swanston took part in the opening ceremony.

The 24th of May wouldn't be right without fireworks, and hundreds of folks (with their kids) enjoyed an excellent "do" put on last eve at the Peterborough Golf Club. Several hundreds of dollars worth of fireworks, free hot dogs, candies and balloons for the young ones, a clown leading a sing song, and kids from the Orphanage and Children's Aid also guests. A dandy program by the club's entertainment committee of Chairman Stan McBride, Mike O'Leary, Don Vyse, J. Clarkson, Ron Davis, B. Parr, Joe Watson, H. Eastman, Stu Williamson, John Lavictoire, Les Reid and Alf Hill.

Punting That Pigskin

The 23-man executive of the Peterborough Orfuns Football Club meets tonight at 7:30 in the conference room of the City Hall to elect officers for the 1954 season. There's a lot of work to be done in getting the club re-organized in defence of its ORFU intermediate "A" championship won for the past two years. Prexy Dr. Don Aitken will be going to Vancouver for the month of June, and wants the new slate of officers named right away. An item out of Oshawa states that the Red Raiders, finally free of debt after several years in the hole, will be back in action again under Coach Jack Wedley, and with a working agreement with the Saskatchewan Roughriders. Hm, interesting.

Local Trailermen came up with a nice victory in Hamilton last night to keep intact their victory streak on the road this season. They have won in St. Kitts, Mimico and Hamilton, while dropping one joust here to the Athletics. Latter were quite elated over their win up this way last Friday, but their scribe cautions 'em not to let it go to their heads, as the champs are still plenty strong and will improve as the season progresses. The A's beat Mimico 12-11 Saturday in St. Catharines, so the Cove crew and Bob Thorpe's Petes are still tied atop the heap. The Mimico Mounties come here this Friday, and the Trailermen then are idle until the following Friday when Hamilton shows for the first time this semester in Miller Bowl.

Lowly Pirates Topple Dodgers In 5-2 Triumph

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Sports Writer

Seven magic days have given Milwaukee Braves undisputed possession of first place in the National League.

Only a week ago they were sixth, then suddenly everything started coming their way. They won seven straight. And when they took the night off Monday night, the lowly Pittsburgh Pirates rose up and toppled Brooklyn 5-2, knocking the Dodgers down to second position.

For the Braves it was a week managers like to dream about. An ailing pitcher found himself. A rookie pitched a complete game in his first start. One game was won with five runs in the ninth, another with four in the ninth and still another in extra innings.

Chet Nichols, the young lefthander fresh from the army who was supposed to take up the slack left by the trades of Johnny Antonelli and Max Surkont, pulled his record above the .500 mark with two good triumphs. He's now 4-3 after losing his first three.

BIG JUMP OK

Ray Crone, making the big jump from Jacksonville of the class-A Sally League, chalked up a 10-inning victory Sunday.

In winning a doubleheader Saturday the Braves scored four runs against Chicago in the final inning of the first game and five in the ninth in the nightcap.

The Pirates' decision over Brooklyn was one of four games played Monday night. In the others, Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis 6-2, New York Giants edged Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and New York Yankees whipped Philadelphia Athletics 7-3.

Pittsburgh had lost six in a row and eight out of nine to Brooklyn this season. But Monday night a two-run homer by Frank Thomas and a bases-empty blast by Dick Cole gave Max Surkont the margin he needed to win his fourth game. Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's biggest winner last season, suffered his fourth loss against four victories.

Jim Davis, a rookie lefthander up from Seattle, held the Cardinals to seven scattered singles in his first big-league starting assignment for the Cubs. Stan Musial went hitless and Ray Jablonski, the league's leading hitter, managed only one hit in four times at bat.

RASCHI HURT

Vic Raschi started for the Cardinals but gave up after one inning when he was hit on the right leg by a line drive. He suffered a ruptured blood vessel, but apparently no lasting damage. He is expected back in action in a few days.

Willie Mays drove in four of the Giants' five runs at Philadelphia. He hit two home runs, one with a man on base, and a single that drove in a run. Hoyt Wilhelm, who took over from Sal Maglie, picked up his second victory.

The Athletics fell into last place as they bowed on three hits to rookie Bob Grim of the Yankees. They are tied in percentage with Boston Red Sox, but trail the Sox by a full game in the "games behind" column.

SUSPENSION LIFTED

OTTAWA (CP)—Les Bell, manager of the Ottawa Athletics, said Saturday that he has fined Gerry Scala four days pay and lifted the suspension against the outfielder.

Weslock Wins Opening Match

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (CP)—Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., won his opening-day match while Toronto veteran Phil Farley was eliminated from the British amateur golf tournament Monday.

Generally the favorites advanced without difficulty as first and second-round matches were run off on the wind-swept 6,806-yard Muirfield course. All 10 Canadian entries drew first-round byes and most of them were not scheduled to play their first matches until today.

Weslock, the steady 37-year-old shotmaker who has been low amateur in the Canadian Open on five occasions, had little trouble disposing of Robert Jenkins of England 6 and 5. But Farley bowed 5 and 3 to Scotland's Jock Mcgregor.

Defending champion Joe Carr of Ireland led the advance of favorites, downing John McNeilly of Lynn, Mass., 4 and 3.

Leafs Crush Bisons Twice

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto's slam-bang Maple Leafs rode the top of the International League today after a triumphant week-end and Victoria Day holiday which saw them take six victories in a row.

The Leafs strengthened their league lead Monday with a twin triumph against Buffalo Bisons, 5-2 and 10-2. Toronto now leads Rochester by a full game.

Clint Hartung, who has slammed 10 home runs in 36 games with Havana Sugar Kings, hit a pair Monday night in the first game of a doubleheader at Montreal, but the Sugar Kings still lost, 6-5. His club could have used a couple more in the nightcap, which Montreal also won 6-4, on Hamp Coleman's five-hit pitching.

The hapless Syracuse Chiefs lost their 15th straight, 3-2 to Rochester.

Richmond whipped Ottawa twice 2-1 and 6-1. Ed Mierkowicz' grand-slam home run was the big blow in the second game. He also drove in one of the two first-game tallies.

U.S. Supreme Court To Rule On Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S Supreme Court agreed Monday to rule on whether the business of promoting professional championship boxing matches is subject to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The court already has decided that professional baseball is not within the scope of the act.

It also agreed to hear arguments on whether booking and other practices in connection with legitimate theatre productions violate the anti-trust laws.

Two Players Sign Canadian Contracts

WAKE FOREST, N. C. (AP)—Two former Wake Forest College football players have signed professional contracts with Canadian teams for next season.

They are Bob Ondilla, 22, of Hillside, N.J., and Ken Bridges, 24, of Shelby. Ondilla, an end, and Bridges, a tackle, both were named to all-conference teams while playing with the Deacons.

Ondilla signed with Hamilton Tiger Cats and Bridges with Ottawa Rough Riders.

Great All-Time Pitcher Albert (Chief) Bender Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Charles Albert (Chief) Bender, one of baseball's great all-time pitchers and a member of the Hall of Fame died Saturday at the age of 71.

Bender, who had been ill for some time, died in Graduate Hospital. He had been under treatment for cancer and had recently suffered a heart attack.

Bender in 15 years as one of the best pitchers in baseball never made more than $2,400 a season as an active player. The full-blooded Chippewa Indian had been serving as a coach for the Philadelphia Athletics at more than double the pay he got as a pitcher.

Connie Mack regarded Bender as his greatest one-game pitcher. "If everything depended on one game" Mack once said, "I just used Albert."

WON SIX WORLD SERIES

The Chief was the first pitcher to win six world series games. He took two each in the 1911 and 1913 classic, and one each in 1905 and 1910. He headed the pitching staff of one of Connie Mack's greatest teams, the 1910 through 1914 American League champions. Mack had the famed $100,000 infield of Frank (Home-run) Baker, Jack Barry, Eddie Collins and Stuffy McInnes.

Bender's greatest year was 1910 when he won 23 and lost 5.

The man who won 206 games and pitched 41 shutouts, served for many years both as minor league manager and major league coach.

The Chief reached the goal of all professional baseball players in September, 1953, when the Old Timers' Committee elected him to the Hall of Fame.

Hasty Road Wins Preakness Fans Left Limp

BALTIMORE (AP)—Regardless of what he does in the Belmont Stakes three weeks hence, Hasty Road will go down in turf history as the horse of thrilling finishes.

When Allie Reuben's blazed-faced three-year-old son of Roman won the richest of all Preakness Stakes last Saturday, it marked the sixth race this year in which he left spectators limp at the finish.

SET BURNING PACE

If Hasty Road does go in the Belmont, New York fans can look for a thriller. For Correlation, who beat the Toledo-owned colt in the Preakness Prep by a head and lost to him by a slim neck in the Preakness, also is headed for the third race of the triple crown.

Hasty Road went to the front soon after the start of the Preakness set a burning pace through the early stages and then said "catch me" in the final drive for the finish line.

The long - striding Correlation came from far back, drew within a neck a sixteenth of a mile from home, then failed to gain another inch.

Correlation was involved in some bumping, just as he was in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness Prep. The judges listened to the complaint of Arnold Kirkland, who rode Hasseyampa into third place, but finally let the order of finish stand.

Stunning Upset For Australia

PARIS (AP)—Australia's hopes for a second straight men's singles title in the French international tennis championships almost disappeared Monday as defending champion Ken Rosewall lost to Sven Davidson of Sweden 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Davidson's stunning upset came only one day after Gardnar Moull of Coral Gables, Fla., had defeated Lewis Hoad. The defeat of the two 19-year-old stars who kept the Davis Cup in Australia this year left Mervyn Rose as the only Aussie representative in the quarter-finals along with five Americans, Davidson and Enrique Morea of Argentina.

Hoad and Rosewall kept their hopes alive for some share in the titles as they defeated Antonio Maggi and Orlando Sirola of Italy 6-2, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3 in a ragged third-round doubles match.

Japanes Records Narrow Decision

TOKYO (AP) — Yoshio Shirai, world flyweight boxing champion, Monday night hammered out a narrow, 15-round decision over little Leo Espinosa of The Philippines in a title bout.

A crowd of about 35,000 paid some $50,000 to see the slim Shirai gain a split verdict over the rugged Filipino challenger in a snarling, action-packed battle.

It was Shirai's fourth successful defence of the title he won in May, 1952, from Dado Marino of Honolulu. The champion weighed 110¾ for the battle and the challenger 111.

Canadians Mark Victoria Day With Firecrackers, Gun Salutes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians marked Victoria Day, the former queen's birthday and the nation's official observance of Queen Elizabeth's birthday, in traditional style with firecrackers, flags and 21-gun army salutes in many cities.

The House of Commons at Ottawa sat as usual. Prime Minister St. Laurent said it would be a mark of the country's devotion to the Queen to consider "Her Majesty's business." Members opened the session with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

The Queen's actual birthday is April 21, but May 24 was designated as her official birthday by the federal Government to enable Canadians to take advantage of warmer weather and an already established national holiday.

WEATHER MIXED

Warm, sunny weather was general in Quebec, Ontario and Alberta, but overcast skies or rain hampered ceremonies in some of the other provinces.

The Maritimes reported rain, but the sun was warm in Ontario and Quebec, with temperatures in the 70s and low 80s. Holiday-seekers loaded their cars with lunch hampers, fishing tackle and golf clubs, and jammed highways leading to their favorite vacation spots.

Combined celebrations in Montreal took in the Fete de Dollard in honor of Dollard des Ormeaux, hero of the Long Sault.

KILLED BY INDIANS

A defender of the outpost in the early days of the settlement of Montreal, Dollard and 12 others were overpowered and slaughtered by Iroquois Indians.

Festivities were curtailed by rain and cold air in southern Manitoba, but weather conditions were ideal in Calgary and Edmonton. Blue skies and temperatures in the high 60s enticed thousands of persons to Banff. Others flocked to Calgary to watch horse racing.

In Wilcox, Sask., Victoria Day was also observed as International Day, begun 12 years ago by nearby Notre Dame College to promote better relations between Canada and the United States.

Suburban festivities were called off or held indoors when the first rain in two weeks fell Monday in Victoria, B.C., but a large crowd saw runners compete in the final performance of the British Empire Games two-day benefit show.

FIREBALLER—Bob Turley, young Baltimore speed merchant, is showing plenty of early foot toward becoming the new strikeout king of the major leagues.

CAVARETTA TO SOX

CHICAGO (AP)—Phil Cavaretta, deposed as manager of Chicago Cubs last March, signed Monday with the White Sox as a pinch hitter and utility first baseman-outfielder.

The 37-year-old long-time Chicago favorite joined the Sox 18 hours after they obtained third baseman George Kell from Boston Red Sox in exchange for utility infielder Grady Hatton and a reported $100,000 in cash.

The White Sox, running second in the American League, are woefully weak in pinch-hitting, with a record of only one successful effort in 35 tries—and that by pitcher Bob Keegan.

Cavaretta has been a free agent since the Cubs fired him in favor of Stan Hack. He'll continue to draw most of his pay from the Cubs, who agreed to pay the difference between his manager's salary, believed to be approximately $30,000, and his stipend in any new baseball job he might take on.

BAKSI LOSES

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Baker won a unanimous 10-round decision over Joe Baksi Monday night and minutes after the fight ended the 32-year-old Baksi's manager, Leo Feureisen, died in the dressing room.

It was the second time in two years that tragedy has struck Baksi, who is trying for a comeback on the heavyweight trail. Only last winter, Nate Wolfson, who handled the former title contender, died.

Baksi weighed 236, Baker 206.

JONES DEFEATED

NEW YORK (AP)—Pedro Gonzales, a 3-to-1 underdog from Rankin, Pa., Monday night dished out another damaging defeat to Ralph (Tiger) Jones by gaining a split 10-round decision over the fourth-ranking middleweight from Yonkers, N.Y., at St. Nicholas Arena.

Jones weighed 158½, Gonzales 160¾.

Upset only 10 days ago by France's Jacques Royer, the 25-year-old Jones tried to regain prestige with a knockout over the windmill punching 21-year-old Gonzales. He couldn't even floor Gonzales.

GLASGOW WINS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The touring Glasgow Rangers, led by centre-forward Billy Simpson who scored three goals, defeated British Columbia Mainland All-stars 9-0 here Monday night.

It was Glasgow's second victory in the Canadian section of a North American tour. On Saturday at Toronto the Scottish League team defeated an Ontario All-star team 4-1.

Attendance at Toronto was 10,442. A pounding rain kept the crowd here down to 6,000.

BUBBA RELEASED

CHICAGO (AP)—Bubba Church, veteran righthanded relief pitcher, Monday was released outright by Chicago Cubs to Los Angeles, their Pacific Coast League farm club, and hurler Jim Brosnan was recalled from Des Moines, Iowa. In 38 games for Cincinnati and the Cubs last season, the 28-year-old Church had a 7-8 record and a 5.29 earned run average.

+ + +

ABUSED REFEREE

BROOKLYN (AP)—Russ Meyer Brooklyn Dodger righthander, was fined $50 by National League president Warren Giles Monday for abusing umpire Lon Warneke in Saturday's game with Pittsburgh. Meyer had allowed three straight hits and was removed by manager Walter Alston after walking pitcher Jake Thies. On his way to the bench he berated the umpire.

QUITS FIGHT

BRUSSELS (AP)—Karel Sys, 40-year-old Belgian heavyweight quit in the fourth round of his scheduled 10-round bout with Nino Valdes of Cuba Saturday night and told newspaper men later, "I'm not crazy, I didn't want to get killed."

Valdes, the world's second-ranked heavyweight contender, clouted Sys whenever he could catch him in the abbreviated fight, which ended with six seconds remaining in the fourth round.

Valdes weighed 211¼, Sys 204½.

CLAIMS RECORDS

LONDON (AP)—Russia claimed new world records Saturday in the women's javelin and women's high jump. Radio Moscow said N. Konyayeva tossed the javelin 180 feet, 4 21-64 inches, an increase of 4 feet, 9 21-32 inches over her own world mark. The other record was claimed for Alexandra Chudina who leaped 5 feet, 4 47-54 inches in the high jump eclipsing the recognized standard of 5 feet, 4 11-32 inches set in 1951 by Britain's Shirley Lerwill.

WINS IN GOLF

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Toski coasted to his third major golf victory of the year, winning the $20,000 Eastern Open Sunday with an even-par 72 in the final round and a 72-hole total of 277. The $4,000 top slice of the prize melon enabled Toski to vault into first place among golf's leading money winners, with a total of almost $11,000.

The Livingston, N.J., youngster breezed home seven strokes ahead of runner-up Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

Horse-Happy Canadians Reach London

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—A contingent of horse-happy Canadians arrived by air Monday from New York. Their objective: To root home Canadian-owned Blue Sail in the 175th renewal of the Derby at Epsom Downs June 2.

With them came jockey Johnny Longden who will ride Blue Sail. Longden was greeted by his wife Hazel, formerly of Winnipeg, who told reporters invitations have already been issued for a "victory party" the night after the derby.

But Longden, who has ridden more than 4,400 winners—including one in England in 1949—said "we'll have to wait and see."

IN PARTY

Travelling with Longden were Max Bell of Calgary, who with Frank McMahon bought Blue Sail for the Derby bid some six months ago; Charley Conacher, Toronto hotel owner and former National Hockey League star, Mervyn (Red) Dutton, former NHL president, George Gardiner, Toronto stockbroker who this winter paid 5,100 guineas for the English horse St. Vincent; and Hal Straight, managing editor of the Vancouver Sun.

The Canadian party, along with Longden, will go to Ireland today to take a look at Blue Sail, now in the care of Irish trainer Michael Dawson.

The odds on Blue Sail shortened from 100 to 6 to 110 to 7 in Monday's call-over. The Irish-bred son of Tehran, out of the Blue Peter Mare Set Sail, is ranked sixth in the current betting.

The favorite remains Rawston Manor, owned by 76-year-old Lincolnshire farmer F. W. Dennis and quoted Monday at 6 to 1.

Local Club Beaten By West Indians

West Indians defeated the P-W "B" cricketers 138 to 31 Saturday in council play in Toronto. Against the bowling of Dyer and Illingworth, the score mounted steadily, Gabriel getting 23, Knight 19, Walker 18 and Spooner 16. They rolled their total to 138. Illingworth bowling had three for 34 and Bier four for 29.

Freeman and Bier opened Peterborough batting, the former losing his wicket at nine. Blackman bowled well to get five wickets for only three runs conceded. Gabriel also bowled well and they held the visitors to 31. Freeman, Bier and Smith each had seven, the latter being not out.

Kentario Wins Record-Smashing Race

TORONTO (CP)—A son of the great Whirlaway Monday smashed a 10-year-old track record for six furlongs at the Woodbine race course here and tied a 25-year-old Canadian record for the distance.

The sparkling performance was turned in by Kentario, a big, chestnut stallion who was near death from shipping fever while a three-year-old. This, along with the fact he's an offspring of Whirlaway, probably accounts for his erratic racing career.

Kentario, now a six-year-old, has shown he can run like his daddy, but when he has an off day there's no telling what he'll do. He won only four of his 15 starts in 1953.

Monday he won the $5,000 Highland Stakes in 1:10 1-5, breaking the track record of 1:10 3-5 for six furlongs set by Sabulas in 1944. He tied the Canadian record established in 1929 by Miss Rasedale at Devonshire Park, Windsor, Ont. The world record is 1:08 1-5 set by Bolero at Golden Gate Fields, Albany, Calif., in 1950.

Kentario, owned by Miss Veronica Hubbard of Toronto, was ridden by Alfie Nash and trained by John Calhoun. A longshot in the field of 11, he paid $36.40 for $2. Close Support was second and Dustpan third.

ANOTHER RECORD SET

Kentario was not the only horse to set a track record at Woodbine Monday before a Victoria Day crowd of 19,757. Miss Stifle, owned by Eric Craddock's North Downs Farms, clipped two-fifths of a second off the record for two furlongs when he was named the winner of a five-horse photo finish in 21 3-5 seconds. The old mark of 22 seconds was set by Albion in 1950 and has been equalled twice.

The winter-book favorites for the Queen's Plate lived up to their advance notices in winning their divisions in two of the four Plate trials at Woodbine Saturday.

A crowd of 16,000 saw the winter-book choices — Mrs. Gordon McMacken's King Maple and E. P. Taylor's Queen's Own — come through as expected in their divisions, with Collesteo from the Bur-Fit Stable of Hamilton and another Taylor entry, Staff Reporter, winning impressively also.

Queen's Own and Collesteo both covered the six-furlong distance in 1:11.3.

King Maple, "Horse of the Year" in 1953, scored a two-length victory in 1:12 flat but Staff Reporter, who paid $10.80, was forced to a driving finish to win by a nose over Beau Bunty, owned by Mrs. B. S. Chris of Kitchener.

Holiday action in the men's Civic Softball League saw Bill's Lunch down Peterborough Canoe 20-6 in an early afternoon slugging bee; and Police adding insult to injury by also trimming Roy Moore's laddies 7-6, in the late contest.

Herb Cardwell's Army nine carved out a neat 8-6 triumph in the curtain raiser of the evening twin-bill at the Bowl, while Ralph Parnell's Seabrook Electric lads won their third triumph of the young season by handing Bell Telephone their first loss of year, to the tune of 6-4.

Wednesday night will see Bill's Lunch led by Bob Welsh against Chum Gillespie's strong telephone squad in the opener; while Jim Healy's unbeaten Police crew will visit Fairviews for the nightcap.

England Handed Worst Soccer Defeat In History

BUDAPEST (Reuters) — One of the world's hottest athletic combinations exploded behind the Iron Curtain here Sunday to hand England its worst international soccer defeat in history.

Eleven elusive Hungarians, whose soccer knowledge stemmed from the teaching of British coaches, beat the Britons at their own game and rubbed it in to the tune of 7-1.

Before a howling crowd of 92,000 supporters, Communist Hungary's Olympic champions booted the ball through England's defence with bullet-like accuracy, running up a 3-0 lead in the first half.

BRITONS DEMORALIZED

In the second half, the roof fell in on the fighting but demoralized Britons as Hungary rocketed the ball into England's goal three times within four minutes.

All Communist Hungary's top leaders were on hand to watch their machine-like team add to its Olympic laurels and establish itself as undisputed favorite for the world soccer championship contest in Switzerland this summer.

British sports writers covering the match gave the English side a lambasting. Some wrote off the defeat as the passing of England's football greatness.

The London News Chronicle reproduced on its front page a small urn on which was inscribed a requiem to English soccer.

BOLD PLANS for the rebuilding of the city of London are afoot after the bomb sites have been cleared away. Next to St. Paul's cathedral a new building will be erected for the Bank of England, which, with its modern design, will contrast sharply with the centuries-old cathedral. Photo shows St. Paul's cathedral at left with bomb-damaged site at right which will be cleared for the new bank building.—(Federal Newsphoto).

ARMY BUSH CAMP, cleared from the underbrush, is under construction in the woods of New Brunswick. Soon the 3rd Canadian Infantry Brigade, under Brig. J. M. Rockingham, will move into the area. Here two soldiers, Cpls. Leduc, of Montreal, and Des Roche, of Prince Edward Island, pause for a smoke during clearing preparations. First army units to take summer training at Camp Gagetown will be the 1st Battalion, RCR 1st Black Watch Battalion, and the 3rd Battalion Canadian Guards. —(Federal News Photo).

Missing Car Found In Maple

Three minor accidents and a missing car were investigated by city police over the holiday week-end.

A 1952-model car was discovered missing from the Williamson Bros. used car lot and reported to police at 11.00 a.m. Monday. The car was located by police at Maple, Ont., at 10.40 p.m. Monday, but the thief was not apprehended.

Mrs. Edith Ridyard, 44, of 1115 Hilltop St., was taking a driving lesson, Monday, with her son, when she lost control of the car turning west off College St. onto Murray. A hydro pole was cut off and the car came to rest after grazing a maple tree. Damage was heavy to the front bumper and grill. PC V. A. McConnell investigated.

A car owned by Joseph E. Finnie, of 490 George St., received about $50 damage when side-swiped by an unknown car in front of 155 Aylmer St., Saturday. The hit-and-run accident was investigated by PC W. A Scott.

A total of $180 damage was incurred by two cars at Dalhousie and Stewart St., Saturday. Donald Mor[illegible]22, of 73 Aylmer St., was [illegible] south on Stewart St., and his car received about $100 damage when in collision with a car driven by A. H. Russell 18, of Toronto. The Russell car was turning west on Dalhousie St PC. W. G. Scott investigated.

Marie Dionne Becomes Novice In Order

By BERTRAND THIBAULT

QUEBEC (CP)—Marie Dionne of the famed quintuplets has resumed her life behind the closed doors of a Quebec convent as Sister Marie Rachel, a novice in the Roman Catholic order of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament.

The 19-year-old girl from Callander, Ont., Monday accepted her new name and donned the white garb of a novice in the cloistered order during a solemn, two-hour service. This further step to complete separation from her four quintuplet sisters — Yvonne, Annette, Cecile and Emilie—came four days before the quints 20th birthday.

In two years, if Sister Marie Rachel so decides, she will take her first vows of poverty, chastity and obedience.

Meantime, she resumes her work sewing of sacerdotal vestments for priests and in prayer, meditation and adoration of the Blessed Sacrament. She left her family Nov. 3 last to become a postulant in the order and consecrate herself to silent work and meditation.

DAY WITH PARENTS

After Monday's ceremony, which some 250 persons attended, Sister Marie Rachel spent most of the day with her parents, except for hours which, as on other days, she passed in prayer. Her quintuplet sisters also attended the ceremony.

Questioned by newspaper men, Oliva Dionne, sister Marie Rachel's father, said only: "I found the ceremony very touching and I am very happy." Her mother ignored the queries of reporters.

At the request of convent authorities whose rules forbid photographing of a religious before she has taken her perpetual vows, police stopped photographers from entering the order's new Thabor chapel—where the ceremony took place—with flashbulb attachments on their cameras.

A ban against photographers in the parlor of the yellow brick convent where Sister Marie Rachel met her parents after the ceremony was also strictly enforced.

Two other sisters made their first vows during the same ceremony which consisted of a low mass, sermon and adoration of the Blessed Sacrament.

BLESSED BASKET

Following the mass and sermon, Msgr. G. E. Grandbois, diocesan vicar-general, blessed a basket containing the tunic and scapular of white wool and white cotton veil for Sister Marie Rachel. While nuns chanted the "Te Deum," a song of praise, Sister Marie Rachel knelt at the foot of the flower-banked altar until the end of the blessing and then followed two nuns into the sacristy where she put on her new garb for the first time.

Later, she joined her family in the convent parlor where they presented her with an oil painting depicting Jesus with Martha and Mary in the home of Lazarus. Title of the painting was "La Meilleure Part" (The Best Choice).

Also present at the ceremony was the Rev. Wilfrid H. Lachance, pastor of the parish at Corbeil, Ont., where the quints attended church as children.

27-Foot Depth Enough For Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Engineers of the United States Army and maritime administration agree with Canada that the 27-foot depth of the St. Lawrence seaway will meet shipping needs for the foreseeable future.

To make the waterway any deeper would involved new legislation and a great deal more money.

A 27-foot depth is specified in the law, recently enacted, which authorizes the U.S. to join with Canada in building the waterway from the Atlantic as far inland as Toledo, Ohio.

To make the channel 30 feet deep, it is estimated that the extra cost would run $22,000,000 for the U.S. and $66,000,000 for Canada. To make it 35 feet deep, the total additional cost to both countries is estimated at approximately $690,000,000.

Engineers fixed the 27-foot figure after a survey of the shipping coming into New York harbor, the continent's largest. The engineers concluded that of all the ships using the harbor and engaged in foreign general cargo trade, 75 per cent could use the seaway.

USELESS TO SOME

Larger sea-going tankers, some bulk cargo ships and passenger liners will not be able to use the waterway because of their larger drafts.

Maritime administration officials say the system can be used by "Liberty" or "Victory" ships not fully loaded in terms of weight but still carrying "profitable pay loads."

On this score, Charles Sawyer, former U.S. commerce secretary, testified before the Senate foreign relations committee in February, 1952:

"Admiral (Edward L.) Cochrane (former head of the maritime administration) testified last year. . . . that Liberty ships could use the seaway laden to 85 per cent of dead-weight capacity while Victory ships could use (it) laden to 79 per cent of apacity. These would be profitable loadings."

Otonabee Pupils Tour Niagara Falls

KEENE (ENS) — During the past week the school children of Otonabee have been enjoying their annual educational outing, which consisted this year of an all-day bus trip to Niagara Falls, accompanied by their teachers.

Coldsprings school was the first to go, then Stewart's Hall, Villiers and Indian River. On Friday, Keene and Mather's Corners combined to fill a bus with forty-four pupils and their teachers, Mrs. Thomas Gall, Mrs. James Elmhirst and Mrs. Lloyd Wismer. This week, Lang and a few pupils from the sixth line school and Providence are scheduled to go.

On Friday, the bus left Keene at 7.15 a.m. arriving at the falls at 12.30 noon. The children enjoyed a picnic lunch in Victoria Park overlooking the falls and for two hours toured the area, visiting the Sir Harry Oakes gardens, the whirlpool rapids, the aerial swing and Brock's monument. Most of the pupils climbed the windings stairs to the top of the monument to enjoy the view.

They also saw Laura Secord's monument and the Hydro development, with its beautiful floral clock. On the return journey the children had supper in a restaurant at Scarboro and arrived home at 10.30 p.m.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Remember the pleasant parlor game called ping-pong, in which you gently and politely tapped a celluloid ball across a little net six inches high, and your opponent as gently and politely bounced it back?

You would hardly recognize that game today. Now it's table tennis, a whirlwind, hard-smashing game of split-second reflexes. The little celluloid ball now gets hit so hard that, bounced on the table by a smash shot, it spreads out like an egg, or clouted full power on the side, it jets out like a lemon.

And you probably never thought ping-pong, a term that is frowned upon in table tennis circles today, would become one of the greatest of all international games. But it has. The 21st World Table Tennis Tournament was held in London and its entry was surprisingly international.

For the first time, the world meet welcomed into the fold competitors from Argentine, Lebanon, Nepal, Saarland and Spain. Also competing were officially nominated representatives of Hong Kong, Japan, Pakistan, Singapore, Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, England and the United States.

And in its broadmindedness, table tennis can teach a lesson to other sports whose administrators waste so much time on the pointless business of dividing the amateurs from the professionals. All are classified as players and those who wish to make money out of it have merely to record that fact to their national controlling body, as a matter of record and information, but it makes no difference at all in the eligibility of the players for competition in any event.

The freedom from meaningless dividing lines is one of the things about table tennis that impressed this observer. Another is its internationalism. Take some other sports by comparison. Canada's own favorite game, ice hockey, has had a great upsurge of popularity in Europe. But it isn't nearly as international, for instance, as soccer. And still, soccer is only a minor game in the United States. Basketball, though spreading rapidly, is still American-dominated. And baseball's so-called "world series" isn't even international.

Judging by the list of countries involved in the recent table tennis titles, the game that started so modestly as ping-pong has as much right as any to be termed the greatest of international sports.

Have No Law To Prevent Inventions Reaching Enemy

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Pickersgill said Monday there is no law to prevent a privately-owned invention of a military nature from becoming public property and reaching a potential enemy.

He made the statement in the Commons during discussion of legislation placing federal civil servants on an equal footing concerning rewards for inventions produced during government duties or employment. Such inventions become the property of the Crown, but the legislation does not cover inventions by federal employees in their own time.

DO WHAT THEY CAN

Opposition Leader Drew said he questions whether the legislation prevents the patenting of inventions of a military nature. This would make a secret invention available to public examination and to an enemy.

Mr. Pickersgill said the commissioner of patents is required under the patent act to scrutinize all patents for private and crown-owned inventions before they are made public. This was designed to prevent secret inventions belonging to the government or individuals from reaching a potential enemy.

The government had gone as far as it could to meet the situation under the law. However, it could not stop a private inventor from making public his own invention.

Deputy Minister Denies Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Col. Hedley Basher, Ontario's deputy minister of reforms, Monday denied an assertion by a delegate at a CCF convention here that a prisoner at Guelph reformatory was whipped so severely he had to be castrated.

Col. Basher said the delegate, L. H. (Red) Rosen, was "a stranger to the truth."

Mr. Rosen described to delegates at the annual convention of the Ontario CCF party what he said were conditions in the reformatory as he had seen them as a prisoner last year.

The convention approved a resolution calling for abolition of corporal punishment.

Indonesia Country On Verge Of Having Complete National Nervous Breakdown

Note: Will Indonesia follow Indo-China as a Communist target? William L. Ryan of The Associated Press here discusses Indonesia's strategic place in Southeast Asia. Ryan, after a six-week tour of Southeast Asia, went to Geneva to check his findings with diplomatic sources.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

GENEVA (AP) — A Polished young Indonesian political leader, laughing in spite of himself, said:

"My country is like an army without sergeants."

It was a bitter laughter. The analogy he drew was of an army with too many generals ready to plan but with no noncoms behind them to carry out the job.

Riotously rich in nature's gifts, the Indonesian island chain is poor in political fibre. The apathy of the Indonesian people, their illiteracy, their disillusionment with talk of democracy, all tend to create a dangerous political vacuum in a country newly emerged from colonial domination.

The Indonesians are tired of years of civil war and years of violence at the hands of terrorist organizations. The weariness extends to the top, to the thin layer of able, educated intellectuals left behind when the Dutch withdrew. The Dutch, unlike British colonists, did not see fit to leave any broad civil service to administer the countries.

From all this, the observer gets the impression of a country on the verge of a national nervous breakdown. And the impression is strong, too, that Indonesia offers the next line of least resistance to Communist expansion plans.

Here in Geneva the Communists are displaying an all-or-nothing attitude on the question of Indo-China. The implication is that eventually they expect to take all.

Then the next move in the step-by-step expansion program could be Indonesia, by-passing Burma, Thailand and Malaya. In Moscow's geopolitical thinking, Indonesia is a rich prize. And Moscow could use Indonesia's oil, tin and rubber.

Has Russia immediate designs on Indonesia

"Semi-colonial Indonesia is subject to permanent economic crisis," says the Indonesia Communist party's most recent directive. "The way to eliminate this situation is to liquidate this semi-colonial status and replace it with the system of people's (Communist) democracy."

REDS NOT STRONG

Indonesia has 80,000,000 people. The Communist party claims only 126,000 members, but it is seeking to capture the minds of that section of the literate population which is the only significant force.

Indonesian nationalist leaders profess to see no connection between communism and what is going on in Indo-China. As nationalists, they consider as patriotic any movement aimed at routing the foreigner. There is much Marxism—as distinguished from Moscow communism—in Indonesian leaders' thinking.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The United States must prepare now for total war, Senator George Smathers (Dem.-Fla.) told the American Legion state convention Sunday. But, Smathers said, he would vote against sending U.S. troops to Indo-China which he regards as a "brush fire war."

Father Of Three Charged With Murder

LISTER, B.C. (CP)—Frederick Allan Huscroft, 40-year-old father of three, was charged with murder here Monday after he led RCMP to the bodies of his wife and five-year-old daughter.

RCMP at Creston, six miles from the Huscroft dairy farm, said he arrived at their office at 5:15 a.m. PDT and "told us his wife and daughter were dead."

Police accompanied him back to the farm and found Agnes Louise Huscroft, 40, and their daughter, Joanne, dead in bed. Their bodies were battered about the head and they had been strangled with silk stockings. A hammer was believed used in the bludgeoning.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark

Britons Fear United States Will Push Them Into War

By DON WHITEHEAD

LONDON (AP)—The friendship of the United States and Britain—the great Western allies of the Second World War—has reached an alarmingly low ebb.

All the official assurances of amity and singleness of purpose from Washington and London cannot gloss over these facts:

1. The British people generally have no confidence in American leadership.

2. The British people fear that the United States—not Russia—will push them into another war.

3. Britons are in no mood to follow the United States in a "get tough" policy toward communism that might mean a third world war.

The state of Anglo-American friendship 10 years after the unity achieved for the invasion of France is a shock to me on my first trip back since war days.

Time and time again the same story is heard from the man on the street. The story comes from taxi drivers, barbers, shop keepers, waiters, reporters, RAF fliers, housewives and pub keepers.

AMERICANS HAVE JOB

This attitude makes it appear the United States has a long pull ahead to win the Briton's firm support in foreign affairs. Apparently it is the basic reason Britain pulled away from the American lead in Indo-China.

Why does the Briton feel as he does? Here's what some of them have to say:

A shopkeeper: "The quarrelling is between you and Russia. All you want with us is to make England the jumping off place for an atomic attack."

A chauffeur and ex-merchant mariner: "We think you may be pushing Russia into a corner—you won't even trade with her. You can't live with half the world not trading with the other half. We don't think Russia will start a war—she never has won a war on her own. I say if the Russians and Chinese want communism, it's their business."

Ex-RAF flier: "We're afraid you chaps are going to get fed up with the Communists and say 'All right, let's have it out.' And then it starts all over again—and we can't stand another war. I wasted five years of my life in the last war and I want no more of it."

'TIRED OF FIGHTING'

A reporter: "Geography makes a big difference in politics and the way people feel. Our people say: 'It's easy for the Americans to say let's have it out and send troops to Indo-China. But they haven't had their homes bombed as we have. We're tired of fighting and arguing and all we want is to live at peace again!'"

The British feeling seems to spring basically from a deep revulsion against anything that will lead to another war.

It isn't difficult to understand. Britain took an awful beating from Nazi bombers. The physical and spiritual endurance of the people was strained almost to the breaking point.

Then came victory in Europe. But what was victory? It was dark days of rationing, self-denial and more and more sacrifices for survival while the United States soared to new heights of prosperity.

Britons agree generally that the turn in their fortunes came two years ago. And now they have achieved a well-being and peace of mind—along with a sounder economy—which they want to enjoy.

McCARTHY WELL KNOWN

To the British people, the United States seems to be engulfed in a vast fear of communism—and that this fear is dominating the thoughts and actions of the Eisenhower administration. The name heard most here is not President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles—it is the name of the Wisconsin Red-hunter, Senator Joseph McCarthy.

The Briton's attitude toward communism seems to run along these lines: Communism is dangerous and Communists can't be trusted — but let's try to find a solution to this thing without a war and, meantime, let's get about our business without any fuss or feathers. They do not understand why Eisenhower "doesn't do something about McCarthy."

They even laugh at Communists here. There is a story of the bobby in Hyde Park listening to a Communist urge his audience to move on Buckingham Palace and burn the place down.

At this point the bobby stepped out and said: "All right, chaps. All who want to burn down the palace line up on this side—all who disagree line up over here."

And another story has the Englishman saying: "Well, if we have a Communist government there's one thing certain—it will be 'Her Majesty's Communist government.'"

Unfair Deal For Veteran—CCF

OTTAWA (CP)—H. W. Herridge (CCF — Kootenay West) Monday brought before the Commons veterans affairs committee the case of a man who served 14 years in the army and was discharged as "not likely to become an efficient soldier."

Mr. Herridge did not identify the veteran but said the defence department had since corrected the situation and given the man an honorable discharge. The man had served four years in the First World War, five years in the Second World War and five years after 1945.

Mr. Herridge said he mentioned the case as an example of many cases where servicemen have lost veterans' benefits or service pensions through offences committed years previously.

Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, deputy minister of veterans affairs, said there is a special review board to examine such cases.

Tug Atomic Wins International Race

WINDSOR (CP)—The Atomic, a 600-horsepower tug owned by Capt. J. Earl McQueen of nearby Amherstburg, churned down the Detroit river Saturday ahead of eight other craft to win the fifth annual international tugboat race and return the England Trophy to Canada.

The Atomic, which won the title in 1950 and 1951, was defeated the following two years by tugs owned by John Roen, Sturgeon Bay, Wis. None of the Roen craft was entered this year.

The 1,000-horsepower Maryland, owned by the Great Lakes Towing Company, Detroit, was second and a sister ship, the Wisconsin, only steam tug in the race, was third.

Gary Crosby Hurt

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — One man was killed in an auto collision Monday and six were injured including Gary Evans Crosby 20-year-old son of Bing Crosby. Young Crosby suffered contusions of the right knee and a cut nose.

Rocket Record

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (AP)—A single-stage rocket soared Monday to an altitude of 158 miles above the earth, a record for rockets of that type. The naval research laboratories Viking No. 11 rocket went 22 miles higher than the Viking No. 10, tested May 7, which reached 136 miles.

Nations Which Perish Usually Die Drunk

WASHINGTON (AP)—An advocate of prohibition told the House of Representatives commerce committee Monday that "every nation in history that perished has died drunk. If America ever dies, it will die drunk."

This testimony came from Edward P. Gaston, national commander of the Patriotic Guard of America, Inc., and American commissioner of the World Prohibition Federation.

Speaking in support of a bill to bar whisky advertising in radio, television and publications in interstate commerce, Gaston hit out at whisky ads as "seductive," leading "our boys and girls. . . toward hopeless alcoholism."

Opponents of the bill, who testified last week, said it would discriminate against a legal business and that the "drys" are supporting it in an effort to bring about national prohibition through the back door.

Pearson Arrives Home From Geneva

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson arrived home from the Geneva conference Sunday night.

An RCAF Dakota bringing him from New York on the last leg of his journey set down here at 7:03 p.m. EDT. Mr. Pearson was picked up by the air force plane in New York after he crossed the Atlantic in a British Overseas Airways Corporation plane from London.

He is expected to report this week to cabinet and possibly a Commons committee on the progress of the Geneva conference.

FOR TRAINING PARATROOPERS—This is a 257-foot jump tower at Camp Shilo near Rivers, Man., where prospective Canadian Army paratroopers take their initial training. The army has trained 7,300 paratroopers at Camp Shilo and Rivers since the Second World War—enough to form the jumping component of an airborne division. It takes four weeks to train as a paratrooper, including six jumps from aircraft during the last week. Training extends up to heights of 1,200 feet. The men are hoisted up to the top of this jump tower and the machine lets them drop. (CP from National Defence)

Loss Of Veterans' Benefits Lowering Morale In Korea

OTTAWA (CP) — Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) said Monday that morale of Canadian troops in Korea has been lowered by elimination of re-establishment credits and other benefits for veterans. The government stopped such benefits July 27, 1953, date of the Korean armistice.

Mr. Gillis drew support for his stand in the Commons veterans affairs committee from Tom Goode (L—Burnaby-Richmond) who said: "It seems to me we are drawing the line entirely too fine."

Colin E. Bennett, parliamentary assistant to Veterans Minister Lapointe, said the government feels the benefits should apply only to men who served in combat or in a theatre of war operations. Troops serving in Germany now are on the same basis as those in Korea.

BIG DIFFERENCE

Mr. Gillis said there is a big difference between the two theatres. Accommodation was 100 per cent better for troops in Germany and their families could join them. Men in Korea should continue to get the benefits, similar to those for Second World War veterans, until the situation in Korea changed.

Mr. Goode said the men in Korea are prepared to fight if they have to and should continue to receive the benefits which went to veterans of the Korean fighting.

Mr. Bennett said there is an uneasy situation throughout the world not only in Korea. It would be unfair for the men in Korea to receive more benefits than the men in Germany.

Wins Picture Prize

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joseph Engels, staff photographer of the New York Herald Tribune, has been awarded first prize in the Associated Press national contest for excellence in news photography for 1953. 7,300 Paratroopers Trained At Army Camps In Manitoba

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RIVERS, Man. (CP)—Out of the sky they tumble—one by one or by "sticks"—to the broad prairie.

These are the men who would be called on to repulse any attack by airborne troops on Canada. They are known officially as the "mobile striking force."

The army has trained 7,300 paratroops here and at nearby Camp Shilo since the Second World War—enough to form the jumping component of an airborne division. The United States Army has only two airborne divisions.

STRONG STRIKING FORCE

Three battalions comprise the striking force—1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Calgary, 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment at London, Ont., and 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, at Valcartier, Que.

Defence Minister Claxton said recently that any airborne attack on Canada probably would be on a small scale and that the mobile striking force would be able to mop it up.

Besides the jumpers in the three battalions, there are thousands of other trained paratroops stationed with various units throughout Canada and abroad. In event of emergency, they would join the mobile striking force immediately.

Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff, has said the army's key role at home in case of war would be defence of air force ground installations, including radar stations.

He said: "No invasion of this continent is possible unless the enemy is able to gain control of air and sea communications. The major threat of invasion is in the air. Therefore, it is necessary to give protection to the air force's early-warning stations with the mobile striking force."

FINE RECORD

It takes four weeks to train a paratrooper, including six jumps from aircraft during the last week. There has been no fatal casualty among trainees here or at Shilo, where all of the army's paratroops are trained.

"Every jump is an ordeal, no matter how many times you've gone through it," says paratrooper Lieut. John Davis of Birchill, Sask., personnel selection officer here. He weeds out the men he thinks are not suited to jumping.

The soldiers who never start training are those who would be misfits in almost any job, who are maladjusted and neurotic and show their anxiety, or who are afraid of height.

A paratrooper's training extends all the way from heights of four inches to 1,200 feet.

After two weeks of rigid physical training at their parent units, would-be paratroopers come here for three weeks of intensive ground training before they hit the silk from aircraft.

STEPS IN TRAINING

First, they jump off platforms only four inches high and practice going through doors. A little later come the "torture racks." The men are swung above mats and learn to land like cats.

A paratrooper learns to roll as he hits. Five-point landings, they are called: Ball of the foot, calf of the leg, thigh, rump and rounded shoulder.

A jumper keeps his arms as high as possible on the suspension lines to prevent injury and to cushion the fall as much as possible.

Next come the 30-foot towers, where a soldier steps off into space and is caught eight feet down by steel cables. The last stage of the ground training is the 256-foot towers at Shilo where a man drops on a previously-opened parachute. A trainee makes seven to 10 drops from the towers.

The soldier now is ready for his first air drop. He steps to the open door of the C-119 flying packet and the instructor taps him on the shoulder—never shoves. Very few refuse to jump.

TENSE MOMENT

"It gets so that a man is more afraid that he won't jump than of the jump itself," Lieut. Davis says.

"It's an effort each and every time. You can always get hurt. But once the 'chute is open above you, there's a big sigh of relief. The men shout and joke with each other on the way down. You're happy as long as you can see that canopy above you."

The first air drop is made singly. After that the paratroopers jump by "sticks." Their packs hook onto a cable running the length of the aircraft and the parachutes open automatically at the right moment after they jump. Forty-two men can go almost at once from the C-119, 21 from each side.

"You can see the tension build up as the plane nears the DZ (dropping zone)," says Lieut. Davis. "You always see that tension, no matter how many times a man has jumped and we've got some that have jumped 150 or more times. And back at their battalions, the men keep jumping just to keep in trim.

"Any well adjusted man can become a jumper—and in only four weeks."

FINE FEATHERS

Best known of the falcon species in Canada is the sparrow hawk.

Don't put off that dream

Is there a cherished something you've talked about, hoped to do, even planned to do — ever so long? Don't, please don't put it off too long, warns J. P. McEvoy in June Reader's Digest.

Here is his true, if sad, story of a couple who were so practical that they made the fatal mistake of putting off living until it was too late.

Be sure to read "Charlie would have loved this" in June Reader's Digest. It's just one of 42 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines and current books.

Gov't Taking Less Authority In Radio Defence

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has agreed to take less authority than it now has under emergency powers in letting non-Canadians operate radio defence installations in Canada.

The previously-unlimited authority, it conceded in the Commons Monday night, will be restricted in future to nationals of those countries with which Canada has joint defence agreements. These are the 14 NATO countries.

At the start of the House's sitting Monday Prime Minister St. Laurent said External Affairs Minister Pearson will report to the Commons Friday on the Geneva conference. Mr. Pearson arrived home Sunday night after serving as head of the Canadian delegation.

CAN WAIVE PROVISION

Under the Emergency Powers Act that expires May 31, the cabinet can waive a basic provision of the federal radio act and permit a foreigner to operate a radio station run by his government in Canada. The Radio Act says only British subjects can operate radio stations in Canada.

The government Monday ran into snags on a bill to continue the general waiver power and, after opposition protests, agreed to restrict it to defence-agreement countries.

But it declined to go along with opposition proposals that reciprocal radio-operating privileges should be sought from those countries, most specifically the United States that would have its citizens operating radio stations in Canada.

OPERATIONS SHARED

Transport Minister Chevrier said the legislation is aimed at implementing agreements under which the U.S. shares operation of a radar network, a Loran (air navigation) system, weather stations and U.S. airfields in Canada.

He said there would be no point in Canada looking for reciprocal arrangements in the U.S.

"Does anyone think we want to operate radio stations in the United States?" he asked.

Suggestions for reciprocal arrangements came from Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra), Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) and Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes VC, chief military critic of the Progressive Conservatives, said the door would be opened too wide if nationals of any country were allowed to operate in Canada's north.

BILL AMENDED

It was somewhat along the line of his argument that the government's bill eventually was amended in committee of the whole House after earlier receiving approval in principle. The measure now awaits third and final reading.

Apart from the defence aspect, the bill also will widen the cabinet's powers by letting it authorize non-Canadians to operate airplane radios on planes from countries with which Canada has international civil aviation agreements. Also, non-citizen immigrants will be enabled to operate two-way radios in taxis.

Other legislation considered included CCF suggestions that federal pensions legislation be extended to enable persons in private industry to carry their pension rights from job to job.

The proposal came as the House approved a resolution preceding a Government bill to enable federal civil servants to carry their pension rights with them when they move to crown companies.

2 Murders Remain Mystery After 32 Years In N.B.

By FRANCES LEWINE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Somebody knew, but nobody told the uneasy secret of the sensational Hall-Mills murder mystery.

Thirty-two years have passed since a strolling couple made a gruesome find in a lonely lovers' lane.

Under a crabapple tree, neatly laid out, were the bodies of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, handsome 41-year-old New Brunswick clergyman, and attractive Mrs. Eleanor Mills, 34, choir singer and wife of the church sexton.

The rector's calling card was at his feet, his eyeglasses were carefully in place, a hat covered his face and the single bullet hole in his head.

Next to him lay Mrs. Mills, shot three times, her throat slashed, a scarf over her face.

Love letters between the couple were strewn at their trysting place.

Hall, married to a wealthy woman seven years his senior, and Mrs. Mills, mother of two teen-age children, had been missing for two days when their bodies were found.

Before the case came to its baffling climax four years later, millions of words had been printed about it.

A special prosecutor learned that the widow, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, took her husband's death with remarkable calm. She told police her husband went out on the night of Sept. 14 after receiving a phone call. The next morning, she called police to ask if any "casualties" had been reported.

James Mills, church sexton, a school janitor and a man of modest means, said he knew nothing of his wife's affair with Hall.

Though both Mills and Mrs. Hall professed they knew nothing of any love affair, it was common gossip in New Brunswick. Their love notes apparently had been passed in hymn books.

Four years passed . . .

Then in the summer of 1926, Arthur Riehl, in an annulment suit against his wife, Louise Geist Riehl, former downstairs maid in the Hall home, claimed she was bribed to conceal facts.

July 28, 1926, Mrs. Hall was aroused at her home at midnight and arrested on charges of murder.

At a preliminary hearing, Mrs. Jane Gibson—soon to be known to readers as "the pig woman" because she raised hogs near the murder scene—testified she saw Mrs. Hall, her brother, Willie Stevens, and a cousin, Henry D. Carpenter, at the murder scene. All three and another brother of Mrs. Hall, Henry Stevens, were arrested and charged with the murders.

Trial opened Nov. 3, 1926. The pig woman, now seriously ill with cancer, was the major witness, testifying from a stretcher carried into the courtroom.

The maid, Mrs. Riehl, despite her husband's testimony that she received a bribe of $5,000 to keep quiet, testified Mrs. Hall played solitare at home on the murder night.

The trial was marked by a revelation by a local business man, a vestryman in the church, that he was in the lovers' lane with another choir singer—just 300 feet from the murder scene.

The jury, after stiting through the month-long trial, took only five hours to return its verdict of not guilty.

Of all the principal characters, only elderly James Mills is still alive—last link to a mystery still as deep as it was three decades ago.

ATTENDING CONVENTION

The city's assessment commissioner J. E. Davis is attending the three-day convention of the Ontario Association of Assessment Officers in Niagara Falls.

RETURN OF THE HAWKS

The weather man gets a big round of applause on the weather of the holiday weekend, especially for timing of the rain until early this morning. The nighthawks arrived at the weekend, and apparently the avian chorus is now complete.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas MacPherson, 39, who died at Three Rivers, Que., May 24, will take place there Wednesday. Mrs. MacPherson was formerly of Peterborough.

FOOT CUT BY WEED

Ronald Land, 13, of 228 Carlisle Ave., cut his foot Monday afternoon when he stepped on a weed while barefoot on the bank, preparing to go swimming in the canal. The gash required two stitches to close. He was attended by Dr. Herbert N. Young.

NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

Stewart G. Sparling, Peterborough country assessor, on Monday was elected a vice-president of the Ontario Association of Assessment Officers. Ralph Wilson of Welland county is the new president, and the other vice-president is Norman Wilkes of Hamilton.

CAMP DIRECTORS MEET

Preparing for the summer camping season, camp directors from all over Ontario are meeting today at the Hamilton YMCA camp in the Muskokas. Attending the conference from Peterborough is Bill McFarlane, local boys' work secretary and director of the Y camp at Stony lake.

DUKE WAS HERE

Hep-Cats' feet hopefully started to beat time Monday, but it was all in vain. Duke Ellington and his world-famous band passed through Peterborough Monday afternoon at 1:30 but did not stop. They were travelling east in a colorful bus, presumably headed for Ottawa.

STAGE BENEFIT SHOW

A stage and screen benefit show is being planned by the Peterborough Theatre Managers Association, the proceeds to be donated to Variety Village for crippled children. Performers for the live part of the show are being booked in Toronto by Harry Yudin. It will be 8:15 p.m., Sunday, June 13, at the Odeon Theatre.

HIGHWAY COLLISION

Two cars collided on Highway 28 near the Drive-in theatre as one car slowed down to turn into Giles' store and another pulled out to pass it Saturday evening. One was following the other in heavy traffic south. The first car was driven by Bert Neely, 40, RR 10, Peterborough; the second by Clarence Kearns, 38, Young's Point. About $150 damage was done to each car. OPP Constable Emmett Crough investigated.

Jack's Lake Scene Of Drowning

Scarboro Man, 27, Flipped Into Water From Speeding Boat

Flipped out of his high speed outboard motor boat while making a turn, Stewart Cleve Bailey, 27, Scarboro, drowned in Jack's Lake Saturday night before four people who saw the mishap could reach him.

With friends Bailey had gone up for the weekend to the lake near Apsley to build a cottage for his fiancee's family. Bailey, who couldn't swim, had gone out for a spin alone in the 12-foot plywood boat. With a 10 h.p. motor on the back that could attain exceptionally fast speeds, Bailey was making a sharp turn on the smooth water.

In the middle of the turn he straightened the boat quickly and it flipped into the air throwing him out into the water. Four people who saw the accident rushed to two boats that were sitting along the shore, but they couldn't start the motors of either one. Finally one of them rowed out to the spot and John Mason dived for him, but without success. It was then at least five minutes after the man had been las seen, about 150 to 200 feet off shore.

The bottom of the lake in McCoy's bay where the accident took place is very rocky and irregular. OPP constable Jack McKendry who directed dragging operations that started at once, said that at one spot the water may be 30 feet deep and just a few yards, drop away to 100 feet deep.

This made dragging so difficult as to be almost hopeless. Dragging was continued Sunday and Monday but was discontinued today.

Bailey was planning to marry in July.

Find Man's Body In Little Lake

The body of Reginald Thomas Moore, 21, 190 Lake St., was found by firemen about 6:30 a.m. Sunday in Little Lake about 30 feet from shore near the T-wharf.

City police had received a call about 4.30 a.m. to the effect that a man was believed to have drowned in Little Lake.

Police and firemen searched around some little time before finding a pair of shoes on a small wooden U-shaped wharf. After dragging near the wharf, firemen found the body. He was fully clothed except for the shoes that had been found.

He was pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. H. N. Young, who said an inquest is unlikely.

Moore was born in Toronto, son of the late Edward Moore and Dorothy Bennett. He came to Peterborough four months ago from Toronto. For the last few years he was employed by the CNR as an engine watchman.

He leaves his widow, the former Shirley Harran; his four-month-old son, Michael Reginald, and two sisters, Miss Dorothy Moore and Mrs. J. Lister, both of Toronto.

The funeral was 2 p.m. today at the Kaye funeral home, the Rev. C. G. Boyd, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

(Examiner Staff Photos)

Crossing Road, Woman, 61, Struck By Car

A 61-year-old woman was hit by a car as she crossed Highway 28 about half a mile north of Young's Point about 6 p.m. Saturday to her son's farm home.

Mrs. Veronica Ayotte, 62, suffered a broken right leg and ankle, shock and bruises. She was treated at the scene by Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield and then taken to St. Joseph's hospital by Hendren's ambulance. Her condition today is good.

Mrs. Ayotte, who stays in Peterborough where she works during the week and then returns to her son's home during the weekends, had just arrived by bus. She alighted and waited for the bus to go on before crossing.

Police reported that apparently as she started across, she saw a car driven by Benjamin Smith, 39, 440 Cameron St., Peterborough, come over a hill, hesitated but thought she could get to the other side in time. But the car hit her before she reached the west side and knocked her into the west ditch.

The car rolled over and landed on its four wheels in the east ditch. The driver was unhurt.

OPP constable Don Lacombe investigated.

FREES SNARED ROBIN

A robin that some poor sport had tried to snare with a piece of cord was released Sunday afternoon by Ken Hoar of 520 Hopkins Ave., who had to do some tree climbing to rescue it. Ken and a group of others were practising golf in Art Armstrong's backyard, 474 Weller St., when they noticed the robin fluttering from the end of a string, one end of it attached to a leg. The robin is believed to have broken away from a ground snare, trailing the 10-foot length of string with him. Somehow the string got tangled in the tree branches and the bird was hanging upside down, near exhaustion, when it was released. D.W.

Cloud Of Dust Blinds Driver

A cloud of dust raised by the car ahead was blamed when David Johnston, 20, 263 St. George St., Toronto, driving east on the old Buckhorn road, clipped off a telephone pole and went into the ditch about three miles west of Lakefield at approximately 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

Johnston told police he was following another car driving east when, after crossing over a bridge, he failed to notice a turn in the road because of the dust. He clipped off a telephone pole and landed in the south ditch.

Damage to Johnston's car was estimated at about $150. He was not injured.

OPP Constable Wally Mohns investigated.

Brakes Failed Three Persons Put In Hospital

Brakes that failed as a car was approaching Highway 7 about eight miles east of Peterborough were blamed for an accident that sent three occupants of one car to hospital Saturday about 4 p.m.

Most seriously injured was the owner of the car, David Pharrell, 15 Angus Place, Toronto, who suffered severe concussion. His mother, Mrs. Katie Pharrell, 63, same address, suffered a broken shoulder blade. Another passenger Bill Kalino, 23, also of Toronto, was just shaken up. Driver of the car, Howard Porter, 21, 201 Parliament St., Toronto, was unhurt. Pharrell's condition today is unchanged.

Driver of the second car involved was Miss Evelyn J. Richardson, 26 of Lang. She told police that as she approached the highway from the south, she pushed on the brake pedal, but nothing happened and she continued on out into the highway.

SLOWED DOWN

Porter said he saw the Richardson car approaching the highway and even though he knew he had the right of way, slowed down. When he saw the other car continue on into the highway he pulled to the north shoulder of the road.

"I thought I got by, but she clipped me on the rear fender and that's all I remember." The car was flipped over on its top. The three injured people were taken to hospital by Nesbitt's Ambulance. Porter who stayed behind to give OPP Constable Emmett Crough his story of the accident, spent several minutes taking snapshots of the wrecked car which Pharrell had bought two or three days before.

Miss Richardson reported that the brakes of the car she was driving, owned by Robert G. Davidson of Lang, had worked perfectly well at an intersection just a short time before. No pressure was exerted on the foot pedal when the officer tried it. Filling the cylinder with brake fluid didn't improve the braking any. The car is being turned over to a mechanic for a report on the cause of the failure.

Only about $25 damage was done to the front of the Richardson car, but about $900 damage was done to the Porter-driven car.

CNR Reports Deficit Of $1,803,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian National Railways today reported operating expenses of $206,874,000 and operating revenues of $205,071,000 for the four-month period ended April 30, 1954, leaving a net revenue deficit of $1,803,000.

The decrease in net revenue reflects a diminishing volume of railway traffic the report said.

Two Men Foil Break-In At Snack Bar

One Arrest Follows As Men In Truck Give Police Alarm

Two young men were rudely interrupted while attempting to break into the Barrett Snack Bar, 552 Armour Rd., Monday night. They had just broken a window previous to entering the building when they were alarmed by two men parked in a truck across the street.

Robert Payne, 563 Armour Rd., and Dan Barkley, 8 Edgewater Blvd., sitting in the truck, noticed the two men breaking the glass and gave chase. The description given to PCs Jack Wilson and Robert Muldoon of one of the men was today said by police to be similar to that of Walter Marymuik, 22, of Oshawa. who was apprehended some time later.

Marymuik was charged with vagrancy in magistrate's court today, and remanded until Thursday without bail, pending further investigation. The other man spotted at the scene of the break-in has not been picked up.

Modern Version Of Tom Sawyer Is Movie Fan

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Case history number 2 in this year's file on "Why parents quickly lose the bloom of youth."

On Friday, The Examiner told of two Cobourg lads who were reported missing and later were found stalking a herd of cattle with a bread knife and a paring knife. They claimed the cows were really deer.

Today's case concerns a Lakefield youngster, Kenneth Soles, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Almond Soles. His bicycle and partly-filled bag of undelivered newspapers were discovered beside the pump house below the power house on the east side of the Otonabee river about 11 a.m. Monday.

RAFTS MISSING

It was known that Kenneth was skipper of a couple of rafts on which he played in the river. Both rafts were usually kept moored near the power house; but both of them were missing and there was no trace of the modern Tom Sawyer.

All in all, about 30 or 35 people searched for Kenneth during the better part of the afternoon. About 4 p.m. one of the rafts was discovered under the railway bridge crossing — appropriately enough — Sawyer's creek, about a mile and a half south of the village, on the east shore.

At about the same time, Kenneth was discovered at Nassau, where he had disembarked after voyaging down the river. It was his intention to remain there until he had seen the picture at the drive-in movie.

Under the circumstances, his worried parents decided he had been sufficiently entertained for one holiday without seeing any moving picture.

Only One Fire Blamed On Fireworks

The city fire department spent a relatively quiet Victoria Day with only four alarms registered and no serious blazes.

The only fire credited to fire works occurred at the home of B. T. Clysdale, 515 Parnell St., when the roof of the back kitchen was ignited by some stray sparks. One pumper was sent to the scene at 10.06 p.m., and the booster pump limited the damage to $25.

A rubbish fire at the home of F. Sauve, 598 Park St., was extinguished with a garden hose by one of the firemen after an alarm was received at 12.25 p.m. Some children playing with matches around the vacant house at 622 Union St. were the cause of the next call at 7.50 p.m., but no equipment was required.

A leaking refrigerator at the home of S. Whiddon, 1280 Clonsila Ave., was the cause of the last alarm at 11.15 p.m.

Western Germany Making Strong Industrial Recovery

The speed and mileage range of travel by plane was a personal experience of three district men who returned home Saturday night from a business trip to Europe.

Jack N. Brown, general manager, Arthur H. Lewis and J. Arnold Deyell, of the Bancroft Lumber and Fuel Company, completed a log of nearly 12,000 miles in ten days. Their special purpose and objective was a round of three firms manufacturing Chipboard machines for the production of fabricated boards from mill waste. One of the plants was at Colchester in England, another at Kreyfeldt in Germany, and the third at Biel, a city of about the size of Peterborough in Switzerland.

SAW QUEEN ARRIVE

"As incidental highlights, we saw Queen Elizabeth arrive at Westminster, a great and memorable event in itself, and we found that Billy Graham, the American evangelist, was staying at our hotel, the Stratford Court, in London," Mr. Deyell said. "Although we were not introduced to him, we did meet some of the members of his staff of 38, mostly young men. Mr. Graham and some of his associates were seated near us at dinner on several occasion."

"Our main impression of the trip has been frequently mentioned in the news, that is the evidence of the industrial recovery of western Germany. It is an obvious fact. They are getting back into production on a big scale, and apparently the spirit of restoring Germany as a manufacturing nation extends down from management through the employees. Just as a detail, we saw a group of about 35 young Germans who are working in an apprenticeship of five years. Although I didn't learn their rate of pay, I imagine that it was substantially lower than would be paid in Canadian industries. And, that period of apprenticeship is something that doesn't apply in this country. A visit to these plants provided a reminder of the kind of competition that has been developing with the German determination to regain a place in the world's markets."

"Dusseldorf in the Rhineland was one of the cities in which that spirit and the extent of physical recovery are both evident. One fact we learned about the watch industry in Switzerland may be a commonplace to those who are broadly informed of the practice over there. They told us that watches are assembled right in the homes of many of the people. Parts are turned out in factories, but assembly is let out for work at home, and that kind of distribution of production has been going on for many years."

INTERESTED IN CANADA

Mr. Deyell said that the reputation of Canada stands high everywhere. Nowhere did a customs officer ask for the opening of club bags.

"When we said we were from Canada, they just waved us along. Executives we met are well aware that money doesn't grow on trees in our country, but they are convinced that there is opportunity here. One of them told us he was interested in trying to get his son into McGill university in Montreal, but the driver of the automobile that was supplied to us at Dusseldorf said his big wish was just to get out here. He was an airman with the Germans, and was shot down on the English coast."

OLD ROMAN ROAD

Mr. Deyell said that the tourist invasion of Britain was only beginning a week ago.

"I thought they are not yet exploiting the attractions of the Old Country as much as they could. At our hotel in Colchester, one of the oldest towns in Great Britain, the manager took us down the basement and showed us a section of an old Roman road that had been uncovered. It appeared to be of concrete, and at any rate it was a relic of the Roman occupation of Britain, more than 1,500 years ago. Colchester is a beautiful town.

"Another impression that will stay with us was the courtesy we received along the way, beginning with the BOAC people. The flowers were a feature. They were evidently some weeks ahead of us in their blooming time."

Excepting several stretches of travel by electric train in Switzerland, the Peterborough party journeyed by plane. "And we didn't miss one connection. Our schedule worked out precisely as arranged."

A motor ride on corkscrew roads in the Alps at 50 miles an hour or thereabouts in the Biel section of Switzerland was something else to remember, "you are on the edge of a precipice looking a long way down into the valleys."

Chipboard products and the machines that fabricate them was the mission of three Bancroft lumber representatives.

"From our information there is not one machine in Canada such as those we wanted to see, and we did," Mr. Deyell said. "The one in Biel weighs around 200 tons. It makes boards of different sizes and thickness from waste shavings or chips, that are otherwise burned as a means of disposal."

There is quite a range of these products that are manufactured chiefly by high pressures.

One outstanding and pleasant memory of the trip that touched down in England, France, Switzerland, Germany and Ireland, Mr. Deyell said, was this: "Everywhere we went, we found that people like Canadians, they know our country better than one would imagine, and a lot of them would like to come here. They have a good opinion of us abroad."

Car Sideswiped Headlights Blamed

Blinding headlights were blamed when one car sideswiped another about a mile east of Norwood on Highway 7, shortly after midnight this morning.

James Karns, 23, 622 4th Ave., Niagara Falls, told police he was driving west when he was blinded by approaching headlights and swung towards the opposite side of the highway, sideswiping an eastbound car driven by Peter Taylor, 39, of Millgrove, Ont.

Millgrove is six miles northwest of Hamilton.

Damage was estimated at about $150 to each of the two cars. No one was injured.

OPP Constable Wally Mohns investigated.

European Tour For RCAF Band

LONDON (CP)—The RCAF's 55-man Central Common band from Ottawa, led by Sqdn. Ldr. E. A. Kirkwood, arrived in London during the week-end to begin a month-long tour of Canadian bases in Britain and Europe.

Featured on the programs is a male chorus, the "Singing Sergeants," under the direction of Sgt. Ken Campbell of Port Arthur and Toronto.

Vote Pay Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — Members of Parliament Monday night voted themselves a 50-per-cent increase in pay, bringing the basic salary to £1,500 ($4,200) a year. The vote was 280 to 166 for the MPs' second pay increase since the Second World War. In 1946 the Commons voted to increase salaries from £600 to £1,000.

Sailing And Cutter Pulling Highlights Display Sea Cadet Corps, St. George

Resplendent in their smart navy uniforms, memers of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, St. George, which is made up of pupils from the Lakefield Preparatory School, prepared for their annual inspection Saturday afternoon.

Three platoons and a trumpet band gave the salute to Rear-Admiral H. G. Dewolfe, CBE, DCO, DSC, CD, RCN, who it at present the chairman of Canadian joint staff in Washington, DC.

Following a march past and general salute, the rear-admiral inspected the cadets and his report was "first class."

Accompanying him on the inspection at the saluting base were Lt/Com. Kenneth With, area sea officer, and Lieut. W. E. Rashleigh, commanding officer. The corps was under the command of C.P.O./C. W. G. Rashleigh.

The various platoons then carried out individual drill, with a ceremonial display from the band drawing special acclamation from the large crowd of parents and visitors who lined the embankment above the parade ground.

MODEL SHIP

Due mainly to the hard work and enthusiasm of the school's "old faithful," W/O G. M. Lee, DSM, RN (retired), better known as Chief Lee, a large scale model ship had been erected on the hockey rink. Here, the admiral inspected cadets at their various seamanship classes, which included everything from knot-tying to steering a ship.

Undoubtedly the highlight of the day was the sailing and cutter pulling display. The young cadets, varying in age from about 12 years to 18, manned a total of 28 craft on the lake. A steady breeze aided the sailing dinghys which formed single line formation across the lake and then zigzagged back to take the salute from the admiral standing with the official party on the jetty.

Keeping good formation, eight two-man canoes also glided past the saluting base, followed by a whaleboat and two oar cutters. A motor boat kept within close distance of the craft in case of any accidents.

ORDERS SIGNALLED

Orders for the different manoeuvers were semophored to the skippers by a signalman atop the boathouse roof. Other sailing instructions were displayed with code flags hoisted on the yardarm.

At a end-of-year dance held in the school hall Saturday evening, the admiral presented the Sheddon Shield to the Cadet Corps band, competing on an equal footing with all other platoons. Bandmaster is P/O Peter Hellyer. The shield is presented annually to the platoon gaining most marks for work during the year and at the annual inspection.

Rear-Admiral DeWolf told The Examiner that he had not seen any cadet corps give a better showing during an annual inspection. He considered that CPO/C Rashleigh had done a fine job of handling the corps on parade.

Although the Lakefield school, better known perhaps as "The Grove," is attached to the navy, it does not necessarily follow that all cadets intend joining the service.

However, quite a few do go into the navy. The admiral considered that the training they gained in the cadet corps proved valuable in the service. Besides being accustomed to discipline, the boys had received a fairly thorough grounding in seamanship and the workings of naval routine.

QUITE INGENIOUS

Rear-Admiral DeWolfe said that he had been impressed with the model ship erected at "The Grove."

"They have been quite ingenious to provide themselves with this type of instruction and it says much for their enthusiasm, incidently, a dominant feature of their work here," he said.

Chairman of the sea cadet committee and school headmaster, G. Winder Smith, was assisted by Mrs. Smith in welcoming visitors to tea at the end of the day's activities.

Picture Problems Discussed By Editors

TORONTO (CP) — Problems of news and picture coverage were discussed Saturday by newspaper men from Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and London at a central circuit meeting of The Canadian Press.

T. G. Lowrey of the Ottawa Journal was chairman. Guy Birch of the Toronto Star and Alan Randal of the Montreal Gazette led a panel discussion on content of the CP Picture service.

Death Accidental

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A coroner's jury ruled during the week-end that the death of Earl Chase, 43, of Chatham, Ont., and Mrs. Perzeda Arnold, 27, Detroit, found dead in a cabin May 6, were due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Keep Hope Alive

TORONTO (CP)—George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Saturday night the great challenge to democratic countries is to keep alive the hope and spirit of those living under Communist tyranny behind the Iron Curtain.

Fire On Bridge

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Fire-crackers were blamed for a fire that sent the fire department hurrying to the bridge across the Trent Canal in the centre of town about 10.30 Monday night. The firemen soon extinguished the small blaze, but traffic on the bridge was tied up for some time following the alarm, as curiosity seekers arrived to see the fire. No damage resulted.

Jim Doris Wins 4-Day Trip To Ottawa

With 175 other young Canadians, Jim Doris, of St. Peter's High School enjoyed a four-day visit in Ottawa last week for "An Adventure in Citizenship."

The scheme to send students to Ottawa each year is sponsored by the Rotary clubs in the various centres across Canada. Each year a student of Peterborough is picked. This year it was the editor of the St. Peter's Campus Crier, Jim Doris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Doris, who live in Otonebee township, RR 8, Peterborough.

The idea is to acquaint some of Canada's best young students with their capital city and the workings of government. Jim left Peterborough Sunday and returned Thursday after an impressive visit.

The group, both boys and girls, toured the parliament buildings, attended a session of the House of Commons and were presented with their certificates of Canadian citizenship by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and minister of citizenship and immigration, the Hon. W. E. Harris.

They took conducted tours of Ottawa, government house and the summer home of former prime minister, Mackenzie King. They were also addressed by leaders of all major political parties, George Drew, M. J. Coldwell, Solon Low and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

First thing each morning, they had discussion groups on Canadian citizenship at Carleton College. Each student was a guest of the member of parliament of his riding for a lunch and of Ottawa Rotary Club for another luncheon.

The small price they pay for this trip is a talk on their visit, when they return, to the Rotary club that sent them.

Jim, as well as being editor of the bi-monthly Campus Crier, is bringing out St. Peter's first year book June 2. He is also a pianist and composer who has won many talent shows. Among others, he has composed two school songs and the song that is best known and most popular, Liftlock Rag.

Health Clinic Planned For Ashburnham

The Peterborough department of health is planning to open a child-health clinic at Mark Street United, church in the fall, announced Miss Mary MacIlveen, supervisor of the public health nurses, today.

Miss MacIlveen said the clinic will meet the health needs of infants and pre-school children in the Ashburnham area. The services will include health guidance and counselling, and the attending doctor will give examination and immunization.

The department now has four health clinics in operation in various sections of the city: Dixon House, St. George's parish hall, All Saints' Anglican church and the central clinic held a city hall.

Mrs. E. A. Holden

Pallbearers at the funeral on Saturday of Mrs. Edward A. Holden, 62, of 33 Benson Ave., were Edward Walker, Gordon McMinn, Harold Lewis, Roy Genge, Bud Charlton, and Lloyd Corbett.

Mrs. Holden died Thursday in hospital after a long illness.

She leaves her husband, Edward A. Holden; two son, Thomas of Toronto, and Edward of Los Angeles, California; two daughters, Mrs. Alexander Dolby (Lillian), and Mrs. Joseph Walker (Elizabeth), both of Toronto; a brother, Ernest Hammond, of London, England; and cousins, Harold and Millie Lewis.

The funeral was Saturday afternoon at Comstock funeral home, the Rev. F. G. Ongley of St. John's Anglican church officiating. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Shine Silver with SODA

MYSTERIOUS CRATER LAKE—This is an aerial view of a mysterious crater lake rimmed with rock in the wilderness of northern Labrador, a strange apple green in color, which will be explored this summer by an eight-man expedition. The expedition will be sponsored jointly by Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy and by the National Geographic Society of the United States and assisted by the U.S. air force. The lake, about 40 miles west of Hebron mission, is perfectly round. Scientists think it may have been caused by a meteor smashing into the earth, perhaps millions of years ago.—(CP Photo).

Will Explore Strange Labrador Crater Filled With Green Water This Summer

WASHINGTON — The Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy and the National Geographic Society, assisted by the U.S. Air Force, will send an expedition to Northern Labrador this summer to explore and map a strange crater of possible meteoric origin, Dr. John Oliver La Gorce, president of the society, announced Monday.

Leading the eight-man expedition will be Dr. V. Ben Meen, director of the museum and leader of the Museum-Globe and Mail expedition which, in 1950, explored the famous Chubb Crater in the Ungava area of Quebec. In the following year Dr. Meen also headed a National Geographic party which completed further scientific examinations of the 2½-mile wide Chubb crater, the largest meteoritic origin discovered yet by man.

The objective of the 1954 expedition is a small crater, only about 175 yards across, but it holds extraordinary interest for geologists and astronomers who feel that it may have been gouged out of the earth's surface at the same time as the bigger Chubb crater. It lies about 450 miles southeast of the latter. Members of the expedition will be flown by a USAF flying boxcar to an airfield in Labrador near the area, whence they and their 6,000 pounds of scientific and cold weather equipment will be ferried by float-equipped planes to the crater.

BOTH ROUND

Both the Labrador Crater and Chubb Crater are prefectly round. They are ringed by formidable fields of granite goulders. Within sometimes called, is a clear blue Chubb or Ungava Crater, as it is lake 825 feet deep.

The Labrador Crater contains a lake but the water is a brilliant apple green color. All other lakes in the region, except for what may be small crater satillites, are blue.

Labrador's crater was first photographed from the air in the Second World War by Col Arthur F. Merewether of the U.S. Air Force. Little attention was paid it until 1953, two years after Dr. Meen had led the National Geographic Society-Royal Ontario Museum Expedition to the larger Chubb Crates. Success of the expedition reminded Col. Merewether of the smalled creater lake he had seen in Labrador and he described it as best he could remember to Dr. Meen.

LOCATED HOLE

Last summer Dr. Meen set out by air to find the little crater. He had only the sketchiest notion of its location, but he had the services of the same experienced flying crew that took his scientists to the Ungava Peninsula two years before.

"We had criss-crossed for hours and were about to give up, when suddenly, in the distance, we saw our perfectly round lake," Dr. Meen said. "It was unmistakable—the water was a brilliant apple-green, while all other lakes in the region are a deep blue.

"We landed on an annamed lake six miles away and I walked to the crater over some of the roughest country I have ever seen. The terrain is much like Chubb's—millions of tons of giant boulders cover the country.

"There was no time for extensive exploration because the weather was closing in," Dr. Meen said, "but from all appearance this crater must be listed as of suspected meteritic origin."

Seven Escape Prison

NORFOLK, Mass. (AP)—Seven prisoners climbed a wall and escaped at Norfolk prison colony early today. Officials said all were considered dangerous. Officials said the men used a makeshift scaling ladder—a rod with a hook on it—hooked the rod on the top of the wall, shinnied up, and then leaped to the ground.

Oddfellows Hold Church Parade In Havelock

HAVELOCK, (ENS) — Royal Lodge I.O.O.F. No. 286 and Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98 held their annual church parade Sunday evening. The procession from the lodge rooms to St. John's Anglican church was led by the Havelock pipe band under the direction of Pipe Major Harry Anderson.

The service was conducted by E. J. MacDonald a lay reader of St. Luke's Church, Peterborough who delivered a message based on the text "Ye that make mention of the Lord keep not silent"

Mr. MacDonald said that his sermon, included all types of lodges and service groups because basically they were similar, having two things in mind,—the love of God and the love of man. Some ministers, he said, criticize fraternal organizations and service groups, but he thought they reached out to some whom the church does not reach. If the church, that is you and I, he continued, would reach out and do this work there would be no need of a fraternal organization.

"Are we as lodge members only active when there is a church parade? Do we share the load?" he asked. "It is a very easy matter to let someone else share our responsibilities. Likewise the same refers to christianity. Collectively as a unit, a lodge does marvelous work but when we as individuals stand before the judgment throne we will not be asked what we have done as a lodge member, but will be judged according to our individual deeds. Lodge work is insufficient" Mr. MacDonald said.

The first scripture lesson was read by Graydon Harris and the second by H. W. Roche. An anthem was sung by the choir under the direction of Mrs. D. Kirk with Mrs. W. Goadsby taking the solo part.

Tulips formed an attractive decoration in the chancel and on the organ and were the gift of Joseph Mills of Round Lake.

Get Most From Your Garden Use Flowers In The House

Faced with the problem of maintaining a balanced budget, the homemaker who likes flowers about the house may still have them if she learns to do her own flower arrangements, using the blooms from her garden.

The common garden variety (or even wildflowers) can yield bouquets rivaling those created with a special talent from expensive blooms.

But first, be sure to equip yourself with good household scissors (left or right-handed) that will cut through stems with ease. You'll also need a hand spray, rust-proof wire and stemming tape. These are essentials for the beginner.

YOUR SUMMER GARDEN can yield a wealth of flowers for home decoration. Now's the time to learn some simple, basic flower arrangements as this homemaker (above) has done in order to make the most of simple flowers. Be sure, too, that you have adequate tools for flower arranging, including the right scissors.

Once you've the proper tools with which to work, you need to know something about the flowers you'll form into bouquets. Generally, you should plan to cut flowers in the morning, with the sole exception of roses. These are cut in late afternoon.

You will have to keep watch to discover which flowers are fresh and therefore will keep best. Fresh flowers have a crisp feel to the touch. And it's wise to cut flowers in the bud or when they're first open.

Always cut the stem on an angle to allow more surface for water absorption. Then get the flowers into cold water at once.

Be sure that your scissors are kept sharp and bright. Dull scissors crush the stems and prevent them from opening to absorb water. (Best to check now to see if they should be sharpened or replaced by new ones.)

Never crowd the flowers. You'll use a deep vase for long-stemmed flowers, but even so give them plenty of room, allowing the air to circulate freely about them. Use a shallow holder for short-stemmed flowers and set them into mesh hardware wire. This will hold even very short stems firmly in place.

You'll need to work quickly and handle lightly the more fragile flowers. Keep your hands moistened with cold water as you work.

To revive wilted flowers, cut off a piece of stem and place flowers in about four inches of hot water. Let them stay there until the water cools, in a semi-dark place. Then transfer them to cold water once more.

While this is not an absolutely sure treatment, it does help in many instances.

For step-by-step instruction in flower arrangement, you might join a class in your community or consult one of the many books on the subject. In working with garden flowers, you'll want to achieve a natural effect, rather than an elaborate or formal arrangement.

War Nurse Dies After Long Illness

TORONTO (CP)—Isobel (Daisy) Wakeman Evans, 89, decorated for bravery as a nurse during the First World War, died in hospital Saturday after a long illness.

Miss Evans was decorated by King George V while on loan to the British Army. She was a holder of the Royal Red Cross Medal and also received citations from the presidents of France and the United States.

THE FABRIC FOR YOUR SUMMER DRESSES may be cotton or one of the synthetics, the cut of the skirt straight or full. Polished cotton faille (left) has trim of permanent velveray flowers and stems. Takes to suds readily, can be worn with or without petticoats. Slim dress with lattice-work trim (centre) is cut from orlon pima, has gently spreading skirt with oversize pockets. Airy nylon sheer fabric (right) makes a dress etched with white velveray scrollwork. Bodice is filled with tiny white ruffles, and there's a complete lining of taffeta. All three are easy to care for, easy on the budget.

Family Have Type of Suburban Living New To Canada

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Ken Marcus family moved into 17 Fordham Place last December. The next day Ken hooked up the television aerial and settled down to a type of suburban living new to Canada.

The Marcuses are among original settlers of Don Mills, an integrated community of homes and industry rising out of farm lands in North York township, only seven miles northeast of downtown Toronto. By 1960, a city of 35,000 to 40,000 will be in existence.

The Marcus family — Ken and Betty and their three children, Susan, 3, Timmy, 2, and Jenny, 1— are still pioneering. Their $13,700 bungalow sits in a sea of mud ("I have to hose the kids off every night before I let them in," says Betty). The nearest telephone is three blocks away. The winding streets and crescents confuse Betty. The baby-sitting problem couldn't be worse.

RIGHT ON SCHEDULE

But the Marcus' are willing to put up with these irritations for a while. The builders—the Don Mills Developments Limited—are working on schedule.

"And if economic conditions continue favorably we should finish before 1960," says Karl C. Fraser, Don Mills president and mastermind of the $200,000,000 project.

Don Mills was formed two years ago by Mr. Fraser, engineering and economics expert, and E. P. Taylor, millionaire industrialist and chairman of the board. The company acquired 3,000 acres of land.

The location of Don Mills was the prime consideration of the community's existence. Mr. Fraser said experience has shown whole communities are best erected on the fringe of a metropolitan area where the skilled labor pool is readily available for community industry.

Don Mills is roughly divided into four sections, bisected north and south by Don Mills road and east and west by Lawrence Ave. Seventeen builders began construction in the northwestern quadrant last spring and by October the first family moved in. More than 300 homes are occupied now and families are moving in at the rate of 10 a week.

PLAN CHURCHES, SCHOOLS

The first quadrant, containing 500 building lots, will be completed this year. An elementary school will be opened in September. Negotiations are now under way with religious denominations for the erection of churches in each quadrant. The whole project will contain four public schools and one high school.

The first steel work is up on the 44-acre town centre which will eventually contain 60 to 70 stores all connected by a covered mall, parking space for 4,000 cars, banks a library and theatre.

Eight industries, including the $4,000,000 International Business Machines plant, are now in operation. Five more firms have purchased sites and options have been taken out by 10 companies.

The company is planning with the Don valley conservation authority for the erection of a dam on the Don river which will create a mile-long lake for the recreational use of the community. Construction of the planned Eglinton avenue extension will put the area within a few minutes commuting distance of the new Toronto subway.

The community is planned to have a balance assessment of 40 per cent industrial and 60 per cent residential.

FAMOUS ESTATE

Operational headquarters are located at Donalda Farms, the former luxury estate of the late David A. Dunlap, Toronto financier. It was taken into the project and will eventually be turned into a community centre and its lush acreage sub-divided into lots for luxury-type homes.

"I think we could go even further," Mr. Fraser says. "We have tried for four or five years to design a home to meet the $3,000-a-year income bracket, but it's impossible under the present building codes."

Metropolitan Toronto's code requires a type of construction that can't be done cheaply, says the president. No frame homes can be erected.

To meet the needs of the lower-income bracket, the company included 355 suites in 2½-storey apartment buildings, the rents ranging from $85 for a bachelor apartment to $115 for two-bedroom suites.

The three-bedroom homes, purchased from the builder and financed under the National Housing Act, range from $11,500 to $15,000.

Future owners have 53 different planes to choose from.

The company is providing sewer and water facilities, paved streets and sidewalks, sod and trees.

Arnott-Davidson Rites

In a double ring wedding ceremony at All Saints' Anglican church on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Mabel Phyllis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davidson, of Marmora, became the bride of Albert F. Arnott, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Arnott, of Peterborough.

The rings and vows were exchanged with the Rev. Maurice P. Poole, rector, officiating. Organist Mr. Norman Hurrle played the wedding music. Before the service Mrs. R. J. Chandler sang the "Nuptial Benediction" and during the signing of the register she sang "O Perfect Love."

Pink and white snapdragons, palms and ferns decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a lovely gown of white nylon tulle over satin, appliqued with Chantilly lace and rhinestones. The strapless bodice was topped with a matching Chantilly lace jacket which buttoned to the waist with small buttons and was finished with lilly point sleeves. Her veil was of imported French illusion with Chantilly lace and rhinestone applique and was fingertip length. It was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. Her bouquet was of red roses with an orchid and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Floyd Ray and bridesmaids were Miss Doreen Pullybank, niece of the groom, and Miss Jean Davidson, sister of the bride. Avis Turner, a niece of the bride, was the flower-girl. Their gowns of nylon tulle over taffeta with matching jackets and mittens were in the spring pastel shades, green, pink, mauve and yellow. Each wore a braided headdress of matching tulle studded with rhinestones, and they carried nosegays of variegated pastel shades of carnations and rosebuds tied with streamers in the colors of the gowns.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Joseph McMahon. Ushers were Garnet Thackeray and Joseph Davidson, brother of the bride.

The reception of guests was in the parish hall. The bride's mother received in a two-piece suit dress of navy and white and wore a matching Milan straw hat and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother chose a dress of navy and pink and a pink Milan hat and her corsage was of pink roses. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Davidson, of Marmora, was in attendance and was wearing a navy ensemble with corsage of pink carnations.

The bride and groom have gone to New York City for their honeymoon and on return will take up residence at 88 Lansdowne Street.

Going away the bride was wearing a navy linen sheath dress with a red linen box jacket, a navy hat with red quill feather, white gloves and a white orchid corsage.

E. L. Thackeray Wed At Kemptville

Of interest here is the wedding which took place in Kemptville on Saturday, at the St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Miss Ethel Bell MacNaughton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George MacNaughton of Finch, Ontario, became the bride of Mr. Elwood Lloyd Thackeray of Kemptville, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clarke Thackeray of Peterborough.

Baskets of white snapdragons and ferns formed the setting for the ceremony performed by the Rev. M. N. MacDonald. Wedding music was by Mrs. Frank Gill and Mr. Stewart Holmes was soloist. He sang "The Wedding Hymn" before the service and "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. W. G. MacNaughton of Finch. She wore a bouffant gown of white French Chantilly lace over satin, styled with sweetheart neckline, a stand-up collar, and short sleeves and she wore elbow length gloves and headdress to match. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The groom's attendant was Mr. John S. Gardiner and ushers were Dr. Donald G. Ingram and J. C. McEacheran.

At the reception following in the church hall, Miss R. B. Rorke and Mrs. Thackeray received the guests. Miss Rorke wore a two-piece silk print dress and white accessories and Mrs. Thackeray was dressed in rosewood crepe and French lace and wore navy accessories. Each had a corsage of white roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to the Eastern States the bride wore a charcoal grey suit with pink accessories and a gardenia corsage.

They will live in Kemptville on return.

A LAKEFIELD COUPLE married Saturday in the Lakefield United Church, Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Ronald Hockaday, the bride formerly Mary June Hennessy.
(W. H. Staffen Photo)

Hockaday-Hennessy Rites

Baskets of pink and white snapdragons banked the chancel of Lakefield United church for the wedding on Saturday afternoon of Mary June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hennessy, to Frederick Ronald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hockaday, all of Lakefield.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, minister, with Mrs. T. E. Rath playing the wedding music. Mr. Roy Peters was soloist and sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered and "Through the years" during the signing of the register.

A full length gown of white lace over nylon tulle and taffeta with beautiful lace peblem enhancing the full skirt was worn by the bride. Over the strapless bodice she wore a long sleeve lace jacket and she had a Juliet cap of lace to which her nylon tulle veil was caught with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister Miss Helen Hennessy as maid of honor, Mrs. Aubrey Hockaday as bridesmaid and little Bonnie Wasson, a niece of the groom, as flower girl.

The attendants were frocked alike in pale blue nylon tulle over taffeta, ballerina length, with strapless bodices pleated to the waist and the skirts full. They wore matching color caps and mittens and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. The flower girl was dressed in pink French organdy and matching cap and mittens also, and she carried a nosegay of sweet peas.

Mr. Aubrey Hockaday was groomsman for his brother and Roy Hockaday, also a brother, and John Pearson were the ushers.

The reception was held at the bride's home where her mother received, dressed in pink linen and wearing a navy straw hat and corsage of gardenias. Assisting her, the groom's mother wore a navy crepe dress and matching straw hat and had a corsage of red roses.

The bride and groom are going to Niagara Falls and the United States on their honeymoon trip. Travelling the bride wore a beige suit with white hat and gloves and brown accessories and she had a corsage of yellow roses when going away.

They will live in Lakefield.

Preston-Sweeting Union

Baskets of pink and white snapdragons with palms and ferns made a lovely setting in Lakefield Baptist church Saturday at noon for the wedding of Elva Duniece, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting of RR No. 3, Lakefield, to Alan Preston, son of Mr. W. Preston and the late Mrs. Preston of Selwyn.

The Rev. G. E. Downing performed the ceremony. Organist Mrs. A. Arnott played the wedding music, and before the bride entered the church the Rev. T. H. Fleetham sang the "Lord's Prayer." During the signing of the register he sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of nylon French lace with a pleated nylon tulle skirt. Her gown was topped with a matching long sleeve lace redingote extending into a billowy train. Her veil was of embroidered nylon net in fingertip length, caught up with a pearl trimmed coronet. She carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Ward of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaid was her daughter, Miss Maureen Ward. Mrs. Ward wore green nylon net over taffeta with inserts of lace and matching lace bolero and mittens, and Miss Ward was similarly frocked in yellow. Both wore headdresses of lily-of-the-valley and rosebuds and they carried contrasting bouquets of roses, sweetpeas and carnations.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Betty Preston, niece of the groom. She wore pale pink nylon trimmed with white and a pink ruffled headdress, and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Ivan Davis and ushers were Ralph Sweeting, brother of the bride, and Arnold Preston, nephew of the groom.

A reception was held at the Lakefield Hotel. The bride's mother received wearing a dress of navy blue crepe with pink accessories and a corsage of pink Butterfly roses. The groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Preston of Smith, also received, wearing a gown of blue crepe with white accessories and corsage of the pink Butterfly roses.

Afterwards the wedding party went to the bride's home where they continued the receiving of guests.

Later, the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to United States. For travelling the bride donned a soft blue suit with matching topcoat and pink accessories. Her corsage was pink Sweetheart rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston will live on the groom's farm at Selwyn.

Birthday Hike For Woman, 63

TORONTO (CP)—A 63-year-old Toronto woman finished her annual birthday hike on schedule Monday night—a mile for every year.

Mrs. Brandt Johnston started her walk to Toronto from near Brantford, Ont., Sunday morning, at a four-mile-an-hour clip.

She offered $25 to anyone who saw her show signs of quitting and challenged Toronto's entire female population to accompany her. There were no takers.

"I think the women of Toronto are just a bunch of sissies," she said. "I was peppy all the way. I hope to do it again next year if I can—it keeps my figure in good shape."

Top Communist Weds Blue Blood

LONDON (Reuters) — One of Britain's leading women Communists has married into a family of aristocratic blue-bloods and will one day become the first Communist peeress.

Russian-born Mrs. Tamara Rust, 40, one-time chief of the British Communist party's women's department, and Wogan Phillips, 52, twice-wed and also a Communist, were married last Wednesday.

Phillipps is the son and heir of Lord Milford, 80, famous race-horse owner, financier and staunch Conservative.

JUMPER DRESS—This jumper dress in beige and botany flannel is designed for spring or fall wear. It can be worn unadorned, as in this picture for sportswear, or with a turtle neck sweater for city life. Featuring a button-down front the dress has a belt and patch pockets.—(CP Photo).

MR. JOHN E. GALLAGHER AND HIS BRIDE, the former Miss Jeanne Russelle, who were married at St. Peter's Cathedral on Saturday morning.
(Roy Studio Photo)

Jeanne Russelle Is Bride Of John E. Gallagher

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season was solemnized Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Peter's cathedral when Jeanne Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Russelle, became the bride of John E. Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gallagher of Cobourg.

The Rev. John J. Hickey officiated at the ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Mrs. R. G. Aman was organist and Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and during the signing of the register "Bring Flowers of the Rarest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a portrait original gown of mist white chantilly lace and tulle fashioned with fitted bodice, scooped neckline, lily point sleeves and full bouffant skirt extending to a slight train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a bandeau of four tiny hearts, outlined in pearls, centred b ya lover's knot and cluster of pearls. She carried a spray of orchids and stephanotis.

Attendants were Mrs. John Russelle Jr., as matron of honor, Miss Dorothy Russelle, sister of the bride, and Miss Marylin Morin of Rochester, as bridesmaids and Mary and Judy Russelle, sisters of the bride as junior bridesmaids. All wore similar waltz length gowns of nylon net over taffeta with full skirts and brief boleros, net mittens and brocaded shoes. The color scheme, giving a rainbow effect, shaded from shell pink to dusty rose. Their headdresses were halos of tiny multicolored flowers and they carried arm baskets of variegated spring flowers.

Gail Russele, niece of the bride, was a darling little flower girl in long pink net and lace dress with poke bonnet and mittens to match, carrying a tiny basket of sweet peas and roses.

Mr. Joseph Gallagher, brother of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Raymond Russelle and Dean Gallagher, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held in the Kawartha Room at the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in a moonstone blue shantung two-piece suit with white hat and accessories and wore a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother chose a navy crepe dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For travelling the bride wore an ensemble in honey beige shade with red accessories and an orchid corsage. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher will live on King George street.

Dogpatch "Dress" At 20 Plus

Visitors to the 20 Plus Club dance on Saturday evening at the YWCA must surely have thought they were in Dogpatch as members arrived in their "best" for the hard times party. Of special interest were the sketches by Miss Rosemary Parker decorating the reception room. The program was under the capable direction of Bill King, assisted by Miss Parker. Two square dances were thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Jean McIntyre and Malcolm Woodcock were winners of a contest and the losers, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Cathcart, Miss Ruby Leach and Tony Holler served supper. Other prize winners were Miss Wanda Deyell and Norma Elcombe and Jim Drummond and Jim Duncan. Registrations for camp weekend, June 18-20, are now being accepted. Tickets for the May dance this coming Friday, May 28, are available from members or at the door. Former members of the 20 Plus Club are especially welcome.

Varty-Houghton Nuptials

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Havelock Pentecostal church was scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when Mary Lucille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Houghton, of Cordova, became the bride of Lewis Roy Varty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Varty, of Havelock.

Tulips and ferns formed a lovely floral background for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. W. Stevenson. The wedding music was played by Miss Elfrieda Jenkins. Miss Helen Robinson sang "O Perfect Love" prior to the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Carman Hamilton, of Cordova, owing to the illness of her father. She chose a gown of white Chantilly lace over nylon net and satin, featuring a full skirt, fitted bodice with high neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of nylon net was caught to a headdress in "sweetheart" design. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Isabel Houghton was bridesmaid for her sister in a powder blue gown of nylon net over satin fashioned with fitted bodice and high neckline, short sleeves and a full skirt with draped overskirt of Chantilly lace. Her headdress was of matching nylon net with a wreath of flowers. She wore lace mittens and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Earl Jenkins was the groomsman and James and William Laing were ushers.

The reception for 60 guests was held in the lower auditorium of the church.

The bride's mother received in a gown of navy crepe with white accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a navy suit with white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations.

For a wedding trip to Rochester and district, the bride wore a pale blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

They will reside at the Pentecostal Bible School in Peterborough.

Can't Forget Former Suitor Says Girl

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a two-fold problem; perhaps one answer will take care of both. Upon graduating from college I came to work in a small town (though not as small as my home town) because my sister teaches here. That was two years ago. Shortly after arriving, I met Josh. We went steady for a while, then drifted apart. He is now working in another state and we corespond, though spasmodically. However, I can't get him out of my mind and am constantly weaving daydreams about a possible future together.

I've had other boy friends since, even two proposals, but they didn't appeal to me. How to get him more interested in me is problem No. 1 Now for No. 2. Although this is a pleasant town and I have met many people here, I haven't been able to find one true friend. There are very few young people my age (22), and I've found that the girls I go with are not to be trusted with secrets. In other words, there just is not one person in whom I can confide, with whom I can be more than a casual acquaintance. I guess I'm in a rut and don't know how to get out of it. I can't believe the entire fault is mine, because I had some fine friends at college, but most of them are now married and scattered.

ONE SOLUTION FOR BOTH PROBLEMS

ANSWER: At 22, with a good educational background, capabilities, and an apparent freedom from family responsibility, there is absolutely no reason why you should suffer from boredom. You have the world before you, girl, just waiting to be conquered. One solution almost surely will take care of both your problems. An interesting job in an interesting place is your answer. A small town where friends and opportunities are equally scare holds no inducement for you at the moment. Why not try your luck in a large city, at least for the summer? Or, if you'd like to travel even farther afield, I suggest investing a dollar in a fascinating book, "How to Get a Job That Takes You Travelling."

A new job and environment will enliven your correspondence with Josh to the point where his interest may become thoroughly reawakened; or you might meet a new man who will effectively drive away all thoughts of your former suitor. Even more important, however, you'll become a more interesting person. Don't continue to drift hopeelessly along in a situation that offers no future and very little present.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A week ago I was an usher at a wedding and was paired off with a lovely bridesmaid. Although this is the only time I met her, we got along very well and I'd like very much to know her better, She lives quite a distance away, but I could make the trip on a week end.

K. K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Write the girl, tell her how much you enjoyed the brief time you spent together and that you'd like to drive out for a visit sometime. Doubtless she's as anxious as you to develop a friendship that began so auspiciously.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Five months ago my wife left me; I haven't seen or heard from her since. I'd like to date a girl from my office, and wonder if it would be all right.

D. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Before you can give any thought ot dating, you've got to get your marriage problem settled. Locate your wife, find out what she wants in the future and do your best to re-establish your marriage on a sound basis. Consult a marriage counsellor, if necessary. If your wife insists on a separation, or divorce, then you can turn your attention to dates; otherwise no.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MIS SDIX: I am talented musically, but stopped studying when I married. I'd like to resume lessons now, but my husband says we can't afford it. Actually that's just an excuse to cover up the fact that he doesn't care for music and thinks it's foolish.

T. T.

ANSWER: When a situation that has its roots in a divergence of tastes arises in marriage, the person to give in is the one with least to lose. In this case, that person is your husband. Specious reasoning doesn't excuse the fact that he's being selfish in denying you something that means a great deal to you. As far as money goes, I should think you could give lessons to young people, thus earning enough for your own advanced study. Talents are rare enough in this world; they should never be wasted.

HONORED MISSION

Mount McDougall in Alberta was named after Rev. George McDougall and his two sons, missionaires to the Stoney Indians.

CLAW FRINGE—Newest thing in London and Paris hair fashions is a stylishly careless coiffure presenting a youthful and chic look. For the sophisticate there is this sea-dream style by Steiner of Mayfair, decorated by a crab-style cap of satin, gold beads and pearls for evening wear. The hair is cut close to the head and styled in a claw fringe. It twirls back from the temples in claw curls that give a cap-shaped, sea-shell effect.—(CP Photo).

Somersault Cut Popular For Summer's Hair Styling

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The latest thing in London and Paris hair fashion is a stylishly - careless coiffure whose symmetry remains unblemished come what may.

Thus the "somersault cut," a styling whose designer claims it will withstand even a head-over-heels gyration. It illustrates the current theory that the clever wielding of scissors matters more than the grooming.

The "somersault cut," by Rene, has the hair clinging close to the ears, covering all but the tips. The sides are brushed to devil's horn curls that form a perfect V with the chin. Two deep waves curve over each eyebrow, one falling carelessly forward in two casual kiss curls.

FLATTERING FRINGE

Raymond, television stylist, shows several styles that are little more than a close cap of hair fringing the face. The "pruning cut" starts from the crown of the head and the hair is made to swirl from the crown in a flattering fringe that half-covers the forehead and ears. It's cut short at back and finished in a point at the nape of the neck.

The "angel clip" by Riche is three-dimensional. Using a plastic halo as a guide, the stylist snips three layers of hair, brushes it down from the crown and then back from the face. This easy arrangement gives a soft halo sweeping up and back from the forehead and temples.

Steiner, who vies with Raymond in achieving the best and most popular styles for each season, gives a "lace posy" style for this year's debutante with a classic profile. Cut in a shaped bob, the hair curves forward to curl on the temple. A Clark Gable lock falls over the forehead in what is called a "bolster" fringe.

The style gets it name from the stiff lace and pearl posy that can be pinned to the nape of the neck —youthful and chic for debutante balls and summer dances.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Training For Home, Career Life

If it were possible to have a second chance to counsel one's only daughter on the sequence of her education, this faltering counsellor would firmly advise at least one year at McDonald Institute.

In a recent sight-seeing tour of the Institute's new wing the comment was made "They would be hard put to compete with this equipment in New York." — and how true it was.

A group of Home Economists had been invited to see the new departments in the field of home economy, and after the tour, my conclusion was that Canadian girls and boys are fortunate indeed to have such training opportunities right here in Canada.

At McDonald Institute (the Home Economics division of Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario) besides the courses in food production, food processing and food preparation and hostess-training that one expects, a laboratory in nutritional research has been established under the leadership of Dr. M. I. Irwin. This is for degree students and will be for post graduates too. As most Canadian women know there is a diploma course in this subject from which almost any marriageable or career-seeking girl could profit.

While the food subjects, of course, intrigued me most I found myself loitering in the weaving rooms by those looms —set up for pattern weaving, a striped warp, and harness techniques. Fascinating too were the metal, pottery and leather work departments.

Not even the last-minute developments in the fast-moving textile indutsry will escape their research. Their textile department includes four laboratories, a conditioning room, balance room, chemical preparation room, and weaving room.

A curiosity-provoking machine called a Fade-ometer tests fabrics for dye fastness and sunlight. Strength and washability of woven and knitted fabrics are tested in a Launder-ometer, with a Ball-burst attachment.

And mothers, your daughters can unravel those plaguey mysteries of new detergent soaps and synthetics fabrics, and be knowledgeable spenders of their future hubands' hard-earned money. McDonald Institute is delving into them all. They test the new automatic stoves, washers, driers, ironers, refrigerators, and know the models that fulfill the manufacturers' claims.

How I wish Marianne could spend a year studying under Mr. Couling, and Miss Bray and Miss Singer. For, if the interior decoration of McDonald Institute inself is the results of their designing and planning, any girl about to establish a new home would be lucky indeed to have the benefit of their training.

One of the interior decorating rooms was hung with samples of Swedish and American draperies that made me yearn for new drapes in the Moore living room. They were luscious with color, modern without being bazaare, colorful without being confusing.

After the tour, when the various sight-seeing parties met in the reception room for coffee, we had a chance to question Dr. Margaret McCready who is is the beloved principal of The Institute.

Her charm was infectious. As I watched her pour coffee, for some reason the saying "A great institution is only the lengthened shadow of one man" came into my mind. There is little doubt in this mind that Dr. McCready's influence is at once constant, practical, progressive and visionary.

Mothers, if you are in the throes of deciding what course —be it diploma or degree— that you would like your daughters to pursue, McDonald Institute is bursting with arts of household management and merits your exploration.

6—In Memoriam

HUNTER—In loving memory of Ann Elizabeth who passed away, May 25, 1952.
A little lamb too sweet and pure
Upon this earth to roam;
An angel came,
And took our dear child home.
—Lovingly remembered by father and mother.

McINTYRE — Lovingly remembering Charles McIntyre who departed this life May 25, 1950.
When earthly voices once so dear,
Have died in silence one by one,
Yet have I peace, and can rejoice,
If I can hear the master's voice.
A little while; wait patiently
A little while, and thou shalt be
With thy beloved, and with me.
—Wife Marjorie Jean and daughter Linda.

McGREGOR—In memory of a loving husband and father, David A. McGregor who passed away May 25th, 1953.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain
We who loved him, sadly miss him
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by his wife Ivy daughters June, Pat and son David.

PETERS—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Frank Peters, who passed away May 25, 1944.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them that's true.
Years that will come cannotsever
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

PETERS—In loving memory of Mrs. Frank Peters, who passed away May 25th, 1944.
O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
—Always remembered by her sisters, Mrs. Philip Russell and Mrs. Louis Thompson.

THIRNBECK—In loving memory of Stephen Thirnbeck who passed away May 25, 1953.
Safe in the arms of Jesus.
—Always remembers by his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. C. Thirnbeck.

6—In Memoriam

THIRNBECK—In loving memory of Stephen, aged 4 years, who passed away May 25th, 1953.
He was a flower too sweet for Earth,
Sent here but for a while;
God marked him when he gave him birth,
And took him with a smile.
—Lovingly remembered by Grandma and Grandpa Thirnbeck.

THIRNBECK—In loving memory of Stephen aged 4 years who passed May 25, 1953.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well;
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
—Ever remembered by Grandma and Grandpa Westran.

THIRNBECK—In loving memory of Stephen, aged 4 years, who passed away May 25, 1953.
Fondly loved and deeply mourned,
Heart of our hearts we miss you so,
Often, darling, our tears will flow,
Driving your picture before our eyes,
But never the one in our hear that lies
The stars seem dim as we whisper low:
Our own darling boy; we miss you so."
—Mummy and Daddy.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors who helped brighten my stay in Civic and Toronto General Hospitals. For cards, flowers, gifts, letters, also to my blood donors and those who offered blood. Also to Rev. A. E. Larke, Springdale, Rev. F. W. Pooley and Rev. Hughes, Toronto.—Mrs. Roy McCall.

Sincere thanks to the attending doctors, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital to the friends who visited me, sent gifts, flowers and cards, and to the good neighbours, for their kind help during my illness.—Mrs. R. Flokstra.

The Family of the late Mrs. Joseph P. Ayotte, Young's Point, wish to express their deepest gratitude to attending doctor, Miss Irene Young, also friends, neighbours, relatives, Dr. J. V. Masterson, Rev. Houlihan, Anderson Funeral Home and all who sent messages of sympathy and flowers.

The family of the late Percival Simpson wish to thank the Rev. F. H. Parlee and Dr. N. D. Patterson, the many relatives, friends and neighbours who helped in any way during our recent loss.

The family of the late Mrs. C. R. McConnell wish to thank all those whose kindness and thoughtfulness helped so much at the time of passing of a dear wife and mother. Special thanks to Rev. D. M. Smith, attending doctor and nurse Patricia Allen of the health unit. C. R. McConnell and Son, Campbellford.

Textile Seminar To Be Held At Kingston

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Items from here and there:

The fourth Canadian textile seminar will be held at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., Sept. 10-11.

An advance prospectus says:

"Expansion of knowle e of textile sciences is even more important now than under more prosperous conditions. Seminars afford an invaluable means for securing up-to-date technical, practical knowledge."

Some 1,300 members from 33 chapters in the United States and Canada will attend the annual conference of the American National Industrial Advertisers' Association in Montreal June 14-17.

The Canadian Adequate Wiring Bureau will hold its annual meeting in Montreal June 23.

The Ontario regional conference of the Packaging Association of Canada will meet in Niagara Falls Thursday.

The Ontario Association of Professional Engineers has renamed one of its five engineering branches "mechanical, aeronautical and industrial," instead of "mechanical and industrial." The change, says W. L. Sagar, president of the 12,000-member association, is to accommodate the growing number of professional and aeronautical engineers in Canada's expanding aircraft industry.

For the first time in the four years she has been represented, Japan will have heavy industry exhibits at the Canadian International Trade Fair in Toronto May 31-June 11.

James Richardson and Sons, investment dealers, report that more than 7,000 people attended public investment forums held by the firm in various cities of Canada during the winter.

Women not only demand more nylons per capita than a few years ago, but go in for much sheerer stockings, says Textiles, published by Primary Textiles Institute.

In 1953, it adds, the average Canadian woman over 15 years of age bought 11.1 pairs of full-fashioned hosiery to make up a total of 55,800,000 pairs sold on the Canadian market. In 1949 she bought an average of eight pairs for a total of 37,524,000.

SALVATION ARMY BANDSMEN nail asphalt shingles, Saturday afternoon, on the roof of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hawks' house, 311 Euclid Ave. Mrs. Hawks, a mother of six children, is a polio patient at Riverdale Isolation hospital. She is expected to return home in July. The bandsmen, in their spare time, extended the Hawks' six-room home by building a 12 by 22 foot room at the back of the house.

K Of C Council Returns Entire Officer Slate

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) The entire state board of officers was returned by the Ontario state council of the Knights of Columbus at Monday's closing sessions of the organizations three-day convention here.

Tobias Kelly, Toronto, was re-elected state deputy; James J. Gaffney, Hamilton, state secretary; Leo J. Lavoie, Arnprior, state treasurer; J. M. McPherson, Sault, state advocate and E. J. Wolff, Peterborough, state warden. The Most Rev. W. J. Smith, Bishop of Pembroke accepted the post of state chaplain.

State committee appointments went to W. Je Sheady, Amherstburg, publicity; M. L. Belanger, Windsor, Columbian squires; Vincent Kelly, Ottawa, good reading.

Cornwall was awarded a trophy as the best Knights of Columbus council in Ontario, with other awards going to Oshawa, Kapuskasing, Galt and Smooth Rock Falls. Amherstburg circle was awarded the trophy going to the best unit of Columbia squires.

National unity as a continuing problem in a country of diversified racial and religious groups was stressed by Senator John J. Connolly of Ottawa, speaker at the main convention dinner.

Salvation Army Bandsmen Aid Victim Of Polio

When Mrs. William H. Hawks of 311 Euclid, a polio victim, returns from Riverdale Isolation Hospital, Toronto she'll find a new additional room in her house.

The room 12 by 22 feet, is being built by members of the Salvation Army bandsmen in their spare time. It will have a ramp from the door to the ground to move Mrs. Hawks, easily in her wheel chair.

Last Saturday the bandsmen put the roof on the room and now will begin work on the inside. With the addition the Hawks' home will have seven rooms.

In the hospital since September 20, of which the first 10 weeks were spent in an iron lung, Mrs. Hawks is recovering from polio of the lung. She is expected home around the first week in July.

MOTHER OF SIX CHILDREN

She is the mother of six children —five boys and one girl, ranging in ages from one to 11 years — who are now under the care of their grandmother, Mrs. Lawrence Rowe.

Construction of the room, which is being added to the back of the house, began April 21. First the men dug the basement and poured a concrete foundation. Then the walls were built.

During the past two months, about two or three times a week, the bandsmen in old clothes, would be found hammering, sawing, and measuring windows and doors at the Hawks' home. Often many of them would work all day Saturday. It was all voluntary.

Head of the bandsmen's building committee is Gordon Holnbeck, and guiding the work is carpenter and constractor Jim P. Halcrowe. The other men working on the building are: Alfred Mills, Arnold Farthing, Roddy Halcrow, Murray Thomas, A. Stevens, Mel Stevens, Don Robertson, Herbert Barnes, Gerald Routly, Milton Fisher, Ken Payne, Grant Smith, Jack Farthing, Major Horace Temple, Garry Davies, Gerald Jones, Ken Lowell, and Wilfred Boorman.

Name Johnstone Warden Of Pen

KINGSTON (CP)—Appointment of Walter F. Johnstone, 49, as warden of Kingston Penitentiary was announced today by Maj.-General R. B. Gibson of Ottawa, federal commissioner of penitentiaries.

Mr. Johnstone succeeds Richard M. Allan, a 40-year veteran of the penal service who retired in April. Deputy warden Sidney Davidson has been acting as warden in the interim. Mr. Johnstone is to take office May 27.

Mr. Johnstone, who joined the penal service in 1934 at British Columbia penitentiary has for the last two years held the position of superintendent of the penitentiary staff college, "Calderwood," in Kingston. He organized the first training course at Calderwpod in 1952.

Thomas D. McDonnell, executive secretary at Kingston Penitentiary, will succeed Mr. Johnstone as superintendent of the penitentiary staff college, Gen. Gibson said.

Stops Signalman Trying Rapids

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Glen Soutcote, a signalman from this district who is stationed at Kingston, was dissuaded Monday from trying to go through the Niagara river rapids in a canoe powered by an outboard motor.

The man who kept him from making the attempt was Major Hill who himself has made two successful trips through the rapids in a barrel. Major is Hill's first name, not an army title.

Hill tried to talk Southcote out of the idea. He said that during his own barrel trips he was severely buffeted. Southcote was planning to make the canoe run without even a life preserver.

Despite the warnings, Southcote started to get into the canoe at the landing used by the Maid of the Mist sightseeing ships. Hill, helped by Corkey McKenzie, dragged him ashore and took him home.

Loses Nose In Scrap

LODI, Italy (AP) — Giuseppe Bonetti tried to do some cows a good turn during a milk strike and lost his nose for his efforts. When Communists called dairy hands out on strike for higher wages, several non-Communist workers tried to relieve the uncomfortable cows, passing through a leftist picket line. One of the pickets got in a fight with Bonetti and bit off his nose.

Narcotics Suspect Held

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who described himself as a longshoreman was arrested Monday night by narcotics agents who said he was bearing $250,000 worth of pure heroin. Albert Palmieri, 34, was booked on a charge of possessing narcotics with intent to sell.

Caterpillars Move In

CAMDEN, N. Y. (AP)—Tent caterpillars swarmed in trees by thousands here today and residents of this central New York State village fought the invasion with torches, insecticides and streams of water. The pests stripped the leaves from many apple, cherry and maple trees, littered the sidewalks and made walking hazardous.

Beaverbrook, 75 Publishes Rivals' Story

LONDON (AP) — Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born newspaper publisher, celebrated his 75th birthday today by publishing a rival newspaper man's story describing him as "slapdash," "irresponsible"—and a genius.

"The Beaver's" principal newspaper, the Daily Express, with a circulation of more than 4,000,000, carried a six-column birthday piece by A. J. Cummings, political editor of The News Chronicle, one of The Express' main opponents in the morning field.

Deseribing Beaverbrook as "a puckish, lovable genius, journalistic and financial, who likes riches and the Bible and is devoted to promoting the Empire, Cummings wrote:

"Let me say at once, without any beating about the bush, that I have always intensely disliked and distrusted many of Beaverbrook's policies, and shall continue on appropriate occasions to attack them. . . . They are slapdash, irresponsible. . . ."

Cummings said Lord Beaverbrook, as minister of aircraft production early in the Second World War, "did more perhaps than any other human being to enable 'the few' . . . to win the Battle of Britain."

Dog Kills Master

VICTORIA, Australia (Reuters) Victor Jencke died in hospital Monday after being shot in the back by his dog. On a shooting trip with friends, he was driving a truck with his retriever dog in the back and his automatic shotgun on the floor. The dog playfully pawed the tsigger and the shot ripped through the back of the cabin and hit Jencke.

Claims Distance Record

HAYWARDS HEATH, England (AP)—J. Austen Walton claims a world distance record for his five-inch-gauge working model of a British Railways locomotive. He aimed at a 100-mile run in a record attempt Saturday. Trouble with boiler tubes forced him to give up short of his goal, but he said he got the model up to 60 miles, claiming a record.

Schine Treatment Discussed At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators of the McCarthy-army dispute planned to dig deeper today into the kind of treatment Pte. G. David Schine got as a draftee at Fort Dix, N.J.

Maj.-Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan was recalled to the stand in the 20th day of televised hearings for more details on his story that Schine, a former unpaid consultant to the investigations sub-committee headed by Wisconsin's senator McCarthy, was regarded by his fellow soldiers as "a man apart."

Ryan, commander at Fort Dix, said this was true because Schine arrived last November in a blaze of publicity and because he got extra time off from camp at the request of members of the sub-committee staff.

But Ryan told the investigations sub-committee that any story that the millionaire draftee was "coddled or shown favors or given preferential treatment, with the exception of his work for this committee, is false."

PROVES FALSITY

Citing that statement, McCarthy contended in an interview that the army has shown through one of its own witnesses the falsity of army charges that he and two aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, had brought improper pressure to get favored treatment for Schine.

"We will have a few questions to ask the general because he has proved just what we have been saying, that Schine got no preferential treatment," the Republican senator said.

McCarthy has accused Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and army counsel John G. Adams of using Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to halt the sub-committee's investigation of alleged Communists in the army.

Ryan was called to the witness chair late Monday after a day of much wrangling over legal issues, punctuated by some sharp exchanges between McCarthy and Stevens over the latter's testimony.

TELL THE TRUTH

The senator said at one point that Stevens was "either in error—I assume that's what it was, his memory is very bad—or guilty of perjury." Again, he noted that there had been a week's recess and told Stevens that after such a long rest the secretary should be able "to tell the truth."

"I resent that remark," Stevens replied. "I tell the truth and I don't think the chairman ought to allow that kind of a statement to be made."

Acting chairman Karl Mundt, South Dakota Republican who has taken over the committee from McCarthy for this hearing, said he regarded McCarthy's statement as "improper."

Ryan testified that the average draftee is lucky to get four passes in his eight weeks' basic training at Fort Dix. He said the 16 issued to Schine, plus many urgent telephone messages from McCarthy staff members, caused "some repercussions and thought, or bewilderment, wonderment and question in the minds of the other trainees."

SITUATION NOT NORMAL

"There was unquestionably a situation there that wasn't normal and private Schine was looked upon as a man apart. I might say that private Schine himself contributed by indicating to his company commander that he was at Fort Dix to study the reorganization of the United States Army along modern lines."

Ryan said Schine got leave for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, and that because of a mix-up over the latter Schine was allowed to stay in New York the night of Jan. 3 after Cohn called the general.

Schine was scheduled to go on KP Jan. 10, but didn't, because of "administrative difficulties on a company level," Ryan said. He said Cohn called his aide Jan. 9 and was "very much upset" about the KP assignment for Schine.

The general said that when Schine did KP duty the day after starting his basic training Nov. 22, and on another occasion did "the dirtiest job" of all, cleaning the stove.

2,800 Canadians Killed In 1953 Traffic Accidents

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than 2,800 Canadians were killed last year in traffic accidents.

This year motor-vehicle registrations are expected to reach a record figure of 3,500,000. Coast to coast the provinces have started safety campaigns to keep deaths down despite heavier traffic.

Devices ranging from tickets for jay-walking pedestrians to colored permits for careless drivers are being used in campaigns which have caught the attention of eveyone from the traffic patrolman to the member of Parliament. Here is what some provinces are doing to promote highway safety:

VARIETY OF MEASURES

1. Nova Scotia is emphasizing safe driving among high school students.

2. Quebec plans a fortnight's safety campaign in June with a blaze of newspaper, radio and TV publicity.

3. Ontario penalizes the stubborn driver who won't yield the right-of-way, and is testing radar to trap speeders.

4. Manitoba has turned the highway safety problem over to a select committee of the legislature.

5. Alberta has introduced to rural districts the "ghost" police patrols already tried in Vancouver.

In the House of Commons Davie Fulton, Progressive Conservative member for Kamloops, suggested a federal-prvincial highway-safety meeting. Justice Minister Garson expressed doubt of the effectiveness of such a conference. He said the best way to cut accidents is to cancel drivers' licences.

SAFER IN ONTARIO

Safety authorities in Ontario, where last year's record traffic death toll of 1,082 was highest of any province, say that driving actually is getting safer in proportion to total driving mileage. Ontario motorists roll up 1,000,000,000 miles a month.

Statisticians counted 8.8 deaths per 100,000,000 miles driven in Ontario last year. This compares with 15.3 deaths for the same mileage in 1943, a wartime year when traffic was comparatively light.

Ontario's 1954 safety program includes fines, jail sentences and licence suspensions for hit-and-run drivers. Drivers refusing to yield the right-of-way at intersections now may be summonsed and the 30-mile limit in built-up areas has been extended to school and church areas.

Quebec, next to Ontario with its record 1953 death toll of 901, last year introduced a compulsory test for operators' licences, long part of the law in other provinces. Magistrates now are handing out stiffer fines and longer licence suspensions and, in some cases, prison entences for unsafe driving. About 12,000 are on the province' blacklist of convicted drivers.

STIFFER PENALTY

Alberta, only province with provision for automatic licence suspensions in cases of impaired or drunken driving, plans to stiffen the law with a mandatory 20-to-30-day jail term for driving while the licence is suspended. It is also giving magistrates authority to cancel speeders' licences.

To cut the death toll from last year's record 227, Alberta is sending out "ghost" patrols this spring. Unmarked cars driven by plain-clothes officers will cruise at the speed limit in pairs, one about two miles behind the other. A radio message to the first car will trap a speeder passing the second car.

Manitoba, where 1953's death toll of 102 was only three short of 1949's record, has turned the study of highway safety over to a select committee of the legislature with orders to report at the next session. The province, where penalties already are stiff, has 4,000 drivers under suspension.

Saskatchewan, where traffic claimed a record total of 124 lives last year, started a safety program last November. Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines, in charge of the program, reports that accidents during the December - February peiod were down to 2,266 from 2,679 in the corresponding period a year ago.

A Saskatchewan driver, convicted of a minor traffic offence, may lose his white driver's permit and get a blue one costing $11 compared with the regular $3. After licence suspension for drunken driving, a driver gets a $26 red permit and needs two years of good behavior to get back in the white-permit category.

B.C. PLANS

British Columbia with 208 highway deaths in 1953—one short of the record in 1952—has proposed legislation to prevent ribbon development along main highways and to limit the number of access roads to trunk highways.

Vancouver has used "ghost" cars, tickets to careless pedestrians, road-blocks for impaired drivers and a publicity campaign in a safety drive begun last November.

In the four Atlantic provinces, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island reported the 1953 death toll lower than in 1952. Newfoundland, which only began to count traffic fatalities last year, had 21 deaths in the first nine months.

Nova Scotia, which started a safe-driving program 18 years ago, now sends lecturers and films to senior high schools.

New Brunswick, which cut its death toll by eight from the record 119 in 1952, plans to raise the minimum driving age from 15 to 16 and has introduced a law forcing drivers involved in accidents to prove financial responsibility.

P.E.I., which cut its highway fatalities from 24 in 1952 to 13 last year, has not announced plans for a safety program this year.

Newfoundland proposes to add to its 6,500 miles of roads this year but has announced no safety program.

ACCIDENT TOLL MOUNTS — Crash pictures and newspaper headlines tell the story of Canada's rising highway fatalities. More than 2,800 Canadians died on the roads last year and this year motor-vehicle registrations are expected to reach a record figure. Across the country, police and highways authorities are planning campaigns to cut highway deaths and make the roads safer.—(CP Photo).

U.S. Navy Blimp Sets Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A U.S. Navy blimp Monday broke the world endurance record for a crew and aircraft by remaining aloft over Miami without refueling for 180 hours.

The navy said the ZPG-2 airship of the NAN type was now cruising toward the Florida keys.

The lighter-than-air ship broke the old mark of 170.3 hours set in 1947 by an M-type airship, also out of Lakehurst.

Cmdr. Marion H. Eppes of Pinson, Ala., is in command of the aircraft which carries a navy crew of 14 and a civilian observer.

He told reporters by radio telephone as the blimp cruised over northwest Miami that all aboard had eaten and slept well. "But after a week we need baths," he said.

The 342-foot non-rigid airship will have covered more than 3,000 miles by the time it gets to Boca Chica, naval air station near Key West. It has been on patrol over the Atlantic seaboard, the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Canadian Weekly Papers To Honor Editor's Wife

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PICTOU, N.S. (CP)—A striking 43-year-old brunette with the passive qualities of a Kansas tornado will become the first lady of Canada's weekly newspaper family later this year.

The Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association hopes to separate Mrs. George Murray from a marathon home-making and business merry-go-round long enough to name her officially 1954's Mrs. Canadian Weekly Newspaper. The award will be made during the association's August convention at Toronto.

Nora Murray, known to her friends as Nonie, married husband George, 46, back in 1933 when he was an editor in the Canadian Press bureau at Halifax. He now owns and publishes the 12-page weekly Pictou Advocate which has won two national awards of its own for editorial content.

"I loved George," Nonie reflected, "besides, he always kept quiet while I talked."

HECTIC SCHEDULE

The two made a free-wheeling team which in the last 21 years has brought forth nine irrepressible children and landed Nonie Murray into a year-round schedule that would shatter the composure of most women bigger than her five feet, two inches.

Nonie's contributions to the politically independent Advocate are two breezy columns.

"Aunt Betty" benevolently leads children through a delightful world of animals, books and travel in faraway places.

A column or so to the left, "Aunt Betty" becomes "Ann Advocate" who scatters her topics like bird shot; from sympathetic mention of the deaths of stalwart old-timers in the Pictou county area to discourses on the merits of daylight saving time.

Sample opening: "As I was peeling the potatoes today, I glanced at the paper into which the peelings were dropping and what did I see but . . . ."

BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Nonie Murray peels her own spuds, too. She whistles through single-handed and daily the housework in the Murray's rambling, old-style home on High street and not a day passes that some if not all of her four clotheslines aren't groaning under the weight of a gigantic wash.

"I love housework," she said. "If I haven't got three days of work ahead of me, I'll start inventing something."

George cut his teeth in the news business in the hard-working days of the late '20s, but even he stands secretly in awe of the azure-eyed woman he married.

The Murrays fire off upwards of 300 personal Christmas cards each year and their original design and novelty has become something to watch for when the season rolls around.

Nonie is an active member of the Catholic Women's League, the Victorian Order of Nurses lay organization and two home and school associations.

"I have to belong to two of them," she said, "because the kids are spread over three schools."

ON BOARD OF TRADE

She recently was voted into membership of the Pictou Board of Trade as one of the few women ever to belong.

"But it's funny, you know," Nonie said, "I've never been able to drive a car; I'm psychologically incapable, I guess."

The nine children are Ian, 2; Wendy, 5; Maida, 8; Ross, 10; Janet, 11; Bruce, 13; Jock ("he's really Thomas John but nobody ever calls him that"), 15, Margot, 18; and Wallace, 19.

Margot and Wallace are attending St. Francis Xavier University at Antigonish, N.S., she working toward 'a teachers' diploma and he in second-year arts. The nine altogether manage to put forward better-than-average talents for music, painting, basketball, baseball, swimming and hockey.

Ian's role so far is small. "He's not quite house-broken," Nonie explained.

She has a weakness for getting up to her ears in projects that 24 hours before had never entered her mind.

George once detoured through New York en route home from an Ontario trip. Nonie was knee-deep in a child study conference before their visit was a day old.

FAMILY AFFAIR

All the children take a turn at the Advocate plant, a modest one-storey brick building around the corner from the house. There are stages; "janitor," delivery boy and so on.

Bruce currently does the sweeping up. Ross sells papers. They get "promoted" as they grow older.

Life through Nonie's eyes:

"I love fireplaces. I think they hold a family together. With central heating—mind, I'm not advocating we do without it—everybody scatters."

"I always read at night. It helps get me to sleep."

"I'm supposed to be vice-president of the Advocate but I don't do anything." The "anything" is 2,000 to 3,000 words of copy a week and all of it ferreted out of a town with only 4,500 inhabitants.

"I'm not a joiner. I can't see the point of some of these organizations where people just sit around and do nothing. If there's something I can do, I'm all for it."

"Our Christmases are a sort of ritual. I come from a family of 15 and George was one of 10 so the loot is terrific. But we only allow the kids to open one present at a time."

"You know, I just wish I could get everything done at once. Maybe an eight-day week would help."

Introduce Legislation For Disabled Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — The government Monday night introduced legislation for $40-a-month pensions for the totally and permanently disabled on a 50-50 basis with the provinces.

Health Minister Martin's bill, forecast in the speech from the throne last November, was greeted with approval by opposition members.

It goes into effect in provinces that pass enabling legislation. So far, there are five of these—British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Martin said later, outside the House, he expects all provinces will be in the plan.

Two Cars Collide In Swirl Of Dust

HALLS GLEN (ENS) — Driving blind in a cloud of dust for a few moments, two cars collided almost head-on on the Stony lake road about 15 miles north of Lakefield about 9 p.m. Sunday, sending two women to hospital.

A third car was blamed for the accident. It passed a car being driven north by Mrs. Betty Buck, 25, Winston Park, Toronto, with a cousin, Mrs. June Buck, 23. Rexdale, Ont., driving with her. Driving an oncoming car was Frederick Reilly, 49. Toronto.

The third car kicked up such a cloud of dust on the dry gravel road, that neither driver could see. The left front corners of both cars collided and each sustained about $900 damage.

Driver Mrs. Buck suffered a seven stitch-cut on the left side of her head, and cuts on her face. Her cousin, who was thrown from the cars, had lacerations of the head, face and hands. Both were treated in hospital and released.

OPP constable Bruce Tillson investigated.

Nazis To Commies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Hitler generals and other high officers are turning up in the uniform of Soviet-controlled East Germany's police force-army. A survey published Sunday by the Senate foreign relations committee also cited what it said were resemblances to methods of the Nazi regime in East Germany's labor and youth policies.

Surgery Deferred

BOSTON (AP)—The bone specialist who helped operate on Arthur Godfrey's hip last year said Sunday night no further surgery is planned for at least three months. Dr. Otto Aufranc made a detailed examination of the radio-TV star who flew to Boston in his own plane.

Quake Shakes City

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A brief, sharp earthquake was felt in parts of metropolitan Los Angeles and some outlying southern California communities Sunday but no damage was reported.

County Courts Need Improving Judge Believes

TORONTO (CP) — Judge Helen Kinnear of Cayuga, Ont., county court judge for Haldimand, says a royal commission might well be set up to study ways of improving the operation of Ontario's county courts.

Her honor, only woman judge in Ontario, says her experience since her appointment in 1943 has shown her the need for many reforms in the system.

"The basic question is whether our present system is adapted to the simple, equitable and speedy determination of litigants' problems at a cost that is not prohibitive," she writes in an article in the current issue of the Canadian Bar Review.

COST HEAVY

She says the cost of trial by jury is so heavy that the time has come to consider whether civil trial by jury should be abolished.

She also proposes the appointment by the province of a public defender to act for accused persons unable to pay for their own defence.

Other recommendations include establishment of an insurance fund to reimburse litigants who suffer the expense of appeals arising out of the uncertainty of the law and out of judges' errors.

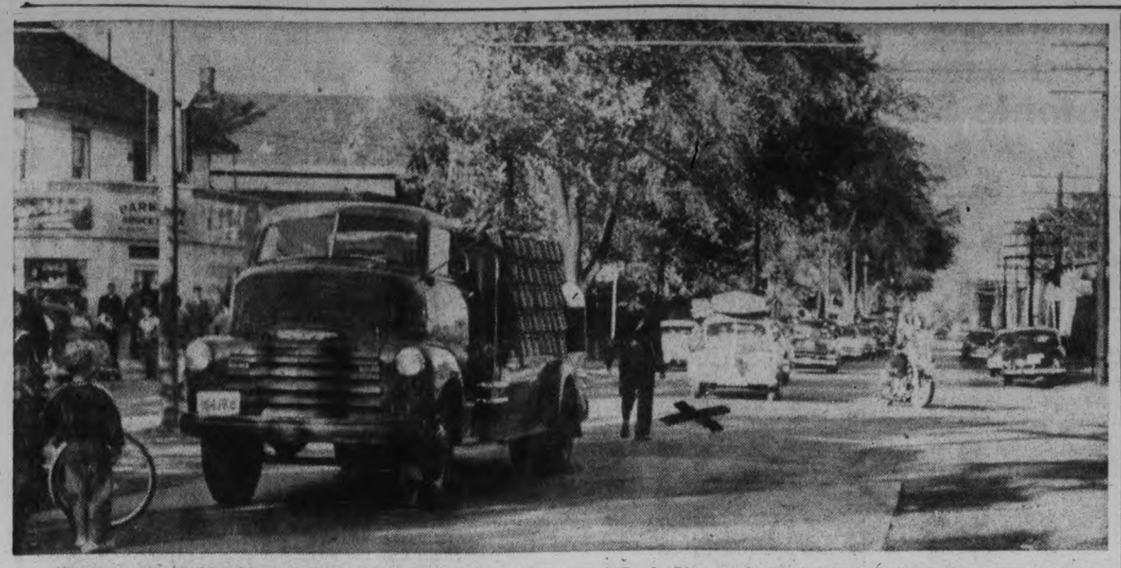
100 SAILORS KILLED ON U.S. CARRIER



CITY'S FIRST TRAFFIC FATALITY—Peterborough's first traffic fatality of 1954 was one-year-old Bobby McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCarthy, 230 Perry St. Pushed in a go-cart by his brother, Terry McCarthy, nine, the boys were hit by a truck at the corner of Lansdowne and Park Sts., early Tuesday evening. The baby was instantly killed while his older brother, who believes he went under the truck, escaped unhurt. The death scene is shown above, with a X showing where the little lad died, the truck standing just to the left. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Rail Unions To Take Strike Vote

Give Out Ballots In Mid-June, Deadline August 2

MONTREAL (C(P) — Plans for a strike vote among 135,000 non-operating employees of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways were announced today by Frank H. Hall, chairman of a union negotiating committee now involved in a contract dispute with the railways.

Mr. Hall said ballots will be distributed in mid-June and will be marked for return not later than Aug. 2.

Allowing time for compilation of the vote, this could mean that the result of the strike ballot may not be known until mid-August.

GREDD NOTIFIED

Mr. Hall said Labor Minister Gregg was notified by letter today of the decision to take the strike vote.

The decision to take the strike vote came after unsuccessful attempts since late last year to agree on a new contract with the railways.

The employees involved do not actually operate the trains. They include workers in railway shops, freight-houses, stations, offices, express services, signal men, commercial telegraphers and sleeping car porters.

SAYS CONDITIONS SLIPPING

In his letter today to Labor Minister Gregg, Mr. Hall reviewed the points at issue in the dispute and the findings of the conciliation board.

The employees' committee, said Mr. Hall, is of the opinion that working conditions on the railways are suffering constant degradation in relation to other industries.

"The employees affected must decide whether this is a state of affairs to be longer tolerated."

Mr. Hall criticised the board of transport commissioners for making what he described as an unwarranted attack on the railway unions' requests while the conciliation board was meeting.

He said:

"The employees interests were seriously compromised and prejudiced when, during the proceedings of the conciliation board, the board of transport commissioners

125 Others Hurt In 2 Blasts, Fire; Planes Aid Victims

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP)—Two explosions and a fire killed about 100 United States Navy men and injured 125 others aboard the aircraft carrier Bennington today as she cruised along the eastern coastline en route from Norfolk, Va., to her home base at Newport, R.I.

Several hours after the navy had announced 79 had died and 220 had been injured the Bennington's skipper, Capt. William F. Raborn Jr., told reporters that "about 100 were killed."

The huge craft came into this port shortly after noon, her decks lined with tired crew members, their faces blackened by smoke.

Ensign Robert Grant, his ankles bleeding as he directed the landing of casualties, estimated the first of two explosions occurred about 6:15 a. m.

The disaster probably was the second worst in U. S. naval peacetime history. There were 178 men missing or killed in 1952 in a mid-Atlantic collision between the destroyer Hobson and the carrier Wasp.

RUMOR GASOLINE BURNED

Helicopters carried many of the Bennington's seriously injured ashore to the Newport naval hospital across the bay from here as the 32,000-ton carrier moved toward port.

There was no immediate explanation of the explosions but one report said high octane gas was involved.

The carrier reached port at 12:31 p. m., more than six hours after the estimated time of the explosions.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas flew from Washington to begin the navy's investigation.

Aviation electrician mate Francis Toth, a volunteer in the fire control crew, estimated the fire burned about four hours. He was blackened and shaken by his experience. He had been aboard the Bennington only three days.

ORDER MAINTAINED

He said there was good order but that it was an hour before the crew could get at the bodies of the victims.

"After that we just dragged out bodies," he said.

Relatives of men aboard the craft began gathering at dockside minutes after word of the tragedy was heard here.

On stretcher after stretcher, the burned and injured were gently, but rapidly, carried by shipmates from the Bennington to waiting ambulances which wheeled in and out with precision.

Some of the men were in poor condition and in various stages of dress.

Embezzlement Charge Faces Business Genius

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Fronia Sexton, a quiet 62-year-old woman who built a business empire, today faces federal action on a charge that she embezzled $114,000 as president of a bank.

Many of Ironton's 16,000 residents thought of Mrs. Sexton as a business genius. Her career started in the 1920s when she opened a small restaurant near the railroad tracks and worked there as a waitress.

She became one of the area's leading citizens, owner and operator of a theatre chain and of other real estate, a newspaper publisher and president of the Citizens National Bank of Ironton.

Monday night she was arrested in her apartment, taken to Portsmouth, and jailed overnight. She was released on $5,000 bond provided by a daughter.

QUITS THE BANK

Then she resigned her job at the bank she headed since 1948 and from which bank examiners say she has been embezzling money since this January.

She plunged into the newspaper business last year in Ironton, where two newspapers already were battling for the limited circulation. Her firm came out with The Courier, a morning paper. The Courier combined with the other morning paper, The News, in a merger called one of the shortest in journalistic history. It lasted three days. Then The News went back to separate publication only to be bought out soon after by Mrs. Sexton.

Land Mine Kills Photographer Robert Capa

HANOI, Indo - China (AP)—French Army headquarters announced Tuesday night that Robert Capa, widely known Hungarian-born photographer, was killed Tuesday in a land mine explosion while covering the Indo-China war front.

The announcement said he died in the blast of an enemy Vietminh mine near Phuly, an active war area 30 miles south of Hanoi.

A native of Budapest, Capa was widely known for his wartime work for Life magazine and long had lived in Paris. He came to Indo-China two weeks ago on a one-month assignment to augment the Life staff here.

Capa was the first American citizen photographer killed in the Indo-China war.

DOING STORY

He had gone to the Phuly sector to do a story with John Mecklin, a Time magazine correspondent. Mecklin was not injured, French sources said. Their story was to have been entitled "Bitter Rice."

Gen. Eisenhower decorated Capa with the U.S. Medal of Freedom in 1947. His real name was Andrei Friedmann. Time magazine—for which he also made photographs—said in 1947.

Capa, about 40, met a fate similar to that of his wife, Gerda Taro. She was taking pictures with Capa during the Spanish Civil War when she was crushed to death by a Loyalist tank during the confusion of a retreat.

ASSOCIATE DIES

NEW YORK (AP) — The death of Werner Bischof, 38, widely known magazine photographer, in an automobile accident in the mountains of Peru was announced here Tuesday.

Bischof was a friend and associate of Robert Capa, who was killed Tuesday in a land mine explosion while covering the war in Indo-China for Life magazine.

Bischof and Capa were among the six owner-members of Magnum Photos, Inc., a world-wide co-operative pictures agency.

Brother Pushing Stroller, Child Killed Under Truck

Bobby McCarthy, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. McCarthy, 230 Perry St., was killed instantly when the stroller in which he was riding was struck by a truck at Park and Lansdowne Sts., at 6.25 p.m., Tuesday.

The baby's brother, Terry, 9, had been taking the child for an evening stroll south on Park St., when the accident occurred at the north east portion of the intersection.

The older child, although dazed with shock, thought that he, too, had passed under the truck but somehow managed to elude the wheels.

G. Ronald Reynolds, 26, of 27 Braidwood Ave., driver of the truck, told police he had not seen the children. Travelling west on Lansdowne, he had stopped at the corner of Park St., waiting for the light to change. It was his intention to continue west along the street on his way to the company barns on Erskine Ave.

When the light changed, Reynolds advanced into the intersection, then stopped again to allow another truck to turn left off Park St., and proceed east on Lansdowne. Then Reynolds started once more across the intersection.

BLOOD STAINS

No one is certain at what point in the truck's advance across the intersection, the actual collision took place, but blood stains on the pavement indicate that the carriage was upset just past the east edge of the intersection. Police believe the axle of the truck, about 12 inches above the ground, caught the carriage, upsetting it, and throwing the baby to the pavement. The baby's head was crushed by the impact.

Bill Boon, 560 Brioux Ave., one of the first witnesses to the scene, arrived seconds after the accident occurred. "I had just turned off Brioux to go north on Park St., when I imagine the accident occurred," said Boon. "The one child (Terry) was standing at the side of the road, then, I think a man came along and put him in a car. The truck was stopped at the west side of the intersection and the driver was just getting out of the cab."

WAITING FOR LIGHTS

Boon said he had been taking some children for a ride and had been stopped at the Lansdowne-Park St. corner waiting for the red lights to change.

Declare Truck Drivers Have Best Safety Record

TORONTO (CP)—In a submission to the Ontario legislature's select committee on highway safety, the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario said today truck drivers had a better safety record in 1953 than other classes of highway users.

It said the accident record for commercial drivers did not go up in proportion to the number of vehicle registrations. It added that while the number of passenger cars increased by nine per cent, the accident rate increased by more than 12 per cent.

The association also denied an allegation by Senator W. Rupert Davies of Kingston that truck drivers "menace lives in traffic with apparent immunity" because of "comradeship" between police officers and truck drivers.

TORONTO AREA STRICT

Speaking for the association, which claims to represent the owners of 20,000 trucks and trailers, J. O. Goodman, general manager, said:

"Enforcement in the Toronto area is, and always has been exceptionally strict."

Senator Davies said in a letter to the committee that two truck drivers passed his car at excessive speed. Mr. Goodman said the entire trucking industry should not be condemned because of their actions and he added:

"Most truck owners would dispense with the service of any drivers guilty of such excessive speeds."

Chase Boy at 70 mph

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 13-year-old Waterloo boy led provincial police on a 48 mile chase at 60 and 70 miles an hour early today along Highway 7 from St. Marys to Arkona before the car he was driving — reported stolen Monday in Kitchener—was stopped.

Homemade Mixture Explodes, Boy Hurt

WELLAND (CP)—Basil Robins, 17-year-old high school student of Port Robinson, was seriously injured Tuesday night when a homemade explosive mixture blew up in a small grain grinder, piercing his body with pieces of metal.

The youth is in hospital with metal in his chest, deep in his abdomen and in his legs. His condition is described as fair.

His mother said the boy mixed the explosive last January from instructions in a sports magazine.

Tuesday night, she said, he attempted to clean the grinder. Failing, he put a match to the powder and the explosion occurred.

Newest U.K. Jetliner To Make First Flight

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's latest jetliner, the de Havilland Comet III, will make its maiden flight next month, it was announced Tuesday.

The announcement came as experts continued working round-the-clock in an attempt to find out what made three of the original Comets crash with a total loss of 99 lives.

Comet IIIs—on order by both United States and British airlines—are expected to be able to link New York with London in about seven hours, carrying from 58 to 76 passengers at more than 500 miles an hour.

Bridge Burns Train Rerouted

LINDSAY (ENS)—Rail traffic on the CNR line between Lindsay and Blackwater was disrupted when fire destroyed a 35-foot bridge over a creek east of Mariposa station Tuesday night.

Officials of the line in Lindsay said today that the Belleville-Toronto train through Lindsay at seven p.m. standard time Tuesday night passed over the bridge without trouble. At 7.55, however the Peterborough-Mimico "Moonlight" train with engineer Teddy Algar of Mimico at the controls was halted when Algar saw the fire at the bridge as he approached. Nothing could be done to have the wooden structure and the train was backed to the Lindsay yards and re-routed via Lorneville junction to Blackwater from the north.

Officials stated that service will probably be out for some three or four days while repairs to the bridge are effected. No cause for the fire has been advanced.

Canadian Army Adopting U.S. Howitzer

OTTAWA (CP)—The army has discarded the British 5.5-inch gun in favor of the United States 155-millimeter howitzer as its standard medium artillery piece.

But the army refuses to give any particulars of the U.S. howitzer on the grounds of "security."

However, it can be stated authoritatively that the howitzer has a maximum range of 16,000 yards, a weight of 3,825 pounds, an overall length of 150 inches, a rate of fire of two rounds per minute, a maximum powder pressure of 32,000 pounds per square inch; that the volume of the chambers is 725 cubic inches; that the weight of the projectile is 95 pounds and that the gun carriage alone weighs 8,975 pounds.

These are some of the specifications given in a book entitled "Weapons of World War II," published in 1947 by the U.S. Army Ordnance Association and the Franklin Institute of the State of Pennsylvania and available in almost any library or book store.

The 155-millimeter gun was designed in 1939 and was used extensively during the Second World War. The Germans captured a lot of them. The Allies shipped some to Russia under lend-lease.

PICTURES PUBLISHED

The Canadian Army began using the U.S. howitzer about three years ago. Pictures of it have appeared in army publications.

The howitzer also has been on public display in several places in Canada at various times—recently outside the University armories in Toronto and at Peterborough, Ont., when the reserve army there took delivery of a couple. Canadian newspapers from time to time have carried pictures of the gun and given at least some of its specifications.

The 155-millimeter gun is considered more accurate than the British 5.5-inch gun though the maximum effective range is about the same. It weighs 1,300 pounds less than the 5.5.

The 5.5 was used by all Commonwealth troops during the Second World War. It fired a shell of 80 or 100 pounds.

Sees A-Power 3 Years Away

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders said Tuesday atomic-generated electric power is about three years away for Ontario—"if we need it."

Mr. Saunders, on return from a 35-day tour of European countries, said he "doubts if any country is as far advanced" in that field as Britain.

While overseas he visited an atomic electrical power installation now being assembled in England.

He said Ontario Hydro through Ottawa, has established close liaison to obtain information for constructing similar plants in this province when needed.

Atomic - generated electrical power is about two and one-half years away in Great Britain, he said.

Mr. Saunders said he is confident the first sod on the St. Lawrence power project will be turned this summer, possibly as early as July.

Flee From Homes

RCMP Search Party Seeks 3 Fishermen

WINNIPEG (CP) — An RCMP search party has left Pointe du Bois, in the Whiteshell reserve area of eastern Manitoba, to look for three, and possibly five, persons missing on a fishing trip since Saturday.

Missing are Mrs. Lorna Kay, 31, her husband, Alex W., 32, of Winnipeg and Guy Ridgeway, 34, of suburban St. James. It is believed in the party.

two other men might have been

The Kay party left in a 14-foot motorboat early Saturday from Pointe du Bois and have not been heard from since. They were expected back in Winnipeg Monday.

Hold Private Cease-Fire Talk

GENEVA (AP) — East and West delegates got down to brass tacks today on a possible Indo - China cease-fire in a series of private conferences. A scheduled session of the Korean negotiations was postponed until Friday to clear the decks for the discussions.

Britain's foreign secretary Eden was expected to meet privately with Russia's foreign minister Molotov to discuss a four-point proposal which Eden submitted to Tuesday's closed-door session of the nine parties involved in the Indo-China question.

Other delegates also planned private talks over details of the proposal. Eden's plan was said to include detailed suggestions for creation of assembly zones in which the opposing forces would be concentrated, if and when a cease-fire is established.

The plan was described as a "summing up" of Western and Communist proposals on the cease-fire question.

Forest Fires Under Control

TORONTO (CP) — All forest fires in Ontario are under control, the lands and forests department announced today.

A big blaze near Haileybury was brought under control after an all-night battle. A few hours earlier a serious outbreak in the Sudbury area was checked.

Altogether, 41 fires were being fought in northern sections today.

More than 150 men were thrown into the fight against the Haileybury fire Tuesday night. The fire is being fought on all fronts, and planes and two helicopters are still being used in an attempt to extinguish the blaze.

Firefighters were enlisted from Cobalt, Haileybury, New Liskeard, Timagami, Latchford and Elk Lake. A specially trained crew of inmates from the Burwash Industrial Farm, that had been battling the blaze near Sudbury, was sent to Haileybury last night.

A strong wind blew the Haileybury district fire north to the shore of Lemoyne lake, across the path of the great fire of 1922 which burned out Haileybury and other northern communities with loss of 40 lives.

Hope To Have One In 3 Years

Canadian Flying Saucer Interests U.S.

NEW YORK (CP) — Time magazine says today that the United States Air Force is interested in a Canadian "flying saucer" and hopes within three years to have a prototype that can take off straight up, hover in mid-air and fly at nearly 2,000 miles an hour.

The magazine, in its Canadian section, says a mock-up (non-working model) of a flying saucer has been built under top-secret conditions at the A. V. Roe aircraft plant near Toronto to the design of John C. M. Frost, 35-year-old Briton.

Frost, who lives in Toronto with his wife and son, helped design wartime gliders and British jet aircraft, the Time story says. Later he worked on Canada's first home-built jet fighter, Avro's CF-100, and "meanwhile, in a top-secret screened area at Avro's Malton plant he designed flying saucers—at least one 40-foot mock-up with a flattened end and spindly undercarriage."

"This model, quickly nicknamed the 'praying mantis,' was designed to take off at a 40-degree angle after a short run.

"But Frost wanted a vertical take-off—which is quite a trick. Even such a powerful jet engine as Pratt and Whitney's J-57, with about 10,000 pounds of thrust, can barely lift its own weight vertically. After countless wind-tunnel tests, Frost finally found what he thinks is a solution in an aerodynamic principle known as the 'Coanda effect'."

FLIES ANY DIRECTION

The magazine says the Coanda effect, named for Romanian inventor Henri Coanda, involves the principle he discovered that curving one side of a nozzle will deflect a jet blast to follow the curved side. The story goes on:

"Around the Coanda effect, Avro's Frost created a startling design shaped like a saucer, 40 feet in diameter, with a squat jet engine in the middle and a bubble cockpit perched above. From the engine's 35 burner tubes blasts would radiate at 180 exhaust ports all around the saucer's edge. To apply the Coanda effect the pilot needs some kind of movable control over one lip of each exhaust. To take off he would set these controls to deflect the blasts downward. The downblasts carry along with them more air from above the plane than from below it. This decreases air pressure on the top, causing the saucer to rise.

"If he rises as he is supposed to, the pilot would then reset the exhaust controls for normal jet flight. He could fly in any direction by choosing the appropriate set of burners in his circular power plant. So that he would always be facing forward, the cockpit would rotate automatically as the craft changed direction."

REDS FIRST?

The magazine adds that "fantastic as Frost's saucer sounds," it may not be the first, as there is a growing belief in the U. S. that the Russians may be ahead in this field.

There have long been rumors in Canada that a flying-saucer project was under way at Malton, but Avro officials have declined any comment.

Britain Gives Order For Canned Peaches

HAMILTON (CP)—The British ministry of food has given a substantial order to Canadian Canners for canned peaches, the first such order since restrictions on currency were imposed by the British government at the end of the war, G. G. Lister, vice-president in charge of merchandising, announced today.

The initial order is for 20,000 cases of canned peaches, which will be filled from last year's pack, and negotiations are under way now for the shipment overseas of canned pears.

Amount of money involved was not announced, as Canadian Canners has not been advised of the amount the British ministry of food is setting aside for Canadian purchases.

The order for peaches resulted from lengthy negotiations by W. I. Drynan, president of Canadian Canners, and W. C. Nickerson, chairman of the fruit growers associations involved.

RED ACTIVITY IN CENTRAL AMERICA—This NEA newsmap shows where a shipment of arms was landed at the capital city of Guatemala, Puerto Barrios, by way of Red-dominated Poland. There are unconfirmed reports that two more shiploads of weapons from Communist sources are now on the high seas bound for Guatemala. U.S. began ferrying arms to Guatemala's neighbors Tuesday.

Rebels Begin Encircling Vital Delta

Sudden Shift North May Be Vast Pincers Movement

HANOI (AP) — Communist Vietminh troops moving east from captured Dien Bien Phu suddenly veered north today in an apparent attempt to encircle French defences in Indo-China's vital Red river delta.

The shift of rebel Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's legions is believed designed to form a giant pincers squeezing the delta's northern perimeter while other Vietminh troops threaten it from the west.

The French sent out B-26 bombers and navy Corsairs to pound the advancing columns. The air strike was concentrated on troops bunched near Nha Phu, about 90 miles southwest of here.

HANOI (AP) — French Union forces today blew up two of their own posts in the south-eastern part of the Red river delta. They hastily reorganized their defences as the rebel Vietminh stepped up harasing attacks and ambushes in all key centres.

Under the protection of tanks, armored cars and planes, the French evacuated garrisons at Tranhe and Doaithon. Both are within six miles of the big marketing town of Thai Binh, 55 miles southeast of Hanoi.

In the delta itself only light action was reported. Twelve rebels were killed as French planes pounded Vietminh forces harassing outposts southeast of Hanoi.

Meanwhile, the airlift of French wounded from Dien Bien Phu continued. The French command said 148 were flown out Tuesday night, bringing the total evacuated to 710. The French hoped to wind up the shuttle today. The rebels have given permission to evacuate a total of 858.

BUILD NEW UNITS

The French command in Saigon said it will build up 13 new military units from the reserves of Viet Nam battalions lost at Dien Bien Phu. A spokesman said, with reinforcements expected from France, the new units will total some 12,000. This is about the number lost at Dien Bien Phu.

The spokesman said the new units will be sent in to bolster the imperilled delta.

7 To Attend Prov. Convention

Two directors of the Children's Aid Society and five staff members of the society will attend the annual convention of the provincial association of the Children's Aid Societies. The two day convention, beginning May 27, will be held in Toronto.

Board members are Mrs. James Wharry, president of the board, and Mrs. Charles Pilon. Staff members are Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, Misses Doreen Shaughnessy, Mary Bark, Elaine Kimber and Clara Morris.

Miss Young, who is chairman of the adoption committee will give a report on the committee's study.

The convention will hear an address on — Emotional Neglect of Children .. by the Rev. Swithin Bowers, director, of the school of social work at the University of Ottawa.

Themes of the panel discussions will be: adoption of the older child, common law unions and children of extra-marital unions, the social worker in relation to the child and the foster parent, and the Children's Aid Society's responsibility toward the putative father.

Hog Prices Hit Highest Level

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario hog prices hit one of their highest level price levels in three years Tuesday.

Grade A hogs sold as high as $38.50 a hundredweight at the Ontario stockyards. This is slightly lower than the high price set in 1951. Trading was active.

Marketing board officials attribute the increase, which has been gradual over the last year, to dwindling cured and frozen stocks in storage. Hogs have sold as low as about $29.50 a hundredweight since 1951. Officials predicted a gradual boost to at least 40 cents a pound.

The selling price for grade B-1 hogs closed at $38.50. Dressed sows were $27 and dressed stags $18.

Wants Cut-Rate Butter Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's dairy industry has urged Prime Minister St. Laurent to ban the export of government-held butter at cut-rate prices.

At the same time it has warned that the trade may step out of buying of summer surplus butter unless the government announces soon its proposed selling price and policy for next winter.

The trade usually buys some of the summer surplus for storage and sale in winter months. If it steps out of buying, it will mean the government will have to take up all of the production surplus under its 58-cent-a-pound price-support program.

J. J. Creighton, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, said in a letter to Mr. St. Laurent that butter production this year is expected to be greater than the 302,000,000 pounds produced last year. The letter, dated May 19, was made public Tuesday.

On May 1 Canada had a stockpile of 42,400,000 pounds, 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 more than was necessary, Mr. Creighton said. This included the government's 33,00,000-pound holdings.

Korean Forces Home In Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The army dropped a hint Tuesday that it believes Canadian forces will be out of Korea within a year at least.

An army announcement said: "Canada's 25th Infantry Brigade in the Far East has assumed a new makeup—one that is unlikely to change for the remainder of the time that Canadian troops are committed in the Korean theatre."

McCarthy Says Testimony 'Just Drivel', Stalks Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy stalked out of the McCarthy-army hearings today, saying testimony about Pte. G. David Schine's army life was "drivel."

He said he would return when the "drivel" was finished. He resumed his seat 20 minutes later.

McCarthy's walkout came during testimony by Schine's company commander during basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., as to why Schine's character-rating was only "fair" when he completed the course.

"This witness is not going to waste my time," McCarthy said. "I'll be back when he gets through."

The witness, Capt. Joseph Miller, testified that Schine offered him a trip to Florida shortly after Schine's arrival at Fort Dix.

He also told the Senate investigations sub-committee that he once caught Schine riding back and forth from the rifle range while the rest of his company was at firing practice. Schine, formerly an unpaid consultant to the sub-committee, told Miller he was "studying logistics."

Miller said he was "especially annoyed" because it was raining. He ordered Schine back to the range and told the truck driver to take his vehicle back to the motor pool.

The captain told the sub-committee, which called him as a witness in the McCarthy-army hearings, that he promptly rejected the Florida trip offer and told Schine an officer cannot accept favors from trainees. Schine's family owns a string of hotels in Florida and elsewhere.

INSPECTING BARRACKS

Miller, commander of an infantry company, said he was inspecting the barracks at the time he said Schine advanced the suggestion.

Knowing that Schine was to get a pass under an arrangement freeing him for sub-committee business, Miller said he wanted to see if the private was getting his things in order in his bunk area.

Miller said Schine volunteered, "If I ever wanted to make a little trip to Florida, he knew a Col. Bradley. . . ."

The captain said he then cut Schine off and wouldn't let him complete the sentence.

Miller took the stand at the outset of the 21st day of the Army-McCarthy hearings to tell of his experiences with Schine.

Farm Income Decline Will Continue

OTTAWA (CP) — A government agency says a current decline in average net income from farm operations could continue for some time before an upward swing.

The observation is contained in a 28-page report presented Tuesday to the Commons veterans affairs committee by T. J. Rutherford, director of the Veterans' Land Act.

Up to the end of last year, VLA had helped establish 63,018 veterans on the land, 30,281 as full-time farmers. VLA has a financial interest in one out of every 13 agricultural units in Canada. Average size of VLA farms is 198 acres.

Mr. Rutherford's brief said:

"The next few years could easily be a real testing time for the small family farm, of which we have so many . . . .

"The demand for farm settlement continues steady, although retarded for some years by the increasing cost of the land, livestock and equipment necessary to set up an economic farm unit. With more stable prices now prevailing, we may very well see an increase in farm settlement during the years just ahead.

"However, capital considerably in excess of $6,000 will be necessary to effect a sound establishment even on the cheaper type of farm.

NOT SO POPULAR

"While frontier settlement on provincial (crown) land has not been nearly so popular as was originally anticipated, a very large number of our farm settlers now are engaged in the development of what we believe is a more productive, and even more important, agricultural frontier.

"Limited capital has forced many settlers, particularly in the older provinces, to take farms which have long been looked upon as rundown and worn out. More often than not, these farms are in good communities, have reasonably good buildings, are serviced by good roads, schools and churches and have hydro avaialble.

"Most of these farms once produced good crops and have the potential to do so again if given the right treatment. At prevailing prices they are, in my opinion, today's best buy.

"What these farms need to put them back into high production is a new crop of Canadian pioneers with the vision to see their possibilities and the patience and skill necessary to effect their renovation. Such work is conservation at its best, and it can be made very profitable for those willing to undertake it."

Accept Tenders For Gas, Oil

Acceptance of tenders on gasoline, lubricants and other materials was recommended to city council by the board of works Tuesday night. In each case, the lowest tender was recommended, although there was only one tender on bituminous materials by Imperial Oil Ltd.

Tenders recommended were:

Gasoline — Supertest Petroleum Co., Supertest Wonder, Grade 2, net price 20.2 cents a gallon.

Oil and greases — Shell Oil Co. of Canada, Shell X-100 motor oil (heavy duty) 95 cents a gallon; Golden Shell (straight motor oil) 69 cents a gallon; Shell Retinax A grease, 22.7 cents a pound; chassis lubricant, 13.7 cents a pound; Shell Retinax H grease for wheel bearings, 13.7 cents a pound; Shell auto cup grease, 12.7 cents a pound; pressure gun grease, 12.7 cent a pound.

Gear lubricants — Shell Spirax EP, 13.7 cents a pound; Shell Dentax, 10.1 cents a pound.

Cement — Beaver Lumber Co. Ltd., St. Mary's Portland cement, 87½-pound bags, 1,000 bag quantities, FOB cars, $1.20 a bag; truckload quantities, 100 bags or more, delivered within city limits, $1.23 a bag.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 23-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 98 11-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.77 against $2.77 3-16.

CMHA Director Addresses City Association

The regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Mental Health Association was held Tuesday night in the public library. President Dr. T. E. Currier was in charge of the meeting.

It was decided to have regular meetings, on the 3rd Tuesday of each month, the first of the new season to be on September 21.

Guest speaker was Mr. J. D. Parks, executive director of the CMHA. Mr. Parks said that there was definite evidence of increasing interest in the association and that although there are many signs of the old attitudes, these too, were changing.

The three points that should be remembered were:

1. Relationship to mentally disabled. He said very little had been done in this from the citizens' standpoint, but much was being accomplished by the government, such as the opening of psychiatric clinics in connection with general hospitals.

2. Rehabilitation which required an understanding employer and an educated public to give special help.

3. Prevention, which was accomplished by educational work done by the branches to make the public aware of problems and sympathetic to them.

Mr. Parks also recommended the pamphlet, "Basic needs of Middle Aged Canadians" as a help to prepare for senescence, a period in the 55-65 year age group.

The film "Over Dependency" one of the Mento-mechanism series, was then shown and it was followed by a lively discussion.

Note Heavy Trading On Stock Market

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market's heaviest trading in more than two months today meant only small price changes by early afternoon.

Industrial strength was in foods, refining oils, financial institutions, and manufacturing. Papers, liquors and steels were steady and constructions and textiles were lower. Economic Investments and Zellers gained more than $1 each.

Western oils declined, although Home Oil and Canadian Atlantic made fair gains.

Base metal trading was narrow-range, seniors showing the most strength. Consolidated Smelters was one of the bigger winners. Golds were ahead in seniors, steady in juniors and lower in prospects and holding companies.

Trading in uraniums was heavy, Algoma being the biggest winner.

125 Others Hurt

Capt. Raborn described the accident to reporters in the Bennington's No. 1 ready room.

"We had just completed our first successful launching of the first of our air groups when suddenly an explosion shook the forward part of the ship down on the second or third deck.

"Realizing a serious catastrophe had occurred we launched the rest of the air group to free the decks for casualty control."

The Bennington was about 75 miles south of Newport when the blast occurred at 6:20 a. m., the captain said.

"The nature of the explosion at the moment is undetermined. The general location is in one of three or four major items of equipment.

"The best information now is (that it occurred) possibly at the five-inch fuse magazine.

"This is completely unconfirmed and until we do get information I can only say it was a serious explosion at the third level on the port side.

"It killed about 100 of our people, 125 others are injured and about 25 or 30 of them are more than minor injuries.

"One of our two doctors apparently was killed and the other, Cmdr. Clyde Norman, did a heroic job to take care of the injured."

RESCUED TRAPPED MEN

Raborn said he was on the bridge supervising the air launching at the time of the explosion.

He said fuses, which activate a shell and make it go off, are kept separately from all other magazines, since they are highly explosive.

After the initial shock, Capt. Raborn said, the men aboard the ship took quick action.

"The first task was to rescue trapped men including those cornered by smoke. This was done with the ship's damage control organization in the van of the rescue effort."

The Bennington has been the victim of two other peace-time accidents. While on a cruise in Cuban waters in April, 1953, 11 men were killed in a boiler explosion. In 1945 she was struck by a typhoon in the Pacific.

Red Cross Gives Badges To Six

Badges of service were presented to three members of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross and to three teachers, Tuesday evening, at the monthly meeting of the branch.

Mrs. A. Howson was honored for her work in the blood donor committee and clinics each week. Miss H. Gerrard, head of the women's work division, received a badge for her work in overseas relief during her teaching at PCVS.

Others receiving awards were Claire Collins, who is publicity convener and initiated the penny-a-day drive in the schools; Miss Lillian Esplen, Miss Agnes Stout, and Miss Anne Eagleson, who were commended by the Ontario division of the Junior Red Cross for their continuous work in their classrooms.

The citations and presentations were made by Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwel, Miss E. Dix, and the president, Miss Jean Buck.

Propose Nurse Get Red Cross Award

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The board of governors of the League of Red Cross Societies Tuesday proposed Lieut. Genevieve de Galard-Terraube for the Florence Nightingale Medal, senior award of the Red Cross. The heroic nurse of Dien Bien Phu was released by the Vietminh after the fall of the Indo-Chinese fortress.

The recommendation, proposed by the Swedish delegation, now will be sent to the International Committee of the Red Cross, the awarding body.

As the matter came up for a vote, Soviet Chief Delegate Dr. B. Pachkov wanted to know "who is this girl de Galard?"

"I must confess that up to this moment I have never heard of Miss de Galard," he said.

Old Permit

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—A liquor permit issued in 1891, when Saskatchewan was still part of the Northwest Territories, has been donated to the Yorkton museum. It allowed the holder to bring two gallons of whisky into the territory.

Expect To Decide In July About Terminal

Consideration of a proposed new bus terminal for Peterborough will be resumed in July, Arthur H. Lewis said today.

Mr. Lewis said he had discussed this question with representatives of Colonial Coach Lines in Montreal several days ago.

"An unavoidable cause of delay has been the illness of the president, Victory Drury, and the vice-president, H. J. Curtis," Mr. Lewis said. "It is expected that Mr. Curtis will be returning from a sick leave towards the end of July, and I was told that the Peterborough terminal would be gone into further and that a definite decision would be made."

"Subject to satisfactory financial arrangements, we should add to that statement."

The wish of the company is to provide terminal accommodation and facilities adequate to Peterborough and the company's business position here.

City council, on a suggestion from Ald. Stan McBride, decided recently to enquire from the company what progress they were making with their terminal project.

Throw Party For Beaverbrook

LONDON (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook's hired hands today threw a bumper birthday party for "the old man," complete with a 40-foot model of his childhood New Brunswick home and a chorus singing Canadian folk songs.

The chicken-and-strawberries luncheon, at the plush Dorchester Hotel, was tendered by the staffs of Lord Beaverbrook's four newspapers, The Daily and Sunday Express, The Evening Standard and the Glasgow Evening Citizen. Lord Beaverbrook, 75 Tuesday, sat beneath a huge maple leaf in the flag-draped ballroom. Table place cards for the 600 guests bore photographs of the impish press lord.

A highlight of the party was the unveiling of a scale model in wood and canvas of the Presbyterian manse home in Newcastle, N. B., where he grew up as Max Aitken.

Among the guests were Lord Beverbrook's brothers, Dr. Arthur Aitken of Toronto, and Allan Aitken, Montreal financier.

without warrant or competence in the matter, made what, under the circumstances, could only be construed as an attack on their requests."

He did not elaborate.

The rail vote will be conducted by union branches across the country. Mr. Hall said there will be no federal supervision. Results of the vote, he said, will be announced from union headquarters here.

Last week Mr. Hall and the 100-man committee, with members from all parts of the country, met here for several days and then disbanded without any hint of their intentions.

Points at issue between the unions and the railways include accumulative sick leave, eight statutory holidays a year with pay, three weeks' paid vacation after 10 years' service and premium pay for Sunday work.

Wages are not an issue, but Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways have estimated the union demands would cost $60,000,000 a year.

Early negotiations between CNR, CPR and the unions ended in stalemate and the dispute was submitted to a three-man federal conciliation board headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock.

The board delivered individual reports rather than majority and minority reports as is customary. As a whole, the reports were declared unsatisfactory by railways and unions alike.

Havelock Home Almost Gutted By Fire

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Fire almost completely gutted the interior of a frame house at Havelock early Tuesday.

About 8 a.m. Mrs. L. Keene, Union St., heard a crackling noise issuing from the partitions in her house. At first she thought it was an air lock in the piping system, but a few minutes later discovered the outbreak at the rear of the building.

The Havelock fire brigade were unable to bring the blaze under control before the interior of the house had suffered severe damage.

FURNITURE SAVED

Mrs. Keene, her son, Clifford, and a grandson, Bobby Peoples, escaped from the house unharmed and were able to rescue most of the household furniture. No estimate of the damage is available as yet. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

In the meantime, occupants of the house are staying with relatives.

The brigade answered three other calls late in the afternoon to chimney fires. The first was at the home of Gerald Whitney, Ottawa St.

A short time later the brigade was called to Russell Brown's, Concession St. The fire-fighting equipment was still there when a call came to go to the residence of Mrs. Herbert Williams.

Touched Hydro Cable Boy 12, Burned

TORONTO (CP)—Douglas Dunning, 12, was severely burned Tuesday night when he touched a 26,000-volt cable in a hydro substation in suburban Etobicoke.

The boy climbed a 12-foot steel fence around the station to reach a bird's nest on a girder when he touched the high-voltage line.

The charge threw him on to the ground inside the station. A chum saw the flash and ran to the nearby Dunning home to get the lad's father.

Douglas was taken to hospital with severe chest and back burns, face cuts and possible internal injuries. His condition is critical.

Prisoners Mutiny At Wandsworth

LONDON (Reuters) — Prisoners mutinied at Wandsworth prison here today and barricaded themselves in a storeroom, armed with knives, scissors and hammers.

The home office, announcing the "disturbance," said that five prison officers had been injured and sent to hospital. Five prisoners also were hurt.

PC's Pat Gillis and Dennis Smith arrived at the scene about 6.30 p.m. Coroner Dr. H. N. Young arrived a few minutes later and pronounced the child dead. The body was taken to the Civic Hospital morgue by Nisbett's ambulance, and then released to the parents.

The father of the victim, Edward McCarthy, is an employee at the Canadian Raybestos Co. Ltd., and had recently moved with his family from a residence on Dublin St., to the Perry St. address.

It is not likely that any charges will be laid, but an inquest is expected to be held.

It is not likely that any charges will be laid in connection with the accident, but Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw expects an inquest will be held sometime in June.

The baby, Robert Christopher McCarthy, is survived by two brothers, Terry and Carroll; one sister, Linda; the father and mother, formerly Lillian Carroll. Funeral services will be from the Lane funeral home to the Sacred Heart church on Thursday at 3:00 p.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Board Approves School Addition

Approval for a six-classroom addition to Confederation school was given Tuesday night by the Peterborough board of education. City council will soon be asked to approve the $120,000 addition and issue debentures for the cost of construction.

Trustees were pleased that the six rooms on the front of the school, though cutting down the size of the lawn fronting on Park St., will not reduce the outside playground.

H. H. Robert has been chosen contractor.

"We think construction of the six rooms (two storeys of three rooms) will improve the look of the school, not detract from it." said G. Wilson Craw, chairman of accommodation.

Altogether Confederation will have a total of 18 roms when construction is finished. The trustees feel that the extra six rooms can be built at an economical figure.

Mrs. Anne Rowell asked when work will be underway and Mr. Craw said that it should be this fall. Opening of the addition should be September, 1955.

Optimum accommodation is about 35 pupils a classroom, which makes room for a total of 210 more children in Confederation.

Preliminary approval has been given by the department of education.

DARRELL ACKFORD, son son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ackford, 632 Park St. S., received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering Saturday at Queen's University, Kingston.

Truck On Fire Threatens Shed

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A large storage shed was threatened as a wrecking truck owned by Harold Carlaw of Bridge St., Campbellford, caught fire Tuesday evening in a parking lot at the rear of his body shop.

A passerby noticed smoke at 11:20 p.m. and notified town constable Stan Baird. He found the rear dual wheels burned off and flames emanating from the vehicle.

Const. Biard called the fire department and the blaze was quickly extinguished with a line of hose from the pumper.

To Move "Suburb"

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of this city's smaller "suburbs" must find a new location by July 31. City council wants the tiny community of 11 houseboats and 30 pleasure craft, moored west of the second Narrows bridge, to find space elsewhere.

High Winds Cause Damage

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Winds of near gale force lashed this area on Tuesday, causing minor damage in many spots throughout the district.

Public utilities linemen were kept busy clearing broken tree limbs from power lines. Power was off in some areas, but only temporarily. Telephone workmen were also busy repairing breaks caused by falling branches and small trees.

The wind broke a huge branch from a large elm on Queen St. Utilities workmen finally succeeded in removing the broken limb from their lines and dragging it away. The falling limb also disrupted telephone service.

Many housewives, who took a holiday on Monday and did the wash on Tuesday, found items of clothing whipped from clothes lines and distributed about the back yards of their neighbors.

No injuries were reported as a result of the wind.

Doe Advances To 3rd Round

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (CP) — Don Doe of Granby, Que., advanced today in the third round of the British amateur golf championships with a 6-and-4 victory over Robin Galloway of Scotland.

Four other Canadians survived Tuesday's second round — Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., was a prominent casualty—and teed off today in the third.

Frank Stranahan of the United States, seeking his third title, and Irish Joe Carr, the defending champion, scored impressive victories today to lead the march into the fourth round.

Investigate Death

BELLEVILLE (CP) — A coroner's jury Tuesday suspended hearings into the death Monday of Joseph F. Deryaw, 48, pending a report from the provincial pathologist. Deryaw died in hospital while being prepared for surgery after his hand was severely cut in his home workshop.

Prefab Downs Man

HAMILTON (CP)—Irving Robertson, 69, was severely injured Tuesday when the side of a partly-finished prefabricated house fell and pinned him to the ground. He suffered head injuries.

Prey To Eagles

WATERTON, Alta. (CP)—Eagles fattened themselves on many small birds in Waterton Lakes National Park last winter. Park officials making their annual spring survey reported an unusually large number of ducks fell prey to eagles.

Evening Auxiliary Hold Meeting At Hastings

HASTINGS (ENS)—Mrs. Fred Stevenson opened her home to the Evening Auxiliary meeting with 15 members and three visitors present. The scripture was read by Mrs. Clifford Skinkle. Mrs. A. Orr presented the program topic.

A father and son banquet is planned for June 18. The committee in charge are Mrs. R. Burnham, Mrs. F. Crate, Mrs. L. Metcalfe and Mrs. J. Jones.

The silver plate for the communion table will be replaced.

Mrs. R. Burnham and Mrs. A. Orr were appointed to look after the matter.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Oliver. Program committee included Mrs. W. Thomas, Mrs. J. Turpin, Mrs. F. Stevenson, Mrs. H. Young. The study book chapter was given by Mrs. C. Oliver.

Documents Delay Sentencing

James Atkins, 25-year-old Peterborough army private, on Tuesday afternoon was again remanded for sentence—this time till May 31.

A pre-sentence report, compiled by John R. Twigg, probabation officer, was not available; so Judge John de N. Kennedy, on consent of both crown and defence counsels, deferred sentencing Atkins.

Atkins had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking, entering and theft at Steinkrauss's tobacco warehouse last March 25. Not only Mr. Twigg's report but also Atkins' army record is being awaited.

On Tuesday afternoon the only legal counsel present was Alexander Fleming. He was agent for W. J. Arthur Fair's legal firm who are defending Atkins (Mr. Fair was occupied in Supreme Court and Edward Fanjoy was in Toronto), and also for John A. Bradshaw, crown attorney. Mr. Bradshaw was in police court.

Mr. Fleming asured Judge Kennedy that the necesary documents will be ready by next Monday.

Totems For Japan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Japan, which has been manufacturing imitations of British Columbia totem poles, now wants some of the real ones. Alderman Jack Cornett returning from a tour of Japan said Tokyo, Osaka and Kyoto have asked for three B.C.-made totem poles for their parks.

Church Plans Expansion

TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican church will have to spend at least $1,500,000 on church extension work within the next three years to keep pace with the growth of metropolitan Toronto, the 102nd annual synod of the Toronto diocese was told Tuesday. The church was negotiating for six new sites in the metropolitan area.

TCP Re-powers Your Engine

TCP, a Shell-discovered additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, sets free the captive power formerly locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

Acts so fast it repowers your engine before you've finished your second tankful.

Did you know that up to 15% of your engine's power is actually trapped . . . that you are paying for power you aren't getting?

The reason is this: Every gasoline sold today contains deposit-forming compounds. And, as gasoline is burned, lead and carbon deposits form on the walls of the combustion chamber and on the tips of the spark plugs. In the combustion chamber these deposits become red hot, especially when you are accelerating, and set off the gasoline-air mixture before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you, not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition and it not only wastes power and fuel—it is also responsible for a most severe kind of knock—engineers call it "wild ping."

These deposits also cause power loss by short-circuiting spark plugs, causing them to misfire when you need power most.

Now, however, there is a way to release the imprisoned power in your engine—and quickly!

It's Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead, TCP additive actually repowers your engine by changing the character of the engine deposits. In the combustion chamber it "fireproofs" them so they cannot glow and cause pre-ignition. And, because it makes the deposits nonconductors of electricity, spark plugs no longer short-circuit—they fire on time. Power works for you—not against you.

By the time you have finished your second tankful, you'll be getting up to 15% more power. But remember—because these deposits are constantly building up, continued use of Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is available only at Shell dealers.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Misunderstanding The U.S.A.

It is disturbing, if not actually alarming, to hear of long-continued and rancorous anti-American feeling in Europe and even in Britain. It may be found everywhere, from 'Go Home Yank' signs scribbled on walls, to snide allusions to 'occupation troops' in smart magazines. It sometimes disguises itself as political criticism; a recent poll taken by the London News-Chronicle found that 40 per cent of those queried disapproved, and 37 per cent approved, of the part which the U.S. is playing in world affairs. But it all boils down to simple bad feeling, to resentment, to desire to be rid of the American intruders. It is unfortunate that this should be so, for if the U.S.A. were actually to retire into isolationism again, Europe would be thrown into a confusion from which it would not emerge in anything like its present form.

* * *

The blunt fact is that Europe needs the U.S. far more than the U.S. needs Europe, and that the principal reason why the U.S. is in Europe at present is that it is moved by a truly democratic and humanitarian desire to help a group of nations who badly need help. There are infinitely complicated subsidiary reasons for the present U.S. foreign policy, but a genuine idealism is the mainspring of them. If this spirit is requited with too much ill-natured jeering, the U.S. (which is a thin-skinned country and new to the asperities of international politics) may become really annoyed about it.

* * *

Undoubtedly there are many annoying incidents between American troops and European nationals, including the British. Undoubtedly the brashness, the free-spending, and the superficial Coca-Cola civilization of some American troops may give offence. But was there ever a period when foreign troops were quartered in Europe when this was not so? European jealousy, as well as American crassness, is at fault.

* * *

American democracy is superficially unlike anything Europe has ever experienced. And in European eyes a country where so many political sideshows (McCarthy investigation, Army investigations and the like) run counter to the main governmental effort, is incomprehensible. But Europe will simply have to learn to understand it. Like it or not, the U.S.A. is the principal strength of Western democracy. All the nations belonging to the Western democratic world do not have to make themselves over in the American pattern, nor do they have to approve everything that is American. But they would be wise to make a real attempt to improve their understanding of American ways and prejudices, for they will have to live with them for a long time to come.

Let's Not Be Foolish

No one who was an adult during the 1939-45 war is likely to forget the absurd hopes and foolish surmises with which a great many people comforted themselves when our side was losing. It was confidently asserted that the Germans were on the brink of revolt; that Hitler had cancer of the throat and that his death would mean the collapse of Germany; that a vast German underground movement was waiting for the most suitable moment to arise. Some people took these notions seriously then. We should have learned by now to mistrust this sort of rumour and groundless reasoning.

Yet it flourishes. Only the other day we saw a newspaper article which reasoned that because some Russian foreign service officers have deserted to the Western cause, the Russians must have more reason to hate Communism than the Germans had to hate Fascism. Reason: because no Germans deserted to us during the last war.

Well, how many Russians have deserted and given information to our side? Gouzenko and Petrov are two, and there are perhaps half a dozen others. But have not a handful of Western scientists and diplomats also disappeared behind the Iron Curtain? And are not the Russians quite as justified in assuming that our regime is intolerable, on this sort of evidence, as we are in making a similar deduction about them?

There are always deserters, and we cannot put too much faith in what they say, though we are justified in making use of them. But we must beware of making deductions on poor or misunderstood evidence. Surely if the last war taught us anything, it taught us how prone mankind is to build great castles of hope upon the filmiest wisps of fact?

Invested With The Garter

On June 14 Sir Winston Churchill will be formally installed as a Knight of the Garter. It will be a day which has been due him for over a year, and one brimming with appropriate pomp and circumstance. Last year, the Queen occupied the centre of the stage because of her Coronation. But, even with the endless details, she was determined to share some of the glory with her Prime Minister. Then, on April 23rd the day of the feast of St. George (patron saint of England and of the Order of the Garter) "Mister" Churchill was summoned to Windsor Castle were, in a brief ceremony, he become "Sir" Winston Churchill, K.G. At that time, he was given the insignia of the order: a collar of 24 gold pieces each in the shape of a garter, the George, an enamelled figure of St. George on horseback encountering the dragon, the lesser George, (which bears the same figure) the blue velvet garter on which is inscribed: "Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense", (Evil be to him who thinks evil of it) and the broad blue ribbon.

The ceremony next month will consist of a solemn investitute in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, in the presence of all the Knights of the Garter, who have been summoned from all parts of the World.

The ritual is both symbolic and ancient—dating from Edward III, who founded the order. Sir Winston will be admonished: "to be courageous and having undertaken a just War, thou mayest stand firm, and valiantly fight courageously and successfully conquer." He will also be admonished that the Garter is, " . . . a symbol of the most illustrious order, never to be forgotten or laid aside . . ."

Well deserved!

When Your Car Is Commandeered

Most of us never know the excitement of having our car commandeered by the police. But it is likely to happen, and when a policeman hops into your car and says 'Follow that blue Dodge '51; and step on it', you are in duty bound to do as you are told. A recent case in Woodstock, however, raises a point which should be clarified.

A young man was ordered by the police to follow a car, and he did so, increasing his speed to ninety miles an hour; he was blinded by dust, wrecked his car, and although he was not injured he was the poorer by $1,300. But when the Attorney-General of Ontario was asked about the matter he said that the police were under no obligation to pay; the best advice he could give the owner was that he try to get restitution from the police or from the city which they served. Apparently there is no ruling on this matter.

If this is the case, we think that everyone should know what is expected of him when his car is commandeered. Should he remain at the wheel himself? Not every driver wants to dash at furious speed in pursuit of another car, and if he is not a good driver he is a nuisance and a danger if he does so. And if the police have no responsibility when the car is wrecked, we may presume that they have no responsibility if someone is killed, or badly hurt, in such a chase.

It is desirable that every citizen should give the police any help they need, when they are chasing a criminal. But it is hardly right to expect them to risk their lives and property, without any recourse at all if the outcome is serious.

A Modern Pied Piper

We were under the impression that it was a quirk of feminine nature to be afraid of rats. On further investigation we learned that women on the whole, have little or no fear of rats. Their apparent terror emanates from an inborn or inherited fear of mice. They are afraid of mice but merely dislike rats, we were told.

From England comes a report of a woman who has hung out her shingle as a "Professional Rat-Catcher". She is Mrs. Kay Thorburn, who lives in Ruslip, a suburb of London. She climbs into a green truck each morning, and drives off—to hunt rats. Mrs. Thorburn answered an advertisement for a Government-sponsored "trainee rodent operative". After three months' training, she went into business on her own, with a truck and 1,000 pounds of poison. To date, Mrs. Thorburn has killed about 2,000 rats. Most of her calls come from farmers and sports groundsmen, whose fields or grounds are pock-marked by rat or mole holes. Her technique is to locate their holes, and simply "bait" them with poisoned food. She says "—the poison I use kills the rats painlessly, thank goodness, and is harmless to other animals."

Says Mrs. Thorburn, "Most women have a secret fancy; this is mine. I've never been afraid of rats; I started chasing them when I was fourteen." Mrs. Thorburn's family does not share her enthusiasm for rodents. Her husband is an inspector of factory machinery, and her sixteen-year-old son detests rats.

BRITISH STUDENTS IN MOSCOW

A Gulf Between Minds

By FRED JARVIS

(Ed. Note: Fred Jarvis is president of the (British) National Union of Students who has just returned to London after leading a party of British University students on a visit to Russia.)

LOOKING across at Mr. Elyutin, the Soviet Minister for Higher Education, I felt he was getting a little tired. It was understandable. Sitting at the head of a long baize-topped table with twenty chairs placed omnibus fashion on either side — standard equipment in offices likely to be visited by foreign delegations—he had been answering our questions for nearly three hours.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOMEBODY put another question to him.

"Our students always like to have the facts," replied Mr. Elyutin, sharply. "They are against somebody imposing false, second-hand opinions upon them."

"Then shall we be able to read and see pictures of Trotsky's part in the Revolution?" I asked.

"For that it is necessary to reveal the facts which show the role and quality of Trotsky in the Revolution," the Minister replied.

One of his subordinates joined in. "Trotsky had always been a traitor. History has already proved that," he said, as though he were reciting a mathematical formula.

"Our students know that Trotsky was a traitor and an enemy of the people and none of them will wish to read of him," added the Deputy Minister for Higher Education, who was also present.

✧ ✧ ✧

THANKS to the efficiency of the Soviet education system, the minister and his colleagues could certainly depend on their students.

We met many of them in informal discussions at universities and institutes in Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov, and Armenia. Generally they seemed younger than British students, and a higher proportion were women.

The majority were poorly dressed—the styles were reminiscent of Western fashions of the early thirties, and cloth of cheap quality. Their clothes would have been frowned upon by most working-class people here. Yet it seemed that many came from what we would consider the professional classes.

At each place they would crowd round, curious to see what we looked like, eager to talk and ask questions.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEIR political questions were invariably the same, though put less frequently the farther one travelled from Moscow (the party line seems to thin a little by the time it reaches Armenia). They wanted our opinion on American bases in Britain, German rearmament, Geneva, Mr. Bevin, the Berlin Conference, and Mr. Molotov's latest Note.

Their inquisitiveness was like that of young Americans, and their 4-rouble question "Why can't the Soviet Union join Nato?" If one argued that Nato was a defensive alliance, they would ask "From whom does Britain expect attack?" To suggest the Soviet Union usually brought hoots of laughter. "The Soviet Union has never been aggressive," they would chorus.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEY were always anxious to know one's impressions of the Soviet Union but would show pained surprise at any adverse comment. Such is their conviction of Soviet perfection that to fail to eulogise the Metro, to suggest that Moscow architecture is ugly, to condemn the heavy manual work done by women, would generally provoke either a spirited defence of all things Soviet, or a silence which implied dishonesty on the part of the critic.

If one remarked on the apparent absence of political opposition and the ubiquity of political slogans, they were amused. Yet when one of our party suggested to a girl student in Leningrad that a disheartening feature of the Soviet Union was the absence of criticism of the regime, she replied, "Nonsense. There is a Government decree asking for criticism." "Then what criticisms do you have?" he asked. "None," she replied.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE discussions were invariably conducted in a very friendly atmosphere — there was no mistaking the warmth of the students' welcome and their sincere desire for friendship; they were immensly likeable as persons. But their conception of the outside world, their complete faith in the rightness and infallibility of the Soviet regime, was frightening. It was as if there was a factory somewhere mass-producing minds, just as there is obviously at least one factory very busy producing white busts of Lenin and Stalin.

Such is the intensity of their belief, compared with one's reservations about our own way of life, that at times they were right after all. They seemed happy; there was no sign of a generation wanting to overthrow a harsh regime.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE satisfaction with the material benefits of Soviet life is understandable enough. If you are told that Britain today is as Dickens described it sixty years ago, and there is no opportunity to check the facts, you will not wish to change places with a British student, especially if in your own lifetime there have been real improvements in the standard of living—with TV sets, motor-cycles and refrigerators (albeit of rather inferior quality) just round the corner.

But one would still expect any normal, intelligent Soviet student to be at any rate sceptical of some of the things his Government, Press and radio tell him. Or is it that he becomes accustomed, after years of intellectual somersaults, to outwardly repeating the current "line" whilst inwardly regarding it as so much nonsense to be stomached for the sake of a quiet life?

✧ ✧ ✧

I THOUGHT that at least when discussing Beria one would get a clue, some slight hint of disbelief. But such discussions only confirmed my worst fears.

One night in our hotel at Kharkov I asked Jiri, a thirty-year-old history post-graduate who was attached to the delegation as a guide, if he had believed the accusations made against Beria.

"Of course," he replied. "I am convinced he was a spy."

"But do you think he was a spy for thirty years? How could he possibly escape detection for so long and reach such a powerful position?" I asked.

"Because he was a very clever spy."

"If it is possible for a spy to become a member of the Soviet War Cabinet and be appointed Deputy Prime Minister by Mr. Malenkov, do you think any of the present Government might be spies?"

"No," he replied. "They are all known and trusted by the people."

"But, wasn't Beria known and trusted, too? Wasn't he a 'great leader' according to 'Pravda'?"

"No, Beria was never a great leader. Only Stalin was a great leader. Beria only took office in 1938."

"Aren't you at least a little disturbed that such a thing happened?"

"No, I am glad because it shows the strength of the Party."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE strength of the Party! In three weeks I heard only one voice challenge "the strength of the Party." It belonged to Mikhail Zoschchenko, the celebrated Soviet satirist, who sank into oblivion in 1947 after Zhdanov had accused him of "the petit-bourgeois spirit of disparagement."

We had been invited to meet about twenty Leningrad writers in their club and to our surprise Zoschchenko appeared together with another victim of Zhdanov's strictures, Anna Akhmatova, the poet. The meeting was lively from the word "go"—some of our party had raised the ghost of Dostoevski and the writers got rather heated. Except Zoschchenko. He sat next to the chairman, a garrulous and rather stupid poet and said nothing. A frail, grey-haired man in his sixties, neatly dressed in a dark suit that enhanced his pale complexion; only when asked if he would describe his reactions on being criticised by Zhdanov — virtually his literary death sentence — did he speak.

✧ ✧ ✧

CHOOSING his words carefully, he said: "I did not agree with Zhdanov's opinions and wrote to Stalin and the Central Committee. This is why: when I started my literary career Soviet society wasn't as it is now. There was a society of smug citizens, a society of Philistines. My satirical blows were aimed at this society. I didn't mean Soviet citizens who were born and educated later. Therefore I didn't agree with the sharp criticism dealt at me, though I admit I had made my mistakes.

"I assure you that I am not making any bargain with my conscience, I write as I wish, but I write in a different way because great changes have taken place in the last twenty years and our people have changed. It is quite natural that I write in a different manner and my personal attitude to satire has changed.

"But I don't know what extent I was to blame in 1947. Personally I did not think myself wrong. My literary ability and humour I gave to the Soviet people.

"I understand that humour and laughter is a very complicated business, and since it is necessary now I will come back to what I started with. We are again in need of satire."

They are indeed.

New Ways For Canada's Eskimos

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

CANADA'S scattered Eskimo population presents complex problems that can only be worked out through years of patient effort. There is no simple formula that can be applied to them all. These people fall into three groups. First, there are the most primitive Eskimos, remaining as nomadic as were their forefathers, and undisturbed by the gradual advance of civilization. At the other extreme is the group in more or less constant contact with white settlements. There is an intermediate group, the members of which may be employed occasionally by the white man but who still rely mainly on the old ways of making a living in the Arctic.

It is the second and third of these groups that require most attention at the present time. The historic basis of their economy is no longer stable. They have come to develop new wants — for store goods, rifles, tea, and so on — but some of their former sources of cash income have become less reliable. The sale of white fox fur, for example, is no longer the relatively lucrative business it used to be. In extreme cases, acute distress faces the native population.

In those regions where weather and military installations are being set up in increased numbers, the white man's influence on the Eskimo is especially pronounced. Mining exploration is another factor in the changing economic pattern of the Arctic, for there is now activitiy in such widely separated areas as Coronation Gulf (copper and nickel), Queen Elizabeth group (oil), and the Belcher Islands in Hudson Bay (iron ore).

It is well known that many Eskimos have a remarkable mechanical aptitude. The problem is to find the best ways to develop their latent skills, so that they may improve their own living standards and at the same time help in the various enterprises now taking shape in the North. There are also possibilities in local industries such as boat-building, tanning and handicrafts, and in animal husbandry.

The federal government is taking a constructive step in calling for a handful of adventurous Canadians — to be known as Northern Service officers — who will be charged with the responsibility of giving practical leadership to the Eskimo people in six separate regions, and of giving guidance to the administration at Ottawa. The experiment will be watched with close interest by those who feel that all Canada has a responsibility for the welfare of a race faced with the difficulties of economic and social transition.

Be Careful

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

The old oil lamp is still standard lighting equipment in many cottages and on many farms. They can be a dangerous fire hazard unless care is taken to prevent accidents. Don't place the wall or hanging type where it can burn wall or ceiling. Don't keep a lighted lamp on a table where there is danger of it being knocked or pulled over.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when they told it to Jotham, he went and stood in the top of mount Gerizim, and lifted up his voice, and cried, and said unto them, Hearken unto me, ye men of Shechem, that God may hearken unto you.

The trees went forth on a time to anoint a king over them; and they said unto the olive tree, Reign thou over us. But the olive tree said unto them, Should I leave my fatness, wherewith by me they honour God and man, and go to be promoted over the trees?

And the trees said to the fig tree, Come thou, and reign over us. But the fig tree said unto them, Should I forsake my sweetness, and my good fruit, and go to be promoted over the trees?

Then said the trees unto the vine, Come thou, and regin over us. And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth you anoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble, and devour the cedars of Lebanon . . . If ye then have dealt truly and sincerely with Jerubbaal and with his house this day, then rejoice ye in Abimelech, and let him also rejoice in you: but if not, let fire come out from Abimelech, and devour the men of Shechem, and the house of Millo; and let fire, come out from the men of Sherchem and from the house of Millo, and devour Abimelech. (Judg. 9:7-15, 19, 20.)

The heathen are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid is their own foot taken. The Lord is known by the judgement which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. (Ps. 9:15, 16.)

Beaten Track in Science

(Strix in The London Spectator)

The principal subjects announced for presentation to the annual meeting of the British Association for the advancement of Science at Oxford next September include the relationship of palaeontology to stratigraphy, the physiology of milk lebration, obesity, the distribution of personality traits in seven-year-old children and the zoology of sewers. There is also an item listed as "Original papers," so we shan't be on the beaten track all the time.

Anti-Gabble

(From The Manchester Guardian)

It is reported that the Bishop of Huron has inaugurated a "Society for the Prevention of Gabbling the Lord's Prayer." He defined gabbling as "to rattle off without meaning." But the mistake the Bishop has made is to enrol only adults in his anti-gabble society: really the worst offenders are children, whom we forgive because of the amusing nature of their misgabbles. In one orphanage, for instance, the Lord's Prayer was known familiarly as "Father Charton"; in another case, a small boy was heard to repeat "Our Father we shot in Heaven"; still another perversion was "Lead us not into Thames station."

In reciting the Twenty-third Psalm a boy insisted on repeating: "Thou preparest a stable before me"; and his stable companion used to sing: "While like a penny tent I stand"; and it was a rather greedy but satisfied boy who instead of "weak and sinful though I be," sang "We can sing, full though we be." One more out of the many misunderstandings due to gabbling is the tale of the little compassionate girl who wanted to know what "plicity" meant. Her nightly prayer included the phrase "Pity my simplicity" which she heard as "mice and plicity." she knew that mice were timid creatures to be pitied, but "plicity" puzzled her.

US Tourists Spent $282,000,000 In Canada In '53

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Recommended reading:

"Out of the Earth," compiled by G. S. Langford, head of geological sciences, University of Toronto, and published by University of Toronto Press.

It is an easy-reading guide through the complex language and operations of Canada's $1,250,000,000 mining industry, understandable to the layman and enlightening to those who try to tap its riches.

George Prudham, federal minister of mines, says in a foreword: "I have often wished for a volume such as this which I could recommend to interested inquirers."

It will even take you through a bit of chemistry in a pleasant way; has a chapter on financing a company; and uncovers the ways of the wrong-doer.

The Canadian Tourist Bureau says United States visitors spent $282,000,000 in Canada last year in the following ways:

Retail and department stores $70,500,000; restaurants and food stores $62,000,000; hotels, resorts and other accommodation $48,000,000; service stations and garages $33,800,000; entertainment and recreation $25,400,000; train, steamship, bus and plane fares $19,700,000; refreshments and roadside purchases $14,100,000; novelties, souvenirs, etc., $8,500,000. The bureau adds:

SECONDARY DISTRIBUTION

"These first recipients of tourist dollars must in their turn buy supplies, employ labor, pay taxes, etc., resulting in a secondary distribution and benefitting many other parts of the economy."

Further in regard to secondary distribution, the annual report of Dominion Stores, Ltd., says that each $10 the customer spends is distributed as follows:

Farmers and manufacturers, $8.41; employees, 84 cents; rents, etc., 41 cents; governments, 17 cents; shareholders, five cents; set aside to build new stores, 12 cents.

The report says the company maintains more than $6,000,000 worth of goods on its shelves and in storerooms and that if it weren't constantly replenished, shoppers would clear it out in a fortnight.

Canadians not only like food but, apparently, a costly dish from which to eat it. Makers of English Royal Crown Derby china report that Canada now is its biggest customer.

OTTAWA (CP)—Lower tariffs on Japanese goods likely will go into operation in a week, federal officials said Tuesday. The Canada-Japan Trade treaty, under which Canada agreed to reduce import tolls, now has received the approval of the Parliaments of both countries.

Would Increase Population To Ease Loss Of Markets

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal senator from British Columbia said Tuesday that Canada's population should be increased to lessen the economic impact resulting from the loss of foreign markets.

Senator J. Gray Turgeon told the Upper House that an increase in the country's population would boost domestic consumption of primary and secondary products which cannot be sold abroad.

He made his suggestion shortly before the Senate approved ratification of the trade agreement between Canada and Japan signed at Ottawa March 31. The pact also has been ratified by the Commons.

Senator W. D. Euler (L — Ontario), a former federal trade minister, said he did not have too great confidence in the saving clauses of the treaty or that they would be used fairly.

"In saying that I am thinking of a case in which another country took unfair advantage of the saving clause in respect of an agreement under what is generally known as GATT — the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade," he said.

Senator Euler apparently was referring to the action of the United States in placing certain Canadian dairy products on quotas.

He said the fears of textile manufacturers that the treaty may result in unfair Japanese competition may be well-founded to some extent.

Plan Special Committee To Study Research Council

OTTAWA (CP) — A government spokesman indicated Tuesday night a special committee may be set up at the next session of Parliament to review the activities of the National Research Council.

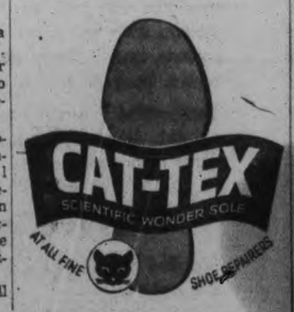
John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said in the Commons it would not be practical to establish a committee this session.

Mr. Dickey was replying to a suggestion made May 11 by J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West) for a select committee this session to study methods to accelerate research in Canada.

Mr. Murphy submitted his proposal during study of a government bill involving technical amendments to the National Research Council Act. His motion that the bill should not receive second reading—approval in principle—but should go to a select committee, was ruled out of order.

After extended debate the bill received second reading and clause-by-clause study.

W. M. Howe (L—Wellington Huron) urged increased application of research to improve the economic condition of depressed industries. He suggested particular emphasis on the development of typically Canadian textiles.



Top Russian Chess Players Will Visit U.S.

By GEOFFREY GOULD

NEW YORK (AP) — The best chess players in Russia are coming to the United States for the first time to lock wits with a hand-picked U.S. team in an international match opening June 16.

The Russians, who almost came here last year but changed their minds at the last minute, will be led by world champion Mikhail Botvinnik.

In many ways the eight - day tournament will be remarkable. It will be the most definitive meeting thus far between Russian and U.S. teams, although the Americans lost to the Russians in Moscow eight years ago. Also, it will be the first time the Soviets have met America's best on their home grounds.

Botvinnik, who has dominated the upper echelons of the chess world for many years, will be pitted against Samuel Reshevsky of the U.S. Other pairings have not been announced.

The Botvinnik-Reshevsky match is a natural, as Reshevsky, 43, is generally acclaimed by his colleagues as the chess champion of the Western world.

He was a child prodigy. At the age of seven he was playing public exhibitions and defeating major players.

AMERICANS OLDER

Israel (Al) Horowitz, publisher of the Chess Review magazine, at 46 is the oldest man on the U.S. team. Three of the Americans are in their early 20s. The average age of the team is 31, somewhat higher than that of the Russian squad.

The youngsters of the American team are brothers, Donald and Robert Byrne. Both are college instructors. Robert is 24 and Donald is 22.

The others are A. B. Bisguier, Arnold S. Denker, Larry Evans and Max Pavey.

The next-ranking player to Botvinnik on the Russian team is Vassily Smyslov, who barely lost a world championship match to Botvinnik last year. The score was 12 games to 12, but under the rules a tie goes to the champion.

Others on the Russian team are Yuri Auerbach, I. Boleslavsky, David Bronstein, one of their strongest players, E. Geller, Paul Keres, another top man, Alexander Kotov, T. Petrosjan, and Mark Taimorov.

The plans call for games June 16, 19, 21 and 23. Adjourned games will be completed June 17, 20, 22 and 24.

2 Dead, 40 Injured In Moroccan Blast

MARRAKESH, Morocco (Reuters)—A French sergeant-major, wounded when an explosion blasted a column of troops in Marrakesh Tuesday, died during the night, bringing the casualty toll to two dead and 40 injured.

The explosion killed one other soldier, and five other injured were reported to be in a serious condition.

The explosion was believed to have been caused by a delayed action bomb planted by Moroccan nationalists outside a building in the centre of the town where Gen. Augustin Guillaume, the French resident-general, was attending a ceremony.

Bark And Beatty To Coach The Grid Orfuns

Officers were elected and coaches named at an executive meeting of the Peterborough Orfuns Football Club last evening in the City Hall conference room. Don Bark will be backfield coach and Gord Beatty line coach of the club this coming season, both being prominent players with the ORFU championship Orfuns last season.

MIRACLE MAN — Ingvar Ericsson of Sweden crosses the finish line of the "Miracle Mile" at the Los Angeles Coliseum, taking the victory in 4:13:1.

Jack Harris was elected president of the club to succeed Dr. Don Aitken, who will be vice-president this year. Recording secretary is Dr. Wilf Preston, while Dr. George Lewis is corresponding secretary. Phil Turner was chosen treasurer. Honorary president will be D. A. McGillis, and honorary vice-president Dr. Rodger Chenoweth. The club co-managers picked were Wally Farr and Mick Magee.

OTHER OFFICIALS

Once again Bill Shadgett was put in charge of club insurance. Bob McCabe and Dick Ouimet will be responsible for grounds and equipment, while a purchasing committee was set up to include Dr. Aitken, Dr. Lewis and Phil Turner. Dr. Ralph Smyth and Dick Ouimet were placed in charge of schedule and games. Medical director once more will be Dr. Les Calvert. Publicity committee includes Stan McBride, Cec. Perdue, Bud LaBranche and George Ludgate, with Jack Williams added to the executive as public relations officer. Bob Hall declined an executive nomination. Others on the executive are Gord McGavin and Don O'Connell.

The executive discussed finances, insurance, equipment and players, leaving several important matters over till a June 7 meeting, following an ORFU intermediate meeting in Toronto on June 5, with several local officials attending.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Playing in weather that was more suitable for rugby, or maybe the odd game of curling, the men's lawn bowling schedule got underway Monday evening—and don't let anyone tell you that it wasn't cold—that northwest wind came right down from Lilly Lake and it didn't hold back one bit—as one chap said to us, "This is about as bad as last fall when we were ending the 1953 season, only its colder".

However the boys ran out the string and all games are recorded as played.

There is nothing doing at the club to-night but the men's schedule continues Thursday evening.

Our first Wednesday night tournament is set for next Wednesday, June 2nd. Its men's doubles and all information is posted on the club's notice board.

The long weekend of warm weather aided the enthusiasm of all golfers. Many, for the first time, unpacked rusty irons and sharpened putters in the sunshine of Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The weekend was climaxed by a gigantic display of fireworks at dusk on the 24th. This innovation really went over with a "Bang" pleasing both young and old. Thanks to all who made a grand show possible.

The men's first sweepstakes of the year was conducted Saturday. Those pocketing new balls for their efforts in the 1-15 group were Howard David, Joe Watson and Mike O'Leary as low net winners. Jim Clarkson took the low gross honours. Winners in the 16-36 division were Milf Hardill with low gross and Howie Eastman and W. A. McEvoy as low net scorers.

The women were not so fortunate on Tuesday. Battling through a mild tornado, Mrs. Baptie carried away the low gross, low net and competition honours in the 18 hole section. Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Steer won 2nd and 3rd low net respectively. Mrs. C. L. Upper made a grand sweep of the 9 hole section winning low gross, low net and the competition.

In spite of adverse weather conditions the B.G.'s turned out in full force. A few turned "chicken" in face of the gentle breeze but the majority completed the full round. Point winners in the 18 hole section were Marg. Behan, Isabel Bullock, Jean Castle and Esther Might. Betty Castle won the sealed hole. Georgie Hardill Marg McManus, Betty Goldie and Anne Crowley were point winners in the 9 hole section. Jean McManus captured the sealed hole.

Our best wishes go with Les, Alf, Mike and Frank as they carry our colours to the Pro-Amateur at Burlington on Friday. Good shooting fellows.

At last we have a definition of a young tree. Those to be treated with due respect are now marked with white paint. The rest will have to be played from, so check carefully for that white ring.

Practices Begin

Bob Thorpe, senior coach, announces that junior practices for the Peterborough entry will be held tonight and Thursday at Miller Bowl, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Juveniles are welcome to attend the practices.

AHL Decides To Have Yearly All-Star Game

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The American Hockey League has decided to conduct an annual all-star game with the proceeds going into a new player's disability fund.

The first game, between the Calder Cup championship Cleveland club and the 1953-54 all star team chosen last month was scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 27 at Hershey. The league was formed in 1936 and an all-star team has been chosen for many years but an all-star game has never been played.

The decision to stage an all-star game was made Tuesday at a meeting of club officials. Murray Henderson, coach of the Calder Cup runner-up team, the Hershey Bears, will coach the all-star aggregation.

IN DIFFERENT CITIES

The all-star game will be conducted in different cities yearly but no exact schedule has been established yet. Workings of the new disability fund have not been detailed yet but it will benefit league players.

At the same time the AHL cut the 1954-55 schedule to 64 games for each team and elected John Digby Chick, Windsor, Ont., as president.

Last season's schedule was for 35 home games for each of the league's six member clubs or a total of 70 games. Opening date for the coming season was fixed as Saturday, Oct. 9.

ORIOLES ADD PLAYERS

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, who had a reputed half million dollars to spend building a winner, used some of it for the third time Tuesday to buy a substitute on a National League team.

Avowedly in the market for a hitter, the American League Orioles bought outfielder Cal Abrams from Pittsburgh Pirates for some cash and pitcher Dick Littlefield. Abrams has appeared in only 17 Pirate games and hit a poor .143.

Art Ehlers, Oriole general manager, previously had gone to the other league to buy Eddie Waitkus from the Philadelphia Phillies and Dave Koslo from the New York Giants. Waitkus hasn't played since May 8 when he was hitting .170 and Koslo has pitched only 14 1-3 innings.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Petes' senior lacrosse club president Bob Peirson accepted that office again this year because he wants to go all the way with the club in setting a new Canadian boxla record — that of winning the coveted Mann Cup four straight years. The Peterborough squad has taken this Canadian senior title three years in a row, twice on the west coast and once in Maple Leaf Gardens, but that just ties a record set by Orillia Terriers in 1934-35-36. No club has won the cup more than three times since box lacrosse was adopted two dozen years ago. Away back in 1911-12-13,14, the Vancouver Athletic Club captured the cup four years running, but they were playing field lacrosse in those bygone days.

* * * * * *

Since boxla style started, Brampton and St. Catharines won Mann Cup honors each two years in a row, but only Orillia and the Petes have made it three straight seasons. So, even if the local club misses out this year, the Petes will be listed in the CLA record book as one of the two best in the game. However, they have every intention of making it four in a row to reign as peers of the boxla world for years to come. Some of the Petes' players have been on four Mann Cup championship clubs, but only with Peterborough three times straight, so they too are seeking one more Canadian crown before hanging up their gutted sticks and other lacrosse gear.

* * * * * *

Petes Tied For Top Spot

Any club that can step into the other fellow's backyard and pull out a decision can't be taken lightly. The Petes have won so far this season in St. Catharines, Mimico and Hamilton. By the same token, the A's won one here, so they must be regarded as real contenders. Friday night we'll see what Mimico Mounties can do in the Trailermen's lair. They gave the Athletics a stiff scrap in St. Catharines on Saturday ere bowing 12-11, so they could be really troublesome in Miller Bowl. But we rather look for a local victory to send the many Petes' followers home happy. The customers didn't like that loss last week to the Saints, and no doubt figure the A's will be the toughest opposition Peterborough will have this summer en route to another title.

* * * * * *

Odd things are occurring in the VOBL senior ball setup so far. Petes lost their Toronto opener to Hoskings, who had been beaten by Oshawa, while Oakville downed the Dependables. After Petes took Belleville here Monday, we find out that Hoskings pulled an upset win over the strong Oakville Oaks, who were regarded as one of the top clubs in the six-team circuit. Only Oshawa at the moment appears the class of the loop, and they may flatten out soon as the schedule progresses. The Petes take on the Transporters in Oshawa this Saturday aft and then hurry back home to play Dependables here. To make it a busy weekend, the Petes meet Oshawa here Monday when a "booster night" will be staged. A lot of good prizes being lined up for that one.

* * * * * *

Those Oaks Should Be Classy

A word about the Oaks, newcomers to senior ball in the VOBL. They won the OBA intermediate "A" crown in 1947 and made provincial finals next year. Then they stepped up a season to senior ranks and won the Viaduct League championship, going on to erase Oshawa Merchants and Welland in senior OBA playdown before losing out in the semi-final to Brantford of the Intercounty League. They dropped back next year to intermediate to win the Halton County crown each season since and make OBA finals twice. Manager Norm Carter has eight pitchers, one a southpaw with experience in the Intercounty, Quebec loop and Class "B" ball in the States. Mostly a homebrew team, but they have several imports from the past few years. They could be tough to beat.

Jack Hall, former Winnipeg football official—now a local resident—was named president of the grid Orfuns at a meeting last night. Dr. Don Aitken is vice-prexy, Dr. Wilf Preston recording secretary; Dr. George Lewis, corresponding secretary, and Phil Turner, treasurer. Named honorary officials are D. A. McGillis and Dr. Roger Chenoweth. Coaches will be Don Bark fo rthe backfield and Gord Beatty on the line. Co-managers are Mick Magee and Wally Farr. Other executive members were given various jobs, and there'll be a meeting again on June 7 to line up plans for the season—after a Toronto meeting of ORFU clubs on June 5 to arrange groupings. The Orfuns will start training early in August an dhave an exhibition with Ottawa Seconds ere the end of that month.

Simmons May Become Phillies' First Earned Run Leader Since '17

NEW YORK (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies haven't produced a National League earned run leader since 1917, but if Curt Simmons continues his ERA effectiveness he could become the Phils' first since Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Simmons has allowed 13 earned runs in 63 innings to head the National League earned run listings with a 1.86 average. The 25-year-old southpaw has a 4-4 won-lost record and two of his victories have been shutouts.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also reveal Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees has the lowest ERA in the American League — an imposing 1.00 mark. Averages include Sunday's games.

MEYER RUNNERUP

Runnerup to Simmons in the National is Brooklyn's Russ Meyer with a 2.19 average. Robin Roberts of the Phils ranks third at 2.22.

Reynolds has been virtually untouchable. The 36-year-old righthander, who was the 1952 leader with a 2.07 average, has given up but five earned runs in 45 innings. The Super Chief has won five—including a pair of shutouts—and has lost one.

Ned Garver of the Detroit Tigers trails Reynolds with a 1.43 ERA; Bob Keegan of the Chicago White Sox holds down third place with 1.89.

TRADED — Third baseman George Kell hangs up his Boston Red Sox uniform after a game with the Yankees in New York. Kell was informed after the game that he had been traded to the Chicago White Sox.

Syracuse Blanks Red Wings 7-0 To Break Losses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syracuse nightmare is over—the 15-game losing streak which dropped them from first place in the International League tie for sixth in two weeks.

The Chiefs blanked Rochester Red Wings 7-0 Tuesday night behind the six-hit pitching of 20-year-old righthander Jim Owens. Manager Skeeter Newsome's club are seven games behind the pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs. Meanwhile the Leafs nipped Buffalo Bisons 6-5 in an 11-inning game.

Havana Cuban Sugar Kings moved into third place by edging Montreal Royals 6-5. In the other game, Ottawa outslugged Richmond Virginians 12-11.

SEVENTH VICTORY

Bobby Wilson's 11th-inning single gave the Leafs their seventh straight victory and 12 of their last 14 games. Ray Shore received credit for the win while Frank Lary took the defeat.

Darrell Johnson's passed ball enabled Ottawa to shade the Virginians after the latter had tied the score with a four-run ninth inning. Joe Taylor drove in four runs for Ottawa, with a single and a home run. Jim Dyck hit a homer for Richmond.

The Sugar Kings drove Bob Ludwick to cover with a six-run barrage in the second inning and held off a late drive by the Royals.

Tigers Edge Mimico 10-7

MIMICO, Ont. (CP) — Hamilton Tigers defeated Mimico Mountaineers 10-7 here Tuesday night in their Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game. It was Tigers' first win of the season.

Bob Dobie, Jim McNulty and Tony Damico led Tigers with two goals each. Jack Hill, Jack Walton and Bill Rankin scored the others.

Wilf Chard paced Mimico with three goals. Don McPhail tallied twice. Jack Kapasky and Ken Dixon got the others.

Will Discuss ORFU Contribution

TORONTO (CP)—A clear picture of the ORFU intermediate group's contribution to Canadian professional football will be given at a scheduled meeting here June 5.

Officials estimate that 25 intermediates worked out at pro football's spring practices, with 10 almost certain to grab team berths.

Eight teams are expected to make up the intermediate group this year. They are Peterborough Orfuns, Cobourg Galloping Ghosts, Oshawa Red Raiders, Hamilton Panthers, East York Blue Devils, Welland Wolverines, Oakville Black Knights and Stratford Rams.

"We expect intermediate football to be stronger than ever because of the top coaching being received" said chairman Bill Prentice of Toronto.

"Each club is determined to bring back the national title won the past two years by Winnipeg and Montreal, to Ontario."

Busch Willing To Sell Cards If Investment Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — August A. Busch Jr., said Tuesday that he would gladly sell the Cardinal baseball team if he could get his investment back and the team stayed in St. Louis.

It was, in effect, Busch's reply to a suggestion from Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) that baseball and beer don't mix. The Colorado senator had exhorted Busch to forget beer and concentrate on baseball.

Busch is president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., which makes Budweiser beer, and president also of the St. Louis Cardinals, the National League club the brewery bought a year ago.

Johnson is president of the class A Western League. He and Busch appeared before the Senate judiciary subcommittee considering Johnson's proposal to bring within the anti-trust laws any organized baseball team controlled by a commercial enterprise.

GAME "PROSTITUTED"

Johnson opened Tuesday's hearing, presided over by Sen. Langer (R-ND), with a statement in which he contended baseball has been "prostituted" into "the adjunct of the brewing business."

Busch said he had no desire to monopolize beer-making or baseball, or to use the Cardinals to promote Budweiser.

"If anybody wants to buy the Cardinals, they're open," he said. "All I ask is that they be kept in St. Louis."

When Johnson asked how much, he replied:

"Exactly what we paid for them and put into them."

Aides to Busch said the brewery paid $3,750,000 for the Cardinals organization in March 1953 and spent about $1,750,000 in development since then.

Staff Reporter Serves Notice He's Contender For Plate

TORONTO (CP)—Amateur handicappers who make a hobby of attempting to select the winner of the Queen's Plate contracted a mild headache Saturday when Staff Reporter, a bunchy bay colt, served notice that he deserves prime consideration in this year's renewal of the Canadian racing classic June 12.

Staff Reporter hasn't exactly been ignored by the racing public. After all, he is a member of the powerful E. P. Taylor stable and the Taylor outfit doesn't send inferior colts to the post. However, Staff Reporter scored a minor upset when he won the second division of the plate trials at Woodbine, beating such well-regarded rivals as Beau Bunty, Trochanter and Windina.

Staff Reporter paid $10.80, considered a big price for a Taylor color-bearer racing on a Canadian track.

A year ago, Gordon (Pete) McCann, who trains Taylor's main division in Canada, considered Staff Reporter to be the outstanding juvenile in the barn. The colt didn't live up to McCann's expectations because he soon developed bucked shins and cracked heels, two occupational ailments of racing thoroughbreds.

Accordingly, Staff Reporter's racing as a two-year-old was confined to eight starts and he didn't capture attention until the autumn when he won a race at Woodbine and another at Dufferin, each by a wide margin. In his final start of the season, he ran away from his field, winning by 12 lengths.

McCann never has lost his first admiration for the colt. "This fellow's as hard as iron," he says. "He can stand a lot of punishment and he has shown me that he can run all day. He should love the plate distance of a mile and one-eighth."

Staff Reporter won his six-furlong trial in 1.12. There were three other trials: Queen's Own winning in 1.11 3-5; Collisteo also winning in 1.11 3-5 and the "winter book" favorite, King Maple taking the final trial in 1.12.

McCann believes that Staff Reporter will show to even better advantage when the plate horses go to the post in a second trial at one mile and 70 yards June 2. Although he is a son of the sprinting sire, Apache, his performances have suggested he will be at his best over a distance.

The colt owes his name to Mr. Taylor's son, Charles. Young Taylor, a university student, was working as a cub reporter on a Toronto newspaper two summers ago and, just about the time that his father was seeking names for his yearling horse crop, Charles won his first by-line. Proudly, he brought home the paper which carried a story headed by the words: "by Charles Taylor, staff reporter."

Taylor still has five colts in training for the plate. Before they go to the post in the big race he must select the best two to represent him. On the basis of Saturday's performances, it is a reasonable guess that Staff Reporter and Queen's Own will carry his colors in his quest for Her Majesty's gift of 50 guineas.

TROTTING STRIKE ENDS

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Dark for two nights because of a strike by horsemen, Roosevelt Raceway will open for 106 nights of harness racing today after an agreement on purses and other matters. The Roosevelt management and the Standardbred Owners Association settled for a purse scale of 35 per cent of the track's share of the pari-mutuel handle under a six-year contract with a no-strike clause.

White Sox Break Indian Victories Clip Cleveland 4-2

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland Indians might have known that when their winning streak was broken the villains would be Chicago White Sox.

The Indians put an 11-game string on the line in Chicago Tuesday night and the White Sox promptly snapped it with a 4-2 decision. If the streak had been the other way around, Cleveland probably would have won.

That's the way these perennial runners-up in the American League have been going at each other regularly during the last three seasons.

Cleveland leads the league by a game and a half over the Sox, with the third-place New York Yankees uncomfortably close, only two games out.

The Yanks took advantage of the Indians' misfortune to close the gap, beating Washington 9-3. Detroit shaded Baltimore 5-4 in 12 innings, Boston left Philadelphia Athletics in last place all alone by winning 3-2.

In the National League, Milwaukee Braves won their eighth in a row, 3-1 over Cincinnati. New York Giants slammed 22 hits in beating Pittsburgh 21-4. St. Louis defeated Chicago Cubs 9-4, Philadelphia at Brooklyn was postponed.

LEMON'S FIRST

In beating Cleveland, the White Sox not only broke the team's winning streak but they pinned the first loss of the season on Bob Lemon, who had won six. Two of their runs off Lemon came without a hit.

Whitey Ford went the distance for the first time this season as the Yankees ruined Bucky Harris' night in Washington with a 17-hit assault. Mickey Mantle led the Yankee attack with a home run and two singles.

Detroit's long-ball attack ruined Baltimore's hopes of breaking out of a losing streak which now runs to five games. Trailing 3-2, the Tigers tied the game in the last of the ninth on a home run by Jim Delsing. The Orioles scored in the 11th only to have Johnny Pesky get his first hit of the season, a pinch homer, in the last of the 11th. In the 12th, Al Kaline singled and Bill Tuttle drove him home with a triple.

Catcher Sammy White turned from goat to star with a ninth-inning home run for Boston over Philadelphia. He had hit into three double plays earlier in the game.

HOMERS FEATURE

Two home runs sewed up Milwaukee's victory at Cincinnati. Joe Adcock doubled in the fifth and Hank Aaron homered. Then pitcher Warren Spahn, who allowed only six hits, followed with a home run to sew up his fifth victory.

The Giants' assault on the hapless Pirates was the second heaviest of the season, topped only by Chicago's 23-13 victory over St. Louis late in April. The Giants scored 11 runs in the eighth inning, tops in either league so far. In the seventh they scored five as Whitey Lockman hit a grand-slam home run.

The Cardinals' victory over the Cubs was a runaway for rookie Wally Moon, who stole four bases. The modern National League record of five in a game was set 50 years ago this week by Dan McGann of the Giants.

Davies Tackles Vince Martinez

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Davey, who was given a boxing lesson by welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in his last Chicago Stadium appearance, steps into the same ring tonight against slugging Vince Martinez as a 7-to-5 underdog.

Martinez, 25-year-old Paterson, N.J., fighter, is ranked sixth in the welterweight bracket and has 20 knockouts among his 33 victories in 36 fights. It is his first Chicago start.

Davey, 28-year-old former Michigan State collegiate champion with a master's degree in education, returns to the scene of his most disastrous bout.

On Feb. 11, 1953, Gavilan stopped the one-time television glamor boy in the 10th, handing the southpaw swinger his first defeat in a rapid build-up to the championship shot.

Gavilan did his job with such thoroughness and comparative ease that Davey was reduced in stature to just another welterweight.

But instead of forsaking the ring, as some expected, the quick-fisted Davey started his campaign all over again. Since that time he has had six bouts, winning half of them.

Montreal Juniors Sign Popular Backstrom

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens juniors announced Tuesday they have signed a youngster said to be one of the most sought-after juvenile hockey players in Ontario.

He is Ralph G. Backstrom, 18, who played last season in Kirkland Lake and in addition to being leading scorer was named as the most valuable player in northern Ontario.

Kenny Reardon, in charge of the parent National Hockey League Canadiens' farm clubs, signed the young centre ice star. Backstrom will report to manager Sammy Pollock's junior Canadiens when the training season opens. The youngster stole the show at Canadiens' junior school during the Easter season. He is rated a ppaymaker type similar to Bill Cowley, one-time Boston Bruin.

Give Harris New Cadillac

WASHINGTON (AP) — They wheeled out a new Cadillac for Bucky Harris Tuesday night and Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, saluted Bucky as "one of the greatest fellows who ever played baseball."

The occasion was "Bucky Harris Night," honoring the onetime boy wonder who led Washington Senators to a world championship in his first year as a manager. That was in 1924 when Bucky was a 27-year-old stripling.

Tuesday night's festivities preceded the game between the Senators and the New York Yankees, world champions under Harris in 1947.

The Yanks then proceeded to beat Washington 9-3.

Traditional Sports Events Mark Bethany Victoria Day

BETHANY (ENS) — Perfect weather brought record crowds to the village on Monday as the Bethany Athletic Association celebrated Victoria Day in traditional style with a full day's program.

Beginning at noon with a parade of 30 some vehicles, led by pipers Michael Brennan of Peterborough, John Murrie, Cavan and Drummer James Laing of Peterborough, the procession got underway from St. Paul's church, down the main street to the ball park.

Judges, the Rev. T. S. Gault and the Rev. Lawrence Norman, awarded first prize to Glen Wright for the best decorated boy's tricycle; second prize to Barry Norman; first prize to Dianne Mulligan for the best decorated girl's tricycle; second prize, Dianne Smith; first prize to Malcolm Smelt for best boy's bicycle; second prize, Teddy Norman; Sharon Bigelow, first prize for girl's bicycle; Donna Durham, second; first prize to Carl Finney for the best decorated car; Robert Ryley for the best decorated commercial vehicle; Donald Smith and Donald Smelt, best comic entry. Ross Carr and Gordon Drakup won first prize for the best farm entry with their impresonation of Ma and Pa Kettle and family (Norman Lane, Billy and Bobby Smelt, Ronald and John Jackson) in their horse-drawn buggy.

RACES

There were races for all ages. Prices went to Billy and Bobby Smelt in the 6 and under boy's class; Faye Braithwaite and Sandra Fallis in the same girl's group. Bobby Edmunds and Richard Staples in the 8 years and under boys; Sharon Bigelow and Caroline Fallis in the girls grtoup; Donald Winslow and Ross Tamblyn in the 10 years and under boy's race; Leone Jordan and Dianne Gigelow in the girl's class, Henry Jakeman and Neil Finney in the 15 years and under boys; Leona Smith and Donna Durham in the 15 years and under girls.

There were two girls softball games. Bethany defeated Millbrook 13-5. Hazel White was on the mound for Bethany with Marie Carr receiving. For Millbrook, Todd and Kennedy shared the mound with Lowery receiving.

The second game with Orono girls was also a win for the Bethanyties 14-6. For Orono, J. Copper did the hurling, J. Allin receiving.

BASEBALL

In the two mens' softball games, Millbrook took the first one from Bethany, 9-8, Dawson and Wright sharing the mound for the winners, with Ginn receiving. For Bethany, Cam Rowan hurled good ball all the way, with Challice and Reynolds sharing the receiving.

The second game, Orono vs. Millbrook, was Orono's game all the way. Keith West pitched his team to a 10-3 victory with John Shelter his battery mate.

Creighton Carr was in charge of the loud speaker. Robert Holfor the old gentleman in atfo rthe oldest gentleman in attendance and Mrs. Hannah Cairns the oldest lady. Lynda Marie Neals, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Neals, won the prize for the youngest baby at the afternoon sports.

The refreshment booth was in charge of Bruce Ryley with his assistants, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rayson, Mrs. V. Jackson, Mrs. R. Read, R. Carr, R Edmunds, G. Smith and Mrs. H. Ryley.

PROGRAM

The evening's program in the town hall featured Ted Bradshaw and his wife of Peterborough, who entertained the large audience with magic. Mrs. Ruth Jennings with her own guitar accompaniment sang three numbers. Mrs. E. Argue gave two humorous readings, Miss Nancy Davis of Peterborough gave two tap dancing numbers. Mrs. Clara Nesbitt, Nestleton gave two accordion selections. Creighton Carr and Miss Marie arr sang two comic numbers.

The male members of the family club from Nelverton presented a comedy skit, "A Photographer's Busy Day," with Ralph Malcolm as the photographer and his customers, Harvey Malcom, Floyd Stinson, Lloyd Wilson. John Wright, Ray Robinson, David Wilson, Clarence Page. Norman Wilson, Murray Malcolm, Maurice Nesbitt, John McCabe, Edgar Down and Howard Malcolm.

Mrs. R. W. Price and Miss Lily Thompson were presented with honor badges for outstanding services in connection with their work in the Canadian Red Cross Society, particularly in the women's work [illegible] charge of the sick room loan cupboard.

Henry Jakeman read the accompanying citation. Milton Wright, president of the Manvers township branch, presented the badges, adding a few words of personal appreciation and expressing thanks to all who had assisted as volunteer canvasers in the recent campaign.

Vincent Jackson, president of the Athletic Association, was chairman. A dance wound up the day's events.

The Bethany Athletic Association was founded in 1908 and each year since have celebrated May 24, using the funds to improve their park and to sponsor the several ball clubs. This year they have also undertaken to sponsor the hockey club and a new rink is being built at the park.

Sitdown Strike At Inglis Plant

TORONTO (CP) — A sitdown strike involving nearly 1,200 hourly-paid workers at the west-end plant of John Inglis Co. Ltd. continued today.

The workers, members of the United Steelworkers of America union (CIO-CCL), went on strike Tuesday in a wage dispute.

The plant held out recently when workers in two other divisions of the company signed a renewed union agreement calling for no increase in wages but improvement in fringe benefits.

Union officials at the plant said they had been ready to sign the agreement after negotiations had altered some of the fringe benefits but the company added some new wage classifications.

Union officials said today the strike will last until the agreement is signed. A company spokesman said no talks are planned.

B.C. Raises Liquor Ban Corks Pop On Train

VANCOUVER, (CP)—A glass of port could be enjoyed Tuesday along with the mountain scenery on both CNR and CPR transcontinental trains.

For the first time since 1915 it was lawful to serve liquor on trains in British Columbia, whose new liquor laws permit both trains and coastal ships to serve beer, wine and hard liquor in lounges and beer and wine in diners.

The first corks popped Monday night, 20 minutes after the trains left Vancouver for the East.

Military personnel will not be served on trains. Federal regulations prohibit the serving of liquor to members of the armed forces.

Tent Caterpillar Armies On March

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Armies of tent caterpillars are attacking foliage on millions of acreage through 13 counties in northern and eastern New York, the U. S. conservation department reported Tuesday.

William Masterson, forest pest control field supervisor, said forest tent caterpillars were crawling through an estimated 7,500,000 acres in 10 counties. About 3,500,000 acres are "heavily infested," he added.

Two Jail Terms, Fine Given In Three Thefts

Two men received jail sentences and one man was fined $120, in three separate cases of theft heard Tuesday in magistrate's court.

Robert Nicholson, 24, of 69½ O'Hara Ave., Toronto, pleaded guilty to stealing an outboard motor owned by William Jones, 431 Brioux Ave., on the night of May 14. The incident occurred at Jones' cottage on the Otonabee river near the Bensfort bridge.

Jones said that Nicholson, apparently not realizing the cottage was inhabited, had driven a car into the yard and lane directly behind the cottage, taken an outboard motor from a boat, placed it in the trunk of the car, and attempted to drive away.

Jones came out of the cottage after being awakened by his wife, told Nicholson to stop, opened the trunk and retrieved his motor. Nicholson immediately drove the car backwards down the lane and onto the road. "His driving was exceptional", exclaimed Mr. Jones.

"I was drunk", said Nicholson.

"You couldn't have been very drunk to drive that car backwards, in the dark, out of the lane as Mr. Jones claims", said magistrate W. R. Philp.

"That just proves how drunk I was", replied Nicholson. "The car didn't belong to me . . . it was a good one . . . I certainly wouldn't have driven like that if I were sober".

Magistrate Philp intimated leniency in not demanding a jail sentence as he fined Nicholson $120 and $5.50 costs.

HOBBY

Edward Aslagsen, 46, of Toronto, will spend the next month in county jail as a result of his peculiar "hobby". He was convicted on two counts of entering parked cars, rifling the interiors, placing the stolen goods in a shoulder bag, and moving on.

PC Arthur Beardsmore witnessed Aslagsen performing such actions on Charlotte St., on May 10. Upon investigation, the shoulder bag contained a pair of sunglasses and a horn button, just removed from a parked truck. Aslagsen's past record showed many similar charges and convictions.

"Don't you make a habit of going around entering parked cars", asked magistrate Philp.

"Just when I get so full of hooch . . . I kinda' lose track of my mind", replied Aslagsen. He received one month in the county jail with the advise to get a steady job upon release.

Clarence King, 43, of 756 Chamberlain St., pleaded guilty to stealing $20 from a cash box in a local store on May 22. Detective Dennis Traynor had investigated the theft, and said that King, after being apprehended asked permission to return to the cash box and get a pipe he had left there while making the theft.

The pipe was in the cash drawer.

He was sentenced to two months in county jail.

Winds Hits City

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Winds that ranged up to an estimated 45-miles-an-hour in gusts struck the Belleville area late Tuesday, blowing down Hydro lines and trees and temporarily shutting off power to some areas. The Ontario School for the Deaf, just outside the city, was without power for 35 minutes.

Fire Destroys Home

MOUNT ELGIN, Ont. (CP) — Fire destroyed the two-storey home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters here Tuesday. Students who spotted the fire managed to move most of the furniture from the lower floor before flames forced them out of the building. Damage was estimated between $7,000 and $9,000. Mount Elgin is about 25 miles east of London.

Sea-going trailers

A WESTERN shipper thought this one up. He handles freight to and from Alaska by means of aluminum vans which are loaded, driven to the dock, and there lifted by cranes from their chassis into the ship's hold. Saves a lot of cargo handling, damage and pilfering. The vans can be individually heated or refrigerated to protect special cargoes, too.

More than a thousand different Canadian companies keep busy turning Canadian-made aluminum into everything from ash trays to minesweepers. And it keeps us busy wondering how next they will use this modern metal to save weight, or time, or trouble, or dollars for somebody. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Ti-Cats, CBC Disagree On Television Plans

HAMILTON (CP) — Jake Gaudaur, president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, disclosed Tuesday that there is a disagreement between the club and the CBC over plans to televise the Big Four Football Union games this season.

Gaudaur said "the CBC has imposed certain conditions making it impossible for this club to consider the proposed TV deal as finalized."

Two weeks ago it was announced that the league had reached agreement with the CBC and NBC to televise Big Four games both in Canada and the United States.

Gaudaur emphasized the Tiger-Cats have no disagreement with NBC, which plans to telecast Canadian football for the first time in the U.S. over its coast-to-coast network. He said the dispute is "just with the CBC" and that from the beginning the deal was accepted by the club "in principle only." He declined further comment.

"LOCAL PROBLEM"

At Montreal, Lew Hayman, general manager of Montreal Alouettes, said the reported disagreement "is only a local problem" and Montreal is not involved.

Hayman was chairman of the Big Four's TV committee which negotiated the agreement.

Commenting on Gaudaur's statement on the disagreement, Hayman said "it is only a detailed problem which will be ironed out."

He said he believes the disagreement involves the blacking-out of certain Hamilton areas during Tiger-Cats' home games. No other clubs are involved.

Spain Closes Frontier With Gibraltar

MADRID (AP) — Spain has ordered her frontier with Gibraltar closed to keep all Spanish tourists from going to the naval base, it was officially stated today.

An American travel agency representative had erroneously said the order applied to all travellers going to Gibraltar from Spain.

An official Spanish government spokesman said the American had misunderstood the order given out during a meeting Tuesday of a representative of the Spanish ministry of information and tourism and directors of all travel agencies.

COMMUTERS NOT STOPPED

He said the 15,000 Spanish workers who cross the frontier each day to work in Gibraltar are not affected by the measure.

The move is part of the Spanish government's campaign to secure the return of Gibraltar which the Spanish maintain was "stolen" by Britain in the 18th century.

The recent visit of Queen Elizabeth to Gibraltar touched off the campaign because it was officially charged that it was an "insult" to all Spaniards.

Dock Workers Voting On Union Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — A bitter union fight for the right to represent 25,000 dock workers in the port of New York reached a vote today in a National Labor Relations Board election.

Heavy police details patrolled the waterfront to prevent repetition of the intimidation and strong - arm tactics which caused the results of a pre-Christmas election to be scrapped.

Last-minute claims of victory were made by spokesmen for both the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) and the rival AFL union of the same name.

Varied voting hours, between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. EDT were set for three polling places in New York City and three across the Hudson river in New Jersey. The count will start at an armory here at 9:30 p.m., and the NLRB regional director, Charles T. Douds, may be able to announce the result soon after midnight.

The NLRB assembled a staff of 191 officials to supervise the election.

With feelings running high between adherents of the rival unions, police commissioner Francis W. H. Adams put 2,500 New York policemen on waterfront patrol. On the New Jersey side, hundreds of police were detailed on the waterfront.

PLACED IN RECEIVERSHIP

The ILA, which ruled waterfront labor for decades before it was ousted from the AFL for harboring racketeers, received another body blow on the eve of the election. Federal judge David N. Edelstein placed it in receivership Tuesday.

Edelstein appointed Raymond J. Scully, an official of the New York State Bar Association, as receiver. Scully's responsibilities will end if and when the ILA raises the $50,000 needed to pay a contempt-of-court fine imposed for its recent strike in defiance of a federal injunction.

Patrick J. (Packy) Connolly, ILA executive vice - president, said Tuesday night that individual members of the union have volunteered to mortgage their homes to pay the fine. The ILA's cash has shrunk to a $12,000 bank account, and eve that has been attached by government in a move to assure payment of the fine.

AXE-MURDER VICTIMS — The U.S. District Attorney in Germany issued a warrant for the arrest of former Army Capt. James M. Leech, of Lima, Ohio, for the axe-slaying of three American officers at Passau, Germany, on January 7, 1946. The victims of the triple slaying were 1st Lt. Stanley Mac A. Rosewater (left), Maj. Everett S. Cofran (centre) and Capt. Adrian L. Wessler (right).

School Wins Pennant Third Year In Row

STIRLING (ENS) — For the third successive year, the Ridge Road school, SS 1, Rawdon township, has won the pennant for first standing in religious education.

The examiner, the Rev. W. E. Dovey of Sidney awarded them 89 marks on the Old Testament and 85 on the New Testament.

The runner-up was Glen Ross, SS 22, with 79 marks for the Old Testament and 80 on the New Testament.

Hunger Strike Continues

TEL AVIV (Reuters) — Forty-five hunger strikers, lying on cots in the wedding hall of the great synagogue here, Tuesday night rejected appeals to call off their protest against the detention of Jewish leaders in Communist Romania. The aged Israeli strikers, all former leaders of Romanian Jewery, said originally they would go without food for 100 hours. The fast started Sunday night.

Bandaging Shown To Selwyn WI

SELWYN (ENS) — Mrs. George McIlmoyl presided at her first meeting as president of the Selwyn Women's Institute's May Meeting. Thirteen members and ten visitors were present.

Two of the visitors, Mrs. Pettifer and her mother, Mrs. Bradwell, later joined the WI. Mrs. Donald Raddon and Mrs. Sherman Sweeting were appointed the auditors for the coming year.

Mrs. George McIlmoyl and Mrs. Reg. Bell and Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting will be delegates to the District Annual in Warsaw June 9.

Mrs. William Elliott gave a report on the District Directors meeting which she attended in Peterborough recently.

Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald, the health convener, welcomed three guests from Lakefield, Mrs. Douglas Davis, Mrs. T. Payton and Mrs. R. Farrow.

Mrs. Payton and Mrs. Farrow gave a demonstration on bandaging which is used most frequently in every-day living.

A piano duet was played by Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald and her daughter, Pauline Fitzgerald.

Hit By Car, 2 Youths Killed

CENTREVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Two youths were killed Tuesday night when a car slammed into the bicycles they were riding along Highway 2 in this hamlet, about five miles southwest of Woodstock.

The victims were identified as George Huntley, 17, and Eddie Rutherford, about 16.

Witnesses said bodies of the two youths were carried about 360 feet from the point of impact. A shoe was found more than 700 feet from the accident scene.

Police said the driver of the car was David H. Beatty, 29, of Ingersoll. He was taken to jail at Woodstock.

Police said Beatty continued to drive toward Ingersoll after the crash. When his car reached the town, wreckage of one bicycle was still twisted around the front end of the auto, they said.

They said Beatty turned around in Ingersoll and went back to the accident scene.

Halls Glen WI Donate To Lakefield Library

HALLS GLEN (ENS) — Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, presided at the W.I. meeting held Wednesday evening. Eleven members were present. Mrs. Russell Puffer read the slate of new officers and showed pictures of the Nephton mines, which will be given to the convener, Mrs. Henry Little, for the new Tweedsmuir book.

Voting delegates to the district annual at Warsaw, June 9, are Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Cyril Scott, Mrs. Puffer and Mrs. Goldie Drain.

It was decided to give a donation to the Lakefield library and a short course "something to wear" was planned for fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harrison's offer of the use of their "Lodge" for the bazaar sale and afternoon tea to be held in July was accepted.

The boy was injured when a playmate accidentally knocked over an excavation flare, showering burning oil over James' clothing.

The award was presented to the boy's father, Scoutmaster Ian Nathieson, by Lieutenant - Governor J. J. Bowlen of Alberta.

Name Turgeon To Make Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — An expert on railway freight rates has been named royal commissioner to investigate the operation of "agreed charge" contracts between the railways and shippers.

Prime Minister St. Laurent informed the Commons Tuesday that Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, 76, a veteran of several royal commissions, will undertake the inquiry. He is Canada's ambassador to Ireland and minister to Portugal.

The main question probably will be whether agreed charge rates should come under the terms of the "one-and-one-third rule" on transcontinental shipments.

The one-and-one-third rule provides that rates on rail traffic between eastern Canada and the Prairies should not be more than 1 1-3 of the low, competitive transcontinental rates between eastern Canada and the west coast which are set by the railways to meet competition from ocean shipping between east and west coasts.

The rule benefits chiefly points in Alberta.

Libel Suit Successful

PARIS (Reuters)—The moderate newspaper Parisien Libere won a libel suit Tuesday against the Communist organ Humanite, which had alleged that the Parisien Libere received American money as the price of its "docility toward the policy of Ford, Rockefeller and Dupont de Nemours." Humanite director Firmin Pelissier was fined 20,000 francs ($56) and ordered to pay 30,000 francs ($85) in damages to Libere.

Arrest 11 Puerto Rico Party Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney-General Herbert Brownell today announced the arrest of 11 leaders of the Nationalist party of Puerto Rico on charges of seditious conspiracy to overthrow the United States government.

Six of the arrests were made in Chicago, four in New York City and one in San Juan, the capital of Puerto Rico, a U. S. dependency.

At the same time, Brownell placed detaining orders against six other members of the Nationalist party, including the four in jail here, charged with shooting and wounding five members of the U.S. House of Representatives on March 1.

The other two detainers were placed against two Puerto Ricans now imprisoned in the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn.

LONG INVESTIGATION

The roundup resulted from a lengthy FBI investigation into Nationalist party activity extending back to 1936.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover noted in connection with today's roundup that members of the party were responsible for a bloody revolutionary attempt in October and November, 1950, for the attempted assassination of former president Truman in November of that year, and for the recent shooting affray in the House here.

NewRoad Causes Water Problem For 60 Cattle

CAVAN (ENS) — Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink. That's the wet story of construction difficulties on the spur road built between highways 28 and 35 at Argue's swamp, west of the middle road of Cavan.

When the road was first surveyed it was found that cattle owned by Thomas Douglas would be completely cut off from water, with pastureland on one side of the road and Mr. Douglas' spring on the other.

Mr. Douglas asked that an underpass be built so that his cattle would not die of thirst or be mowed down by traffic. The department of highways finally agreed to give him a small underpass not wide enough for two animals to pass.

This, as it turned out, would have been worse than useless. An 18-foot road cut drained water in to the road bed where cattle could not get at it. This gave engineers some anxious moments as they figured a way to divert water from the now springy and boggy bed.

A solution to the water problem, which did Mr. Douglas no good, was to divert the flow through a culvert to a ditch on the east side of the road.

Spring water now empties into a creek on the farm of Robert McInnes. Water is drained from the road bed, into a ditch and along 12-inch perforated pipes.

Meanwhile Mr. Douglas is watering his cattle from the spring on the property of Mrs. H. C. Argue.

Secure Plans To Remodel Hatfield Hall

COBOURG (ENS) — Northumberland and Durham Counties special committee on securing more accommodation for counties offices now has the green light to secure architects' plans on remodelling the Hatfield Hall building, providing the counties can buy it. At present the department of National Defence has a 30-day option. It is estimated that it will cost around $100,000 to change the building over to accommodate all the counties offices plus health unit and the court rooms. The owner of the building originally asked the council $67,000 for Hatfield Hall, but when the council didn't take up the offer, the 30-day option to the Department of National Defence was granted. The committee also has been granted permission to secure plans for a new building and to shop around for a site. Third course still to be explored is to ascertain just what the town of Cobourg will do in regard to expansion of the present facilities in the town hall for counties use. Shortage of space in the presently-rented accommodation in the town hall prompted the steps to secure more room.

The Counties clerk has been advised that the $465,000 debentures for the new Brighton High School district School have been sold at a very satisfactory price and instead of the 4 per cent interest originally specified in the by-law, the interest rate is 3¾ per cent.

New Iroquois, Modern City Planned By Architects Will Accommodate 40,000

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The model of a new Canadian city, modern in planning and design, is taking shape in an old stoe building near Hyde Park.

It is the new Iroquois, Ont., a dream shared by a 58-year-old Canadian-bred architect and some 1,100 citizens whose present homes will be buried under water when the St. Lawrence seaway is built.

For Dr. W. W. Wells Coates, silver-haired planner, the new city is the culmination of 25 years' training and study. "I've always had it in mind to go back to Canada and form a new community," he says.

Dr. Wells Coates, born in Tokyo, son of a Canadian missionary-teacher, has been working on the plans for two years in his Chelsea studio, littered with maps, plans and aerial photographs.

LONG-TIME PROJECT

The new Iroquois will rise on a site one mile east of the old town and Dr. Wells Coates has planned to accommodate about 40,000 persons, half of them British immigrants.

The idea of such a community has been nurtured by Dr. Wells Coates for many years and, in September, 1952, he went to Canada representing a group of British industrial interests to discuss setting up a new town on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river.

Iroquois, he found, had already set up a planning board and was laying its own plans. The town retained Dr. Wells Coates as consulting architect.

He was impressed by the spirit of the town's leaders.

"They are alive to their responsibilities to their people," he said, jabbing the air with an ebony cigaret-holder. "They're men like reeve Lloyd Davies, a gas station owner, Byron Saver, who owns a clothing store, and Hume Grisdale, a farmer."

OFFICIAL STUDIES

Dr. Wells Coates set to work immediately and soon produced a general land-use plan, first requirement under the Ontario Planning Act. This plan, now under study by provincial officials, sets out the over-all pattern of the new city and its primary divisions for industry, homes, shopping centres, etc. Once it is approved, more detailed planning can proceed.

One of the most favorable factors for the future of the new Iroquois, says Dr. Wells Coates, is its site.

"It's on the doorstep of the St. Lawrence. The new four-lane highway from Montreal to Toronto will pass close by and it's on the Canadian National Railways line. There you have the three main means of long-haul communication."

He becomes most enthusiastic when he talks of the new city itself.

"Steel, glass, timber, bricks, stone and concrete are the techniques of architecture. But the raw material is PEOPLE."

Money for the initial financing of the new Iroquois will come from rehabilitation funds to be paid to both the municipal authority and to individual residents. It is estimated this will total between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000, roughly half of which will go to the municipality.

Dr. Wells Coates, a graduate of the University of British Columbia and the University of London, has a more than professional interest in the future of the Iroquois district. His paternal great - grandfather, Thomas Coates, settled as a farmer at nearby Prescott, Ont., in the early 1800s and his maternal forbears crossed the St. Lawrence near Iroquois as United Empire Loyalists to settle at St. Thomas, Ont., late in the 18th century.

After serving with the 2nd Canadian division and later transferring to the Royal Navy air service during the First World War, Dr. Wells Coates set up practice in London in 1929.

Jean Hersholt Plays Role In Cagney Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For the first time in 17 years, Jean Hersholt is parting company with Dr. Christian.

The great Dane is playing one of the leading roles in "Run For Cover" with James Cagney, Viveca Lindfors and John Derek. It will be the first time since 1937 that the public has seen or heard him in any role except that of the kindly doctor.

"I want to see if I can get away with doing something else," says Hersholt. "After all, Dr. Christian is such a sweet, sentimental fellow. I'd hate to be stuck with playing only him for the rest of my life.

"Two whole generations have grown up knowing me as nothing else but Dr. Christian. Yet I have played in over 400 pictures and done every kind of a role, including many heavies."

PLAYS FRONTIERSMAN

He'll be no heavy in this one. He plays Miss Lindfors' father, a stubborn Swede who is a frontier farmer.

I visited him at his Beverly Hills home, where he has lived for almost 30 years. He looked the same as ever, except that he had grown sideburns and a brush moustache for his film role. He relaxed in his upstairs study, a room laden with medals and trophies, including three honorary Oscars and awards from foreign countries.

"I have no beef with Dr. Christian," he said, puffing on a pipe. "He has been very good to me. I was on radio every week, summer and winter, 18 years with the same sponsor; I don't believe any other show can match that record."

I asked him if Jean Hersholt and Paul Christian are the same person.

"I don't like to think so," he replied thoughtfully. "I like to think I have an identity of my own. That's one of the reasons I am doing this picture. I want to prove that I can do something else."

That doesn't mean he is abandoning the doc. The show has gone off radio for the present, but Hersholt has made a pilot film for a TV series and may get active in that medium.

Randolph Claims Lead Over Bante

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — President Woodruff Randolph Tuesday claimed the lead over George Bante, Chicago in the tight election race in the AFL International Typographical Union.

ITU headquarters said returns from 648 of the 800 ITU locals gave Randolph a lead of 556 votes, with about 5,000 votes still unreported from last Wednesday's balloting across the country. That tally gave Randolph 35,332, Bante 34,786.

Bante, head of the independent slate, campaigned largely against Randolph's policy of setting up ITU-published newspapers to compete with papers involved in ITU strikes.

Mercy Killer Gives Self Up

DETROIT (CP)—William Jones, 63, convicted last year of the "mercy killing" of his legless wife, has turned himself over to authorities for return to Ypsilanti State Hospital, police said Tuesday.

Circuit judge Clyde I. Webster wept as he stood by Jones' hospital bed last year and pronounced sentence. Because of judge Webster's pleas, Jones served only a few months. Later he asked to be committed to Ypsilanti Hospital's mental ward.

Last April 6 he escaped but last week he returned and asked to be readmitted.

Jones electrocuted his wife to spare her further pain from an incurable illness. He later made an unsuccessful attempt to hang himself.

Gregg Reports Decline Of Unemployment

MONTREAL (CP)—Labor Minister Milton Gregg said Tuesday night recent reports show an encouraging decline in Canada's unemployed.

Addressing a dinner meeting of the 18th annual convention of the Farband Labor Zionist Order, a workers alliance, Mr. Gregg said that unemployment, nevertheless, has been a cause for concern during recent months and "I must say I have been thankful for the Unemployment Insurance Act."

Mr. Gregg said "between July 1 1941 and March 31, 1954, approximately $756,000,000 was paid out in unemployment insurance benefits."

Premier Better

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost will appear at the eastern Ontario development conference in Ottawa next week—his first public appearance since he went to hospital for treatment of an old war wound in his leg earlier this month. Doctors said healing of the First World War wound has been "very satisfactory."

Stark Terror In Guatemala Refugees Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two refugees from Communist-swayed Guatemala are quoted as saying that "stark terror" and "Soviet secret police tactics" are rampant in the Central American republic.

U. S. News and World Report, independent weekly news magazine, devotes five pages of its current issues to copyrighted interviews in Mexico with two men described as victims of "sudden arrest, torture, banishment."

The magazine said it located the men in exile in Mexico City and obtained from them the story of "their arrest and agonizing experiences in the torture chambers of Guatemala."

Both said they are arrested last January, and taken to civil guard (police) headquarters.

BEATEN REPEATEDLY

One said he was stripped, repeatedly beaten and tortured by having his head pushed under water, once until he lost consciousness.

He was blindfolded before questioning and a voice "which I recognized as that of Rogelio Cruz Wer, director of the civil guard," asked such questions as:

"Why do you attack communism" "Don't you know that communism is going to rule the world" "Are you a fool in the service of the gringos" "How much money does the American ambassador give you"

He said he refused to sign "a declaration" and finally both men were taken to the Mexican border.

The other said he was kept bound on the floor of a cell for five days, except that every few hours he was taken to a special room where "they applied electric shocks to my body; they applied a steel band to my head which caused such pressure on my brain that I lost consciousness."

Criticizes Parents "Seldom At Home"

TORONTO (CP)—The Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Anglican Bishop of diocesan synod Tuesday criticized parents who are seldom "at home" to their own children.

He blamed failure in the home for "a shocking amount" of juvenile crime and violence.

Bishop Beverley warned it is not easy to be a good parent today. He said pressure is strong on parents to think more of pleasure than of the needs of their children.

Reopen Hotel Rooms

CALGARY (CP) — All strike-bound Alberta beer parlors will re-open May 31 with non-union labor, the Alberta Hotel Association said Tuesday in a statement which said the employees' union committee "slammed the door of negotiation in the face of the hotel men."

ROYAL LUNCHEON—In the Mansion House at London a luncheon welcome is given for Queen Elizabeth. House Defeats Attempt To Write Union Checkoff Into Federal Labor Code

OTTAWA (CP)—A renewed attempt to write a form of union dues checkoff into the federal labor code has been defeated by the Commons.

Liberal and Progressive Conservative party lines were split Tuesday as the House voted 107 to 51 against a bill sponsored by Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) to provide for the voluntary revocable checkoff in federal labor laws.

That type of checkoff, described by Mr. Knowles as the minimum measure of union security, would require employers under federal jurisdiction to deduct union dues from employees' pay when the workers authorized it. An individual worker could exempt himself from the checkoff.

It would apply to railways, communications and other interprovincial operations under federal labor code jurisdiction.

Eleven Liberals and six Progressive Conservatives voted with the CCF and Social Credit parties and two Independents. The measure was opposed by 87 Liberals and 20 Progressive Conservatives.

Repeated CCF attempts since 1948 to obtain passage of similar legislation have failed. In the last recorded vote in 1951, 67 members supported a similar bill, including 17 Liberals. Last session the proposal was referred to a Commons committee whose report, adopted by the House, recommended government consideration of the plan.

Labor Minister Gregg was not in Ottawa for Tuesday's vote. However, during previous debate on the bill Feb. 23, he said his department still is studying the issue but he saw no great urgency about bringing it to Parliament as legislation.

Mr. Knowles said the government should not require any more time. It should take action, rather than merely promise further study.

One Liberal who voted for the mill, Elmore Philpott of Vancouver South, said similar legislation in effect in some provinces has narrowed differences between employers and workers. The British Columbia checkoff law had improved labor relations at such key industries as the Trail smelter plant.

The CCF measure, debated during an hour devoted to private members' bills, was one of a number of pieces of legislation dealt with during the day's sitting.

BILL INTRODUCED

A government bill to provide death benefits of up to $5,000 for members of the civil service and regular armed forces was introduced after William Benidickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, outlined its terms.

He said the government will pay one-sixth of the payment, which will be either $5,000 or a year's salary, whichever is the smaller amount. Persons covered, all those who contribute to the civil service superannuation plan, would pay $4.80 a year for each $1,000 of insurance.

Everyone eligible would be required to take part. The broad coverage made the low cost possible.

Another bill sponsored by Mr. Knowles also met defeat. The House voted 154 to 31 against his measure to increase to 30 from 20 the Commons quorum—the minimum attendance required to transact parliamentary business.

The bill was supported by CCF and Social Credit members and C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria, Ont.)

Gould Calls Firing Unfair

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Mervyn Gould Tuesday described as unfair the Grey county council's recent action in dismissing him as manager of the county Home for the Aged over complaints of drunkenness and indecency at the home. His wife was dismissed as matron at the same time.

The county council asked for a judicial investigation of activities at the home, then withdrew its request.

Gould said Tuesday the council gave him no opportunity to reply to the charges.

Mayor Percy England of Owen Sound, city representative on the joint city-county board of management of the home, Tuesday termed the dismissal illegal and described the board of management setup as improper.

Gave Up Practice For Printer's Trade

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Robert M. Mather, a doctor who gave up his medical practice to return to his trade as a printer, died during the week-end at the age of 89.

A native of London, England, Dr. Mather came to Canada as a boy and lived with his parents at Brantford, Ont. He moved to Detroit and became a printer.

Later he enrolled in the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery, and graduated as president of his class. However, the lure of his early profession caused him to return to the printing business.

He was appointed night superintendent of the composing room at the Detroit News. He retired last year.

Pictures Mayor Breaking In On Senators And Reading Riot Act

OTTAWA (CP)—The possibility of mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa breaking in on a group of senators dining at the Chateau Laurier, reading them the Riot Act and ordering them to disperse was suggested to a Senate committee Tuesday.

Legal counsel for the Canadian Congress of Labor admitted that his illustration of the operations of the Riot Act sections in the proposed new Criminal Code was a bit overdrawn. But it wasn't impossible.

M. W. Wright, counsel for the 375,000-member labor body, described the situation in a brief outlining the congress' attitude towards the riot and other sections of the code which now is being studied in detail by the Senate banking committee.

The wording of the riot sections, he said, makes it imperative for a justice, mayor or sheriff to read the Riot Act if given notice that 12 or more persons are "unlawfully and riotously assembled." A malicious individual had only to hand the mayor a notice to that effect to set off a chain reaction.

COULD USE IN STRIKE

Mr. Wright said it was possible that this machinery would be started in operation during a strike while union members were meeting at the union hall.

The congress suggested that the wording of the section be changed to state that the Riot Act does not have to be read unless the mayor or sheriff "is satisfied that such persons are unlawfully and riotously assembled."

The congress also repeated the submission it has made several times in the last two years concerning the section of the proposed code on breach of contract. Its brief said this is a civil matter and ought not to be a part of criminal law.

However, several senators said they could not agree that depriving a city of essential public services such as water, light and transportation by a strike should be entirely a civil matter.

Object To Central Mortgage Handling Vets' Mortgages

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition members Tuesday objected to Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. handling mortgages for new veterans' housing on small lots.

They contended in the Commons veterans affairs committee that administration of the Veterans Land Act should look after collections on houses built under the VLA "Build Your Own Home program."

The subject came up as the committee began detailed study of legislation which would assist veterans to build on city lots and provide additional loans for improvements on small holdings.

Under VLA, veterans can obtain conditional grants and loans to acquire farms, small holdings or to set up as commercial fishermen. The loans are made at 3½ per cent interest.

ADDITIONAL LOANS

Under new legislation, already approved in principle by the Commons, veterans may obtain additional loans at five per cent interest for improvements.

They may also build under VLA on city-size lots. However, there will be no grants and the interest rate on loans will be 5½ per cent. The chief advantage will be that the veteran will put his own time into construction, save the contractor's profit and be able to obtain supervision and free legal advice from VLA. Once the home is completed, the mortgage will be turned over to Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., the government's housing agency.

VLA officials have said that a veteran will be able to build a $10,000 home for $8,000 or less.

TWO NEW TEACHERS

Appointment of two new teachers to the board of education staff was approved Tuesday night. They are Miss Mary Curtis on the public school staff and Wesley R. Scott on Kenner collegiate's.

ONE ACCIDENT

Only one motor collision was reported to city police Tuesday. Drivers of the cars were Murray J. Stover, 203 Wolsely St. and Stanley Lavender of Millbridge, who collided their vehicles on George St., near Charlotte St. Damage was slight.

NO CHANGE

Dominion Day is still celebrated on Thursday, July 1, a state department official at Ottawa said Tuesday. He was commenting on unpublished reports that Canada's national holiday this year would be celebrated July 5.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Harry Schwartz has been delegated to attend the district 1 B'nai B'rith convention to be held in Boston, May 29 to June 1. This district, encompassing New York state, the New England states and Eastern Canada, is celebrating its 102nd anniversary. The organization itself is 111 years old.

GO TO EDUCATIONAL MEET

Two teachers from PCVS' vocational department during the summer holidays will attend the Balsam lake conference, sponsored by the department of education. Vocational school problems and courses are on the agenda. The two vocational teachers have still to be picked.

GRADUATING

A Peterborough student is among the graduates receiving Bachelor of Commerce degrees at St. Francis Xavier University this year. He is Terrance Alban Wolff, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wolff, 420 Downie St. His parents are at present visiting the university for the graduation.

BICYCLE CHECK

The Delta Rho Hi-Y Club is sponsoring its third annual bicycle inspection for the children of the city today and Thursday. Children from all schools north of Charlotte St., may bring their bikes to the police garage between 4:00 and 6:00 today; the same service will be offered to children attending school below Charlotte St., Thursday at the drill hall in Morrow park during the same hours. All bikes passing the test will be given stickers.

Firemen Say City Changed Meaning

Clause Provides Men Be Paid Extra For Officers' Work

Spokesmen for the Peterborough Firefighters Association, bargaining unit for fire department employees, told the board of works Thursday night that since November 21 there had been a change in the interpretation of their 1953 working contract with the city.

The change, they said, amounted to a failure on the part of the city to live up to the provisions of a clause in the contract which reads: "Any employee acting in the capacity of an officer, or any officer acting in the capacity higher than that for which he was hired and in which he normally serves, shall, when he is acting in such higher capacity or as an officer, for a minimum of one complete work shift, be paid for the higher rank or as an officer so long as he shall serve in that capacity."

Henry Nokes, past president of the association and spokesman for Tuesday night's delegation, charged that prior to November 21, when a first class fireman acted as a captain in charge of a pumper, he received a captain's pay for that work shift. As of November 21, a fireman in that situation was designated a senior fireman.

"There is no such thing a a senior fireman," Mr. Nokes said.

ONLY ONE PAID

In regard to an employee acting as an officer, only one member of the department had been paid as an officer, he said. This was when there was no chief and a captain acted as deputy-chief in the absence of the appointed deputy-chief. The association had complained about this earlier but the situation as it affected first class firemen acting as captains had arisen on November 21.

Ald. Harold Rehill, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, said the only time a fireman performed the duties of a captain was when he took out a truck to an actual fire. In such cases, the fireman wasn't acting as captain for the full shift, Ald. Rehill said.

"Isn't that quibbling?" Mr. Nokes asked.

"Not at all," Ald. Rehill said. "You're quibbling."

Mr. Nokes contended that from the time a fireman was put on a roster as being in charge of a truck, he was acting in the capacity of a captain. Until November 21 he had been paid as such.

WHY DISCONTINUE

"It don't understand why this was discontinued in November," Ald. Gordon Farquharson said. "Do assistant chiefs get paid the same as the chief when they're acting as chief?"

"No," Mr. Nokes said. "We think they should. We bargain for every employee except the chief; but it has been pointed out to us on several occasions that officers are appointed by council and not by the chief."

In answer to another question from Ald. Farquharson, Mr. Nokes admitted that when the fireman in charge of a truck came on duty he wasn't obliged to do anything other than his normal duties un-

AT THEIR FIRST MEETING in their new club rooms, at 408½ George St., members of the Peterborough branch of the Air Force Association heard Air Vice Marshall G. E. Brookes, national president of the Air Force Association speak about the role that air force associations can play in getting recruits for the RCAF. He is shown here talking with Peterborough president, Al Grant, left, and T. D. Plewman, vice-president, right. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Associations Should Help Recruiting For RCAF

The 86 RCAF Association wings in Canada should build much of their program around recruiting young men and women for the air force, Air Vice Marshal G. E. Brookes (retired) national president of the association said Tuesday.

AVM Brookes was speaking to nearly 100 former members of the Canadian and other Commonwealth air forces, as well as several former WD's at the association's first meeting in its new headquarters. The group is now meeting monthly in the third floor premises at 408½ George St. used by the air cadets.

Recruiting and counselling is a much-neglected aspect of the association's activities in some centres, said the speaker. Since Trenton is the nearest recruiting station to Peterborough, he thought much valuable work could be done by association members, advising young people who, may have considered an air force career but are not sure of enough of RCAF responsibilities or their own ambitions to make a proper choice.

In only two of the 86 wings, said AVM brookes, is counselling carried on as well as it might be. He paid tribute to the work of wings at Red Deer and Kingston, noting that association counselling of Red Deer young folk had brought 150 from the Alberta town into the RCAF.

FEW SPONSOR CADETS

Only 28 RCAF association wings are sponsoring air cadet squadrons, the speaker continued, although several more are assisting. The air vice marshal felt that to keep alive, the association must keep working on such projects as these.

One of the most important functions of the RCAF association is to boost morale of airmen overseas, and those far from home in Canada. The association has supplied NATO and other troops with books, hometown newspapers flown over 10 days late, stationery, bon voyage presents and bingo sets.

Many of the books donated have helped air force personnel to complete their education. Junior and senior matriculation courses have been passed, and some books in demand among RCAF units overseas have been "very heavy."

The aim of the RCAF association should not be primarily social, said AVM Brookes. "We can drink more comfortably in our homes but this association of air-force types is for work, not for play."

NEED MEMBERS

Membership is not what it should be said the speaker. In Toronto, for example, there are an estimated 30,000 former RCAF personnel but only two association wings. Similarly, there are probably many ex-airmen in Peterborough who have never been to an association meeting.

Greater membership would put the association in a healthier financial position and would allow adequate Canadian contributions to various overseas memorials for Allied personnel who have no known grave. The speaker did not feel that Canada is contributing enough.

AVM brookes was introduced by Ed Leadley and thanked by Frank Harvey and by wing president Al Grant.

Executive of the Peterborough wings is as follows: president, Al Grant; vice-presidents, Des Plewman and Al Adams; secretaries, Glen Grierson and Dave Rymer; treasurer, Reg Canden; directors, Herb Schacher, Joe Bencze, Frank Harvie, Ken Spencer, Ed Leadley, Cliff Scott.

Bef re and after Mr. Brookes' address a social evening was enjoyed Don Barrick was at the piano and food was served by members of the ladies' auxiliary.

President Grant announced that a dance organized by the ladies' auxiliary will be held at the new headquarters next Saturday at 8.30. It will be held in conjunction with the air cadet inspection at 7.15.

Harvey Wilson Named Principal Enlarged School

Harvey Wilson, 37-year-old vice-principal of Queen Mary school, will be the first principal of Queen Elizabeth school.

The appointment, made on the recommendation of K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, was approved Tuesday night by the board of education. Other staff changes will also go into effect this September.

With the additional rooms, Queen Elizabeth will now be big enough to warrant a principal.

Mr. Wilson was a pilot in the RCAF from 1941 to 1945. He joined the board of education staff in 1948 and at that time already had his BA and B. Paed. degrees.

He taught at Prince of Wales and became principal's assistant the next year. He was made vice-principal of Queen Alexandra in September 1952, and a year later was transferred to the same post at Queen Mary.

The new vice-principal at Queen Mary will be Clayton Bullock, transferred from King George school. Mr. Bullock came to the staff in 1940, teaching first at Prince of Wales and then at Central.

Mr. Bullock, now 41 years of age, became vice-principal of King George in 1948. He obtained his BA degree in 1951.

VICE PRINCIPAL

Clair Crown, 27, now principal's assistant, will be promoted to vice-principal of King George school replacing Mr. Bullock. Mr. Crown has been with the board for five years. He obtained his BA degree in 1951.

A re-organization is planned to look after the work of the principal's assistant.

Lloyd Corbett will be offered the post to divide his time (two half-days a week) among Central, King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Grove and Queen Elizabeth schools.

Confederation school will undergo an experiment. An extra teacher, Miss Joyce Abernethy, will join the staff, relieving the principal of part of his teaching duties. She will assist in clerical work, some remedial teaching and occasional supply work.

Following are placements of new teachers:

Cameron St, and May's, Miss Mary Curtis (kindergarten), King Edward, Miss June Buttars, King George, Misses Jean Rich and Joyce Campbell. Prince of Wales, Misses Lois McCulloch, Shirley Fox, Aubrey Hay, Mary McBride and Jacqueline Robertson, Queen Elizabeth, Misses Valerie DeCarrol, Dorothy Watson, Myrna Seymour, Pauline Rusaw and Isabel Connolly. (It is expected that there will be a half day class in both Queen Alexandra and Queen Elizabeth schools and Miss Connolly will look after both.) Queen Mary, Miss Marily Andrews, Supply, Misses Lois Jamieson and Mavis Sisson.

Transfers:

Mr. Murray from King George to Grove; Miss Jenkins from Prince of Wales to Parkhill; Miss Grills from May's and Cameron Street to Armour Heights (kindergarten); and Miss Goheen from Parkhill to Prince of Wales.

"It may be possible to make some exceptions for those living very close to Park St.," said Mr. Wightman.

Some Students Will Be Sent To Other Schools

A series of boundary changes that will result in a shifting of some pupils from one school to another was approved Tuesday night by the board of education.

Here are the proposed changes:

1. Between Queen Alexandra and Queen Elizabeth. Beginning at Fairbairn St., the boundary line will run east, south of Wolsely St. to Donegal St., down the centre of Donegal to Parkhill Rd. to Reid St., up the centre of Reid St. to Stewart St., north up the centre of Stewart to Aberdeen Ave. south of Aberdeen Ave. to Cluxton St., south of Cluxton to Nicholls St., east of Nicholls to Dumble Ave. and south of Dumble to Hilliard St.

"It is estimated that this will give Queen Elizabeth a population of 287 pupils, exclusive of kindergarten, said K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools. The 287 includes those already in the school together with transfers from Queen Alexandra and Parkhill."

2. Between Queen Alexandra and Central. The boundary line, beginning at Rubidge St., will run south of Dublin St. to George St., north up the centre of George to Edinburgh St. and east to the river, passing north of Edinburgh.

TWO REASONS

"There are two reasons for changing the boundary lines between these two schools," said Mr. Wightman. "One is to relieve overcrowding at Central and the other to reduce classes even further to the point where a room will be left on the ground floor which can be used by the Boys' Auxiliary class in place of their present unsatisfactory quarters.

"This will relieve Central of approximately 80 children".

3. Cameron Street school. Nine pupils who are passing into Grades 4 and 5 and who live west of St. Catharine St. will go to Grove school. Grade 5 pupils living east of St. Catharine St. will go to Confederation school.

4. Confederation and Grove Schools. Pupils in Grades 6, 7 and 8 living south of Braidwood St. and west of Park St. will go from Confederation school to Grove school.

Works Board Asks Planners Review River Bank Zoning

The board of works Tuesday night decided to ask the planning board to reconsider its recommendation to rezone part of the Otonabee river shoreline for agricultural use.

Last Thursday, in response to pleas from the Otonabee valley conservation committee, the planning board partially answered their plea to alter the heavy industrial zoning of the river banks by approving a 30-foot agricultural frontage in several sections on both sides of the river.

The agricultural strip would run from Wolfe St. north to the Hazlitt St. footbridge on the west bank of the river and from Parkhill Rd. north to the city limits on the east bank.

When the recommendation was read to the board of works Tuesday night, Ald. Stan McBride termed the 30 foot strip "nonsensical."

Ald. Alene Holt, herself a member of the planning board, said she thought they were remiss in not having asked either the industrial commissioner or the manufacturers' committee what possibility there would be of any new industries being located in the areas in question.

"I would say the possibility is very remote," said Acting Mayor John Dewart, chairman of the manufacturers' committee. "There was only one property that was ever considered to my knowledge. But that plant would have been well landscaped and have an attractive appearance. I don't see that the banks of the river are a major attraction to industry."

"The land in question is used by such industries as Quaker Oats, Dewart Milling, the CNR freight sheds and their trackage," said Ald. Harold Rehill, also a member of the planning board. "To zone their property for agricultural use would make them non-conforming users.

"I believe the conservation committee are also thinking of the Auburn power house. But there would be no point in trying to change the Ontario Hydro property. In East City, there is the Whitaker warehouse and the tracks the CNR use for storage. This is to be rezoned for light industry."

MAYBE WIDER

"Couldn't some consideration be given to widening the 30-foot strip, at least to make room for a roadway?" Ald. Gordon Powell asked.

"Some of that property is already zoned for agricultural use; we left it as it was," Ald. Rehill pointed out.

"Where is the conservation committee going to get the money to do all this beautification?" Ald. Holt asked.

"I imagine some of it will have to come from the parks committee," said Ald. Bob Knox, parks chairman. "I know these people are interested particularly in the area north of Inverlea."

"Does council wish to give the planning board any direction?" asked Ald. Rehill, after the motion to ask the planning board to reconsider its recommendation.

"I think in view of all the public comment, they might decide either to change their ruling or else give their reasons," Ald. Stan McBride suggested. "They may have very good reasons."

"I was wondering whether council wants this 30-foot limit extended any further onto private property." Ald. Rehill said.

"Maybe that would be working a hardship on the property owners," Ald. Gordon Farquharson suggested.

"I don't think anyone wants to impose a hardship on existing industries," Ald. Powell said. "But there are considerable stretches not occupied which could be a real asset if they were beautified."

"What is the benefit of a green strip if you have smoke stacks to the rear?" Ald. Holt asked.

"In some cases it will be of considerable benefit," Ald. Powell said, "particularly where there are piles of sawdust and scrap on the river bank."

"It's true that every property owner has the right to object to his zoning," Ald. Farquharson said. "But I think the planning board should bear in mind that the fewer the restrictions on property the better; we're already overgoverned."

"The conservation committee had no intention of making the land north of Inverlea bridge into a purely residential section," said Ald. Burrows, a member of the conservation committee. "I think they are objecting to the 30-foot strip . . . Do you feel you got any direction, Ald. Rehill?"

"None whatsoever."

Court Quashes Conviction Of Youth, 19

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Appeal Court Tuesday quashed the conviction against a 19-year-old youth and in the appeals of four other teen-agers the court granted a new trial to a boy of 16 and reduced the sentences of three other youths.

The one-year reformatory sentence received by James Ross Stevens, 19, on a charge of assault with intent to rob was quashed when the court ruled that Magistrate T. S. Elmore had erred in his approach to the case. The court described the youth's trial as "unsatisfactory."

A new trial was granted Larry Gibson, 16, of Kingston, who pleaded guilty last month to breaking into a tourist camp and was sentenced to six months in reformatory. Crown counsel W. B. Common conceded there should be a new trial.

SENTENCES TERMINATED

The court ordered the immediate termination of the sentences of two Sault Ste. Marie youths. They had served three months of their original sentences, which in the case of Gordon Delabbio, 18, was six months definite and nine months indeterminate and that of Mario Dettore, also 18, six months definite and six months indeterminate. They had pleaded guilty to theft of $320 worth of caulking lead from a hardware company at Sault Ste. Marie.

Arthur Maloney, their counsel, said neither youth had a criminal record and their action was foolish. Mr. Maloney said they had committed the theft to raise money to repair the car of Delabbio's father in the hope he wouldn't learn they had been involved in a minor accident.

The court reduced the sentence against Alec Trofomchuk, 19, who had been convicted of assault. His six months jail term was cut to three months and a $200 fine was wiped out.

Marks Jubilee

MONTREAL (CP) — Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger Tuesday celebrated pontifical mass at the Seminary of Montreal to mark the silver jubilee of his ordination.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, sunk, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day your food may not digest properly, gas bloats up your stomach and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever stay sunk. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand. Only 37c.

3 Little Girls Pull Alarm Box

Firemen are hoping the new alarm box at Inverlea Park is not going top prove too much of a temptation to youngsters.

The box was installed a couple of weeks ago at the request of the parks department as a substitute for the telephone in the bath house. It is for use in case of drowning accidents.

When the alarm was turned in shortly after 3 p.m. Tuesday, fire chief Bill Sorrie raced to the scene with rescue equipment, including the lifeboat, just in time to see two small girls hightailing it up the path along the river. One of the youngsters was 6 and the other 3.

A children's wooden play slide had been hauled into place below the box, which stands not quite five feet off the ground and was apparently out of reach of whoever pulled the alarm. The two young sprinters said neither one of them had performed the misdeed but admitted another little girl had been playing with them.

When the alarm was installed, it was understood the parks department was to erect a sign on the post above it, warning the public it was for use in case of drownings only. No sign was visible Tuesday afternoon.

7 Mounties Fired Pensions Restored

OTTAWA (CP)—Seven members of the RCMP discharged since 1949 for inefficiency or misconduct will have their pensions restored in part under retroactive legislation introduced Tuesday in the Commons.

The bill changes an RCMP pension plan, in effect since 1949, to allow a partial pension to be paid to members of the force discharged for inefficiency or misconduct.

Car Out Of Control Youth Killed, 2 Hurt

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A youth was killed and two companions were injured Tuesday night when their car went out of control on a nearby highway and crashed into a ditch.

Dead is Eugene Millben, 22, of Windsor. Injured are Robert Montgomery, 18, and Barbara Scott, 13.

Hospital officials said Miss Scott suffered minor head injuries and lacerations. Montgomery was treated for cuts and released.

Mason Arrives

STRATFORD (CP) — Actor James Mason arrived here from Hollywood Tuesday night to start rehearsals for the Stratford Shakespearian Festival, which opens June 28.

Plan Canadian Children Get Injections

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian children will be given injections of the polio vaccine that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis hopes will deal a death blow to the crippling disease.

In an announcement Tuesday the foundation, now testing the vaccine in the United States, said that extension of the tesest to Canada followed a request by Canadian public health officials.

The province of Alberta will make the vaccine available on a trial basis to all provincial health units.

The vaccine also will be used on 5,000 school children in Halifax.

"SLOW METHODS"

TORONTO (CP) — The deputy minister of health for Ontario, Dr. J. T. Phair, Tuesday criticized federal Health Minister Martin for "slow methods" in distributing a new polio vaccine throughout Canada.

Mr. Martin told the Commons Friday the vaccine has been offered to the 10 provinces for testing but only one province was giving consideration to accepting the offer. He did not name the province, but it was learned later the Alberta government is considering the offer.

The vaccine was obtained from the poliomyelitis foundation in the United States.

Dr. Phair said Ontario wasn't told how much vaccine would be available and "we're not going to accept an unknown quantity."

Sufficient vaccine to administer to 100,000 children would be required to determine its value, said Dr. Phair.

The new preparation, distinct from gamma globulin which gives only short-term protection, is said to immunize for a long period.

Three Women Forcibly Evicted

MONTREAL (CP) — Three women who hadn't left their flat in 11 months were evicted Tuesday after forcibly resisting a police invasion for more than an hour. They were taken to police headquarters "for their own protection."

Police said two bailiffs had a court order to evict the three sisters—Miss Georgette Robillard, 52, Miss Blanche Robillard, 46, and Mrs. Roland Proulx, 42.

The bailiffs said the eviction was obtained by the landlord, Philippe Dandurand, who wanted the women to leave because of complaints from neighbors.

Nearby residents said the women hadn't been outside the flat for 11 months. They received food and other necessities by means of a basket lowered on a rope from the rear balcony.

Proposes Meeting On Unemployment

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Clare Mapledoram, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Fort William, Tuesday proposed a meeting with Rev. Dan McIvor, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Fort William, and local officials to tackle the unemployment problem here.

Mr. Mapledoram said he is "disturbed" by the number of unemployed in the Fort William area.

"I'd like to see Mr. McIvor and myself, various representatives from industry, business and labor, and officials from outside the Lakehead, get together to see what can be done to solve this problem," he added.

Mr. Mapledoram said study should be given to a major public works and road construction program to provide work for many persons.

Trick Young Students Into Joining Reds

Editor's note: William L. Ryan of The Associated Press gives a peek at Communist guerrilla recruiting methods in this article. Ryan spent six weeks this spring surveying the political - military scene in Indo-China and nearby countries. He writes from the scene of the Geneva conference.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

GENEVA (AP) — Wong Fui-Foo's schoolmaster was a persuasive fellow. So, almost before he knew it, Wong became a Communist terrorist.

Wong's history is, in brief, the history of nine years of jungle warfare in Malaya, the story of Communist recruitment in Southeast Asia by persuasion, blackmail and kidnapping.

Wong, a young Malayan Chinese, was a bright student, the kind the Communists like to take over.

He lived in the Layang Layang area of Malaya. One day schoolmaster Ho Choong gave Wong a list of foodstuffs to buy at the village store. Wong carried out the errand. Five times more the same thing happened.

It became routine.

The sixth time, unsuspecting Wong was asked to place the food under a palm tree near the village road. Wong did so. Then schoolmaster Ho had him.

The police, Wong was told, suspected him of supplying food to a civilian Chinese organization supplying Red terrorists in the jungle. This was a serious offence. "Operation Kitchener," cracking down on the Red supply line, had reduced the terrorists in many areas to living on oil-palm nuts.

TOLD TO HIDE

The only thing Wong could do, Ho told him, was hide out. Wong believed it. He joined the Communists afield and remained with them until he was punished for shooting a wild boar while on sentry duty. Then he escaped and surrendered to the British-Malayan forces.

In Malay the Red terrorist movement is in deep trouble in its jungle fastnesses. As matters stand now, the Reds are also faring badly in Burma, a republic of 18,000,000 granted independence by Britain in 1947. In neighboring Thailand, the sturdily pro-western Siamese are cracking down on on Chinese elements suspect of fostering underground Red activities. But revolution marks time across the borders.

The outlawed domestic Reds are hanging on, waiting for a Communist victory in Indo-China. If that comes, a high British source told me, the Communists can be expected to step up the pressure of both their political and their shooting wars.

One of Burma's outstanding leaders expressed his deep worry that Indo-China meant "a progressive Communist encirclement of Burma." In Thailand, the government casts a wary eye at the 50,000 people of Viet Namese extraction inside Thai borders.

See 15% Hay Loss Due To Heavy Frost

TORONTO (CP) — Farmers in central Ontario may suffer a 10 to 15 per cent loss in hay crops because of two heavy frosts during the last week, the provincial department of agriculture said Tuesday.

A. H. Martin, director of the crops, seeds and weeds branch, said reports coming to his department indicate a reduced yield because of hard frost.

Loss may mount to $12,000,000, said Mr. Martin. "We hope it will be less."

The frost damage extended to Middlesex, Perth, Huron, Wellington and Grey counties and the Bruce peninsula.

Consider Danger Of Patents

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposed royal commission to study Canada's Patent Act will be asked to consider a danger that an unpatented private invention of a military nature could be made public and reach a potential enemy.

State Secretary Pickersgill made the announcement Tuesday in the Commons shortly before members passed a bill placing federal civil servants on an equal footing concerning rewards for inventions produced during government duties or employment. Such inventions become the property of the Crown, but the legislation does not cover inventions by federal employees in their own time.

He said the law provides that the commissioner of patents must scrutinize all applications for patents for private and crown-owned inventions. The government had given authority to keep them secret if they had military significance.

Fly To Hollywood

WINDSOR (CP)—Capt. J. Earl McQueen, whose tug Atomic won the international tugboat race on the Detroit river Saturday, will fly to Hollywood this week as a guest of television and motion picture executives. He and his wife have been invited to meet stars of the TV show "Waterfront" which is based on the story of a tugboat skipper and stars Preston Foster.

Cohn Has "Documentary Proof" Of Schine's Work

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy M. Cohn said today that he and Senator McCarthy will offer "documentary proof" that Pte. G. David Schine did a large amount of work for the Senate investigations subcommittee during time off from the army.

Cohn made the comment in advance of this 21st day of televised hearings into the dispute between the United States Army and the Wisconsin Republican senator.

The investigating senators have heard testimony that Schine received 16 passes, at the request of McCarthy and his aides who said he was needed for sub-committee business, during eight weeks of basic training after he was drafted last November, compared with no more than four for the average trainee.

An army effort to portray that graphically by means of charts brought vigorous protests from McCarthy and Cohn Tuesday. The senator said the charts were "completely dishonesty, phony" as the army had prepared them, and that the obvious purpose was to deceive TV viewers. Army officers disputed that.

McCarthy and Cohn, his subcommittee's chief counsel, have been charged by army officials with bringing improper pressure to bear to get favored army treatment for Schine, who was an unpaid sub-committee consultant before being drafted.

SIDETRACK INVESTIGATION

In turn, they have accused Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and army counsel John G. Adams of treating Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack the sub-committee's investigation of alleged Communists in the army. McCarthy has stepped off the sub-committee for this inquiry.

Cohn told reporters that he does not know if Schine will take the stand to describe under oath his activities on frequent absences from Fort Dix, N.J., after he was inducted Nov. 3.

"But we have documents — notes in his own handwriting — that will show he did extensive work on committee reports in that period," Cohn said. "We are prepared to prove that he was active on committee business while he was out on a pass."

Maj.-Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan, Fort Dix commander, testified Tuesday that his inspector-general had failed to find any evidence to back published reports that Schine visited night clubs while on a pass.

DENIED ADMITTANCE

In other army testimony, Col. Kenneth E. BeLieu, executive officer in Stevens' office, testified Cohn "blew his top" when he was denied admittance to a secret laboratory on a visit to Fort Monmouth, N.J., with Stevens and McCarthy and others Oct. 20.

BeLieu testified Cohn said in effect:

"This is it. This was with the army. I don't understand why you let Communists work in here and you won't let me in. I have been cleared for classified information. I have access to FBI files when I want them. You are doing this just to embarrass me. We will investigate the heck out of you."

McCarthy contended it was "a waste of time" to go over the incident because "it has nothing to do with the charges brought against us."

THE SURVIVORS—Three of the four survivors of a Navy P-5-M Marlin stand at the rail of the USS Radford as it anchors at Pearl Harbor. They were forced to ditch their plane in the sea 400 miles northeast of Honolulu. Four other crewmen were lost. Left to right: MM 1/C H. R. James; Ltd. J. A. Holmes and Lt. L. W. Reher, the pilot.

Stoney Creek's Water Supply May Be Threatened

HAMILTON (CP) — Stoney Creek's water supply will be threatened by pollution from industry if Hamilton annexes part of Saltfleet township and locates industry along the lakeshore, an Ontario municipal board hearing was told Tuesday.

T. H. Simpson, township solicitor said the Stoney Creek water works system is in the proposed annexation area and the water intake is located off shore.

The city has applied for annexation of 2,650 acres of Saltfleet township for industrial and residential expansion.

The application is being opposed by the village of Stoney Creek, Saltfleet township, Wentworth county and several independent groups and individual farmers in the proposed annexation district.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS JOSEPH WINN of Downeyville who were married in Douro on Saturday. The bride was formerly Miss Teresa B. Moher.
(Duke Studio Photo)

Winn-Moher Douro Rites

At St. Joseph's church in Douro on Saturday morning the nuptial mass was said for Teresa B. Moher and Francis Joseph Winn and their marriage performed by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy, rector, with the Rev. Father Cerrome and the Rev. Father Ives of Toronto present in the sanctuary.

During the ceremony Misses Margaret and Elizabeth Haller of Toronto, cousins of the bride, sang hymns and Mrs. V. Kennedy was at the organ.

The church was decorated with carnations and snapdragons in the pastel shades.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Moher of Douro and was given in marriage by her father. She wore a nylon gown of tulle over net over taffeta with skirt flowing into a slight train. The fitted bolero she wore was of French lace with long tight sleeves and a Queen Anne collar and there were inserts of matching lace in the full skirt. Hre fingertip veil of nylon tulle was caught to a sweet heart headdress and she was carrying a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Stephen Winn was her maid of honor and Mrs. K. Moher her bridesmaid. They were in floor-length gowns of blue and shrimp taffeta with the bodices adorned with hand-made roses. The matching boleros had fitted three-quarter sleeves and they wore matching headdresses. Each carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Flower girl Rosann Moher, a niece of the bride, was dressed in blue nylon sheer over taffeta trimmed with white lace and she carried red rosebuds.

The groom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winn of Downeyville, was attended by his brother, Mr Stephen Winn. The ushers were Frank Moher and Norman Winn brothers of the bride and groom.

Reception of guests took place at the Club Aragon with the bride's mother receiving, dressed in navy sheer and a navy straw hat and wearing a pink rose corsage. The groom's mother also wore navy sheer and had a white straw hat and corsage of yellow roses.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Detroit the bride chose a powder blue suit, a white hat trimmed with matching blue and navy accessories. When going away she was wearing a white gardenia corsage and she carried a beige topcoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn will live on the groom's farm near Downeyville.

Harding-Crowder Nuptials At S.A. Temple

The wedding took place at the Salvation Army Temple, on Saturday afternoon of Florence Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crowder - to Harold Thomas Harding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harding, all of Peterborough.

Major Horace Roberts performed the ceremony. Mrs. Gerald Routley was at the organ and Mrs. Ralph Braund was soloist. As the bride entered the temple she sang "The Wedding Hymn" and during signing of the register she sang "O Perfect Love."

The bridal gown was of white satin with overskirt of nylon net and the strapless bodice was topped by a lace jacket. Her fingertip veil was caught to a small lace cap and she was carrying a bouquet of red roses. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Douglas Roy whose gown was of green taffeta with a lace peplum and the strapless bodice covered by a matching lace jacket. She wore a small white hat trimmed with green and white flowers and was carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Howard Bradley attended the groom and the ushers were Paul Harding brother of the groom and Mark Bozac.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Roy at RR 2, Peterborough. The bride's mother received with the wedding party, wearing a navy crepe dress and matching hat. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was dressed in grey. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom left to spend a honeymoon at Niagara Falls and in United States, the bride travelling in a beige corded suit and matching hat and accessories.

They will live at 61 Edgewater Boulevard on return.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD HARDING, the bride formerly Miss Florence Crowder, were married on Saturday at the Salvation Army Temple. (Duke Studio Photo)

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT C. CORNER, who will live in Napanee, were married on Saturday at the Park Street Baptist church. The bride is the former Miss Betty Jean Daniels. (Choate Studio Photo)

Corner-Daniels Wedding

In a lovely floral setting in the Park Street Baptist church on Saturday afternoon, Betty Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Daniels, became the bride of Robert Craig Corner, son of Mrs. Wm. Corner and the late Mr. Corner, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. Alba S. Roblin performed the marriage and wedding music was played by Mr. Adam Hawley, church organist. Mr. Ken Groves of Belleville was soloist and sang "The Love of God" during the signing of the register.

Gladiolas, carnations and white snapdragons decorated the church, with ferns banking the altar

The bride's gown was fashioned with three layers of net over satin in the skirt and the strapless bodice of satin. She wore a redingote which fell away to a long flowing train, made of imported French Chantilly lace, was finished with a Queen Anne collar embroidered with sequins. She chose a coronation fingertip veil and close-fitting headpiece of lace covered with seed pearls, and her white Bible was covered with pink Demure roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Patsy Daniels, as maid of honor and the groom's sister Miss Ann Corner as bridesmaid. Rosie Daniels, small sister of the bride, was the flower girl.

The attendants both wore gowns of powder blue net over taffeta and boleros and close-fitting headdresses in the same shade, and the flower girl was dressed in pink organdie over taffeta and wore a matching bonnet and gloves. Each carried an old-fashioned colonial bouquet.

Mrs. William Corner was his brother's groomsman. The ushers were the bride's brother Junior Daniels and Ralph Bigelow.

At the reception following, in the church parlour, the bride's mother received in a suit in dusty rose shade and wore a navy hat and accessories and corsage of gloria yellow roses. The groom's mother was wearing a cocoa brown dress and small flowered hat and had a corsage of white shasta 'mums.

Guests were present from Buffalo, Orillia, Hastings, Belleville, Toronto, Lakehurst, Trenton and Lakefield.

When leaving later on a wedding trip to points in United States the bride was wearing a grey suit with pink and navy accessories and had a corsage of white sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Corner will live in Napanee.

Charlene Hartnett Bride Of Elmer Gosselin

St. Peter's cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday morning when Charlene Hartnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartnett, became the bride of Elmer Gosselin, son of Mrs. Thomas Gosselin and the late Mr. Gosselin, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. J. Coughlin said the nuptial mass and performed the ceremony.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of white eyelet organdie over blue taffeta with white pillbox hat. She carried a prayer book corsage of white orchids and lily of the valley. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by Miss Pauline Minicola who wore a similar dress of blue eyelet organdie over blue taffeta and white pillbox hat. She carried a nosegay of roses and carnations.

Mr. Francis Farley attended the groom and ushers were Ralph Hartnett, brother of the bride, and Larry Walsh.

The reception was held at Assumption Hall in Otonabee. The bride's mother received in a grey suit and was wearing pink and navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue dress with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For a wedding trip to Buffalo the bride donned a turquoise blue suit and white accessories and wore a white orchid corsage.

They will live at 128 Sutherland street on return.

"Awards Nights" In YWCA Swim Dept.

Tonight and Thursday are "award night" in the swimming department at the YWCA and director Miss Roselyn Stone invites parents and friends to come and see what her swimmers can do.

Children eight years old and under will perform tonight, playing games in the water and also competing for two cups. The Tiny Tot cup goes to the winner in the class for seven years and under and the Baby cup to winner in the eight and nine year group.

The cups are awarded for the most points under five headings: style, stunts, dives, water safety work and endurance.

So many are competing for the Junior, Intermediate and Senior cups, to be awarded on Thursday three classes were held Tuesday.

Some Red Cross awards are to be presented to the youngsters tonight and on Thursday evening there will be a number of awards presented, including Royal Life Saving awards to handicapped swimmers, YMCA and Red Cross awards.

Special races, games and a routine will be presented for the Thursday audience by the young swimmers of age nine and up.

RCAF Ladies' Aux. Plans Events

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the R.C.A.F. Association Wing 428 held their last business meetings of the season with president, Mrs. Allan Adams in the chair. A $10. donation was voted to be sent to the committee working for the retarded children in the district. It was decided that for the future a special evening would be planned when all the proceeds would be divided and given to charitable organizations. Mrs. Iva Scott announced plans for the serving of lunch to the Wing Members at their meeting last evening when Air Vice Marshall G. E. Brookes was speaker.

Mrs. Don Johnston of the entertainment committee reported plans under way for the "Wing Fling" to be held this Saturday, May 29th, when the Auxiliary is playing hostess to the Wing Members and the Inspecting Officers for the cadet inspection being held at 7.30 the same evening. A dance is planned to start at 9 p.m. with cards, darts, ping pong and a luncheon served. The tickets are to be limited to 50 couples.

Mrs. Eleanor Gerow of the handicraft committee handed out more sewing to be completed during the summer months in readiness for the night tea and bazaar to be held on the 5th of November. Mrs. Gerow also reported the quilt, to be raffled, was now about ready. Mrs. Shirley Grierson undertook to be ticket convener for this raffle.

A nominating committee was formed, Mrs. Margaret Dougherty, chairman, with Mrs. Vivian Hawe, and Mrs. Don Johnston committee members, to bring in a slate of officers for the first meeting in the fall, 23rd September.

Mrs. Adams thanked the ladies for their help on Air Cadet Tag Day.

The meeting closed with a social hour and lunch was served by Mrs. Blaby and her committee.

Rendell-Tweedie

STIRLING (ENS) — Tall standards of pink and white carnations and tulips formed the setting in Beulah United Church, Ivanhoe, last Wednesday noon when the Rev. J. Glover, assisted by the Rev. Allan Borland of Bancroft, united in marriage Doris Vivian Tweedie to Edmund Gaynor Rendell, of Deseronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rendell.

Mrs. Arnold Creaser, of Hillside, sister of the bride played the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. J. Glover, who sang "I Pass This Way But Once."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon taffeta trimmed with pink rose buds. Her three quarter length veil of tulle illusion fell gracefully from a seed pearl coronet and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white gypsophelia.

Her only attendant was Miss Mary Rendell, sister of the groom, who was gowned in yellow net over taffeta, ballerina length. She wore a matching headdress and carried a crescent shaped spray of mauve chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ross Tweedie attended the groom and Arnold Creaser of Hillside and Walter Elliott of Campbellford were ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, her mother receiving in a navy sheer dress with white accessories and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was attired in navy sheer with white accessories and a similiar corsage.

For travelling to points in Eastern Ontario the bride wore a grey two-piece dress and gold, shortie coat with navy accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

They will live in Deseronto on return.

Wedding guests were from Huntsville, Fenelon Falls, Peterborough, Campbellford, Deseronto, Madoc and Bancroft.

Church Needing More Workers

TORONTO (CP)—More workers are needed for church activities, the 28th annual meeting of the Dominion board of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada was told Tuesday.

The presidential address of Mrs. John McKillop was read by Mrs. A. A. Gutram. She said additional workers are needed in areas of Canada not served by churches, as well as in hospitals, Indian work and in activities to help the lonely and elderly.

She added that in Korea, Africa, India and Japan, residents are yearning for a better life but are exposed more to Western materialism than to Christianity.

Observe "Citizen's Day"

St. Peter's subdivision of the Catholic Women's League celebrated Citizens' Day, by having the film, "The Opening of Parliament", shown at the social centre on Sunday evening. The Rev. Gerard Sullivan gave an illuminating talk on the duties and responsibilities of good citizenship, showing the co-relationship which exists between the duty to God and the duty to Country, which was expounded when the Lord commanded: "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." The speaker remarked that it is traditional that the countries most devoted to religion, show the greatest allegiance to their rulers, as they realize that all power comes from God. "We are one of the favored nations, whose Queen, in her coronation ceremony, repeated that she would rule by the grace of God," he said. Father Sullivan said in closing that as CWL is a society devoted to charity, he would like to mention two, in his opinion, great needs—the Blood Donors, and the elimination of crime comics and immoral literature. Mrs. F. Guilfoyle, president, thanked Father Sullivan. A pleasant social evening was afterward enjoyed.

DOROTHY DIX:

In-Laws Will Not Forgive Young Wife Over Silly Spat

DEAR MISS DIX: When I was 20, I was left a widow with a six-month-old son. Five years later I married a man who has been wonderful to me and the boy. At first we believed we wouldn't have children of our own, but after six years, we do have a beautiful daughter, born two months ago. Our trouble is that my in-laws won't come to see the baby, and the situation is hurting my husband. A few years back I had an argument with a sister-in-law. It was a silly quarrel. I apologized, but have never been accepted by the family since. My husband goes to see his people, but they completely ignore me and the children. I hate family disagreements like this, especially when there's no sound foundation for them. How can I patch things up? Should I go over to call on them? Telephone and ask them over? What?

P. A.

ANSWER: Clinging to small grudges is childish and petty; I can never understand the reasoning behind it. Selfishness, vanity, grim determination never to admit a wrong, smug conviction in one's own righteousness, all play a part—but the result still adds up to bad manners, spiked with ignorance.

There are very, very few relationships that, at one time or other, aren't marred with differences of opinion; if they were all allowed to assume the proportions of "I won't speak to her again," figure how many persons would not be on speaking terms.

OVERTURES ADVISED

Since you seem to be more understanding than anyone else in the family, and are most anxious to have everyone on friendly terms again, why not make one more overture to the folks? Ask them all over to tea, or supper, to see the baby, extending the invitation with sincere friendliness. Write a separate note to each member, or each separate unit of the family, omitting any reference to the past. Perhaps they are anxious, too, for harmony and just don't know how to go about attaining it. I hope you mend the rift that present happiness won't be marred by continued family dissension.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Because I can't dance well I decline invitations to parties. I would give anything to learn to dance like my friends. Do you know of any dancing school that affords dormitory life? I intend to spend the next year doing graduate work either in Philadelphia or New York.

G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You'll certainly have no difficulty learning to dance in either of those cities. The famous dance studios in both cities are proficient in making good dancers of people who always considered themselves too awkward to trip the light fantastic. However, to the best of my knowledge there is no dancing school with dormitories. Your best arrangement would be to live at the university where you'll do your graduate work and take dancing lessons on the side.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My father won't work, although mother and I have tried our best to make him get a job. There are eight in the family, and it's all Mom and I can do to support them. I left home once and my father got a job, but as soon as I came back he "retired" again. I'm 17.

Flossie

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's certainly regrettable that a 17-year-old girl must leave home to make her father assume his responsibilities. A little firmness from your mother might accomplish the same purpose. Apparently, you are faced with the choice of remaining home to support the other children, or getting out and letting dad do the supporing. For the next year, I think you're better off at home, regardless of circumstances. After that, a try on your own might help everyone.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special Banquet Menu

There are an increasing number of requests for menus and amounts for serving large groups.

You all know that I shy away from showing the slightest trace of impatience with any of our readers, but would you mind if I asked you to clip these large amount topics?—that is especially if you are a social convenor or president of a group or mother of a bride-to-be?

To be fair to the majority of readers I should not feature quantity recipes too often and would be grateful for your co-operation in clipping the columns that you just might need for reference in the future.

LETTER:

Could you give me any good suggestions for a Mother and Daughter banquet, menu suggestions? . . . our (middle-age group) Sunday School class has been asked to cater for the banquet, price $1.00 per plate. . . would like to serve a delightful meal that would appeal to the eye as well as the palate. . . about 80 people. . . I am puzzled about what to serve for dessert. Would appreciate suggestions for a wedding too to be served to 100 guests at $1.25 per late. We have been serving hot chicken patties, escalloped potatoes, salad, relishes, rolls, angel cake and ice cream, fancy cookies wedding cake punch tea. . . what is proper procedure in serving guests—bride first of course, and from there what is the proper order? Where could I get the information necesary. . .

Mrs. G. E. P.

ANSWER: My chief concern is over the cost of the meal. At $1.00 per plate you will have to be careful or you will have very little profit. With that cautionary idea in mind I have chosen this menu:

Escalloped Salmon (or tuna)
Tomato jelly Salads
Southern Cornbread
Carrot and Celery Sticks
Chocolate Cake with Ice Cream or Whipped Cream Topping Tea

ESCALLOPED SALMON (or tuna) (amounts serve 50)

Ten 1-lb. cans salmon, 12 cups broken fresh or day-old bread, 16 cups whole milk, 4 bay leaves, 1½ cups margarine, 2¾ cups flour, ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespons salt, 1 cup buttered crumbs. Mix salmon with broken bread. Add bay leaves to milk and scald in double boiler. Remove bay leaves. Melt margarine, stir in flour, and stir in scalded milk until thick. Add salt and paprika and cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, for 15 minutes. Combine sauce with salmon and pour into greased pans. Sprinkle top with buttered crumbs. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 30 minutes or until nicely browned.

TOMATO JELLY SALAD

(amounts serve 50)

Five cups canned condensed tomato soup, 2 cups cold water, 6 tablespons plain gelatin, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups lemon juice, lettuce, mayonnaise. Heat tomato soup to boiling. Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Mix softened gelatin with hot soup, stirring until dissolved. Add salt and lemon juice. Pour into shallow oblong pans. Chill until firm (overnight preferably). Cut into 50 squares or diamonds, serve on crisp lettuce cups with mayonnaise. (This could be garnished with the celery and carrot sticks.)

SOUTHERN CORNBREAD

(amount serve 50)

Stir flour and measure 8 cups and sift it with ½ cup sugar, ¾ cup baking powder, 4 tablespoons salt. Stir in 6 beaten eggs. Dissolve 1½ tablespoons soda in 6 cups butter milk, and stir it and 1 cup melted shortening in, then 3½ cups cornmeal. Beat thoroughly. Bake in hot greased shallow pans at 425 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes. Cut into 50 squares and serve hot.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

(Amounts serve 50)

Cream 1 cup shortening with 6 cups sugar, then beat in 9 egg yolks well. Stir flour and measure 8 cups and sift it with 2½ teaspoons salt and 4 tablespoons baking powder and add alternately with 2 cups milk to first mixture. Add 9 ounces unsweetened melted chocolate and 1 tablespoon vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Pour into greased shallow pans and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 or 30 minutes.

Third Man Faces Hearing In Theft Charge

Preliminary hearing for John Randolph Brown, third man charged in connection with the the breaking, entering and theft at Canadian Corporation Tire Store in which a safe containing $422 was taken December 30, began Tuesday. Raymond McCaskie, 27, was previously committed to trial and his brother, Walter, 26, dismissed.

An expensive brown shoe was the main object of concern in the initial hearing; it was discovered in a closet at Brown's home by detective Doug Farthing, January 2. The shoe has been described as fitting one of the two rubbers found behind the Canadian Tire Store after the breakin.

Mrs. Doreen Nisbett, who served as a clerk in the Kent Shoe Store until a few years ago, identified a salescard showing that Brown had purchased a pair of shoes similar to the one found in his home by detective Farthing on October 1, 1949. The card, however, did not specifically identify the shoe as the one purchased by Brown, but the size, last, and width were identical.

NOT SURE

Defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair asked Mrs. Nisbett if she could identify the shoe on exhibit as the one sold to Mr. Brown.

"Well, after all, its six years ago . . . I don't think anyone could remember someone that long. No I couldn't say that was the same shoe."

Mrs. Nisbett said she couldn't tell the age of the shoe, or who, in particular, bought it. Donald Rawlins, manager of the Kent shoe store corroborated Mrs. Nisbett's statement that the shoe couldn't be identified by the sales-card.

Jack Whelan, postmaster at Birdsall, said he had seen Brown in the Birdsall district "sometime in 1949 or '50." He had come to sign for some mail.

The case was adjourned until May 31.

MISS JOAN MARIE LANG received her Bachelor of Arts degree at the convocation of Queen's University. She has taken a position with the Bell Telephone Company at Ottawa and will leave on Saturday after spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Lang, 201 Barnardo Avenue.

KATHRYN HARPER, 10 won third place in the piano solo class, (10 years and under), with a mark of 85. Kathryn, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Harper, attends Coldsprings school, and is a music pupil of Mrs. Seymour-Taylor, Cobourg.

Sues For $10,639 After Wife Killed By Car

Stephen Bruce Dunford, Douro township farmer, is suing two Toronto men for $10,639 in a Supreme Court action brought about by the death of his wife when struck by a car on August 20, 1952.

His wife, 56-year-old Verna Dunford, was clipped by a car as she crossed Highway 28, a mile and a half north of Lakefield.

Though her arm was looped through her husband's, she was a pace behind him. The car grazed his leg but caught her a fatal blow.

Twelve hours later she died in Civic Hospital. Cause of death, said Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton, was hemorrhage and shock. Her injuries included broken ankles, a broken left leg below the knee, and a broken left hipbone.

An unusually tragic feature of the accident was that Mr. and Mrs. Dunford had only a few hours before seen their son Charles married in Lakefield United church. They returned to do some chores after the ceremony and shortly before 8 p.m. another son, James, drove them to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Graham, who lived north of Lakefield.

Mr. Dunford said they waited for their son to drive away in his car; then they started across the highway, intending to enter the Graham laneway. At this point the highway runs east and west and the Dunfords were walking from the north to the south side.

"I took a look to the east and then the west," he said, and saw nothing coming. There was a car a considerable distance away . . . 150 or 175 yards. We started across the road and felt perfectly safe.

"As I was stepping off the travelled portion of the highway . . . I felt a 'click' at my heels . . . I felt my wife pulled away from me. She was thrown in a heap on the shoulder of the road.

"I went to her. She was lying face downward. She was unconscious and her face was bleeding."

He accompanied his wife to Civic Hospital and she died at 8:05 a.m. next day.

Mr. Dunford said he heard the squeal of brakes before his wife was hit.

Since then, his daughter, Marie, now 18, has kept house for him. He said he pays her $50 a month for her services, plus board.

His suit against 39-year-old William Duane, driver of the car, and Alexander Reid, owner, was brought under the Fatal Accidents Act. The act permits damages for the money loss suffered by Mr. Dunford through the death of his wife.

Decision in the case was reserved.

LITTLE PRINCESS ANNE makes a delightful picture here with her mother, Queen Elizameth, as the Royal tot held one hand up in royal gesture duplicating that of her mother, and with the other, little girl fashion she plays peek-a-boo with the photographer. The picture was made as the Royal Family left by car on their way to Scotland for a brief holiday.

Kitchener Girl, Only Canadian Under Sadler Wells Contract

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Arnott Mader, 24-year-old dancer from Kitchener, Ont., is the only Canadian now under contract with Britain's premier ballet company, Sadler's Wells.

Since August, 1952, the slim, dark-haired Canadian has been a member of the corps de ballet at Covent Garden, theatre headquarters of Sadler's Wells. His stage work includes such exciting moments as giving a shoulder lift to Margot Fonteyn, regarded as Britain's leading ballerina, in the ballet "Daphnes and Chloe." Mader plays the god Pan.

So far, he has not graduated from the corps de ballet but still gets a kick out of twirling a premier ballerina or leading her from one part of the stage to the other.

In the royal ballet performance at Covent Garden earlier this year, attended by Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, Mader was one of the male attendants to Margot Fonteyn, queen of air in "Homage to the Queen." In the same show he was a peasant in "Coppelia."

BIGGEST PART

Mader's biggest part with the Covent Garden ballet company is the mime role of Von Rothbart, the wicked magician, in "Le Lac des Cygnes."

Mader figures that for real ballet experience, London is the place. "All the top ballets of the world come through London sometime," he said. "You can study techniques from many countries."

Although London wages are low compared with Canada, Mader figures he can get along all right with £8 10s a week for 52 weeks. The fact that Sadler's Wells pays for the full year, including holidays, is a point to be considered in the entertainment field.

Mader came to Britain in November, 1950, on a fees scholarship to the Sadler's Wells school of ballet. Later he spent a year as principal dancer in Ivor Novello's "King's Rhapsody" and a year with the Sadler's Wells Theatre Ballet brought him a seven-month tour of Canada and the United States in 1951-1952. He followed this last September with a 20-week Canadian-American tour with the Covent Garden company.

When the present ballet season ends in June, Mader goes for a four-week holiday in Austria before rehearsing in "Fire Bird," to be presented at the Edinburgh Festival.

75 Firefighters Battle Forest Blaze

GRACEFIELD, Que. (CP) — About 75 district firefighters today are attempting to gain control of a wind-driven forest fire in the mountainous area just north of this village 59 miles north of Ottawa.

Latest reports said the fire covered two square miles of bushland between Cayamant and Blue Sea lake roads.

Origin of the fire has not yet been determined.

West Winning Malaya Struggle

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters)—Gen. Sir Gerald Templer today said the West is winning its struggle with the Kremlin for control of Malaya, which lies across the Malaya straits from Indo-China.

The morale of Communist guerrilla leaders has slumped in the last year and their fight now is "for bare survival," the outgoing British high commissioner said in a farewell press conference here.

The hard-hitting general, leaving Malaya to take over command of British forces in West Germany, said British forces have inflicted severe losses on Communist bands during 1953 and early this year, and the terrorists have fallen back deep into the jungle.

But, he warned, the Communists may have become less aggressive because they are standing by for new orders from Moscow, where Soviet leaders are keeping a close eye on the changing Western attitude toward southeast Asia.

Nurse Writes Letter To Thank Ho

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Nurse Genevieve de Galard Terraube wrote a letter thanking the Indo-China Vietminh leader, Ho Chi-minh, for his "clemency" and the "selfless devotion" of the Communist-led rebels' medical service before she left Dien Bien Phu, the Vietminh radio said today.

According to the radio, the French nurse, who was released Monday after 57 days as the only woman in the fallen fortress, wrote "Thanks to you, Mr. President, and to the Viet Namese women who made a request to you in my favor, I will soon go back to my family and motherland.

"I therefore whole - heartedly wish that peace will soon be re-established in Viet Nam so that all men, women and children in your country may also feel the same joy and live a happy and peaceful life."

Fined For Fighting

Cecil Crumb, 24, of 351 Charlotte St., and Kenneth Slute, 27, of 137 Rubidge St., paid total fines of $62.50 in magistrate's court, Tuesday, for creating a disturbance at the Brookside pavilion May 23.

Investigating officer, OPP Donald Lacombe, said he was called to the pavilion twice the same evening because of the disturbance the two men were making.

The first time they were warned to quiet down, but the second time they were busy kicking signs, cursing, and fighting, so they were brought to town in the police cruiser.

Crumb was fined $10 and $2.50 costs each for disturbing the peace, illegal possession of liquor and drunkenness in a public place. Slute was excluded from the illegal possession charge.

Greece, Turkey Get Jets From Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will supply Greece and Turkey with $16,000,000 worth of Sabre jet fighters—27 for each—under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's mutual aid agreement, the defence department said today.

The RCAF now is replacing its 300 Sabres in Europe with new Mark V Sabres equipped with Canadian Orenda engines. The replacements are being flown from Montreal to Eruope.

Some of the Sabres replaced will be placed in reserve. The others, after overhaul, will be made available to other NATO nations. A spare engine and other parts will accompany each plane.

Study Group

The women's Study Group on Civic Affairs met in the committee room at City Hall Tuesday evening, president Mrs. T. J. Carley presiding.

A good report on work to date was given by a member of the Otonabee Valley Conservation committee.

Brief discussion of the efforts to obtain a Union Station in this city took place.

Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH, gave an informative and instructive talk on the work and problems of the health department and public nursing service.

Reports on the May City Council meetings were given by Mrs. V. R. Henry and Mrs. E. J. Macdonald and the Board of Education meeting was reported by Miss Margaret Lees.

Princess Wins Puzzle Prize

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret has won a prize of three guineas worth of books in a magazine crossword puzzle competition here.

She solved such tricky clues as "He may make us rush in the army," "Bell ringer sounds an awkward fellow" and "Fawn in the company of returning not well received."

But the answers will not be known until the society magazine, Country Life, comes out Thursday with the correct solution and the formal announcement that "HRH Princess Margaret, Clarence House" is the winner.

When the Princess' entry was received, the editor in charge of the contest suspected a practical joke. He checked with officials of the royal household, who assured him that the Queen's 23-year-old sister had sent in the entry.

Wins Scholarship

STIRLING (ENS) — George R. Post, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Post, Gore St., was among the prize winners for the current year at Queen's University. He won the St. Andrew's exchange scholarship for the 1954-55 session. He is a graduate of Stirling High School

TAKE FIRST RIDE ON "SPEEDWALK"—The new one-piece passenger conveyor belt at the Jersey City, N.J., tube station of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad is put into operation. The Goodyear Rubber Company belt can carry 10,000 passengers an hour up a 227-foot-long, 10-degree rise, ramp. Riding the belt are (left to right): Jersey City's Mayor Bernard J. Berry; William Reid, president of the H & M; and E. J. Thomas, president of Goodyear. This is the first such equipment to be operated in the United States.

Firemen Claim

less there was an actual fire, although he occasionally gave lectures.

"We are protesting to some extent the summary manner in which this practice was abandoned," Mr. Nokes said. "There wasn't a letter addressed to us. It was merely posted on the bulletin board."

"Who appoints a senior captain to the post of assistant chief?" Ald. Rehill asked. "Does he appoint himself?"

"When the chief says he's not on call, it's understood the senior captain is in charge," Capt. George Gimblett said.

"That's not exactly true," Ald. Rehill said. "When the chief is in town, he's still on call."

"Surely there's more to being chief than simply being in charge of the fire hall," Ald. Farqusharson said.

"No; that's just our point." Mr. Nokes argued. "He takes over all the chief's duties."

"Just his duties at the hall." Ald. Farquharson persisted. "The chief's duties aren't limited to that."

"At one point the assistant chief did the duties of a chief for a long period," Mr. Nokes said.

"That was prior to the 1953 agreement," Ald. Rehill pointed out.

"Would you be satisfied if a first class fireman in charge of a truck was paid as a captain only when in fact he did go to an actual fire?" Ald. Farquharson asked.

"It hasn't been given any thought but it's worth considering," Mr. Nokes said.

"He'd be paid 99 times out of 100," Capt. Gimblett said. "We go out on the average of a least one call a shift."

"Did you include in your submission during last year's negotions a request to have so many officers on duty at all times and did the city council turn that request down?" city clerk E. A. Outram asked.

"I believe that's correct," Mr. Nokes said.

"It has been recommended that each piece of apparatus should have an officer in charge," Capt. Gimblett said.

"I'd like to point out, especially to new council members, that this isn't just a matter of how much we're going to pay." Ald. Rehill said. "It's a matter of the interpretation of this clause and the administration of the department. My feeling is that a fireman is only acting as an officer when he's appointed by council."

"We feel much the same as you do." Mr. Nokes said. "On our part, it's a matter of upholding the agreement."

"Where did this difference of interpretation occur?" Ald. Art Burrows asked. "Was it the council, the committee, the chief or who?"

"We're not prepared to say that," Mr. Nokes replied.

"We had nothing to do with this clause," it was pointed out, "The council drew it up."

"Is this a standard clause in contracts?" Acting Mayor John Dewart asked.

"I wouldn't say it's standard; there are several," Mr. Nokes said. "The intention is to compensate in some way when there is a shortage of officers."

"The chief claims they are not acting as captains when they are sent out on service calls, such as flooded oil burners, rubbish fires, chimney fires and grass fires." Ald. Rehill said.

"Isn't that fair argument?" Ald. Burrows asked.

"When you receive a chimney fire alarm, you don't know what it's going to be," Capt. Gimblett said. "The first few minutes of a fire are often the most critical."

Following the meeting with the delegation, council decided to call a special meeing to discuss the matter.

Representing the firefighters association besides Mr. Nokes and Capt. Gimblett were Jack Pruner, prsident, Edward Hynes, vice-president, and William Torrance, secretary.

Find Remains of 7 Cultures in Mexico Cave

MEXICAN EXPLORERS—Spotted jaguar skin, an unusual souvenir obtained during an anthropological expedition to Mexico, is examined by Dr. R. S. MacNeish, of Ottawa, and his wife, June. Dr. MacNeish brought the skin back with him from Mexico. The jaguar was shot by a guide. Both Dr. MacNeish and his wife are anthropologists. —(CP Photo).

OTTAWA (CP)—About the time of the birth of Christ Indians in the northern Mexican state of Tamaulipas were growing tobacco and smoking cigarets with filter tips.

This is one of the conclusions of an Ottawa husband-and-wife team who recently returned from Mexico with what is believed to be the most extensive mass of material ever found relating to the history of agriculture on this continent.

Dr. R. S. MacNeish, a Victoria Memorial Museum anthropologist, and his wife, June, who is an M.A. of the University of Chicago, and lectures at Carleton College here on anthropology, made fruitful excavations.

SEVEN CULTURES

Their main discoveries were made in one cave in which were the remains of seven cultures, groups of people who followed one another in chronological sequence and who lived in different ways.

Vegetable specimens were found mingled with pottery fragments, pieces of baskets, mats, ruins of dwellings and skeletons. By studying such fragments, anthropologists can form fairly complete pictures of how the people who left them lived.

Dr. MacNeish, also a graduate of the University of Chicago, said the earliest group which lived in the cave gathered wild plants.

The second group brought beans and squash under cultivation and the third group, a sort of wild grass which "could be" an ancestor of our present-day corn. The fourth cross-bred the corn and produced two varieties not dissimilar to types now grown in Mexico.

FIBRE FILTERS

One of the later groups grew tobacco and smoked it in tubes made of cut cane. Into some of the canes they introduced vegetable fibres, apparently to act as filters.

Dr. MacNeish, for the present, is hesitant about dating the cultures, because further investigation is needed before anything definite is known.

He said they would be similar to those revealed by excavations he made in 1948 and 1949 about 159 miles from the spot. One cave discovered at that time contained traces of eight cultures dating back about 10,000 years.

Accidental War Dangerous To Soviet—Montgomery

PARIS (CP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, deputy supreme commander in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, says an "accidental" war would be more dangerous to the Soviet Union than to the free world.

The British NATO commander Monday told reporters accredited to Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe that in case of a war caused by unexpected errors in politics or calculation Russia would need a long time to assemble its forces for a damaging attack on the free world. In the meantime, the West's air power would have inflicted severe damage on the Soviet bloc.

Despite new super-weapons, sea power remained a vital factor in Western defence. Control of the Atlantic sea lanes was essential.

Montgomery said he believes both sides would use atomic weapons.

But "we must not make the error of employing the weapons of today or of the future under the tactics of a previous war."

FORMER RUSSIAN AGENT TESTIFIES — Nikolai Khokhlov, former Russian secret police agent, holds a photo of his wife, Yanina, as he appears before the U.S. Senate internal security committee in Washington. He appealed to the American people for help in saving his wife and young son, who are still in Moscow.

Didn't Hear Stevens Ask Schine To Pose

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj.Gen. Cornelius Ryan testified Tuesday he did not hear Army Secretary Robert Stevens ask Pte. G. David Schine to pose with him for a photograph.

Ryan said he was with Stevens every moment the army secretary was at McGuire air force base, N. J., last Nov. 17. It was during this visit that a photograph was made which became the famous "cropped" picture of the McCarthy-army hearings.

As introduced by the McCarthy camp, it showed Stevens and Schine alone, standing before an airplane. The McCarthy camp contended Stevens had asked Schine to pose with him. Stevens said he didn't recall it.

It developed later that the print was made from a more extensive negative showing also an air force colonel. Army counsel Joseph N. Welch denounced the cropped print as "shameful" and "doctored."

Ryan was on the witness stand on the 20th day of the McCarthy-army hearings, to tell what he knew about the army's charges that McCarthy and his aides brought improper pressure for favors for Schine.

Ryan commands Ft. Dix, N. J., where Schine, former consultant to the McCarthy sub-committee, was sent for basic army training.

FINALLY STOPPED PASSES

Ryan said no preferential treatment was given Schine at Ft. Dix except on representations from the McCarthy sub-committee that Schine was needed to help with sub-committee work. Ryan said Schine got many more passes than the average draftee.

Ryan said he had orders from Stevens to make Schine available to the McCarthy committee and accepted the secretary's instructions "wholeheartedly."

But he finally barred week night passes for Schine because the draftee was out so late he was in questionable condition to handle weapons the next day. He said Schine was absent from the post during six of seven evenings.

Ryan repeated a report from one of his officers that Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy sub-committee, called the fort on Jan. 9, after Schine had been scheduled for kitchen police duty on Jan. 10. He said the officer reported that Cohn was "excited, upset, very caustic in his remarks."

THREATS RECALLED

He added that Cohn was quoted as saying some officers, in particular a Col. Ringler and a Lieut. Miller, were not co-operating in their treatment of Schine and he (Cohn) had a long memory and "wasn't going to forget their names."

Ryan testified the sub-committee staff made an "exceptionally large number" of telephone calls about Schine, averaging one or two a day.

Former Nazi Sub Towed Past Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The former German submarine U-505, towed by a tug and en route to Chicago, reached Montreal Tuesday.

The submarine, captured by the U. S. Navy off the African coast in the last war, is en route from Portsmouth, N. H., and will become a permanent exhibit in Chicago as a memorial to Americans who lost their lives at sea during the war.

Progress of the tug and submarine up the St. Lawrence has been slow. They cleared Father Point early Sunday.

From Montreal the submarine will be escorted by the yacht Arbanas, manned by four American Sea Scouts.

Chatham Woman Dies In Crash

WOODSTOCK (CP)—A 54-year-old Chatham woman was fatally injured Tuesday when a car in which she was only passenger was in collision with another car about one mile west of Princeton on Highway 2.

Mrs. Irene Canniff, Chatham was driving in a westbound car operated by James H. Sinclair, 23, of Ottawa, police reported.

The second car, eastbound, was driven by Allen Perry Bolte, 21, of London, who was alone.

Mrs. Canniff was dead on arrival at Woodstock General Hospital.

Youth Conference At Geneva Park

The Ontario youth council conference for young adults, representing YMCA branches across Canada, will be held at Geneva Park on Lake Couchiching July 3 to 10. Geneva Park is the YMCA's site for conferences, schools and vacations, sponsored by the National Council of YMCA's in Canada.

The OYC conference, which will be organized by Charles D. Forsyth, executive secretary of the central Toronto YMCA, will feature a six-part discussion program, and will be open to all YMCA secretaries and other interested citizens.

Special emphasis will be placed on programing and financing of Y organizations, how to organize and lead social groups and work with teen-agers. There will also be discussions of special interest groups, crafts, ethnic groups, co-ed programs, travel tours—and of philosophies which should underlie the approach of various YMCA organizations.

Graham Pays Churchill Visit

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham rounded out his three-month "London crusade" Tuesday with a visit to Prime Minister Churchill at 10 Downing St.

Graham, who said the visit was at Churchill's request, declined to disclose the subject of their 10-minute conversation. Graham said he was deeply impressed, adding:

"As we shook hands to part, I though I was shaking hands with Mr. History."

Graham leaves tonight for a vacation in Scotland before continuing his evangelistic crusade on the continent.

American Soldiers Ordered Cash Scrip

FRANKFURT (Reuters)—American soldiers in Europe were suddenly ordered by Armed Forces Radio Tuesday to cash in their military scrip by noon, in a surprise move against black marketeering.

The scrip, for use by military personnel alone in post exchange stores and gas stations, is often traded by black marketeers for local currencies at a quick profit.

Black marketeers cannot take advantage of the turn-in, because they would convict themselves at once if they admitted having scrip in their possession.
